

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. I certify that the above is a correct list of the Clergy of the Diocese of Maryland.

WILLIAM PARET,
Bishop of Maryland.

Those marked with an asterisk are not entitled to seats.

Of those entitled to seats, those whose names are marked thus † were not ascertained to be present at the sessions of the Convention = 10.

LIST

OF PARISHES AND CONGREGATIONS IN THE DIOCESE OF MARYLAND, WITH THE CLERGY OF THE SAME;

AND

OF LAY DELEGATES TO THE HUNDRED AND TENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

(Corrected to June 2, 1893.)

The names of Parishes and separate Congregations entitled to representation are printed in bold-face type. The word Parish in this list indicates a territorial division; the name of the Parish Church is the one immediately following the name of the Parish. The Secretary requests that the names of any Church Buildings omitted from the list, or any other inaccuracies therein, may be made known to him.

Lay Delegates whose names are marked with a † are not known to have been present at the Convention.

A bracket enclosing the names of a Lay Delegate and Alternate indicates that they successively occupied the same seat.

Churches marked with a * are not yet admitted to union with the Convention.

RULES OF ORDER.

1. The daily sessions of the Convention shall be opened with Divine Service beginning at 10 o'clock, A. M.
2. The Convention upon its first assembling, shall be called to order by the Bishop, or, if there be no Bishop, or if he be absent, by the President of the Standing Committee, or by some member of that body appointed by those of its members who may be present.
3. When the President takes the chair, every member shall take his seat, and remain uncovered until he shall have left the Convention.
4. The names of the Clergymen entitled to seats shall be called over by the Secretary of the last Convention, or, in his absence, by some one appointed by the Bishop, or other person who called the Convention to order. The said call shall be made from a roll furnished by the Bishop or other ecclesiastical authority of the Diocese, which roll shall be evidence of the right of such Clergymen to seats until the Convention shall have formally acted upon that question. The Secretary shall then call a provisional roll of Lay delegates prepared from the certificates which have been received from the vestries. The Lay delegates whose certificates have not already been forwarded to the Secretary shall then lay their certificates upon the table, with the declaration subscribed as required by the Constitution. The Secretary shall then call these additional names, if required by the Chair, or by any member. In calling the roll of the Clergy and Lay Delegates, the surname only—with the prefix of "Mr."—shall be called, except when there may be two, or more, of the same name, in which case they shall be designated by the addition of their Christian names. If a quorum of both orders appear, the presiding officer shall announce the fact, and declare that the Convention is organized and ready for business.

5. In case of the absence of the Bishop, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the person who called the Convention to order shall announce that there is a quorum present. The Convention shall then proceed to elect a President, according to the seventh article of the Constitution; who shall, so soon as his election is completed, take the Chair and declare that the Convention is organized and ready for business.
6. The first business after that declaration is made, either by the Bishop or the President, shall be the election of a Secretary. The Chair shall then appoint an Assistant Secretary and the Committees mentioned in the Order of Business (No. III). The Chair shall also appoint all other Committees for the appointment of which no other provision is made; unless otherwise ordered by the Convention.
7. When any member is about to speak or deliver any matter to the Convention, he shall rise, and with due respect, address himself to the President.
8. If two or more members shall rise at the same time to speak, the President shall decide who shall speak.
9. No member shall speak more than twice in the same Debate, nor longer than fifteen minutes at one time, without leave of the Convention.
10. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded, and, if desired by any member, reduced to writing and read by the Secretary.
11. When a motion is made and seconded, no other motion shall be received, except to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain time, to postpone indefinitely, to commit or to amend; and motions for any of these purposes shall have precedence in the order herein named. If a motion to lay on the table an amendment be carried, the matter before the Convention shall be proceeded with as if no such amendment had been offered. The motions to lay on the table and to adjourn shall be decided without debate. The motion to adjourn shall always be in order, if the mover have the floor.

12. When a proposed amendment is under consideration, a motion to amend the same may be made. No after amendment shall be in order, but a substitute for both amendments may be received, which, if adopted, shall operate as an amendment to the original proposition. No proposition on a subject different from the one under consideration shall be received under colour of an amendment or substitute.
13. If a question contain several distinct propositions, the same shall be divided at the request of any member, and a vote taken separately, except that a motion to strike out and insert shall be indivisible.
14. All questions of order shall be decided by the President without debate; but any member may appeal from such decision, and on such appeal no member shall speak more than once, without express leave of the Convention.
15. When any member rises to a point of order, the member who has the floor shall take his seat until the point of order is decided by the Chair.
16. A question being once determined, shall stand as the judgment of the Convention, and shall not be again drawn into debate during the session, except with the consent of two-thirds of the Convention, upon a motion to reconsider made by a member who voted with the majority and seconded by a member who also voted with the majority.
17. No question shall be taken on any report, unless upon a motion to print or recommit it; but reports shall, as of course, lie upon the table. If a Committee deem any action of the Convention desirable, it shall be their duty to present in writing such Resolutions, Acts or Canons, as they may think it should adopt; which only shall be subject to the action of the Convention. Every act which divides a Parish, or in any way affects Parish boundaries, shall distinctly set out the new boundaries which it is intended to establish. The Convention will not act upon any proposed Resolution, Act or Canon which is not conformed to the provisions of this rule.

18. All elections shall be by ballot, unless otherwise ordered; the votes of the Clergy and Laity shall be received and counted separately; but the vote shall be regarded as a joint one, and the election shall be decided by a majority of the whole number of votes taken together, except where a vote by orders shall be required under the provisions of the constitution.
19. When a joint-ballot is taken, the procedure shall be as follows: The President shall appoint two tellers on the part of the clergy and two on the part of the laity. The Secretary shall then call the Roll and the tellers shall collect the votes. After the clerical and lay votes shall have been counted by the respective tellers, the teller first named by the Chair shall combine them in one joint-ballot which he shall present to the Convention, reading out the names of the persons voted for, the number of clerical and lay votes for each separately, and the sum total of votes received by each person. The Chair shall then state to the Convention the result of the joint-ballot.
20. The Convention after Evening Prayer, on the first day of each annual Session, shall consider the subject of Diocesan Missions. The Reports of the Committees of Missions and of Religious Instruction shall be read, and the estimated income and expenditures for the coming year shall be discussed, and, so far as practicable, determined.
21. A majority of two-thirds of the members present shall be required to suspend any Rule of Order or make any change in the Order of Business; but 'Orders of the Day' may be intercalated in the Order of Business by a majority vote.
22. Robert's "Rules of Order" shall be the parliamentary guide in all cases not provided for in the foregoing Rules.
23. The foregoing Rules of Order, together with the Order of Business hereto annexed, shall be deemed the Rules of Order of all future Conventions until altered or rescinded; and the same shall be published in the Journal of each Convention.

JOURNAL OF PROCEEDINGS.

THE ONE HUNDRED AND TENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Maryland assembled in Emmanuel Church, in the City of Baltimore, on Wednesday, the 31st day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock A. M.

The service began with the Holy Communion, which was said by the Bishop, the Epistle being read by the Rev. R. A. Poole, and the Gospel by the Rev. Theo. C. Gambrall, D. D.

The sermon before the Convention was preached by the Rev. Clarence Buel.

The Holy Communion was administered by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Messrs. George C. Stokes, T. C. Gambrall, D. D., Clarence Buel and Thomas E. Patterson.

Divine Service being over, the Bishop called the Convention to order.

The Secretary of the last Convention then called the roll of Clergymen entitled to seats in the Convention from the list furnished by the Bishop, and one hundred answered to their names.

The names of Lay Delegates who had previously presented certificates of election to this Convention and who had signed the Declaration, being then called, seventy-one answered to their names.

A quorum of both Orders being present, the Bishop declared the Convention duly organized and ready for business, and that the first business in order was the election of a Secretary.

The Rev. Dr. Purcell nominated as Secretary the Rev. Peregrine Wroth. There being no other nominations, on motion, the ballot was dispensed with, and the Rev. Mr. Wroth was unanimously elected Secretary.

The Bishop appointed Mr. John T. Mason, R., Assistant Secretary

On the Rights of Clergymen to Seats.—The Rev. E. H. Ingle, the Rev. G. M. Clickner, the Rev. H. A. Griffith.

On Elections.—Messrs. Charles King, J. Schaaff Stockett, C. W. Michael.

On Canons and Other Business.—The Rev. W. Scott Southgate, D. D., the Rev. T. G. Addison, D. D., the Rev. R. H. Paine, Messrs. Charles M. Matthews and E. N. Rich.

On Accounts.—Messrs. C. H. Stanley, F. A. Pilling and J. B. Kendall.

On Parochial Contributions.—Messrs. S. H. Anderson, S. K. Dashiell and R. Atkinson.

On Admission of New Parishes and Congregations.—The Rev. I. L. Townsend, D. D., the Rev. A. C. Powell, the Rev. M. H. Vaughan, Messrs. C. W. Sams and D. Hammett.

On the State of the Church.—The Rev. W. A. Mitchell, the Rev. E. T. Lawrence, the Rev. F. Humphrey, Messrs. D. S. Briscoe and H. C. Whiting.

On Ways and Means.—Messrs. Joseph Packard, Jr., E. G. Miller and C. S. Tinges.

On Donations.—Messrs. Skipwith Wilmer, Thomas Armstrong, J. P. Thom, R. L. Poor and H. C. Turnbull, Jr.

The Secretary presented a petition from St. Stephen's Parish, in the District of Columbia, asking for admission into union with the Convention. Also, a petition for a change of bounds between Rock Creek and Silver Spring Parishes.

The Bishop presented a petition from Silver Spring Parish for change of boundary. Also, a petition from certain persons for leave to organize a new Parish, to be known as All Saints' Parish, in St. Mary's County. Also, a petition from certain persons for leave to organize a new Parish, to be known as St. Michael and All Angels, in the District of Columbia. Also, a petition from St. Paul's Parish, in the District of Columbia, in relation to Parish boundaries.

All of which were referred to the Committee on New Parishes and Congregations.

The Bishop then read his Annual Address, dispensing with the reading of his journal of Visitations. (See Appendix.)

On motion of the Rev. Dr. McKim, a Committee of two Clergymen and two Laymen was appointed to take into consideration that part of the Bishop's Address relating to the Vestry Act. The Bishop appointed as said committee the Rev. R. H. McKim, D. D., the Rev. C. Buel and Messrs. Charles King and A. S. Browne.

Mr. Meloy offered the following resolution, which, on motion, was referred to the same Committee:

WHEREAS, At the Diocesan Convention of the year 1872, a Committee was appointed and empowered to have printed a Compilation of the Constitution and Canons of this Church, together with such forms, etc., as to such Committee should seem desirable—by virtue of which authority there has ever since been printed and published as of the authority and under the sanction of this Convention that certain "Form No. XVI," entitled, "Parochial Enrollment," which is believed by some to be neither justified by nor in harmony with the law of Maryland or that of the District of Columbia, but misleading and vicious. Therefore,

Resolved, That it be referred to a Committee, to be appointed by the Bishop, to consider whether such Form should not be abrogated or amended, and report to this Convention at their earliest convenience.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Powell, so much of the Bishop's Address as refers to the Division of the Diocese was referred to a committee of four Clergymen and four Laymen.

The Bishop appointed as such committee, the Rev. A. C. Powell, the Rev. A. R. Stuart, D. D., the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D., the Rev. A. C. Haverstick and Messrs. H. E. Pellew, Bernard Carter, Lloyd Lowndes and Skipwith Wilmer.

The Rev. Mr. Laird offered the following resolution, which, on motion, was referred to the Committee on that portion of the Bishop's Address relating to the Vestry Act:

Resolved, That the committee having charge of the portion of the Bishop's address which refers to the Vestry Act, be instructed to consider the advisability of formulating an abstract of the provisions of said Vestry Act, and publishing the same annually at the end of the Journal.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Hodges, so much of the Bishop's Address as refers to the Accumulating Episcopal Fund was referred to a committee of two Clergymen and two Laymen.

The Bishop appointed as such committee, the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D., the Rev. W. H. H. Powers, and Messrs. H. I. Keyser and J. Le Roy White.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Purcell, so much of the Bishop's Address as refers to the Warfield College was referred to a committee of three Clergymen and three Laymen.

The Bishop appointed as such committee, the Rev. Dr. Purcell, the Rev. A. C. Powell, the Rev. R. A. Coale, and Messrs. W. D. Baldwin, S. W. Tulloch and J. A. Lynch.

The Rev. George C. Stokes presented the report of the Standing Committee. (See Appendix.)

On motion of Mr. Packard, the rules of order were suspended and the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Convention take a recess at 1.30 P. M. daily for three-quarters of an hour. Also at 4.30 P. M. until 8 P. M.

The Convention then at 1.30 P. M. took a recess until 2.15 for luncheon.

On re-assembling at 2.15 P. M. the Rev. Edward H. Ingle presented the report of the Committee on the Rights of Clergymen to Seats, and on his motion the resolution accompanying the same was adopted.

Resolved, That the following named Clergymen are entitled to seats in this Convention.

Mr. Packard presented the Report of the Committee on the Records of the Diocese and the same was ordered to be printed in the Journal.

May 31st, 1893.

The Committee on Records begs leave to report that in consequence of the addition to the Library Building some space has been allotted to the Committee, which has enabled them to remove the Records to the first floor, where closets have been made in which the Records can be kept safely, and where they can be easily found for reference. The loose papers are now being arranged in cases, and properly classified and indexed so that they may be kept with more care as well as referred to with more ease.

6 Diocesan Convention of Maryland. [1893

The Committee call attention to the report of Miss Whittingham, Librarian, which they request may be made a part of this report. They also submit herewith a report of the funds in their hands. All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEO. A. LEAKIN, Chairman.
JOSEPH PACKARD, JR.
HENRY F. THOMPSON.

To the Committee on Records of the Diocese:

The Librarian of the Maryland Diocesan Library reports :

That the only additions to the Records in this last year were, 2 vols. fol. of the Vestry Proceedings and some Registers of the Births and Marriages of St. John's Parish, Prince George County, (formerly Piscataway or King George Parish, Charles County), from the Wardens and Vestry of the Parish. They date from 1697 to 1823.

All the old Books of Records, amounting now to 27 vols., have been brought from the third-story room to the locked closets provided by the Committee in the new room on the first floor. This has been made as safe and free from the dangers of fire as possible, so that those Vestries who will send their treasures here for safe keeping may be sure that they are in a much safer place than any private dwelling can be, that they are perfectly accessible and yet protected from all but those persons authorized to consult them in the presence of the Librarian. Owing to the interest now aroused in all Colonial and Revolutionary matters and in Genealogical researches, these records have been frequently called for, generally by those bearing introductory letters from the Rectors of the Parishes owning them. And the different Centennial Celebrations of our old Parishes have given much employment to your Librarian in hunting up required data.

Twelve cases for storing assorted MSS. have been furnished by the Committee, and are now being filled and labeled.

It is hoped that soon all the accumulated records of the Diocese will be in order and accessible, which they have never been before for want of space.

M. H. WHITTINGHAM,
Librarian.

HENRY F. THOMPSON,
Secretary and Treasurer.

Mr. Skipwith Wilmer presented the Report of the Committee on Donations, as follows:

The Committee on Donations have to report that the will of Mrs. Mary G. Worthington, who died since the last meeting of the Convention, contained the following bequest :

"I give and bequeath to the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Maryland, a body corporate, the sum of two thousand dollars, in trust, to apply the income arising therefrom to and for the purpose of repairing and keeping in repair the Church building, Rectory, Churchyard and the walks and fences around the same, of St. John's Church, in Western Run Parish, in Baltimore County."

The Committee after due consideration, and consultation with the Bishop, have accepted this bequest.

The Committee have further to report that the will of the Rev. Dr. Walter W. Williams contained the following bequests:

"I give and bequeath to the Protestant Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of Maryland the sum of one thousand dollars, with the hope that the Convention may use the same as the nucleus of a fund for the erection of a building for the Loan Department of its Episcopal Library; and also my Theological Library, valued at two thousand dollars, and it is my wish that the same may be placed in the Loan Department of its Episcopal Library, but the hope and wish thus expressed are not to be taken as a condition of or as in any manner qualifying the absolute character of the gifts of said money and said Library.

"I give and bequeath to the Protestant Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of Maryland the sum of five hundred dollars for its fund for Superannuated and Disabled Clergy, to be applied and used in such a manner as, under its corporate powers, the said corporation has determined, or hereafter may determine, in respect to the administration of its said fund."

The Committee have accepted these legacies, and the sums have been paid over to the Treasurer.

SKIPWITH WILMER.
R. L. POOR.

The Rev. Dr. Southgate presented the Report of the Committee on Canons, together with the following resolution:

The undersigned, being a majority of the Committee on Canons, to which Committee was referred by the last Annual Convention a resolution for the amendment of Article 9 of the Constitution, so that the Standing Committee shall hereafter be composed of Laymen as well as Presbyters, respectfully report that they cannot find any reasonable cause of dissatisfaction with the present system or its practical results, and they are of the opinion that the proposed change will produce no gain or advantage, and that it will most probably be found to result in a loss or disadvantage as compared with the present system.

It is most important that in the selection of the members of the Standing Committee as fair a representation as possible shall be accorded to different localities, interests and views of the Diocese.

To endeavor to secure this end, even by a sacrifice of decided personal preferences has become a settled and acknowledged custom, and the undersigned feel that if the proposed change is adopted, the successful preservation of this custom will be, in view of our peculiar conditions, much hindered if not endangered.

We yield to none in a great appreciation of the worth of the Laymen of this Diocese, but fail to perceive how their service can be made more effective by the proposed change.

More than one hundred years ago this Diocese firmly committed itself to the view that the chief and most important work of this Committee properly belongs to the Clergy. We not only find no reason to disagree with this view, but our investigation of this question has convinced us that it is fair in principle and has proved itself most beneficial in results.

We submit with this report the following resolution :

Resolved, That the proposed change is not advisable, and that the Committee on Canons be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

WM. SCOTT SOUTHGATE, Chairman.
ROBERT H. PAINE.
EDWARD N. RICH.

Mr. Charles M. Matthews presented the report of the Minority of the same Committee, (see Appendix) together with the following resolution:

Resolved, That the following changes in Articles IX and X of the Constitution be approved of and be transmitted to the several Vestries of the Parishes and separate Congregations.

Proposed Amendment to Articles IX and X of the Constitution.

Before the adjournment of each annual convention a standing committee, as required by Canon 2, Title III of the Canons of the General Convention, shall be elected by a joint ballot of the Clergy and Laity, from among the qualified members of the Convention, to consist of four Presbyters and four Laymen, who shall be communicants of the Church in good standing, which committee shall serve until their successors are elected. They may be re-eligible.

Vacancies occurring in their body, during the recess of the Convention, shall be filled, from the Order affected, as soon as practicable, by the concurrent vote of the remaining members, all having been duly notified of time, and place of meeting, and the object thereof. At their first meeting, which shall be on the last day of the Convention, or as soon thereafter as practicable, they shall elect one of their Clerical members to be President, and another of their members, either Clerical or Lay, Secretary.

They shall keep regular minutes of their proceedings; and a majority of the members, all having been duly summoned, shall constitute a quorum, except for such purposes, as, agreeably to their own rules, or requirement by Canon, may demand a larger number. They may make rules of meeting and business, and alter or repeal the same from time to time, said rules not to be inconsistent with the General Canons, nor the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese.

The Convention may adopt such Canons concerning the standing committee as may be deemed necessary.

Amendment Second.

In Article 10, third line, after the word "are" insert the word "clerical."

Amendment Third.

That last paragraph of Article 9 be made Article 10, and that the remaining articles be numbered consecutively.

On motion of Mr. C. M. Matthews, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the subject of the change of the IXth and Xth Articles of the Constitution be made the order for the day for tomorrow morning immediately after calling the roll of members who have not heretofore answered, and be continued till the same be disposed of; provided, that this order shall not interfere with the regular order for the election of the Standing Committee, to take place at 12 o'clock M.; and, provided further, that during the counting by the tellers of the votes cast for members of the Standing Committee, the consideration of these proposed amendments shall be continued.

On motion of Mr. Abert, the report of the Committee on Canons, together with that presented by Mr. Matthews, were ordered to be printed in the Journal.

The Rev. Mr. Dame presented the report of the Committee on the Episcopal Library, together with that of the Librarian, (see Appendix) and on motion they were ordered to be printed in the Journal.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON EPISCOPAL LIBRARY.

The Committee on the Episcopal Library take great pleasure in reporting that the Library is in a very prosperous condition. The additional building, which has been erected since the last Convention, has proved of great service, especially to the Lending Library, which, we are happy to say, is beginning to be appreciated, and, as time goes on, will be of inestimable value to the Clergy. The Bishop reports that the cost of the new building was $1,478. Of this sum about $900 have been provided by generous gifts, as follows :—

Rev. P. M. Prescott.....	$400 00
A Friend in another Diocese	250 00
J. E. Hurst and Mrs. Steevers.....	24 75
Epiphany and St. Paul's Parishes in Washington.	90 42
St. Paul's, Baltimore.....	25 00
J. Leroy White.....	100 00
Rev. D. Eccleston.....	30 00

For the remainder, unless supplied by similar gifts, the Bishop holds himself responsible.

The report of the Librarian, Miss Whittingham, which is hereto appended, will show how arduous have been her labours and how unremitting her care of the books, pamphlets and manuscripts. The accessions to the Lending Department have this year been very large—chiefly owing to the valuable and generous legacy of the Rev. Dr. Walter Williams, for many years a most useful member of the Library Committee. Dr. Williams bequeathed to the Episcopal Library about 1,200 valuable volumes. The Committee desire to express their profound appreciation of this generous action of Dr. Williams, and think it not amiss to commend his generosity to others of the Clergy. There can be no safer or more useful repository for valuable books than the Diocesan Library, and it is hoped that Dr. Williams' example will find many imitators.

The Librarian's report furnishes a list of subscriptions and of expenditures. We do not think it necessary to print a list of the new books in the journal, because they have already appeared in the Maryland Churchman, and, by the industry of the Librarian, a careful Catalogue has also been published.

On behalf of the Committee.

HALL HARRISON,
W. M. DAME.

May 29th, 1893.

The Rev. Mr. Dame presented the report of the Committee on the State of the Church, (see Appendix) and on motion it was ordered to be printed in the Journal.

The Rev. Mr. Dame presented the report of the Committee on the Consolidation of the Warfield College and the College of St. James.

May 31st, 1893.

To the Convention of the Diocese of Maryland.

The Committee appointed at the meeting of Convention last year to confer with the Trustees of the College of St. James, as to the possibility of the consolidation of that Institution with Warfield College, ask leave to report:

That after informal correspondence, at the request of the Corporation of the College of St. James, your Committee laid before them distinct proposals, as follows:

1st. The Corporation of the College of St. James to change its name to the "Warfield College of St. James."

2nd. The present Charter and By-Laws of St. James to be in force, with such helpful changes in the By-Laws as may be approved by the Trustees and the Bishop.

3rd. St. James to sell the present property, and invest their funds; the Trustees to hold the principal of the funds untouched; but to use the income for sustaining the work under the new plan.

4th. The Warfield Fund, amounting to some $11,300, now amounts to $15,543 at present, to be invested; the principal to remain secure, but the income to be used for the College.

5th. The principal of the Holmes' Bequest, about $4,000, to be available for immediate use if needed.

6th. The present Trustees of St. James to remain in charge.

7th. The removal to be made and the work begun, say within ——— years.

a. It has been suggested, as has been done in like cases, an efficient head could be secured, under control of the Trustees, but with large liberty, receiving from the fund a salary of $1,000, with such addition for himself as he can make from his own management of the financial affairs, apart from the trust funds. This would leave some small sum available for the Trustees for taxes and repairs.

b. The terms and charges for College privileges to be made as low as possible, not exceeding $300 per annum, in order to give the best advantage to Maryland people.

c. Why cannot some man of ample school experience be secured for such an enterprise?

To which they received the following answer:

"BALTIMORE, (without date.)

"Your letter dated 10th inst., with enclosure, addressed to Rev. Hall Harrison, D. D., as Secretary of the Trustees of the College of St. James, was laid before those members of that Board who were present at a meeting on the 20th inst. After discussion and consideration, your communication came up for final action at a meeting of the Trustees of the College which was held to-day.

"As Chairman of that meeting, I am instructed to reply, as follows, on behalf of the Board.

"An essential condition of the plan indicated in the 'Memorandum of Proposals' which was enclosed with your letter is, 'St. James to sell the property and invest their funds.'

"This the Trustees are not willing to do. They are persuaded that no better site for a school can be found than the property which they have long held for that purpose in Washington County. It is true that the school as now conducted is a private enterprise, but the Trustees have not abandoned the hope that means may be found to increase their endowment and enable them to resume their work at the appropriate and time-honored place under their charge. Anticipating that result, they feel bound to continue the policy of preserving the Washington County property and the existing endowment intact.

"They therefore sincerely regret they cannot adopt the plan for co-operation with Warfield College which has been suggested.

"Yours very truly,

BERNARD CARTER,

*Chairman pro tem. of the Board of Trustees of the

Bishop of Maryland, Baltimore."

To your Committee this seems a determination of that question, as showing that the consolidation of the two institutions is impossible. They feel that more favorable terms could not have been offered than those which are stated in their proposal, and they deeply regret that they were not accepted. Your Committee therefore asks to be discharged.

WILLIAM PARET, Chairman.

W. M. DAME.

I. L. TOWNSEND.

J. LEROY WHITE.

On motion the Committee was discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. King presented the report of the Committee on Elections as follows:

The Committee on Elections find that the list of Delegates as read by the Secretary is correct, viz:

Woodward, Wm. Woodward, Peter Wood, Alt., Benjamin J. Williams.

By general consent such list of delegates was received as containing the names of those entitled to sit in this Convention.

Mr. King, for the Committee on Elections, further reported :

In the case of the contested seat from St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, the Committee recommend the seating of Mr. H. S. Ridout.

On motion of Mr. Meloy, the following substitute was adopted:

Resolved, That the question of Lay representation of St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, in this Convention be referred to a Special Committee of three, to make written report of the facts the case, and that until such report shall have been made and finally acted upon, said Parish be not admitted to Lay Representation in this Annual Convention.

The Bishop appointed Messrs. Wm. A. Meloy, W. D. Baldwin, and L. Allison Wilmer, as the special committee.

On motion of Mr. D. M. Thomas it was ordered that Mr. O. G. Hayden be permitted to sign the Declaration and take his seat in the Convention.

During the progress of the Convention, Messrs. Chas. Markell, Albert J. Love, Hon. A. B. Hagner, and J. G. Moale, Alternates, appeared and took their seats as qualified Alternate Lay Delegates, when their respective principals retired from the Convention, or were not found to be present.

The Rev. Dr. Gambrall presented the report of the Treasurer of the Committee of Missions, (see Appendix) and the same was referred to the Committee on Accounts.

The Rev. Dr. Hall Harrison offered the following amendment to the Constitution:

Resolved, That the following change in Article V of the Constitution be approved by this Convention, and that the same be transmitted to the several Vestries of the Parishes and separate Congregations, in accordance with Article XII of the Constitution.

Substitute for the present Article V the following, so that it shall read as follows :

ARTICLE V.

The election of a Bishop of this Church shall be made in Convention by a concurrent vote of Clergy and of the Laity, the two orders voting by ballot, separately, in open Convention, the Clergy first and then the Laity ; and when all the votes of both orders shall have been deposited, the tellers of the Clerical vote and of the Lay vote respectively shall proceed to count the votes, and if, among those voted for, one shall be found to have received a majority of the votes of the Clergy and a majority of the votes of the Laity, he shall be declared duly elected.

Provided, That two-thirds of all the Clergy entitled to seats, and two-thirds of all the Laymen entitled to seats be present in the Convention. Otherwise a majority of two-thirds of each Order shall be required.

And Provided also, That whenever it shall be proposed to elect an Assistant Bishop of this Diocese, notice thereof shall be given at an Annual Convention, and the election shall take place at the succeeding Annual Convention.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Hall Harrison, the same was referred to a special committee of three clergymen and two laymen. The Bishop appointed as said Committee, the Rev. Dr. Hall Harrison, the Rev. Messrs. C. C. Griffith and R. A. Poole, and Messrs. J. H. Watmough and H. M. Denison.

Mr. Sams presented the report of the Secretary of the Accumulating Episcopal Fund, (see Appendix) and on motion it was referred to the Committee on Accounts.

Mr. D. M. Thomas presented the report of the Trustees of Church Charities, together with the report of the Treasurer of the same, (see Appendix) and on motion they were ordered to be printed in the Journal.

Mr. Packard presented the report of the Treasurer of the Diocese, (see Appendix) and it was on his motion referred to the Committee of Accounts.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Dame, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Treasurer of the Convention be authorized to pay to the Librarian the sum of fifty dollars for the incidental expenses of the Episcopal Library for the ensuing year.

The Convention then at 4.30 P. M. took a recess until 8 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

WEDNESDAY, May 31st, 1893.

The Convention re-assembled at 8 o'clock P. M.

After evening prayer, which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Messrs. William C. Butler and William R. Webb, the Bishop took the chair.

The Rev. Dr. Gambrall, from the Committee of Missions, presented its report, (see Appendix) together with the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That the Committee of Missions be authorized to appropriate the sum of $13,000 for the work of Missions and for pastoral aid for the ensuing year.

2. Resolved, That the Convention recognizing the superior opportunity of the Missions Committee to judge of the comparative resources of the several parishes and congregations, urge upon all to pay in as early in the year as conveniently may be the apportionments assigned to them.

3. Resolved, That the Superannuated and Disabled Clergy Fund is, in the judgment of the Convention, worthy of loving consideration, and that every parish and congregation be urged to make during the year, either at Christmas or Thanksgiving Day an offering for the current fund, and to promote as far as possible donations to the permanent fund.

4. Resolved, That the list of apportionments recommended by the outgoing Committee to their successors be read in Convention, with the understanding that the items are not to be discussed.

5. Resolved, That in future the list of apportionments for the year preceding the meeting of the Diocesan Convention and their payments be published with the journal as part of the report of the Treasurer of the Committee.

The Rev. Dr. Gibson, from the Committee of Religious Instruction, presented its report, (see Appendix) accompanied by the following resolutions :

1. Resolved, That the Committee of Religious Instruction be hereby appointed to act as a Diocesan Auxiliary Society to "The Prayer Book Distribution Society" of the General Convention.

2. Resolved, That the Committee of Religious Instruction be authorized to expend the sum of one thousand dollars for the work of that Committee during the coming year, and to raise the sum aforesaid by an apportionment of this amount among the parishes and congregations of the Diocese.

The first resolution accompanying the report of the Committee of Missions being offered, the Bishop proposed an amendment by inserting fourteen instead of thirteen, and the amendment being accepted by the committee, the resolution was adopted.

On motion of the Chairman of the Committee of Missions, the second and third resolutions accompanying the report were adopted.

The fourth and fifth resolutions were then put to the House, but were lost.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Hodges, the resolutions accompanying the report of the Committee of Religious Instruction were postponed until to-morrow.

The Convention then at 11 o'clock P. M. adjourned.

SECOND DAY.

THURSDAY, June 1st, 1893.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock A. M.

After morning prayer, which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Messrs. R. A. Poole and H. Allan Griffith, the Bishop took the chair.

The minutes of yesterday's sessions were read and approved.

The Secretary then called the names of the Clergy and Lay Delegates, who were absent or not called yesterday, when several of each answered.

The Bishop then announced the special order for the day, being the resolutions accompanying the report of the Committee on Canons and the minority report from the same committee.

During the discussion of the question the hour of noon arrived, and the Convention, under the rules of order, proceeded to the election of the Standing Committee.

The Bishop appointed as tellers, on the part of the Clergy, the Rev. F. M. Gibson and the Rev. George M. Clickner; and on the part of the Laity, Messrs. William Thomsen and H. C. Whiting.

The vote was then taken and the tellers retired.

The gentleman having the floor permitted Mr. Riggs to present the report of the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund, (see Appendix) which was referred to the Committee on Accounts, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. E. N. Rich being on the floor, a motion to extend his time for a second fifteen minutes was made and lost by a vote of 61 ayes and 73 noes.

The tellers of the vote for the Standing Committee returned and the Rev. Mr. Clickner presented the report, which was as follows:

	Clergy.	Laity.	Total.
Whole number of votes cast,	101	86	187
Number necessary to a choice,			94
The Rev. A. J. Rich, M. D.,	89	85	174

“ “ J. H. Elliott, S. T. D.,	84	78	162

And a number of scattering votes for 20 other clergymen, none of whom received over 10 votes.

Whereupon the Chair declared that the following named persons were duly elected members of the Standing Committee for the ensuing year, viz :

The Rev. Arthur J. Rich, M. D., the Rev. J. H. Eccleston, D. D., the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D., the Rev. George C. Stokes, the Rev. William H. Laird, the Rev. John H. Elliott, S. T. D., the Rev. R. H. McKim, D. D.

The Convention then at 1.30 o'clock P. M. took a recess for luncheon.

The Convention re-assembled at 2.15 P. M.

Mr. Skipwith Wilmer moved to close the pending debate at 3 o'clock.

On motion of Mr. Pue, the motion was laid on the table.

The debate continued until 4 o'clock, when a vote by Orders—being taken on the resolution offered by Mr. Matthews, it was lost.

Of the Clergy—Ayes, 49; noes, 59. Of the Laity—Ayes, 44; noes, 25, as follows :

The question being then put on the resolution accompanying the report of the committee it was carried by a vote of—ayes, 79; noes, 75.

On motion, the report of the Treasurer of the Committee of Religious Instruction was received and referred to the Committee on Accounts.

The Rev. Dr. Hodges presented to the Convention a portrait of Bishop Stone, and, on motion of the Rev. Dr. Grammer, the thanks of the Convention were extended to Mrs. S. Sudler, the granddaughter of the deceased Bishop, for the gift of the portrait, and to St. Paul's Guild for the renovation of the same.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Dame, the portrait was ordered to be placed in the same custody as that of Bishop Whittingham.

Mr. Stanley, from the Committee on Accounts, presented the following report:

The Committee on Accounts beg leave to report that they have examined the accounts of Samuel J. Hough, Treasurer of the Committee of Missions, which account appears correct, no vouchers were produced before us.

The Report of Edgar G. Miller, the Treasurer of the Convention, with his vouchers, were produced before us, and his account and vouchers found correct as reported by him.

The Report of Edwin Higgins, Treasurer of the Committee of Religious Instruction, showing the receipts and expenditures of the Committee, appears correct.

The account of C. W. Sams, Treasurer of the Accumulating Episcopal Fund, shows fully all moneys received by him, and that they are deposited in the Savings Bank of Baltimore, except a small amount received by him since the meeting of the Convention, which he has duly accounted for, and his accounts, vouchers and bank books appear correct.

We have also examined the report of the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund and the accounts of Mr. Lawrason Riggs, the Treasurer, with his bank books, vouchers, &c., and find the same correct in all particulars.

C. H. STANLEY.

F. A. PILLING.

E. KENDALL.

The Convention then at 4.50 P. M. took a recess until 8 o'clock P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

THURSDAY, June 1st, 1893.

The Convention re-assembled at 8 o'clock P. M.

After Evening Prayer which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Messrs. J. C. Jones and T. C. Gambrall, D. D., the Bishop took the chair.

The Rev. R. H. Paine nominated Mr. E. G. Miller for Treasurer of the Convention, and on motion the ballot being dispensed with, Mr. Edgar G. Miller was unanimously re-elected Treasurer.

The Rev. Mr. Packard nominated for the Committee of Missions, the Rev. C. Geo. Currie, D. D., the Rev. Alex. McK. Smith, D. D., the Rev. A. C. Powell and the Rev. A. R. Stuart, D. D., and Messrs. C. F. Taylor, S. J. Hough, J. M. Glenn, and C. M. Matthews.

The Rev. Dr. Stuart respectfully declined the nomination.

The Rev. Dr. Grammer nominated the Rev. J. A. Aspinwall.

There being no other nominations, the Secretary was on motion instructed to cast the ballot for the Convention, which was done, and the above named persons were declared elected.

The Rev. Mr. Packard nominated for the Committee of Religious Instruction :

The Rev. Frederick Gibson, D. D., the Rev. Alfred Harding, the Rev. Hall Harrison, D. D., and the Rev. C. E. Smith, and Messrs. Wm. Woodward, Edwin Higgins, Robert Atkinson and E. N. Rich.

The Rev. Dr. Hodges nominated the Rev. R. H. Paine. The Rev. Dr. Harrison withdrew his name.

There being no other nominations the Secretary was directed to cast the ballot for the Convention, which was done, and the persons so nominated were declared elected.

Mr. A. B. Hagner nominated Messrs. Wm. H. Perot and Lawrason Riggs for Trustees of the Episcopal Fund, and the Secretary was directed to cast the ballot for the Convention. This was done and these gentlemen were declared elected.

Mr. D. M. Thomas nominated Messrs. Chas. F. Taylor and Wm. G. Bowdoin for Trustees of Church Charities of the second class, and the Secretary was directed to cast the ballot of the Convention for the same, which was done, and these gentlemen were declared elected.

The Bishop nominated the following persons as the Committee on the Episcopal Library:

The Rev. J. H. Eccleston, D. D., the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D., the Rev. C. George Currie, D. D., the Rev. T. E. Pattison; Messrs. C. F. Taylor, H. F. Thompson, J. LeRoy White and D. L. Bartlett.

The nomination was confirmed by the Convention.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Rich :

Mr. Charles F. Taylor was elected 'Trustee of the Hannah More Academy, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Dr. W. Chew Van Bibber.

The Bishop nominated the following named persons to constitute the Ecclesiastical Court:

The Rev. Geo. A. Leakin, the Rev. T. G. Addison, D. D., the Rev. Geo. K. Warner, the Rev. A. R. Stuart, D. D., the Rev. Fredk. Gibson, the Rev. Osborne Ingle and the Rev. William C. Butler.

On motion of Mr. Packard, the Convention consented to the nomination.

The Rev. Dr. McKim presented the report of the Committee on that part of the Bishop's address relating to Vestries, together with the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That it is against the law of the Church and of the State, that any but baptized members of the Protestant Episcopal Church shall hold office as Vestrymen in the same; and that such a practice may, upon occasion, involve a gross outrage upon the rights of the clergy and upon the interests of the Church.

2. Resolved, That in the opinion of this Convention it is not the intention of the Vestry Act to require, as a qualification for the gift of suffrage at the election of Vestrymen, that every voter shall first apply to the Register to be enrolled, but that entry of the name of the voter on the books of the Parish, as a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, whether made by the Rector or by the Register, shall be sufficient, if made at least one month before the election, provided the other requirements of the law, as to residence, age, and support of the Parish, be complied with.

3. Resolved, That the Convention recommend that the Rectors of Parishes enter into an arrangement with the Registers of their respective Parishes, whereby the two shall unite in keeping the same set of Parish books, the Register recording in each of these his official declaration that they are kept with his approval, as required by the Vestry Act, the Rector (pro tanto) acting as the deputy or clerk of the Register.

On his motion the first resolution accompanying the report was adopted.

The second resolution then being put.

The Rev. Mr. Packard moved to amend by adding the words "furnished by the Vestry" after "books of the Parish" and the amendment was adopted.

The Rev. Mr. Anderson moved to strike out the words "by the Rector," which was lost.

The resolution as amended was then adopted by a vote of 59 ayes and 35 noes.

The third resolution was then adopted.

A motion to reconsider the first resolution was made and lost.

Mr. Meloy, of the Committee on the contested election case from St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, made the following report. (See Appendix.)

Mr. Baldwin offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That H. S. Ridout is entitled to his seat in this Convention as Lay Delegate from St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, on the facts reported by the Special Committee.

The Convention then at 11 o'clock P. M. adjourned.

THIRD DAY.

FRIDAY, June 2nd, 1893.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock A. M. After Divine Service which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Townsend, the Bishop took the chair.

The minutes of yesterday's sessions were read and approved.

The Rev. Dr. Townsend of the Committee on New Parishes and Congregations presented the report of that Committee as follows:

The Committee on the Admission of New Parishes and Congregations beg leave to submit the following report, and recommend the adoption of the resolutions contained therein :

1. WHEREAS, a petition has been received from St. Stephen's Parish, Mount Pleasant, Washington, D. C., asking leave for admission into union with the Convention of this Diocese, and whereas, all the requisite preliminaries have been complied with, therefore,

Be it Resolved, by the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Maryland, that the new Congregation formed in Washington City, under the name of St. Stephen's Church, Mount Pleasant, be and the same is hereby admitted into union with this Convention, and shall be entitled to all the rights secured to Congregations organized according to the provisions of the Constitution and Canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this Diocese.

2. WHEREAS, a petition has been received from Silver Spring Parish for a change of boundary between it and Rock Creek Parish, and whereas, it appears desirable that such petition should be granted, said change having been consented to by Rock Creek Parish, therefore and bounds described as follows be and hereby is constituted a portion of said Silver Spring Parish, that is to say:

Be it Enacted by the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the Diocese of Maryland, That the territory contained within the metes

Beginning at the point of intersection of Rock Creek and the District of Columbia line, then running northeast and southeast to a point on the District of Columbia line, due east of the north side of the Battle Cemetery on Brightwood avenue; then due west from the said point along the north side of Battle Cemetery to Rock Creek, then up and along Rock Creek to the point of beginning, the same being set off from Rock Creek Parish, and annexed to said Silver Spring Parish as said above.

3. [The text of this resolution will be found on p. 26.]

4. WHEREAS, a petition has been presented for leave to create a new Parish from the southern portion of King and Queen Parish, in St. Mary's County, and it appears desirable that the prayer of such petition should be granted; and it further appears that all requisite preliminaries have been complied with, therefore,

Be it Enacted by the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the Diocese of Maryland, That the territory contained within the metes and bounds described as follows, that is to say:

Beginning at the "Plank Bridge" over McIntosh Run, near Leonardtown, and running west with the public road to the lands of the estates of the late William S. Blackistone and Wood Garner at St. Clement's Bay, and then by a divergence to the north to take in said lands and return to the public road, and on with the public road to the corner of "Neal's Lot," where the Seventh Election District line leaves said public road, then in a direct line to the Public School House near "Notley Hall" Hill; thence in a direct line to White Point Island in the Wicomico River. And all that portion of King and Queen Parish lying north and west of said line to remain in King and Queen Parish; and all that portion lying south and east of said line to be and the same is hereby constituted a separate Parish by the name and style of All Saints' Parish, in St. Mary's County, entitled to all the privileges secured to other Parishes in the Diocese of Maryland, by the laws in force and the Constitution and Canons of the Church in this Diocese.

That St. Paul's Church, Washington, D. C., having withdrawn the petition for extension of its boundaries, with consent of your committee,

5. Be it Resolved, That permission be granted to St. Paul's Church, Washington, D. C., to withdraw said petition.

I. L. TOWNSEND,
Chairman.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Townsend, the first and second resolutions accompanying the report of the Committee were adopted.

On motion of Mr. W. D. Baldwin, the third resolution was recommitted for a correction of the description of the boundaries of the proposed new Parish.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Townsend, the fourth and fifth resolutions were then adopted.

The consideration of the resolution offered by Mr. W. D. Baldwin in reference to the Lay Delegate from St. Margaret's Parish being resumed, Mr. Meloy having the floor, and his time having expired, it was, on motion of the Rev. Mr. Dame, extended.

Mr. Meloy moved to amend the pending resolution, as follows :

Provided, however, that this Convention is not by this action to be understood as sanctioning or countenancing the assertion by any Vestry whether de facto or de jure of right or function—

First—To control the Registrar of a Parish in respect to the exercise of his legal duty to enroll any person of the Protestant Episcopal Church who shall apply to him for the purpose at any time.

Second—Or to require a new application each year for entry on the books of a Parish as a qualified voter therein.

The Rev. Mr. Logie moved to amend the amendment of Mr. Meloy as follows :

Resolved, That owing to the unsettled condition of affairs in St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, and the unsatisfactory state of evidence before this body, this Convention deems it unwise to take any further action in reference to the admission of a delegate from that Parish at this session, in accordance with Canon 4, Title 2, § 2.

The Rev. Dr. McKim made the point of order that the second amendment was too broad, as it swept away the original resolution entirely. The Chair ruled against the point of order.

On motion of Mr. Sams, the amendment offered by Mr. Logie was laid on the table by a vote of 56 ayes to 50 noes.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. McKim, the vote on the pending question was ordered to be taken in three minutes.

The Rev. Dr. Southgate moved to lay the whole matter on the table. Lost.

The question being on the amendment offered by Mr. Meloy, it was accepted by Mr. Baldwin, and the resolution, as amended, was adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Townsend, from the Committee on New Parishes and Congregations, made a further report, and the third resolution accompanying the report of the committee, as amended by it, was then, on motion, adopted, as follows :

3. WHEREAS, a petition has been presented for leave to create a new parish from portions of St. John's and St. Paul's Parishes, in the city of Washington, D. C., to be comprised within the metes and bounds hereinafter specified, and it appears desirable that the prayer of such petition should be granted; and it further appears that all requisite preliminaries have been complied with, therefore

Be it Enacted by the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the Diocese of Maryland, That the territory contained within the metes and bounds described as follows, that is to say:

Beginning at the southwest corner of Twentieth and G streets northwest, running south to the Potomac River along Twentieth street, and from the same corner running west along the south side of G street to the Potomac River, said Potomac River forming the western and southern boundary of said proposed Parish; be and the same is hereby constituted a separate Parish by the name and style of St. Michael's and All Angels' Parish in the District of Columbia, entitled to all the privileges secured to other Parishes in the Diocese of Maryland, by the laws in force in the District of Columbia and the Constitution and Canons of the Church in this Diocese.

The Rev. Dr. Purcell from the Committee on that portion of the Bishop's Address concerning Warfield College, presented its report, and the following resolution accompanying the same, was on his motion adopted, as follows:

The Committee appointed to take into consideration that portion of the Bishop's address relating to Warfield College for Boys, beg leave to report that they concur in offering the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Convention appoint a Board of Trustees to consist of three Clergymen of the Order of Priests and three Laymen, communicants of the Church, who, with the Bishop, shall organize the Warfield College and control its affairs.

Respectfully submitted,

J. B. PURCELL.
ARTHUR CHILTON POWELL.
JOHN A. LYNCH.
W. D. BALDWIN.

The following persons being nominated as the Trustees under the above resolution, they were duly elected, viz:

The Rev. Messrs. A. C. Powell, W. A. Coale, and R. H. Paine, and Messrs. Joseph Packard, Jr., H. Irvin Keyser, and Lloyd Lowndes.

The Rev. Dr. Gambrall, from the Committee of Missions, presented a report on the Canadian system of pastoral aid, which was ordered to be printed. (See Appendix.)

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Gibson, the first resolution accompanying the report of the Committee of Religious Instruction was adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Gibson moved the adoption of the second resolution accompanying the report of the Committee of Religious Instruction.

The Rev. Mr. Dame moved to amend by inserting the words "to raise and," before the word "expend." The amendment prevailing, the resolution, as amended, was adopted.

The Rev. Dr. McKim, from the Committee on that part of the Bishop's Address relating to the Vestry Act, presented the following supplemental report, together with the resolutions following, the adoption of which he moved :

A resolution was referred to this committee instructing us to consider the advisability of formulating an abstract of the provisions of said Vestry Act, and publishing the same annually at the end of the Journal.

Your Committee has considered the matter thus referred to them, and recommend adoption of following resolutions :

Resolved, That a Committee of five (to consist of 2 Clergymen and 3 Laymen learned in the law) be appointed to prepare and present to the next Convention an abstract of the chief provisions of the Vestry Act, with a view to clearing up doubtfulness of interpretation and bringing about a better understanding and a more faithful observance of its provisions in the Parishes of this Diocese.

Resolved, That such Committee be instructed in particular to make plain the provisions relating to the election of Vestrymen and to elucidate the following questions :

1. What is meant by a member of the P. E. Church in the intention of the Vestry Act ?
2. How long must a member have been a pewholder or a contributor in order to entitle him to vote ?
3. What is the minimum of contribution required where the pews are free in order to entitle him to vote ?
4. Is it necessary that the intending voter (whose name does not already appear on the books of the Parish as a member) shall apply in person to the Register ?
5. Who are the judges of the qualifications of voters ?
6. What are these qualifications ?
7. What is meant by " residence " in a Parish ?

8. Is an annual enrollment or registration required ?

9. And other kindred questions.

Your Committee believe that such a resumé of the provisions of the Vestry Act, clearly, briefly and tersely stated, and then adopted by this Convention as in its judgment a true embodiment of the chief provisions of the law, and made easily accessible to all our Parishes by printing in the Journal annually, while it would not be legally binding and would be subject to alteration by the decisions of the Courts, would nevertheless tend to remove doubt and diversity in the observance of the law, and be in the interest of order and of unanimity of view.

Respectfully submitted.

A. S. BROWNE.

Mr. Meloy moved to lay the resolutions on the table, which was lost by a vote of 35 ayes to 49 noes.

The Rev. Dr. Grammer moved to postpone the consideration of the resolutions until the report of the Joint Committee of the Dioceses of Maryland and Easton on the relation between Rectors and Vestries shall have been read, and it was so ordered.

At this point the Bishop presented the following communication to the Convention :

It is made my duty, at this point in our proceedings to state any business left over from the last Convention, and other important matters which remain to be considered by this, and to make any other communication. I think that there are no matters lying over.

There are two or three matters which did not seem to call for mention on any more formal address to the Convention, but in which I am sure the Convention and its members will take interest.

The first is the movement for a Cathedral at Washington. Some temporary incompleteness in some business details and the slow carefulness so absolutely necessary in the beginning of large undertakings, have forbidden any definite statements. I can only say, that so soon as it can be wisely done, full information will be given ; and meantime I can give the assurance that those who are more immediately active are very hopeful of full success.

I have to report also that the Vestry of St. Stephen's Church, Baltimore, having found it impossible to carry on their work, have, with the Bishop's approval, sold the Church property, which had not been consecrated, and have placed the proceeds in the Bishop's hands, to be applied either to the Principal of the Maryland Church Building Fund ; or to the Permanent Fund for Diocesan Missions, as the Convention shall determine.

I shall be ready soon to hand in some $225 in cash and certain notes secured by mortgage. I ask the Convention to determine to which of the two funds it shall be applied, merely suggesting that since it comes from sale of a Church Building, the Church Building Fund would seem a fair designation.

I wish also to remind the Convention and its members of the disaster which has come upon St. Barnabas' Church, Baltimore, in the loss of its Church Building by fire. Many warm words of sympathy came to its Rector and people at the time; but the corresponding acts of love do not seem to follow. St. Barnabas had no wealthy people. It was doing good work for Christ among a people of scanty means. Is there a Parish in the Diocese that is too poor to give some help in such a time of need?

The Rev. Mr. Powell, from the Committee to confer with a similar Committee from the Diocese of Easton on the relation of Rectors and Vestries, presented the report of that Committee, as follows, together with the accompanying resolution:

The Committee on the part of the Diocese of Maryland appointed and instructed to confer with a like Committee from the Diocese of Easton concerning the rights of Rectors and Vestries and certain questions growing out of the same, beg leave to report:

That the two Committees, after a comparison of views, agree to recommend that no change be sought in the Vestry Act, and that no canonical action on the matter is desirable. The Vestry Act authorizes the Vestry of a Church or Parish "to call and contract with a Minister to officiate in any Church or Chapel belonging to the Parish, and to perform all other duties of a Minister therein for such time as said Vestry may think proper. And they may agree and contract with such Ministers, for his or their salaries or salary, and respecting the use and occupation of the Parsonage House, and any glebe or other lands or other property belonging to the Parish, and on such terms and conditions as they may think reasonable and proper; and their choice and contract shall be entered among their proceedings, and upon the expiration of such contract, the said Vestry may, in their discretion, renew their choice or make a new contract; but if they do not incline to do so, their former choice and contract shall remain until they declare their desire to make a new choice or contract."

The Court of Appeals of this State has decided that if such contract is indefinite with regard to the time or the conditions of its termination, it is terminable at any time, at the will of either party.

But the Canon Law of the Church in the United States expressly indicates that no one shall be counted a "settled minister" unless he be called by some Parish or Congregation, either permanently, according to the Rules of the Diocese, or for a period of not less than one year. It is therefore a necessity that all calls to a Pastoral relation should be made in such definite form as to exclude the possibility of misunderstanding. Now, under these conditions, it is certainly within the rights of a Parish or Vestry to call a Minister, who shall be entitled to the privileges of a "settled Minister," and to limit the relation, if both parties shall so consent when the call is made, to the term of one year; and there might be exceptional cases where something like this might be desirable; but neither people nor Clergy would be willing to do the dishonour to the sacred office, which would result from making such a call the general usage of the Diocese. It would absolutely exclude all idea or probability of permanent work or permanent home from the Clergyman's life. In every other State and Diocese the Church law prevails; and clergymen of useful character and good standing, would be slow to relinquish their posts in other Dioceses and come to this, where the security given them would be so much less.

It is possible, however, to avoid this evil, and by the adoption of the resolutions submitted with this report, the general usage of this Diocese would not conflict with the civil law, and would be brought into harmony with the general usage of the Church. We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That in order to avoid misunderstanding and conflict with regard to the relation between Rectors and Vestries, all calls to Rectorship should be made with definite statement of the time or condition of termination, and the following form is recommended:

"The Vestry of.....
have elected and do invite the Rev..... to be rector of said Parish (or Congregation) at an annual salary of
with the use of the Rectory and.....
and with the agreement that said Rectorship shall continue until dissolved by mutual consent, or by the arbitration and decision of the Ecclesiastical authority of the Diocese."

WILLIAM PARET.
ARTHUR CHILTON POWELL.
C. M. MATTHEWS.

The question being taken on the resolutions of the Rev. Dr. McKim, they were adopted.

The adoption of the resolution accompanying the report presented by the Rev. Mr. Powell, was then moved.

The Rev. Mr. Packard moved to amend, as follows:

Resolved, To amend the resolution of the Committee by omitting all words between "Resolved" and the words "the following form is recommended."

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Purcell the rule of order requiring a recess to be taken at 1.30 was suspended.

The question now being on the amendment of the Rev. Mr. Packard, it was put and lost, and the resolution, as offered, was then adopted.

The Rev. Dr. Hall Harrison presented the report of the Committee on the Accumulating Episcopal Fund, and the resolution accompanying the report was adopted.

The Committee on that part of the Bishop's address which relates to the Accumulating Episcopal Fund beg leave respectfully to report, first, the facts in relation to the fund. The plan was suggested by the Bishop in his address to the Convention in 1886, that each Parish or Congregation should enter into agreement with the Bishop to pay regularly and honorably each year one per cent. upon all offerings, contributions, and collections of every kind and for every purpose, deducting amount paid for salaries of Clergymen.

The plan was immediately put into operation, the Bishop himself bringing the matter to the attention of Rectors and Vestries and obtaining the consent and promise of nearly all in the Diocese. Without detaining the Convention with unnecessary details, it will suffice to say, that in spite of the earnest appeals of the Bishop, and in spite of the Convention's own endorsement and recommendation of the plan, and in spite of promises of co-operation given more than once by Rectors and Vestries, there has never been a general co-operation on the part of the Churches.

Seven years have passed since the system was put into operation, and never in any year has one-half the Parishes and Congregations responded; 59 contributed to the Fund the first year, and a smaller number every following year, until 1892 the contributing Congregations were only 35, and the whole amount added to the Fund in that year was $676.44. This year it is to be noted that the contributing Congregations have increased to 44, a larger number than have ever contributed with the exception of the first year. At the same time it is to be noted that the amount is the smallest ever reported—only $560.73. This is accounted for by the fact that very many of the larger and stronger Churches have done nothing at all.

The only other fact to be noted is that the Bishop, as he announced in his address to the Convention, now withdraws from any further responsibility and connection with this effort, and leaves the matter in the hands of the Convention. His efforts in this direction have added over $6,000 to the Episcopal Fund, which however is not available until it shall have accumulated to $100,000.

In view of these facts, your Committee cannot recommend the continuance of this plan for increasing the Episcopal Fund. They cannot say even let it alone this year only and see whether it will not bear more fruit next year. If the efforts of the Bishop in behalf of his wisely considered and easily worked plan have failed, it is useless to look for success when his co-operation is withdrawn. In addition to which it is manifestly unfair to those Congregations who have faithfully and honorably kept the agreement voluntarily entered into with the Bishop. At the same time your Committee are convinced that some steps should be taken to secure an adequate Episcopal Fund. If we abandon this plan, it should be with the determination to take other measures, possibly more likely to be successful. Your Committee have not had sufficient time for conference and consideration of the subject, to prepare and recommend a plan; but they earnestly hope that the Convention will not suffer the matter to drop; and they therefore recommend the passage of the following resolution:

Resolved, That a Committee to consist of two clergymen and three laymen be appointed to consider the question of the best method of increasing the Episcopal Fund, and to report to the next Convention.

J. S. B. HODGES,
Chairman.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Buel, the following resolutions were adopted :

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention be returned to the St. Cecilia Guild of this City for their reverent and helpful rendering of the music during the services of the Convention.

Resolved, That the sum of thirty dollars be paid the Sexton of Emmanuel Church for his services to this Convention.

The Rev. Dr. McKim moved to reconsider the first resolution proposed by the Committee on that part of the Bishop's Address relating to the Vestry Act, which was passed yesterday.

The motion prevailing, the resolution was amended as follows, and adopted :

Resolved, 1, That it is against the Law of the Church and of the State, that any but members of the Protestant Episcopal Church, made such either by Baptism, or by Confirmation, or by admission to the Holy Communion, should hold office as Vestrymen in the same; and that such a practice may, upon occasion, involve a gross outrage upon the rights of the Clergy and upon the interests of the Church.

Mr. Sams offered the following resolutions, which were adopted :

Resolved, That the hearty congratulations of this Convention are hereby extended to Rev. Dr. Leakin on the attaining of his jubilee year, as making fifty years of consecrated service for Christ in the sacred Ministry of the Church.

Resolved, That the Secretary of this Convention be and he is hereby requested to convey the foregoing resolution to the Rev. Dr. Leakin.

On motion of Mr. Meloy the reports made to the Convention were ordered to be printed.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Paine it was Resolved, That 500 copies of the Bishop's Address be printed for distribution under direction of the Bishop.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Packard, the following resolutions were adopted :

Resolved, That the Treasurer of the Convention pay over to the Trustees of Church Charities, to be administered by them under the bequest of Mrs. Mary G. Worthington, the sum of $1,950.

Resolved, That the said Treasurer pay over to the Treasurer of the Superannuated and Disabled Clergy Fund, under the bequest of Rev. Dr. Walter W. Williams, the sum of $500.

On motion of the Rev. Clarence Buel the following resolution was referred to the Committee on Canons, to report at next Convention :

Resolved, That the designations " Convocation " or " Convocations " be changed to " Archdeaconry " or " Archdeacons " wherever they occur in the Canon IX, (A IX,) prescribing the four subdivisions of the Diocese.

On motion of Mr. A. S. Browne the following resolution was adopted :

Resolved, That the fund reported by the Bishop to be in his possession from the sale of St. Stephen's Church, Baltimore, be transferred to the Maryland Church Building Fund.

The report of the Hannah More Academy was presented and ordered to be printed. (See Appendix.)

The Rev. Mr. H. Allan Griffith submitted a blank form of transfer of Communicants, and on his motion the following resolution was adopted :

Resolved, That the Secretary have printed four thousand copies of the blank form of transfer of communicants which has been submitted to this Convention, and that he send copies of said form to all Rectors and Clergymen having charge of Parishes, according to the following schedule : To those who, according to the Journal of 1892, reported less than 10 removals, 25 copies ; to those who reported more than 10 and less than 25 removals, 50 copies ; to those who reported over 25 removals, 75 copies.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Packard the following resolution was adopted :

It having been represented that certain silverware delivered to the Treasurer of the Convention under the will of the late Samuel Warfield had been given in the lifetime of Miss Warfield to some member of her family ;

Resolved, That with the approval of the Bishop the Treasurer of the Convention be authorized to deliver said silverware to the persons to whom the same was given by Miss Warfield.

On motion of Mr. W. D. Baldwin the following resolution was adopted :

Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention be returned to the Committee on Hospitality for their courteous and liberal attention to the Clerical Delegates in attendance on this body. And, also, to the Rector, Wardens and Vestry of Emmanuel Church, for the use of their Church during the session of the Convention.

On motion of the Secretary the following resolution was adopted :

Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to mail one copy of the Journal to each Clergyman of the Diocese and one copy to each Lay Delegate who was in attendance ; and to such others as may request the same.

The Bishop named the following Committee on interpretation and application of the Vestry Act :

The Rev. Dr. McKim, the Rev. R. H. Paine, and Messrs. A. B. Hagner, Skipwith Wilmer, and A. S. Browne.

And the following on the Increase of the Episcopal Fund :

The Rev. Dr. Hodges, the Rev. Dr. Elliott, and Messrs. L. J. Davis, Adam Denmead, and John Gill.

The Rev. Dr. Gibson offered the following :

Resolved, That the next Annual Convention be held in Emmanuel Church, Baltimore.

Rev. Mr. Paine moved to amend by substituting Washington, which was lost, and the motion of Dr. Gibson was then carried.

On motion, it was ordered that after Religious Services the Convention adjourn.

The minutes of this day's session were then read and approved.

After a brief address from the Bishop and suitable devotions and the Benediction, the Convention then at 2.30 P. M., adjourned sine die.

Bishop of Maryland.

ADDRESS OF THE BISHOP.

DEAR BRETHREN OF THE CLERGY AND LAITY:

GOD has mercifully permitted me to complete another year of almost uninterrupted work for Him in this field which He has seen fit to entrust to me. I was indeed absent from the country for some two months, but that little term of entire relief from work ministered to the health and strength for heavier labours of the other ten months. I have been able to visit every Parish and Congregation in the Diocese, with only four or five exceptions, and to see with great thankfulness the tokens of our LORD's abundant blessing upon the faithful Pastoral labours of the Clergy. And I thank you, dear Brethren of the Clergy, for the proof that you so kindly and effectively remembered my exhortations to you as made at the Convention of last year. I refer to the words in which I urged you to greater earnestness in seeking and bringing in the careless, the ignorant and the lost; and to more watchfulness and hopeful zeal in bringing the children for their part in CHRIST's blessing. Your answer has come to me in the two facts, that the number of persons (2,520) confirmed during the year exceeds by almost 500 the largest number of all previous years in our history, and of those presented there was a very large number of the young. I am indeed gratified by these tokens, but not satisfied; and I trust that you are not. I entreat you to be bold and trustful and hopeful in trying to win souls. Take the LORD at His word. He promises largely: believe largely. He commands strongly: obey strongly. Do not indeed present for Confirmation until your Pastoral watchfulness,—hopeful, rather than suspicious however, tells you the child has reached the age of discretion, a point which our LORD marked for Himself at His twelfth year. We may well take that as a suggestion for our guidance. I do not think any can reach the point of personal spiritual responsibility earlier than He did. But let us keep it as near it as we can. Preach to your people about this matter,—in your sermons, in your Sunday Schools, and in the homes of your people. How sad it is to find that the greatest hindrance to the Confirmation of children is found in the parents themselves. They do not trust the dear LORD's own words which tell us His love and longing for children. They are afraid, they say, to take the responsibility of letting them come so young; yet they seem to have no fear of the thousand-fold more awful responsibility of holding back their souls from CHRIST. Remember how He said, "Whoso shall offend one of these little ones, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and he were drowned in the sea." I beg you, do not tire in your labours and your persuasions till you gain those young souls so dear to Him. Take His chosen point of age as a mark in your work, and work by that. Be sure that they are well instructed, but do not demand too much: the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments perfectly; the other questions of the Catechism "sufficiently." You have no right to add other or higher standard of intellectual fitness. The LORD made coming to Him easy. He stooped to the very first beginnings. He wants His Church and His Ministers to do the same. Take pains that they come devoutly; but accept a child's devoutness. Do not demand of the child the man's intelligence, the man's matureness or the man's gravity. And then do not loose your Pastoral hold as soon as they are confirmed. Have your Communion Classes, your Perseverance Classes, or, if your flock be too scattered, your Communion and Perseverance instructions. I plead again for large place and loving share in your Pastoral labours for the children.

To carry to these 2,520 souls the blessing with which GOD has charged me, I held Services of Confirmation publicly 150 times, and in private 12 times. I have preached during the year 163 times, given addresses 70 times, and lectured to the students and candidates 50 times. I have also administered the Holy Communion 78 times, and baptized twice, assisted at three marriage services and at three burials, laid one cornerstone, consecrated four Churches and held three Services of Ordination. This tells the story in part of the more public side of my labours. But it is the smallest part. Far heavier, more wearing and unceasing was the burden of carefulness in more than daily counsels, given in person or by letter; in decisions and judgments bearing on matters most sacred and important, and in the frequent responsibility for prompt and positive action under conditions that seemed perplexing. I thank you, dear Brethren, those who have sought my counsel, and those to whom, in very few instances, I have offered it unsought, that it has in all save two or three cases been so lovingly accepted and followed. Your kindness to me in my office softens the burden.

The official list of the Clergy on this day of Convention records the names of one Bishop, 167 Priests and 17 Deacons; in all, 185. The number reported last year was 183; to that have been added, by Ordination 6, by Canonical reception from other Dioceses 13. Twelve have been transferred to other Dioceses, and GOD has taken 5 from work to rest. There were, April 30th, Postulants for Holy Orders, 20; Candidates for Deacon's Orders, 5; for both Deacon's and Priest's Orders, 6; and Deacons preparing for Priest's Orders, 15; in all 46 persons under instruction.

The Ordinations have been as follows:

The Rev. James Lawrenson Smiley,	June	25, 1892.
" " Decatur Vincent Buker Morgan,	"	25, "
" " Solon Aurelius Whitcomb,	Sept.	28, "
" " Millard Fillmore Minnick,	March	13, 1893.
" " George Harbaugh Johnson,	"	13, "

PRIESTS.

The Rev. Lawson Carter Rich,	June	12, 1892.
(by the Bishop of Albany at my request.)
" " Francis Peet Wills,	June	25, 1892.
" " John Charles Gray,	December	18, 1892.
" " Lewis Beeman Brown.	"	18, "
" " Robert Shirley Wilkes Wood,	"	18, "

I said that God had called five of our Brethren of the Clergy from their labours to their rest. The first to go was the Reverend Samuel McDonald Richardson, June 13, 1892. He was admitted Deacon in 1868, at a time when it was hoped that the offices and duties of the Diaconate might be borne by men, who, giving most of their time to secular business, and thus supporting themselves, might serve God in Holy Office in the fragments of time remaining. If this idea of the Deacon's Office were capable of fulfillment, it would have found it in this Brother, whose devoutness and humility were coupled with a blameless business integrity which commanded the respect of his fellow-men. As he had opportunity he gave occasional assistance in the services of his Parish Church. It was all he could do. Wherever tried this plan has failed. Alike in England and in this country it has been almost entirely abandoned. God's service in the Holy Ministry will not yield place to any secular business, even the purest and best. When our Saviour called men to that service, whether they were fishermen like St. Peter and St. James, or Physicians like St. Luke, or had the responsibilities of money business like St. Matthew, they must leave all to follow Him. In this service "no man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of the world." Our Brother was one of those chosen by the Church to make this trial. He did his part.

The Reverend Walter W. Williams, D. D., died June 28th. He came to this Diocese by Letter Dimissory from Virginia in 1866, and was for ten years Rector of Christ Church, Georgetown; from 1876 to 1881, he was Rector of St. George's Church, New York; then returning to this Diocese, he was Rector of Christ Church, Baltimore, until his death. Deep devoutness and strong positiveness, high scholarly attainments and great modesty were closely blended in his life; a life that for many years was burdened by sorrows which imprinted in his character a wonderful sweetness.

The Reverend William Hyland, D. D., died July 28th. Transferred to this Diocese from West Virginia in 1879, he was for ten years in hard and patient labours, Rector of St. John's Parish, Prince George's County; and in 1889, in great weakness of body, he gave up all pastoral duty. He was for many years in the service of the Diocese as a member of the Standing Committee, where his thoughtful counsels were valued.

The Reverend William Withington died on the 31st day of August. He came to us from Massachusetts, and was at the time of his death the oldest living graduate of Harvard University, where he was graduated in 1821. He was 70 years old when he came to us in 1868, and thought himself too infirm to take pastoral responsibility. But his gentle, prayerful life was wonderfully prolonged in peace for 24 years; till, when God called him, he had known 94 years on earth.

The Reverend Pierre Du Gué Trapier died on the 15th day of September, in his 46th year. Ordered Deacon by Bishop Lay, of the Diocese of Easton, in 1873, he served as Deacon in that Diocese until 1874. Then transferred to Maryland, he was Ordered Priest by Bishop Pinkney, and was for a short time Assistant Minister of St. Paul's Parish, Baltimore. Returning to Easton in 1875, he was for eight years Rector of St. Paul's Church, Berlin; and in 1886 became Chaplain of the Hannah More Academy of this Diocese. This was the work for which he was peculiarly fitted, and to which, while life lasted, he gave himself most diligently and successfully.

I have purposely made these commemorations very brief, for dearly as we loved and honored those of whom I have spoken, I do not think I have the right to keep you by too many words of affection from your necessary duties. For the same reason I have abstained heretofore from loving mention of Laymen whom we have held in honour. But I must ask you to-day to remember two whom we shall greatly miss, Judge William A. Stewart and Mr. Charles T. Boehm.

I am sorry I must again bring before you the subject of the Accumulating Episcopal Fund. The Special Treasurer reports to me that contributions have been received from only 35 Churches this year, amounting to $501. I confess that it passes my power to understand it. Out of 126 Parishes and separate Congregations of the Diocese, the express assurance of contribution was made to me by more than 100. That 65 could so forget and fail to keep the promise is a result utterly unlooked for. I must personally withdraw from further responsibility in the matter. The fund now amounts to about $6,221. The conditions of contribution requires that it must be held for accumulation until it reaches, with the addition of the permanent fund, $100,000, unless the Diocese be divided before that time. Whether this gathering shall go on under the authority of the Convention itself, whether some other method of building up the sadly insufficient Episcopal Fund shall be taken, or whether we shall simply drop into indifference about it, this Convention must determine.

There remains yet four very important matters for which I must ask your most earnest consideration. The first concerns the Warfield Bequest for the establishment of a Church college or school for boys and young men at Sykesville. It will be remembered that at the Convention of last year a committee was appointed, with instructions to confer with the trustees of the College of St. James, in hope of some arrangement by which the two institutions, each very weak by itself, might be united and form one strong one. The committee, of which the Bishop was a member, submitted to the trustees of the College of St. James a proposition which we trusted would be found reasonable and practicable, but the said trustees did not see the matter in the same light, and declined the proposal. The report of the committee will give you the more precise statement. This failure, which I do most deeply regret, seems to make the prospect for consolidation hopeless. Over the trustees of the College of St. James this Convention has no authority, and it is in no way responsible for their action. But is responsible for the Warfield College, and for the right management of the interests therein intrusted to its care. I therefore advise that when the report of your special committee shall have been presented, four persons be appointed, two Clergymen and two Laymen, who with the Bishop shall constitute a board of trustees, to be incorporated as the Trustees of Warfield College, with full authority of control and management so far as it may be delegated by the Convention.

At the last Convention the important questions touching the relations between Rectors and Vestries were referred to a special committee, who, with the Bishop, were to confer with a similar committee from Easton and with the Bishop of that Diocese. After considerable preliminary exchange of views by correspond-nce, the Bishop of Easton and the committee for that Diocese kindly came to Baltimore for the joint meeting. The report, which will be presented in proper order of business, was adopted with almost entire unanimity. But some points were brought out in the comparison of views, which, though of very great importance, did not seem to come strictly within the limits of the subject-matter entrusted to the committee. I am fully convinced that in the Vestry Act as it now stands, if it were intelligently construed and honourably and entirely obeyed, we have all we need, so far as Civil law is concerned, for the stability and peace of our Parochial work. But it is not intelligently construed. Very few of the Vestries or Vestrymen of the Diocese at all understand or take the trouble to study the law which directs them. And very often narrowest technicalities of interpretation are used to set aside the real meaning and intent.

It is not honourably obeyed. Some of the most important provisions are wilfully disregarded. In plain defiance of its requirements, men who avow they are not members of the Protestant Episcopal Church, nay, men who declare themselves to be members of other Christian bodies, vote in the Vestries, help to vote in or vote out Rectors, and have voice in making our Church laws.

It is not entirely obeyed. Some of its provisions are followed; others, which were meant, and are important, to counterbalance or qualify, are neglected, and it has led to one-sided practice.

The Vestry Act was meant, first, to ensure the right and voice and proper part of the Lay members of the Church in the management of Parish affairs. Second, to declare and ensure the privileges of the Clergy in the temporal relation. It does not deal with their spiritual duty and authority. Third, to determine the relations of the two, and to protect both. I again affirm that if it were intelligently, honourably and entirely obeyed, it would nobly answer the intention. But it has been so misapplied and perverted that it has disfranchised the very persons whose liberties it was meant to secure. I do not believe there is in any other religious organization, nor in any reasonable civil government, a body of men so disfranchised, so absolutely deprived of their rights and shut out into silence as the rank and file of the Laity in the two Dioceses in the State of Maryland. The Laymen of the Church, instead of being protected in their right to a voice in the Church, are actually deprived of it by this failure rightly to carry out the intention of the law.

I have said that the first purpose expressed in the Vestry Act is the declaration and ensurance of the right of the Church's Lay members to vote. It gives that right to every one who shall be a male, a citizen, 21 years of age, resident in the Parish for at least six months, contributing in a measure and upon conditions specified, and "who shall have been entered on the books of the Parish, as a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, at least one month before the day of election." And it declares that "all persons so qualified" shall be entitled to vote or hold office.

It is the last qualification as I have here named it in which the most grievous wrong has been done. Instead of the clear words, "shall have been entered on the books of the Parish as a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church," there have been substituted in practice, "shall have enrolled himself on the list of voters." And in fact only those self-enrolled on that list have been allowed to vote at all. Now, there is not a word in the Vestry Act about self-enrollment, nor a word about a list of voters. If one's name be found, not on a list of voters, but on "the books of the Parish," in such manner to prove that he is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church in that Parish for the appointed time, this legal requirement of the Vestry Act is met, whether he be self-enrolled on a separate list of voters or not.

Immediately following that first section of the Vestry Act is a provision for securing that any one who is a member may have his name entered on the books by applying to the Register of the Parish. This has been construed as if it meant that none shall be so entered save such as make personal application. It is a destructive misinterpretation. I am sustained by gentlemen learned in the law in my conviction that this provision, standing in immediate connection with the first section of the Act, is to be construed with that; that it implies and requires the keeping of a list of the members of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Parish, and that to secure the completeness and correctness of the list, any one whose name may have been omitted, by accident or neglect, may, upon proof of his membership, claim and secure the proper entry. The duty of keeping this list is imposed upon the Register, elected and sworn to faithfulness. To his keeping also are entrusted the other books of the Parish. But what are "the books of the Parish?" Besides this list of members, the Act requires him to keep in a separate book the proceedings and acts of the Vestry, and in another book the record of all baptisms, marriages and burials; and it is especially directed that for the evidence of these spiritual acts and relations he is to look to the Rector or Minister of the Parish. If, therefore, by entry on any of these books, it appears that one has been for sufficient time a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Parish, he is, so far as that point of qualification is concerned, as fully entitled to vote as though his name were also self-enrolled on a list of voters, of which, I repeat, there is no mention or trace in the Vestry Act. The books of the Parish, rightly and honourably kept, are then to be the safeguard and assurance of the Layman's rights in the Church. Can you wonder then, Brethren, that in my recent visitations I have included in the visitation questions a careful examination as to the condition and faithfulness of these safeguards of the people? It is with amazement that I am compelled to report, that though the elected Registers must take an oath for the fulfillment of these duties, I have found only six Parishes which make any attempt at the fulfillment; only one where it is done perfectly, and that is Emmanuel Parish, Cumberland, where, in a worthy book, worthily kept by the Register, I found not only baptisms, marriages and burials, but a list of the members of the Church.

And it is because the Registers have failed to fulfill this duty, because there are no lawful list of members to which, as intended by the Vestry Act, appeal can be made, it comes to pass that when some personal disagreement, some serious cause or some trifle light as air brings about a collision between Rector and Vestry, and the peace and the gravest interests of the Parish, to say nothing of personal vested rights, are at stake, the people, whose servants the Vestry are supposed to be, are shut out from expressing their judgment. Appeal is made perhaps to an Easter-tide election. But the Vestry hold, not the books of the Parish as required by the law, kept without prejudice or partisanship for honest appeal, but their own illegal list of voters, too often prepared for the special issue by the unfair insertion of some names, and the unfair exclusion of others. The result is, that in most Parishes the only ones to whom the privilege to vote is granted are the Vestrymen themselves. The Vestry becomes a close corporation, self continued; instead of being the servant of the Parish and Parishioners, it has made itself their master. So far has this been carried that in an unhappy case* of this very year, when communicants of long standing applied to the Register to have their names entered, and produced the Rector's certificate, they were refused with the assertion that the Register was under orders of the Vestry and would enroll only those whom the Vestry should direct. In the name and for the sake of the great body of Lay members of the Church, I must protest against this perversion and maladministration of the law, which so robs them of their rights. I plead for an honourable and entire obedience to law. I want the Vestries to be, what they were meant to be, the true representatives of the people.

It is argued that the people take no interest in the elections. This perversion of practice has trained them into that habit of neglect. The Vestry Act, which was meant to protect rights, has been so applied as to destroy them; meant to hold open the door to the great body of the Laymen, it has been used to close it against them. Give the Laymen their rightful position and they will be guardians of the Church's peace. Give the Vestries their true position as fair representatives of the great body of Laymen, and their power for good will be doubled.

And now for the remedy. It is not necessary that there should be duplicate sets of books. The laws of the Church require every Rector or Minister in charge to keep a list of Church members, of baptisms, confirmations, communicants, marriages and burials. He does this under sacred obligation as a true witness to the facts. The laws of the State require the Register to keep a record, the facts for which he has to receive from the Minister. He is not compelled to transcribe or record with his own hand: he may employ a deputy or a clerk, he may so accept and use the assistance of the Minister. The two may unite in keeping the same books, and if the Register will there record and sign his official declaration that such book is the Parish register, kept with his approval as required by the Vestry Act, it will satisfy the conditions of that act; the books kept by the joint authority of the Rector and Register will fulfill the requirements of both Civil and Ecclesiastical law; the Registers will be easily able to keep their oath of faithfulness; the Laymen of the Church will be set free and restored to the enjoyment of their rights, and the voice of the whole Parish can be fairly expressed in any crisis which may threaten its peace.

I am so convinced of the importance of these views that I have already secured in several instances such validation of the records, and I venture to ask the appointment of a committee of two Clergymen and two Laymen to consider and report upon this matter, and to recommend such action as may facilitate the full and honourable execution of the law, secure the rights and liberties of the lay members and protect their relations with the Clergy.

One of the most important parts of our work at this session will be the consideration and action upon the Missionary work of the Diocese. By our Rules of Order it must come up at this evening's session. While this has its advantages in securing for it attention before our time is taken up with other matters, there is a disadvantage also. In these days of easy travel, many of the clergy of Washington and of the neighbouring towns, instead of remaining in constant attendance, go home for the night, losing thus the evening's session and lessening the interest we hope for. I do not wonder that they sometimes say that they know little about Diocesan Missions. If there is any part of our work every one ought to understand, it is this. It is easy, but it is not fair, to stay away, avoid the reports and discussions, and then criticise the Missionary Committee for not doing just what you would like to have them do.

The reports this year will be of special importance, involving the question of an almost fundamental change in our methods. We were directed by the Convention to expend during the year $13,000, and to secure that amount by apportionment among the Parishes and Congregations. We made the apportionment, $13,547, but received only about $11,000. I know the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese look with some complacency upon the amount contributed, but it appalls me. There are 30,000 communicants, by reasonable estimation, at this time. An average contribution of a penny a day would give $109,500. An average of two cents only a week would give $31,000. Shame upon us that we do less than half of this! Is it extravagant? There is proof to the contrary. Virginia, surely, is no richer financially than the people of this Diocese, if it be as rich. And in 1891 its only 18,000 communicants gave $18,000 for their own Missionary work, while, including Sunday-School Lent Offerings and the Silent Church Fund, the 30,000 of this Diocese gave less than $15,000. Instead of the loving enthusiasm which should burn to do its utmost, there seems a very general effort to keep the contribution as low as possible. There are some few cheering instances of Parishes which give more than has been asked of them, but they are very few indeed. Some strong city Parishes almost repudiate the duty, and plead what they do in their own Parish charities as ground for scaling down. Some Vestries have by resolution tried to set limits to the people's giving, or to intimidate the Clergy in asking as they should do. I have sometimes feared that our methods may become too mechanical and commercial. I have thought that the envelope system might sometimes be followed too closely, and in its carefulness shut the door on lively sympathy and enthusiasm.

There are six well built Churches standing silent to-day, not for want of souls within their reach, but from want of power to support them. There are six more that would be closed at once, were it not for the special help I have been able to give them from what is called "the Silent Church Fund." Most warmly do I thank the generous individual givers, including some loving children, the Churches, the Woman's Auxiliary and the Bishop's Guild for what they have done so to strengthen my hands. There are two counties, populous, in each of which we are represented by a single very feeble Parish. There are new villages and towns springing up rapidly, near our two chief cities, and calling upon us for new work. Our city Parishes are almost every year growing in numbers. Ought not every added soul to bring an incalculable roll of the Diocese is probable last year. Shame will be on the numbers and not in offering; should a year of such blessing, it cannot prove work. Come to the Missionary sea help us to wake some warmer zeal.

I have in this not included our dusky Colored people. They are 238,000, population of the Diocese. For that we largely on the allowance made us by the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society. I warned that the funds of that Society are so reduced that we must expect a serious reduction of their allowance for that work. In this emergency I shall ask you to remember that it was a man from Africa upon whom they laid our dear LORD's cross, and to give your Good Friday offerings for that African race in our midst.

There is yet one more subject of very grave importance. I am by no means an advocate of small Dioceses. When the division of this Diocese was suggested to me soon after my consecration, I was not willing to entertain the thought. And even now, although the pressure and amount of work have almost doubled since it was laid upon me, until it is probably next to the Diocese of New York in that respect, I do not shrink from it, as it now is, but there is much besides my own strength to consider. The wonderful and rapid growth of our two great cities, will make division absolutely necessary before very long. Shall we wait until the absolute necessity comes upon us, until the work really suffers because too great for one man to bear? Or shall we by wise forethought go before the absolute necessity, and provide for it before it comes; Besides, I do not think of Maryland alone. I must and do remember that in the City of Washington God has given us national opportunities and national responsibilities. Powers of all kinds are centering there. The Church should be strongly represented there. It was the rule of the Church in the best and earliest days that every strong city should have its Bishop, and if there is a city in our land where more than in others that rule should be followed, it is the City of Washington. Other religious bodies have already taken bold steps to take possession. We should not allow any love for the dignity of our own strength, nor any loving sentiment for the Diocese as it is, to stand in the way of the Church's real progress. I do believe that the time has come when it is our sacred duty to take thought and action for this grand forward step. By the laws of the Church, the consent of the Bishop is necessary for a division. Dearly as I love every part of the Diocese, and every Parish in it, and painful as it would be for me to give any of them up, if the Convention should approve the act, I would, upon proper conditions, give consent. But I would require two things: such fair division of the territory and work, as should equalize the two burdens, and such honourable provision for the support of the two Bishops as should forbid their becoming by serious annual taxation a burden on the Parishes and on the people. I read of noble deeds and noble gifts, of grand endowments for universities and hospitals. We have them here in this city. Surely there are men who can love CHRIST'S Church as well as men love merely human institutions. And to accomplish a result so important to the Church as this, I believe that there are hearts and hands that would be ready to act.

But, besides the will of the Convention and the consent of the Bishop, there is needed also the approval of the General Convention, and that body does not hold its regular session until 1895. We have time to consider the matter fairly. We ought to be ready to give our own decision at our Convention of 1894. And for that purpose I suggest that the subject of the division of the Diocese be referred to a special committee, who shall report both upon the advisability of division and upon the lines and conditions which should be observed, if division be approved.

With these statements and suggestions, I reserve, not to be read now, but to be printed, the record of my official acts, and I pray GOD to give us wisdom and love for the work we have to do.

March 28th.—Gave my official judgment and counsel in a case under the marriage laws, as follows:

Reverend and Dear Brother: I have your letter of the 25th, referring to me for decision the question of your duty in the case of the marriage of a woman and her nephew. My decision is the more freely given because you have kindly and properly left me in entire ignorance as to the persons involved.

Both sacred and civil law absolutely condemn and forbid such marriage. God's Word pronounces it an abomination. The laws of the State of Maryland declare it "void." Your duty, then, is clear. The persons so claiming to be married are, in the language of the Church, open and notorious offenders, and to such persons you are directed to refuse the Holy Communion. I know how painful the duty must be to you, and I am sorry for it. But I am still more sorry that any who have been counted God's children in Christ could, at the peril of their souls, so distinctly disobey His Word and Will. God help you to be firm in kindness, for fidelity to God's law, though it bring pain, is the truest kindness in such cases. Yours truly,

WILLIAM PARET,
Bishop of Maryland.

CONVENTION REPORTS.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

The Standing Committee report that after their election at the last Convention they organized by electing the Rev. J. H. Elliott, S. T. D., President, and the Rev. George C. Stokes, Secretary.

During the year the Committee has held six regular and three special meetings. They have recommended for ordination to the Sacred Order of Priests: The Rev. Lewis Beeman Browne, the Rev. Charles Gray, the Rev. Robert S. W. Wood and the Rev. George Fiske Dudley; for ordination to the Sacred Order of Deacons: Prof. S. A. Whitcomb, Millard Fillmore Minnick, George W. Johnston, D. D., and John George Sadtler, for admission to candidateship for Holy Orders: Frank S. Mesick, John George Sadtler, George H. Johnston, D. D., George W. Davenport, John Israel Yellott, Jr., William Bruce MacPherson and George W. Thomas.

Consent was given to the consecration to the Episcopate of the Rev. Charles Reuben Hale, D. D., Assistant Bishop elect of the Diocese of Springfield; of the Rev. George Kinsolving, Assistant Bishop elect of the Diocese of Texas; of the Rev. John McKim, Bishop elect of the Missionary Jurisdiction of Yedo, Japan, and of the Rev. Frederick R. Graves, Bishop elect of the Missionary Jurisdiction of Shanghai, China; and consent was given to the election of an Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of Texas for the reason of extent of Diocese.

Information that the Diocese of Southern Virginia had been duly organized was received, and loving greetings between the Standing Committees of the Sister Dioceses were interchanged.

The Standing Committee, at his request, has met the Bishop once as a council of advice.

At a meeting of the Committee, held on July 19th, 1892, the following minute was adopted and ordered to be spread upon its record:

MINUTE.

The Standing Committee have heard with unfeigned sorrow, on their own account, with deep joy for him, that the long, weary illness of their late associate, the Rev. Walter W. Williams, D. D., is at an end, and that he has entered into the joy of his Lord.

For eight years our departed Brother had been a member of this Committee; ever faithful in the discharge of his duties, conscientious and impartial in his judgments, wise in counsel, watchful over the interests of the Diocese, zealous for the faith once delivered to the Saints, firm and clear in his convictions, but always speaking the truth, and battling for the truth, in meekness and loving kindness. We shall miss the light of his judicial mind and clear understanding, but especially the influence of his sweet Christian spirit upon our deliberations. It is a privilege to recall his meekness of wisdom, his unfailing courtesy, his paternal greeting; and long will we cherish the memory of his pure and consecrated life. He was as just as he was brave, as gentle as he was firm.

He seemed never to have forgotten the maxim of his great teacher in the seminary he loved so well—"Seek the truth, come whence it may, cost what it will." But though he cultivated openness of mind and liberality of thought, he was never carried away by that shallow liberalism which surrenders revealed truth at the bidding of a pseudo-rationalism. For he knew how to render to reason the things that are reason's without sacrilegiously robbing Faith of her own. Yet while he was uncompromising in maintaining the truth as he understood it, he was free from the bitterness of the zealot and the narrowness of the partisan.

Above all, we shall remember him as the consecrated man, who had given all his energies to the service of the Church and had subordinated all other aims and ambitions to the high and holy purpose to be a true ambassador of Christ and a faithful steward of the mysteries of God.

GEORGE C. STOKES,
Secretary.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF MISSIONS.

In presenting to the Convention its annual report for the year of our Lord 1892-3, the Committee of Missions beg leave, first of all, to express the sense of loss it has received in the withdrawal from membership with it of the Rev. Dr. Rich, its chairman for several years and re-elected to that office the first meeting of the current year. As Dean of the Convocation of Baltimore Dr. Rich has been connected ex officio with the committee from the formation of the Convocations of the Diocese, and with great painstaking and devotion had attended to all its duties, thoroughly familiar with the manner of its workings and with the field of its operations. Continued ill-health prevented his accepting re-appointment as Archdeacon. God be gracious to him according to His mercy. Dr. Rich's place was filled by the election and appointment of the Rev. Geo. C. Stokes as Archdeacon.

A second loss the committee sustained in the withdrawal of the Rev. Dr. Douglass. His resignation was also for personal reasons, which compelled his removal from the Diocese to seek a more favorable climate for the health of his family. Dr. Douglass had been but a short time a member of the Committee, but within this time had shown great interest in its duties.

A third loss was in the death of its most faithful and zealous secretary, Mr. Charles T. Boehm. Mr. Boehm had for many years filled the office, was always in his place, and did what he was doing, always for the Master. He was devoted to good works, and was never known to evade a responsibility. The loss to the Committee and to the Diocese in his death is very great. Mr. J. N. Glenn was elected by the committee to the vacant office of Secretary. The vacant place in the membership of the Committee was not filled.

The committee has held four meetings during the year. At the first meeting, May 25th, 1892, the appointments and appropriations were carefully reviewed. Some few changes in the schedule of the previous year were made, and from time to time throughout the year, the special ability or the special views of particular stations being considered.

The Committee of course feels this to be a large part of its work, but a no less important part, and one that in many respects is far more attractive, is observations for the discovery of new fields and districts to which the Church can carry her ministrations of grace. For the Committee feels that for it the field is the whole Diocese, and that whenever an opportunity is offered for the preaching of the Gospel there the Church should be found. And found, too, in her effectiveness, believing that with an earnest, devoted, intelligent ministry, not only is she fitted for all classes and conditions of life, but that with her orderly ways, her authoritative ministry, her consistent forms of worship, she is as well if not far better qualified for the work given her to do, than any of the many bodies of Christians who are striving to extend the Master's kingdom.

The Committee has often had to proceed in faith, believing, and always justified in the belief, that where God gives the opening He will also provide the means for the Church's entering in. This was seen at the beginning of the year, when, though the Convention ordered only $13,000 for the purposes of the Committee, it upon its assembling, made appropriations to the amount of $14,175.

During the year it has not receded any point on account of a want of means; in fact has not withdrawn from any point at all; and where it has appropriated less to a particular point or station, has done so only because it has believed the people were able to do more for themselves than they have been doing. For the Committee has been watchful against any misappropriation of the funds committed to its trust, the only liability to which lies in the danger of bestowing help in excess of what is needed; knowing that the error in such a case would be twofold, the betrayal of a trust and the fostering of an unworthy spirit in the people. The Bishop's thorough familiarity with every part of the Diocese, together with the special knowledge of the Archdeacons in particular cases, places all necessary information in the hands of the Committee.

FUND FOR THE SUPERANNUATED AND DISABLED CLERGY OF THE DIOCESE.

No part of the Committee's work is more satisfactory and possibly more important than its care of this fund. For like as in other callings, professions, and in some cases private enterprises, it has been found necessary that faithful servants be assured against want when no longer able to do their work, so in the Church it is necessary. The calling gives but few opportunities for laying up for the time to come, and it scarcely promotes a minister's effectiveness where he is found to foster the propensity; this fund enables him to do his duty in quietness and peace of mind, a tangible assurance that the Church, through which God's mercies come, will see that in his last days or in any premature misfortune that may suspend or destroy his ability to labor, at any rate the necessities of life will be provided. In this way men are encouraged to enter the holy ministry, or being in it are encouraged to keep themselves rigidly to its holy duties, and to avoid all secularization of their energies.

Your Committee are glad to bear witness to the fact that in Maryland this fund is looked upon with a great deal of favor, that the people feel a deep interest in the care of old or disabled men—a worthy feature of Maryland where the Clergy have always been esteemed, where the Holy Office is accorded all honor, and where a man has to sacrifice the dignity of his position before he can be deprived of it.

The statement of the fund is as follows for the past year:

Received from Parishes and Congregations	$2,995.74
Received from Trustees of Church Charities.....	759.55
Received on account of year 1891-92.....	100.89
Received from Interest.....	22.13
Balance brought forward.....	2,240.15
Total	$6,118.46
Amount dispersed to Beneficiaries	$3,500.00
Postage.....	4.40
Balance carried forward.....	$2,614.06

Eleven persons have been recipients of this fund. Of these one has died, full of years and labors. The total sum appropriated, as just stated, was $3,500, in sums varying from $200 to $600. This last sum was exceptionally large, because the circumstances of our brother were optional. The permanent fund has received during the year a gift of 100 dollars and one of 50 dollars.

MISSIONS FUND.

The Missions fund of the Diocese is divided into two departments, Pastoral Aid and the Missions fund proper. They were formerly administered by two different Committees. The distinction, however, for the sake of convenience rather than intrinsic, and both funds should be, as they are, administered by one body.

PASTORAL AID.

The recipients of this fund are found all over the Diocese, in the cities as well as in the counties. We sometimes seem prone to consider South-Maryland as the chief beneficiary, but there is no portion of the Diocese that does not look to the Committee for help. Sometimes they are old Parishes that were once self-supporting, but which from reverses, or from the decay of interests that were once prosperous, have become greatly reduced; sometimes they are Parishes that were never able to care for themselves, but have always looked to the Committee. Such Parishes, however, must never be looked upon as dead-weights. In times past they have fostered a loyal Church spirit in the sons and ministers of the Church, and they have sent forth many such to enrich Churches in our own or other Dioceses. And in very many instances to-day they are centres for earnest, godly mission work, carried on by the Clergy, and sometimes fostered by the people. Some of them, however, are growing steadily in power, both their membership and their resources increasing.

MISSION WORK.

Mission work, in its closer definition, the committee has spent about 10,000 dollars within the past year, that is, in places where no other agency intervenes, but where the Minister holds directly from the Bishop. South-Maryland is exceedingly fortunate, that though it is an old Diocese it is not by any means a finished one, but is constantly opening new fields for the Church's attention and care. For loyalty to the Diocese rests on the very notion of Episcopacy, and loyalty is fostered by opportunities embraced to promote the welfare of its object. So Maryland Churchmen should, and do, if they be true Churchmen, rejoice in every opportunity for the growth of the Church in the Diocese.

BRUNSWICK.

One of the most notable instances of such growth is that of the work in Brunswick in Frederick County. Three years ago the town had but 100 persons resident, but to-day it has increased to about 2,500, the town having become a great railroad point. By the watchfulness of the Minister of the Parish in which the town is situated the Church was enabled to take hold of the incoming people, so that now a neat Church edifice of stone and brick has been erected and paid for, at the cost of $3,500. Excellent congregations are gathered every Sunday, the Sunday School has a roll of 125 children, and is growing rapidly, and the number of communicants has been very greatly increased by confirmations, as well as by persons received from other Parishes.

CARROLL COUNTY.

Another work worthy of attention is that in Carroll County, an open country with many centres, but none of them of sufficient importance or strength to enable our missionaries even to lay strong foundations. It is the worst part of a missionary's life that he may labor long and yet see no fruit of his labor to refresh his spirit, being able to do no mighty work. The fruit is seen at length if the labor be continued long enough, and it is worthy of the cause in which it is spent. In two places, however, within the region spoken of, fair and encouraging results are seen, at Walkerville and at Union Bridge, the latter, especially, having but a short time since begun with an insignificant number of worshippers, but now furnishing Sunday by Sunday good congregations. The missionary in this field is looking forward to the building of a small Church at each of these places and the people also feel a deep interest in the project.

SPARROW'S POINT.

The work at Sparrow's Point is carried on in an excellent field and with encouraging results. It has, however, suffered on account of the unavoidable frequent changes of the ministers in charge, so that personal associations with the people, which only long residence can give, and which is essential in all missionary work, has been prevented.

CURTIS BAY.

The work at Curtis Bay has prospered favorably. A new field, with the Church unknown to the people in the beginning, it was attended with much discouragement. It has now, however, taken hold upon the intelligence, as well as the sympathies of the people, and as far as can be seen, the only thing necessary to give permanency is a Church building. For up to this time the congregation has been compelled to worship in the parsonage. The building of the Church, however, has begun, and will be continued as gifts are received. Three Sunday Schools and one Parochial School are carried on in connection with the work here.

These are but instances of the work done in the Diocese. Others fully as encouraging might be noted in many places. Besides the general missions of the Diocese, many most encouraging Parish Missions might be named in the country districts, as well as in the cities, sometimes carried on by the Rectors themselves, but sometimes by Ministers specially appointed to the work by the Rector and Vcstry.

COLORED WORK.

The colored work is also worthy of attention in any review of the Diocese as a Mission field. This work is prosecuted as earnestly as may be, being carried on not only by the public services of the Church, but also, and may be more effectively, by Parochial and Sunday Schools, which are found in different parts of the Diocese. There is no reason why white people should be cared for and colored people neglected. In fact the only reason why the Church has lost hold on them in many districts where once they worshipped at the same altars with the white people, is that they have been neglected; while there are enough instances to prove, in various parts of the Diocese, that they can be as loyal and devoted to the Church of their fathers as the white people themselves. All souls in the Diocese should be equally the care of the Diocese.

No money necessary for sustaining this work ever did come out of the Missions Fund. Five hundred and fifty-five dollars and thirty-eight cents has been contributed within the Diocese this past year for colored work, and the Bishop's Penny, from the children of the Diocese, is appropriated to the building of chapels and school-houses for the negroes. Almost the entire support, however, is provided by the General Board, the sum of $5,500 having been appropriated to the work in Maryland.

GENERAL MISSIONARIES.

In addition to the local missionaries the Committee would remind the Convention of her general missionaries: they are the Missionary to Public Institutions, who carries the Gospel of grace and consolation to the unfortunate and afflicted in the Jail, the Almshouse, the Aged Woman's Home, and such like places; the other, the General Missionary proper, whose work is where the Bishop shall appoint him to encourage the weak, to stimulate the laggards in the Parishes and to hold up the hands of such brethren as may be overtasked in duty or overburdened by care. The work has been most successful this past year.

A review of the whole Diocese creates only a feeling of encouragement. The Convocations are appreciating the purpose of their existence, possibly more than ever, the promotion of missionary work and the creation of a missionary spirit. There has been a far more general and ready acquiescence than usual in the apportionments allotted to each Parish and congregation for the Missions Fund, and there has been greater promptness in the payments. No proper opportunities for extending the Master's work have been neglected.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The Committee made during the year appropriations to fifty-two different Parishes and Mission Stations, divided as follows, with the several amounts appropriated to each section of the Diocese:

To the Convocation of Annapolis 8 places with the sum of $2,100.
 To the Convocation of Baltimore 17 places with the sum of $4,500.
 To the Convocation of Cumberland 9 places with the sum of $2,725.
 To the Convocation of Washington 18 places with the sum of $4,450.

In addition to the above the sum of $1,500 was appropriated to the General Missionary. Last year the children's Lenten offerings amounted to $450. This year there is reason to hope that the same offerings will amount to enough to pay the whole of the General Missionary's salary, so that he will then be the children's missionary.

RECEIPTS.

To meet these appropriations the Committee has received as follows:

From Parishes and Congregations on account of apportionments and contributions for current year.....	$10,913 79
On account of previous year.....	978 29
From Trustees of Charities.....	215 90
Balance from last year.....	1,046 09
Other sources.....	63 17
Total.....	$13,217 24

DISBURSEMENTS.

Paid out on account of salaries and contributions to

May 31.....	$13,061 97
Incidental expenses, printing, postage, etc.....	81 55
Total.....	$13,142 52
Leaving balance in treasury,	73 72

This balance, small as it is, exists only because some of the Parishes and congregations were for a greater or less period without a minister.

DELINQUENTS.

As will be remembered by the Convention the amount voted to the use of the Committee last year was $13,000, the increase of $1,000 over the previous year, being because of the increase in the number of communicants in the Diocese. A review of the lists will show that while it is true as stated above, that the condition of the Diocese is encouraging, yet it is also true that we are still a long way off from perfection. Many of the Parishes, and they are in some instances among the very strongest in the Diocese, have been very slow in paying in the amount apportioned to them. At the time of the last meeting of the Committee, May 9th, the delinquencies stood as follows:

28 Parishes and congregations that had paid nothing in, where apportionments were.....	$1,034
28 Parishes and congregations, the balances unpaid of whose apportionments were.....	$1,435

Giving a total of 56 Parishes and congregations out of a grand total of 55, and a total of $2,469 out of a grand total of above $13,000, as ordered.

The Committee would respectfully urge upon the members of the Convention both the necessity and propriety of prompt payment within the year which ends April 30, and as early as possible. The stipends of the recipients of the fund are to be paid quarterly. In some instances Parishes and congregations have even done more than was appointed them, and done it promptly. Such as these are to be held in all honor, recognizing as they do, that the apportionment is not an assessment, but that these gifts are an offering to Christ Jesus for His cause in our own midst.

THE NEEDS OF THE COMMITTEE.

The needs of the Committee for the present year will not be in any degree less than those of last year. There is no place that can be discontinued, no work from which the Missionary may be called. Rather it is to be hoped that new opportunities may be offered, and from the very large number of confirmations during the year the Diocese ought to be able to put such additional funds at the command of the Committee that every opportunity may be immediately embraced. It often happens that the first in the field has very great advantages, as is seen notably in the case of Brunswick, above referred to. Whereas if we wait till other bodies of Christians have established their work, and then go in, our work languishes from the start. This, the history of many a weak place in the Church—too much being done to discontinue the service and yet not enough to encourage the hope of a strong, healthy, self-supporting congregation. Promptness is often the victory gained already.

The question presents itself, shall the Church be stronger for the large increase in her communicant members? What is needed is enthusiasm in her ministers. Let them study the field, let them become familiar with the work, let them recognize the duty and the privilege and the glory of extending the Master's dominions within the Diocese, as that portion of the field first committed to our care, and the people will soon catch the fire. But if they are cold and indifferent and careless; if gifts and offerings are asked for only because there is a sum apportioned to their cure and because they have to respond to a demand, the people will very soon become indifferent about giving. Is this not sometimes the reason that there comes up cries, "Our Parish is assessed too heavily," while other Parishes, not even as strong as they, are bearing gladly even heavier burdens?

Respectfully submitted,

E. & O. E.

SAMUEL J. HOUGH,

Treasurer.

BALTIMORE, May 11, 1893.

May 19, 1893.

Examined and found correct, and bank balances found to correspond with balances shown by report of Treasurer.

CHAS. F. TAYLOR;

JOHN M. GLENN,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF RELIGIOUS

The Committee desire to report that they have met with the Bishop, and have endeavored to use to the best advantage the small sum of money that has been sent to them. They were authorized by a resolution of the last Convention to expend the sum of $1,000 in their work, but of the 126 Parishes and separate congregations last reported, only forty (one-third of them) have responded, and the entire amount given to the committee was but $467.28, less than one-half the sum requested and required.

The Committee would respectfully remind the Lay Delegates, and especially the Rectors, who are directed by the canon to see that the money for the Committee be raised, of the important duties imposed upon the Committee, and to this end they would here repeat the words of the canon authorizing their work.

Section 4, Canon VIII. Of the Maintenance and Extension of Religious Worship and Instruction, reads as follows: "The Committee of Religious Instruction shall have charge of the distribution of Bibles, Prayer Books and other religious books and tracts within the Diocese, and shall receive and disburse all contributions in money or otherwise, which may be made throughout the Diocese, for those objects. They shall also superintend and provide for the establishment and support of schools for religious education within the Diocese, and, if need be, shall provide for the maintenance of candidates for Holy Orders and youth preparing for the Ministry."

Section 6 says: "It shall be the duty of the Rector of each Parish or Congregation to devise and carry into effect, ways and means for the collection of moneys for the work of the Church herein provided for, by holding meetings, public or otherwise, procuring subscriptions and donations and issuing or circulating papers, statements, addresses or the like, or by such other measures as he may deem most effective."

The Committee feel that they could profitably expend much more than the one thousand dollars asked last year in helping Church Schools and in the distribution of the revised edition of the Prayer Book. The Bishop has called their attention to several mission points where Church schools would do much good, and notably in the Missions at Curtis Bay, and at Sparrow's Point. A Church School has been started at Curtis Bay, at the Bishop's suggestion, which has been supported by means outside of this Committee, and the results have been so satisfactory that the Bishop thinks that such schools will be the very best helpers in building up our missions and in spreading the Gospel of the Kingdom among mankind.

With the small amount entrusted to them they have only been able to donate a very few Bibles and Prayer Books; to send to St. Mary's Parish School, Hampden, Baltimore, $300; to Charlotte Hall Industrial School, Maryland, $50; and of the balance reported, $53.78, they have ordered $50 to be sent to St. John's School, Waverly, Baltimore, which will leave only $3.78 in the treasury for next year.

They have directed their Secretary to write to the proper authorities with a view to making this Committee a Diocesan Auxiliary Society of the "Prayer Book Distribution Society" of the General Convention. Since this action on their part, the Bishop has received a communication from the Secretary of that society, asking that a Diocesan Auxiliary Society be thus appointed.

The committee think this highly desirable.

FREDERICK GIBSON,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE STATE OF THE CHURCH.

(Journal, p. 9.)

The Committee on the State of the Church, has, as its chief work, according to precedent, the comparison of the Reports of work made to the Convention last year, with the Reports made to the Convention the year before, and to note and state for the information of this Convention the advance or retrogression of the Church's work in our Diocese.

Your Committee having made this comparison, beg leave, respectfully, to report, as follows :

There were reported to the Convention of 1892: Number of Clergy, 183; net increase 2.

Ordinations, 10; same as year before.

Candidates for Orders, 15; net increase 8.

Postulants for Orders, 21; net increase 13.

Parishes and Congregations, 126; same as last year.

Missions, 11; same as last year.

Chapels of Institutions, 2; same as last year.

Baptisms—Adults, 269; net increase 13. Infants, 2,532; net increase 169. Total 2,801; net increase 182.

Confirmed, 1,790; net increase 230.

Communicants, 27,787; net increase 395.

Marriages, 819; net increase 102.

Sunday-Schools, 19,058; net increase 263.

Contributions—Parochial, $493,552; net increase $9,969. Diocesan, $52,704; net increase $4,070. General, $26,468; net increase $2,986. Total $572,724; net increase $17,025.

These facts tell of substantial progress, the advance of the work of the Church in our Diocese, and that, too, all along the line. There is you will observe, no decrease in any single point of our work.

Of Ordinations and Parishes there is the same number as the year before. In every other particular there is marked and encouraging increase.

Twenty-one more men looking to the work of the Ministry than last year; 230 more Confirmations, 182 more Baptisms, 263 more children brought under Church instruction, and $17,000 more consecrated to the service of Christ.

Besides all this, generous gifts and bequests of money and property, which promise the early and efficient establishment of a good Diocesan School for Boys in a central and healthy location.

Surely these facts, and others of which we know, are full of cheer to us. They show that our prayers, alms and labors have come up for a memorial before God, and that He is sending, in answer, larger opportunity to His Church, to glorify Him and to bless and save men. And may show, too, that by His blessing the work of the Lord is prospering in our hand; that he has accepted and is using all that we have offered to Him.

As these marks of blessing on our work kindle our gratitude to God for His mercies past, let them stir us all to quicker zeal and more entire consecration to Christ, and His Church and His purpose for the world. Let us prove Him now, herewith, and see if He will not open the windows of Heaven and pour us out such a blessing, as there shall not be room enough in our present limits to receive it. God prosper the Church in Maryland!

All which is respectfully submitted.

W. G. DAVENPORT,
WILLIAM P. PAINTER,
WM. A. MELOY,
S. W. TULLOCK,
Committee.

The Committee find that so much of the Bishop's address to the last convention as refers to Confirmation and the training of children was referred to this Committee. We think we cannot do better than to call the attention of the Convention again to his own wise and earnest words on this most important subject, and commend them to your serious consideration. We feel that we can add no weight to the Bishop's pastoral instruction in this matter.

THE TWENTY-THIRD ANNUAL REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF CHURCH CHARITIES.

The Trustees of Church Charities beg respectfully to submit to the Convention this their Twenty-third Annual Report.

Since the adjournment of the last Convention there has been but one meeting of the board, held on the twenty-seventh day of May, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-three, the day of the date of this Report.

The Report of the Treasurer of the Board, which accompanies this, contains a detailed account of the receipts and disbursements from May 1st, 1892, to May 1st, 1893, and shows the amount on the last named day of the various funds under the supervision of the board.

The Superannuated and Disabled Clergy Fund has been increased by purchase of $500 of Baltimore City Stock. Certain additional donations have been made to the Permanent Clerical Sustentation Fund, and Maryland Church Building Fund, as appearing in said Report; and the following new funds have come under the supervision of the Board, the items of which they are composed appearing in detail in said report, viz:

The Susannah Warfield Fund for the support of Warfield College; amounting to $15,543.59.

The George W. Holmes Fund No. 2, to be applied to the maintenance of said College, principal or interest as the Convention may deem advantageous; which by resolution of the last Convention was to be held subject to the direction and order of the Bishop, in regard to the mode of its application; amounting to $4,906.48.

The Julia Mantley Fund, for the support primarily of the Rector of St. James' First African Church in the City of Baltimore; amounting to $1,177.20.

The Barbara M. Beall Fund, the income from one-half thereof to be applied to the support of the Rector of All Saints' Parish, Calvert County, Maryland, and the income from the other half to be applied to the support of Diocesan Missions in the country parishes of the Diocese of Maryland; amounting to $1,950.70.

The Thomas S. Beall Fund, for the support and maintenance of Diocesan Missions in the country Parishes in the Diocese of Maryland; amounting to $3,608.25.

There has been no change in the investments of the funds as appearing in the last report of the Treasurer, except those arising from deposits and interest on deposits in Savings Banks, all of which appear in his present report.

The Board consists at present of the Bishop, and the following named lay trustees, to wit: Messrs. R. Brent Keyser, and Daniel M. Thomas, of the First Class; Charles F. Taylor, and William Graham Bowdoin, of the Second Class; and John N. Steele, and John M. Glenn, of the Third Class.

The term of office of the members of the second class expires with the adjournment of the present Convention and it will be necessary for it to elect their successors.

WILLIAM PARET,

Bishop of Maryland and President of Trustees.

W. G. BOWDOIN, Treasurer,

DANIEL M. THOMAS, Secretary.

BALTIMORE, May 1st, 1893.

MINORITY REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CANONS.

The Committee on Canons and other business, to which was referred the amendment proposed by Mr. Charles Abert at the Convention held in 1892, to the Ninth and Tenth Articles of the Constitution, having made a report adverse to such proposed change, the minority of the Committee would, under leave of the Convention, present its views as follows:

The importance of this question is such that it is worthy of searching examination and this body is entitled to know as well the facts of the case as the reasons for maintaining or departing from the present status.

It may be well for us to look into the history of the Standing Committee in the Diocese of Maryland.

At a Convention or meeting of the Clergy held at Annapolis on the 13th of August, 1783, and at which Convention or meeting was framed a declaration of certain fundamental rights and liberties of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Maryland; the present state of the Church was also considered, and the great distress that prevailed among the Parishes and Congregations for the want of Clergy and proper instruction in principles of religion, and it was agreed that, until a regular ordination of Clergy could be had, there should be three (3) Clergy appointed from each Shore "authorized to examine such gentlemen as may offer themselves for candidates for Holy Orders in our Church."

A Committee was appointed at that Convention which was composed altogether of Clergy, and this Committee of three Clergymen from each Shore, had power to license candidates for Orders in our Church to act as readers in different vacant parishes.

The first Annual Convention at which both Laymen and Clergy attended, was held in Annapolis in June, 1784, at which the action of the Clergy at their meeting in August, 1783, at the same place, was by the Clergy reported to the Laity and the proceeding of the former Clerical Convention unanimously approved.

A Committee of Clerical and Lay delegates was then appointed to form a plan of Ecclesiastical Government for the Protestant Episcopal Church in Maryland, and of division of the duties of Bishops, Priests and Deacons in matters spiritual; and at this Convention made a report in part performance of the duties devolved upon them.

At an adjourned Convention held at Chestertown, Md., in October, 1784, a Committee of three clerical and three lay deputies was appointed to form Additional Rules or Constitutions respecting the future discipline and government of this Church in Annual or General Conventions.

On the 28th of October, 1784, the Convention made its report, and the second additional Constitution provided, "That there shall be annually appointed a Committee to consist of an equal number of Clergy and Laymen, including the Bishop, (when there shall be one duly consecrated among the number of the Clergy) which Committee shall have standing authority, government and jurisdiction agreeably to such rules as may be given them for that purpose, when matters respecting the discipline and government of the Church may arise or be necessary to be passed upon, during the recess or adjournment of General Conventions; all which rules shall be conformed to and the jurisdiction exercised be in conformity with the Constitutions and Laws of this State."

At a Convention held on the 28th of May, 1788, at Baltimore Town, a Committee consisting of lay and clerical members, six (6) of each order, was appointed "To take into consideration and report such Canons and Rules as shall enable this Society to carry into effect the principles of Ecclesiastical government approved by former Conventions," which Committee made a report on the 29th of May, and the same was on that day unanimously agreed to, ratified and duly signed.

These Canons and Rules in the first paragraph of the same provided for the appointment of five Clergy from the Eastern Shore and a like number from the Western Shore, to be elected and appointed as the Superintending Committee, "who shall have the sole and exclusive right to nominate and recommend candidates as well for Holy Orders as for a settlement in any Parish in this State, and likewise to superintend the concerns of the Church in general and Parishes and Congregations in particular, on their respective Shores."

The second paragraph provided, among other things, for the division of the territory of the Diocese among the members of this Superintending Committee.

The duties prescribed for this old Superintending Committee are still recognized, and can, in case there be no Bishop of the Diocese, be imposed upon the Standing Committee, as provided in Article X of the Constitution.

The fourth paragraph of these Canons or Rules provided that there shall be a Standing Committee consisting of five Clergymen and a like number of Laymen of each Shore, the clerical members to be chosen by the Clergy and the lay members by the Laymen in Annual Convention, whose duty shall be to correspond with like Committees through the States and exercise authority given them by the Second Additional Constitution heretofore reported.

This Second Additional Constitution, which had been adopted on the 22nd of June, 1784, had provided, for the committee the duties which have been hereinbefore set out.

Such Rule continued to be in force in this Diocese until the Convention of 1790, which provided that the Standing Committee should consist of ten members, six from the Western Shore and four from the Eastern Shore, to be chosen from the Order of Priests; and during the Convention of 1798 the number was reduced to seven priests, four from the Western Shore and three from the Eastern Shore.

Efforts from time to time have been made to change this order of things.

At the Convention held on the 1st of June, 1855, the Rev. Mr. Van Bokkelen gave notice of his intention to offer at the next Convention a proposed alteration in Article IX of the then Constitution, so that it should provide for the election of a Standing Committee to consist of nine members, seven of the Order of the Clergy and two of the Order of the Laity; four of the Clergy and one Layman from the Western, and three of the Clergy and one Layman from the Eastern Shore, to be chosen by a joint ballot of the Clergy and the Laity.

At a Convention held the following year on the 30th of May, 1856, these proposed alterations were rejected on division by a vote of 68 to 28.

At a Convention held May 30, 1867, Mr. Hugh Davey Evans proposed an amendment to Article IX of the Constitution providing for the election of the Standing Committee to consist of seven members to be chosen from the Order of Priests, and without reference to the locality of the persons chosen, and which amendment was adopted at the Convention held May 27, 1868, by an almost unanimous vote.

At the Convention held May 29, 1868, the first Convention after the Constitution of the Diocese of Easton, the address of the Rt. Rev. W. R. Whittingham, D.D., the then Bishop of Maryland, was read, from which we make an extract; and this address is so weighty in importance, and emanates from a source of such high authority, that it is thought best to insert the same in full.

"One result of this entrance on a new state of existence as a Diocese I referred to in the beginning of my address is the opportunity it affords us for reconsideration of a feature of our Diocesan Constitution and organization, in which we have hitherto been disposed to engage mainly on account of our frank acceptance of the counsel of Heavenly Wisdom, 'meddle not with them who are given to change.' Change has come upon us in the process of growth, and it is disobedience of the Scriptural precept to occupy ourselves in deliberation about the direction of its movement; and the limit to be assigned to it.

"I said at the outset that I should moot but one point of such deliberation in this Address.

"That point is the Constitution of the Standing Committee of the Diocese.

"We have, I believe, but one companion among the nearly forty dioceses of the Church in excluding the Laity from representation in the Standing Committee in this body. When I came to my present position I thought the Maryland peculiarity a desirable distinction. The thought and experience of almost thirty years have satisfied me that I was mistaken. I now regard the absence of the Lay element from our Standing Committee as wrong in principle, and unfortunate in result.

"Wrong in principle, because a main function of the Standing Committee is its guardianship of the admission to the Holy Ministry—a function to which the signs of the times are pointing as becoming daily more and more important—and in the discharge of that function the Church in the primitive ages, and our Mother Church in England since the Reformation, have rightly attached much consequence to the testimony and assent of the Laity. In England the requisition of the 'Si quis' provides for the Lay testimony and assent, before the Bishop can ordain. Practically, perhaps, its use has fallen into much neglect; but the provision of the Church is such.

"I can find in the provisions of our Church no equivalent of equally sure operation in behalf of the Laity, unless the Diocesan Laity have its representation on the Standing Committee. It is possible, for example, in this Diocese, for a minister of another body of Christians to find his way into the Diaconate without a Layman of the Diocese having a word to say on the subject. I think this ought not so to be; and, besides, even in ordinary cases, I think the different kinds of knowledge of the world which may be expected in a leading Layman as compared with a Clergyman, likely to be of especial value in the judicial estimate of the character which a Standing Committee has to form in deciding whether to recommend a candidate for Holy Orders for admission. For the interest of the Clergy themselves, it appears to be undesirable and wrong that they should be compelled to maintain toward the community in which they administer the attitude of a close corporation, holding in their hands alone the means of access to their own position.

"That exclusion of the Laity, which for these reasons seems to me wrong in principle, I have always been led to think unfortunate in result, by observation of the multiplicity of occasions in which a Standing Committee is liable to find itself embarrassed in the fulfillment of its duties for want of exact legal knowledge, of legal habits of thought, and especially with familiarity with established rules of evidence. In past years I have but too much occasion to know full well that my brethren of the Standing Committee of this Diocese, with their Bishop, might have been saved many a troublous perplexity and many a weary hour of labor, by the participation in their action of but one such member of the legal profession as would, without doubt, have found his way into their body, had it been open to representatives of the Laity.

"For these reasons, on which very much more might be said, were it fitting to do it here, I deem it to be my duty, on this first assemblage of the representation of the Diocese in its new dimensions, to present for consideration a proposal to change the Ninth Article of the Constitution, so as to read, after the words 'Standing Committee,' 'consisting of eight members, four from the Clergy of the Order of Priests, and four from the Laity, who shall be chosen by a joint ballot of the Clergy and Laity; and in all such elections by joint ballot, no member of the said Committee shall be elected unless he shall receive a majority of the votes of all the attending members.' Under the Sixth and Twelfth Articles of the Constitution, this proposal is now before you, as a motion made by the Bishop, being in his judgment conducive to the good of the Church, and by him in the foregoing paragraph introduced in writing for your consideration and approval, if you so think fit."

On the 25th of May, 1869, on motion of Mr. Bernard Carter, the Bishop's proposal to amend Article IX of the Constitution, so as to provide that the Standing Committee should consist of eight members, four from each Order, was made the special order for May 27, 1869. On this latter date the Bishop's proposition was so amended as to provide for eight members of the Standing Committee, five Clerical and three Lay members, and the motion as amended was carried, the Clergy voting 45 yeas and 32 nays; the Laity voting 43 yeas and 12 nays.

At the Convention held May 26, 1870, after division, the amendment as proposed was defeated, the Clergy voting yeas 46, nays 48; the Laity voting yeas 48, nays 31.

At a Convention held on the 30th of May, 1882, the Rev. W. M. Dame offered a proposition for a change in the composition of the Standing Committee, so as to provide, "That it shall consist of eight members, four to be chosen from the Order of Priests, and four from the Order of the Laity," which proposition was referred to the Committee on Canons.

At the Convention held on the first of June, 1883, the Rev. Dr. Grammer, from the Committee on Canons, presented a report, and, for reasons therein stated, the Committee was allowed to retain the subject under consideration for a final report at the next Convention, and at the Convention held on the 29th of May, 1884, the Committee reporting and recommending that no change be made in the Constitution as proposed, the report was, on the 30th of May, 1884, recommitted to the Committee on Canons, with instructions to report at the adjourned meeting of the Convention.

On the 30th of October, 1884, at such adjourned Convention, the Committee was discharged from the further consideration of this subject.

The pending proposition to amend, as introduced May 18, 1892, by Mr. Charles Abert, and referred to the Committee on Canons, contemplates that the Standing Committee shall consist of eight members, four members to be taken each from the Order of the Clergy and the Laity ; and is as follows :

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE IX OF THE CONSTITUTION.

"Before the adjournment of each Annual Convention, a Standing Committee, as required by Canon 2, Title III, of the Canons of the General Convention, shall be elected by a joint ballot of the Clergy and Laity, from among the qualified members of the Convention, to consist of four Presbyters and four Laymen, who shall be communicants of the Church in good standing, which Committee shall serve until their successors are elected. They may be re-eligible.

"Vacancies occurring in their body, during recess of the Convention, shall be filled from the Order affected, as soon as practicable, by the concurrent vote of the remaining members, all having been duly notified of time, and place of meeting, and object thereof. At their first meeting, which shall be on the last day of the Convention, or as soon thereafter as practicable, they shall elect one of their Clerical members to be President, and another of their members, either Clerical or Lay, Secretary.

"They shall keep regular minutes of their proceedings ; and a majority of the members, all having been duly summoned, shall constitute a quorum, except for such purposes, as, agreeable to their own rules, or requirement by Canon, may demand a larger number. They may make rules of meeting and business, and alter or repeal the same from time to time, said rules not to be inconsistent with the General Canons nor the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese.

"The Convention may adopt such Canons concerning the Standing Committee as may be deemed necessary."

AMENDMENT SECOND.

"In Article 10, third line, after the word 'are,' insert the word clerical."

AMENDMENT THIRD.

"The last paragraph of Article 9 be made made Article 10, and that the remaining articles be numbered consecutively."

WHAT ARE THE DUTIES OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE?

Title III, Canon 2, of the Canons of the General Convention, provides that there shall be a Standing Committee to be appointed by the Convention of every Diocese, whose duties, except so far as provided for by the Canons of the General Convention, may be prescribed by the Canons of the respective Dioceses. This Committee is constituted a Council of Advice to the Bishop, at whose summons it shall meet, or it may meet of its own motion when it may be disposed to do so, to advise the Bishop; but when there is no Bishop the Standing Committee is the ecclesiastical authority for all purposes declared in these Canons.

An examination of the Canons of the General Convention will show that the Standing Committee may be called on to act in the following cases :

When a person refused admission as a postulant or candidate for Holy Orders in any jurisdiction applies elsewhere.

In the case of a postulant the recommendation of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Missionary Jurisdiction is necessary, and they are called on to act in such case.

In the case of such candidates where dispensation to be relieved from certain studies is asked for.

In striking the name of a postulant or candidate from the roll and giving the necessary notice to other jurisdictions.

In shortening the time within which a candidate for Priests' orders may be made Deacon.

In recommending the ordination of a Deacon to the Bishop.

In shortening the time within which a person ordained Deacon may be ordained Priest.

In the ordination to the Priesthood, where the recommendation of the Standing Committee is essential.

In ascertaining the sufficiency of the substitute presented, for the certificate as prescribed by the Canon, in the case of any candidate for Holy Orders.

In the case of Ministers ordained in foreign countries by Bishops in communion with this Church.

In the case of Ministers officiating in a foreign language.

To receive notice of the election and institution of Ministers in any Church or parish, there being no Bishop in the Diocese.

Where the Minister of the Church neglects to perform the regular services in his congregation, and refuses consent to any other Minister of the Church to officiate within his cure.

In the case of non-residents and removal, and letters dimissory.

In the case of the consecration of a Bishop-elect, the consecration to take place during the recess of the General Convention.

In the consent to the proposed consecration of such Bishop-elect.

In the case of the election and the consecration of an Assistant Bishop.

In the case of the election of Domestic Missionary Bishops during the recess of the General Convention.

In the election of Foreign Missionary Bishops.

In the election of a Bishop of a Missionary Jurisdiction to be a Diocesan Bishop in any organized Diocese within the United States.

In the exercise of the Episcopal Ecclesiastical authority of a Diocese under the warrant of a Bishop during his absence; and where there is no Bishop, in the exercise of such ecclesiastical authority.

In the performance by any other Bishop of Episcopal duty on the invitation of the Standing Committee of the Diocese where there is no Bishop or where such Bishop may be under disability.

In the case of the resignation of a Bishop during recess of the General Convention.

In the election of Missionary Bishops of this Church during the recess of the General Convention.

In the consideration by the Bishop of a complaint made because of rites and ceremonies or practices not authorized in the Book of Common Prayer, in which case the Bishop is required to summon and advise with the Standing Committee as his Council of Advice.

In the consideration of the propriety of incumbering or alienating any consecrated Church or Chapel.

Under the Canon of Amenability and Citation of Ministers for offences committed by such Ministers.

In the case of a Clergyman in one Diocese or Missionary Jurisdiction chargeable with misdemeanor in another, and the prohibition and notice of prohibition contemplated by the Canon upon this subject.

In case of differences between Ministers and their Congregations and the dissolution of the Pastoral connection.

In the case of renunciation by a Minister where no ecclesiastical proceeding is pending and a deposition of a minister is had, and the notice of such deposition given.

Of the abandonment of the Communion of this Church by a Presbyter or Deacon without renunciation, and the deposition and notice of such deposition contemplated by the Canons.

In the case of a Clergyman absenting himself from his Diocese for a year or more without good cause, and the suspension and notice of suspension contemplated by the Canon upon this subject.

In the case of the abandonment of the Communion of this Church by a Bishop and the deposition contemplated by the Canon.

In the case of the receipt of a notice of a deposition of any Minister.

In the case of the remission of the sentence of deposition or degradation theretofore pronounced by a Bishop upon a Presbyter or Deacon.

In the consideration of the question who is the innocent party in divorce for the cause of adultery, or as to parties once divorced seeking to be united again as contemplated by the Canons on Marriage and Divorce.

In the case of the formation of new Parishes or Churches within the limits of other Parishes where no Canon or other Regulation of a Diocesan Convention has been adopted.

In the case of Congregations in foreign parts where there is no Bishop.

In the case of the organization of new Dioceses and the calling of a Primary Convention therefor.

In the case of a vacancy during the recess of the General Convention of the office of Secretary and Assistant Secretary and the appointment by the Standing Committee of the Diocese in which the next General Convention is to meet of the new Secretary.

The additional duties devolved upon the Standing Committee of the Church in Maryland are as follows :

In case there be no Bishop to act in the matter of the titles of Clergymen to seats in Convention.

In the matter of the erection of new Parishes or Congregations to receive notices of intention to organize in case there be no Bishop.

In matters of clerical discipline and in the institution of proceedings against Clergymen.

In matter of discipline during a vacancy in the Episcopal office where the President of the Convention may be the party accused.

In the matter of making suitable provision for vacancies in Parishes or Congregations where there is no Bishop.

To keep a record of all its proceedings and make annual report thereof to the Convention.

The mind of the Church as expressed upon the subject of lay co-operation in all its departments save that of ministering at its altars is clearly shown.

1. In the Constitution providing for Lay representation in all the deliberations of that body and the necessity of joint action by the Clergy and Laity.

2. In the provisions of the Eighth Article of the Constitution, in which is entrusted in part to the Laity the establishment of the Book of Common Prayer and the administration of the Sacraments and other Rites and Ceremonies, Articles of Religion and the form and manner of making and ordaining Bishops, Priests and Deacons.

3. In the Articles established by such General Convention and set forth in the Book of Common Prayer, the XIX of which defines the visible Church to be a "congregation of faithful men," etc., the Laity being included.

4. In the different provisions of the Canons of the General Convention, where certain duties are imposed upon the Clerical Members of the Standing Committee to the exclusion of the Lay Members of the same, and which terms of exclusion involve the presence of the Lay Members on such Committee.

5. In the provision for the formation of Standing Committees for Missionary Jurisdictions of the Church, where the prescript is, that the Standing Committee shall consist in part of Lay Members, and in the case of the Foreign Missionary Jurisdictions that it should consist of an equal number of Lay Communicants, if the same be found practicable and advisable.

6. In the provision that Laymen shall certify in the case of Candidates for Holy Orders before such Candidates are received as such.

7. In the provision that however fit a Priest of the Church may be he shall not be received as a settled minister except his qualifications as such be first submitted to and prove satisfactory to the Laymen of the Vestry in the Parish or Congregation to which called.

8. The most delicate function of the Church in matters of discipline is to be found in the trial of a Bishop, and if there ever be occasion when to none but anointed hands should be entrusted a question affecting the integrity of our Right Reverend Fathers in God such would be the time; and yet when the Canons of the General Convention upon that subject are referred to for that agency which shall find whether there be sufficient grounds to put an accused Bishop upon his trial for other than erroneous doctrine and prepare the presentment for the trial court, we learn that the Board of Inquiry, selected from the Deputies to the General Convention from Dioceses in the vicinage of that of the offending Bishop, is to be composed in part of the Laity, and that without their action no step can be taken.

9. The Church has in no way more clearly shown its mind upon this matter of Lay representation than in the licensing of Lay Readers, constituting as they do nothing but a part of the Laity, seeking no Holy Orders and duly certified to the Church as such without any special service, charged as other Laity are with the duty of holding up the hands of the Clergy, they are yet invested with authority of such high character that they can stand in God's Church where the Clergy stand and do much of the Clergy's work before the people; and so thoroughly has this element of assistance in Holy things been appreciated that in October, 1892, the Committee on the State of the Church in the General Convention reported that 1,806 of such Lay Readers were acting under the authority of the Church, the number of Clergy and candidates for Holy Orders being at that time 4,832.

Not only does the Constitution of the Church of Maryland in its provisions recognize the rights of the Laity to sit in Council and to speak with equal voice with the Clergy, but before that constitution was adopted and when the Church was struggling to gather into one body its scattered parts and to accommodate itself to the new condition of things, a Convention, composed exclusively of the Clergy, met at Annapolis on the 13th day of August, 1783, and formed the Declaration of Rights, in which they took care to announce the parity of the Orders, Lay and Clerical, when sitting in Convention. In Article IV of this famous paper they declared that, "as it is the right so it will be the duty of the said Church when duly organized, constituted and represented in a Synod or Convention of the different orders of her ministry and people to revise her Liturgy, forms of prayer and public worship in order to adapt the same to the late Revolution and other local circumstances of America."

This declaration was afterwards recognized and confirmed by a Convention attended by Clerical and Lay delegates.

The injustice of excluding the Laity from the Standing Committee is apparent for the following reasons, among others:

1. The General Convention has advocated their right to co-operate not only in the Constitution and Canons, but the Prayer Book through all its pages and its mode of use as a medium of Common Prayer pleads for the participation of the Laity in the government of the Church.

2. Exclude the Laity from the Standing Committee and they have no power to act where the Laymen of other Dioceses are charged with a duty in the matters of admission to Holy Orders.

3. The Laymen of Maryland have no choice in the election of any but their own Diocesan Bishop, except during the sessions of a General Convention when they can act in the case of a Missionary Bishop.

4. Without the Laymen approve no initial step can be taken by one who seeks Holy Orders, and yet when the discipline of the Church is invoked in the Diocese of Maryland against one who has been adjudged guilty of crime, or immorality, no Layman can join in an inquiry which may result in keeping the unworthy minister still in the ranks of the faithful Clergy.

5. A minister of this Church may neglect to perform his duties or to consent that any substitute should perform them for him and if there be no Bishop, a Standing Committee composed exclusively of Clergymen has full power in the case and no Layman in Maryland can join in a deliberation so closely affecting him, the Standing Committee having full and final power in the matter.

6. In the session of the General Convention of the Church jurisdiction, as to the establishment of its Rites and Ceremonies is entrusted to a body composed in part of Laymen, and as to the enactment of Canons guarding against the introduction of ceremonies or practices not ordained or authorized in the Book of Common Prayer, but yet when such canon is violated in this Diocese a Standing Committee composed alone of clergymen has exclusive authority to ascertain whether ceremonies or practices complained against have been thus ordained or authorized.

7. In this Diocese the title to the Church's real estate is in the Vestry of the Parish and yet after consecration the Bishop acting with the consent of the Standing Committee composed altogether of clergymen can hold the veto power against such Vestry desiring to encumber or alienate any consecrated Church or Chapel, and no Layman can sit in judgment in such a case as a member of the Standing Committee, and thus represent his Order in a matter directly affecting property rights.

8. The Canon on Marriage and Divorce authorizes remarriage of the innocent party divorced in case such divorce has been for the cause of adultery, and permits parties divorced seeking to be united again to marry. The facts of the case are to be passed on by the Bishop, who may call to his aid the Standing Committee, and yet in this matter, in which no theological point seems to be involved, and in one of which the action of the Civil Courts is to be reviewed, no Layman is permitted as a member of the Standing Committee to give the benefit of his judgment.

9. A Candidate for Orders whose first papers bore the approval of Laymen, and who having been advanced either to the Diaconate or the Priesthood, is for cause subjected to discipline and is deposed.

In Maryland the Laymen, not being represented on the Standing Committee, have no voice in the administration of such discipline, and the Bishop and Standing Committee, composed exclusively of Clergymen, act in the matter.

It would seem that the Lay element, whose action was so essential to the investment of a candidate with the authority of Holy Orders, should be called on to act when such authority is taken away.

10. But after his unworthiness has been thus openly proclaimed and his authority to minister at the Altar of God's Holy Church has been recalled by public sentence, he can, for good cause, appearing to the Bishop and the Standing Committee, be relieved of the effect of this sentence and be clothed again with the authority of Orders.

The Laity, certainly most deeply interested that the high Order of the Ministry should be maintained in all its purity, if represented in the Standing Committee in this Diocese, could assist in excluding from the Church those whose presence there would desecrate its sanctuary, and certainly should be heard on the question of restoring to such Holy Orders one theretofore proclaimed as unworthy to bear them.

11. The Standing Committee is a Council of Advice to the Bishop, and can either act as such advisers when called on by the Bishop so to do, or, if good cause appear to it, the Standing Committee may of its own motion advise the Bishop.

The power of the exclusion of a Layman from the Holy Communion, and where, under the Rubric, the matter is to be reported by the Rector to the Bishop is a feature of discipline no less delicate than important, and one in which the good name of the Layman and his standing in the Church is to be passed upon and ascertained.

And should this act of exclusion be approved by the Bishop, acting with the advice of the Standing Committee, and the party thus excluded and practically excommunicated should die, the serious and awful question will arise, whether under the Rubric in the office for the burial of the dead the rites of the Church could be invoked.

Yet under the appeal to the Bishop, who, under authority, can call to his assistance the Standing Committee, it will be seen that no Layman can be present officially to see that injustice may not be done to his brother Layman whose character and dealing and standing in the Church are being questioned.

12. It is conceded that of all the Dioceses in the American Church but two beside the Diocese of Maryland exclude Laity from representation on the Standing Committee.

It would seem that the statement of such a fact would be conclusive of the question.

13. It can not be successfully contended that such exclusion is consistent with either fundamental principles or churchly traditions.

We are not called on to show that the Laity have been from the times of the early Councils factors in such Councils and coadjutors in the administration of ecclesiastical matters.

The Church of England ("the Rock whence we were hewn") certainly recognizes such agency, and no argument for the present status of the Standing Committee in this Diocese and the claim that it should be composed exclusively of Clergy can be drawn from the fact that the Cathedral Canons of the English Church, and who constituted the Council of Advice to the Bishop and whose assembly constituted the Cathedral Chapter were by the Bishops chosen from the Clergy alone.

The Standing Committees in the Dioceses of this country are creatures of Canon and Constitutional law, and neither tradition nor the practice of any other Church, whether the same be the Mother Church or not, can be urged in favor of a system which does not consist with our Constitutional and Canonical form of government.

14. If the Layman is unfit to sit on the Standing Committee, whose duties have been prescribed by Canons and Constitutions, which such Layman had a voice in making, certainly such Layman should be excluded from all the Conventions and Councils of the Church.

It is often asked, what good will result from this change? This may be a very pertinent question. It would certainly make the Church government in Maryland conform to that of the State Dioceses, and this alone would be a sufficient reason for the change.

It is unnecessary that there should be fought over again the contest which was so early had between the "Philadelphia plan," as advocated by Bishop White, who insisted upon the presence of the Laity, and that advocated by the Church in Connecticut, which sought unsuccessfully to exclude them.

A more pertinent question is, Why should the Laity of Maryland be branded as unworthy to be trusted with representation on the Standing Committee, when the Laity of all but two other of the Dioceses of this country are admitted to representation thereon and thus denied the duty and privilege of co-operating with the Clergy in the many details of Church government which have been herein carefully set out?

Having now produced to this Convention the history of this subject in Maryland from the year 1783 to the present time, it will be seen what was the early expression of the Church in Maryland, and how, on the threshold of this organization, it recognized the parity of the Clergy and Laity in matters of Church government.

The efforts of the Laity to restore the status to what it was at first seem never to have been earnestly directed to the subject, and where their efforts did prove fruitless the majority against such change has been but small.

No Committee which has ever been entrusted with this question has ever done otherwise than by way of report merely express an opinion as to the inadvisability of the change, and has never given a good reason why such conclusion was reached.

The argument to be drawn from primitive usage is with those who advocate the change, while the genius and spirit of the Church in the United States is manifest, as the same will appear as well from the Canons of the General Church, as from the fact, that of fifty-three Dioceses of this country fifty admit Laity to membership on the Standing Committee.

It would seem that this statement would furnish an argument most conclusive in favor of the change in Maryland, and that is really the only argument which need be used in this discussion.

When we come to examine what manifold and delicate duties are devolved upon the Standing Committee by General Canon Law, which duties are in part performed by Laymen as members of the Standing Committees of sister Dioceses, the injustice of our exclusion in Maryland is greater, and the imputation that the Laymen of Maryland are not to be trusted as are those of other jurisdictions the more oppressively emphasized.

The Clergy of Maryland have always heretofore declined to concede this right which should be accorded to the Laity.

The opportunity is now given to reconsider and reverse their former action.

With such Clergy rest the responsibility of the hour, and they must answer the question, whether the Laity shall be permitted to do its part in all Church functions, high and low, as those in which their brethren of sister Dioceses engage and adorn, or whether that Laity, which for ninety-six years has been excluded, shall be still kept out.

In 1783 a committee then appointed was authorized to recommend candidates for Holy Orders, and such candidates were designated as "gentlemen," and such term denotes better than any other that could be used the relation which should subsist between Priest and people. In these days, however, times in which with sadness we note some evidence of friction between Priest and people, your own Court of Appeals has degraded the Priest, who 110 years ago was called "gentlemen," and who we supposed was set over us in the Lord, and that both Priest and people were amenable to the Churchly discipline of Constitution and Canon, to the position of a hireling whose Parish rights have about them no more of Churchly feature than has the contract which you make with your cook or farm laborer.

Some of us in the District of Columbia have no sympathy with any such conclusion as that reached by your Court, and decline to consider it the law, except our local Courts so decide.

The fact is, however, there is friction, and the Clergy by duly recognizing the signs of the times, and the practice elsewhere, should elevate the Laity to sit beside them in all matters of Church government, where they can Canonically be present, and hesitate, lest by persistence in further denial of this right, they

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE VESTRY ACT.

(Journal, pages 22 and 27.)

The Committee, to whom was referred so much of the Bishop's Address as relates to the interpretation of the Vestry Act, beg leave respectfully to report, that having regard to the gravity of the interests involved, they have given the subject their close and careful consideration, and only reached their conclusions after very earnest deliberation.

It has required, of course, no debate or deliberation to recognize the justice of the Bishop's condemnation of the practice, which we are informed has obtained in some Parishes, of choosing persons to exercise the rights and responsibilities of Vestrymen who are not members of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The law is distinct and emphatic that only members of this Church—this Protestant Episcopal Church—shall be eligible as Vestrymen. To meet this requirement, we submit that a man must either have been baptized in this Church, or confirmed in it, or received as a Communicant of the same.

Clearly it is not sufficient to be a member of any other branch of the Catholic Church; he must be a member of this Church in one or other of the three ways specified, in order to be legally entitled to exercise the functions of Vestryman.

But even if the law did not make this incontrovertibly plain, the honorable instincts and the sense of justice of every Christian gentleman ought to forbid his consenting to take part in the government of a Church of which he is not a member. What an outrage of right and defiance of decency it would be if Roman Catholics, or Presbyterians, or Christians of any other body should by their votes decide questions vitally affecting the rights and privileges of the Clergy of this Church!

Upon this question your Committee had no difficulty, as has been said.

It was when we came to consider the interpretation of the Vestry Act urged by the Bishop, as regards the qualifications of voters, that there was occasion for earnest debate and very careful consideration.

The main question at issue here is whether the law requires in all cases an enrollment of the male members of the Church, being of sufficient age and fulfilling the other conditions specified by the Registrar of the Parish, or whether the enrollment by the Rector, either by Baptism, Confirmation, or admission to the Holy Communion, is sufficient. Or to put it in other words, whether only such members of this Church, in any Parish, as shall have applied to the Register of the Parish for enrollment as voters, shall be qualified as such, or whether in addition to these those also shall be clothed with the right of franchise who shall have been entered on the books of the Parish as members of the Protestant Episcopal Church by the Rector of the same.

The question is manifestly one of the greatest importance, inasmuch as it touches the sacred rights of every man among the 30,000 Communicants in this Diocese, and of every man also, though not a Communicant, has been made a member of this Church by Baptism. It raises the broad issue, have the male members of this Church an inherent right in the government of their respective Parishes, dependent only upon sufficient evidence that they are indeed members thereof, and are bona fide residents in such Parishes, and have contributed what is required for their support? Or is the exercise or enjoyment of this right trammelled with conditions, which tend to abridge it, which practically put a barrier in the way of its exercise, which, experience shows, do in fact result in disfranchising the great majority of the male Communicants of our Parishes? It is a question whether the law puts the Registrar of the Parish between every member of the Church and his right to vote, notwithstanding the fact that his Rector has entered his name on the books of the Parish as a member of the Church, he having fulfilled all the other conditions prescribed in the law.

In order to determine this question, we first carefully considered the exact language of the Vestry Act of 1798, Chapter 24, II. (Compilation of the Canons p. 67.) It is there enacted that "every free male citizen of this State, above twenty-one years of age, resident of the Parish where he offers to vote six months next preceding the day of election, who shall have been entered on the books of said Parish one month at least preceding the day of election as a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, etc., shall have a right of suffrage in the elections of Vestrymen for such Parish."

Manifestly the decision of the question hinges on the meaning of the clause "shall have been entered on the books of said Parish as a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church."

It has been the practice to interpret these words by interpolating several explanatory words so that they shall read "entered on the books" [by the Registrar] [upon the application of the person intending to vote.]

But is this interpolation justified? Is there any sufficient reason for holding that no other enrollment upon the books of the Parish but that performed by the Registrar, and for this specific end, is valid for the purposes of this Act? And none other manner but an enrollment upon application of the individual member?

It is true that the next section of the Act [III.] (p. 67;) makes provision for an enrollment by the Registrar of the Parish. It is declared "his duty to enroll any person of the Protestant Episcopal Church who shall apply for the purpose, on the books of the Parish," and it is argued that we must read this provision into the provisions of the previous section, and so limit the enrollment of members of the Church to that which is done by the Registrar, and upon specific application to him.

But your Committee find serious objections to such an interpretation of the law.

1. In the first place we observe that we have here two distinct enactments, each preceded by the clause "Be it enacted." Each, therefore, stands complete in itself, at least so far forth as this, that the first is to be interpreted in the natural sense of the language there employed, without halting until the subsequent enactment explains its meaning. The first (that is section II,) is complete in itself; intelligible by itself; its purport clear, simple, easily understood. It declares upon the point at issue, one thing and one thing only, that the persons who desire to vote "must have been entered on the books of said Parish." Had the law intended that only the Registrar should enter the names and all other entry should be illegal, how easy to have said so! How easy to have said "who shall have been entered [by the Registrar] on the books of the Parish." But nothing of the kind is here. If legal phrases must be strictly construed by the language actually used, and none other, then are we compelled to think that the intent of the law in this section II, (p. 67) was not to define by whom this entry on the books of the Parish must be made, but to secure the material fact that such entry should be made, whether by the Rector or by the Registrar.

2. Again. Your Committee would next call attention to the exact language of section III of chapter 24, of the Vestry Act (see Compilation, p. 67.) Whom is the Registrar commanded to enroll on the books of the Parish? Baptized persons? Confirmed persons? Communicants? No, there is not a word of this. The language is "The Registrar shall enroll any person of the Protestant Episcopal Church who shall apply for the purpose." A strict interpretation of the exact language of the Act forbids us to hold that this act of the Registrar comes up to the significance of the language of the previous enactment—"shall have been entered on the books of said Parish as a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church." The Registrar is required under penalty to enroll any person of the Protestant Episcopal Church"—any adherent or attendant upon the services of the same. That phrase "of the Protestant Episcopal Church" is very vague, very flexible, very general. It cannot fairly be urged that it must mean a member of the said church—that and nothing less. For we are here dealing with the language of a legal enactment, where the exact sense of the words used must be adhered to, and no gloss put upon it. It will not do to say that this enactment III, of chapter 24, constitutes the Registrar the officer to carry into effect the provisions of enactment II, which prescribes the qualifications of voters. There is not a word of this in the law itself, which requires him under penalty to enroll any person who applies for the purpose on the books of the Parish. He has no discretion in the matter. His functions are not inquisitorial or judicial, but simply formal. He is the pen of the Parish to enroll the names—nothing more.

3. To conform with this view we call attention to the language of section V, of the same law (p. 68 of the Compilation,) which distinctly declares that the Vestrymen shall judge of the qualifications of voters. It is for them to ask whether the applicant is a member of the Church, a male, of twenty-one years, a resident for six months, a contributor to the support of the Parish. The Registrar has nothing to do with any of these questions. He has, we repeat, no judicial and no inquisitorial functions, his office is simply registration.

4. This is further evident from a consideration of paragraph XIX, of the said Act (pp. 70-71,) which provides that it shall be the duty of the Registrar to enter in a book "all baptisms, marriages and funerals of persons in the Parish," which may be made known to him by any of the Ministers or Vestrymen of the Parish, and "it shall be the duty of the Minister of every Parish to take care that the said Registrar be made acquainted with all the baptisms, etc., celebrated by him in the Parish." Now let it be considered whether, if the law requires the Registrar to enter the names of baptized persons on the books of the Parish; and if the law and custom of the Church a baptized person is a member of the Church, then how can we escape the conclusion that the law intends to include such baptized persons among those described in section V, (p. 67,) who shall have been entered on the books of the said Parish as members of the Protestant Episcopal Church?

The Church at least has plainly expressed her mind in her Canons, where she says: "The intention of the Register of Baptisms is declared to be especially for proving the right of the church membership of those who may have been admitted into this Church by the holy ordinance of baptism." Title I, Canon 14, section 5 [2.] old style. And it is, we believe, consistent with the practice of the Civil Courts, to accept the Church's own definition of what constitutes membership in her communion.

5. These considerations seem to your Committee sufficient to decide the question at issue. But, even if there still remained a doubt, if it should seem to any that the language of the Vestry Act is equivocal, and not clear one way or the other, then we submit that, under that view of the case, it would be incumbent on any judicial authority to lean to that interpretation which would best conserve the great interests at stake — the rights of the members of this Church, and the advantage of the Church herself.

Now what was the object of this Vestry Act? What was the animus imponentis? Can we doubt that it was to secure the election of Vestries by bona fide residents in and contributors to the Parish, who should also be bona fide members of the Protestant Episcopal Church?

But the interpretation which has commonly prevailed, and by which only those who apply to the Registrar to be enrolled, and are so enrolled by him, are held qualified to vote, has completely reversed this which we believe to have been the purpose of the law. Your Committee would here adopt the forcible language of the Bishop: "The Vestry Act, which was meant to protect rights, has been applied to destroy them; meant to hold open the door to the great body of the laymen, it has been used to close it against them."

Touching the purpose of the paragraph III. of Canon 24, requiring the Registrar to enroll applicants upon the books of the Parish, it is our opinion that it is a provision for securing the completeness of the list that should be made, so that any one whose name may have been omitted by accident or neglect, or in any way, may be enrolled, provided he shall apply at least one month before the election, although the Vestry must judge in the last resort of all the qualifications of voters.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ST. MARGARET'S WESTMINSTER PARISH.

The Committee, to whom was referred the matter of ascertaining the facts relating to the contention of the two persons claiming to be Delegates from St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, in Anne Arundel County, beg leave to report as follows:

Your Committee find that the certificate of each of said Delegates regular in form, although signed by different persons as Registrars.

The fact that there are two such certificates is thus accounted for:

On Easter Monday last thirty-four persons, claiming to be of the congregation of said Parish, met at the Parish Church for the purpose of electing a Vestry for the present year, and two persons were nominated for chairman, the Rector not being present.

After the nomination nineteen of said persons, including one of the Vestry, went to another part of the Church, elected a chairman, and, on passing a resolution, a copy of which is herewith filed, proceeded to elect eight of their number, including the said one member of the old vestry, as Vestrymen of said Parish for the present year.

The fifteen remaining persons, including a majority of the members of the old Vestry, proceeded to elect one of said members of the Vestry chairman, and, after voting out four of the old Vestry, elected four members to serve with the remaining four as a Vestry of said Parish for the present year.

All of the members of both bodies elected as Vestrymen as aforesaid, are qualified as such.

Each of said bodies elected a Registrar, and each, thereafter, elected a Lay Delegate to this Convention, Mr. James E. Tate being elected as Lay Delegate by the body elected by the nineteen persons as aforesaid, and Mr. Horatio S. Kidout being elected as a Lay Delegate by the body elected by the fifteen persons as aforesaid.

In the "Record Book" of the Parish, kept by the Registrar, the names of the fifteen persons aforesaid, as well as of six of the nineteen persons aforesaid, appear in what purports to be a copy of a letter from members of the old Vestry, (to which is attached the application of the parish,) requesting and authorizing the Registrar to enroll said names.

The remaining eleven of said nineteen persons applied for enrollment in due season for the Easter election, but were refused, it is alleged, by the Registrar, on what grounds was not shown to your Committee. It also appears that J. M. Kidout, who certified to the election of Mr. Horatio S. Kidout as Lay Delegate as aforesaid, has been acting Registrar of said Parish for some years, but there is no proof that he ever qualified as such as required by the Vestry Act of 1798; nor is there any proof that Mr. H. R. Winchester, who certified to the election of Mr. James E. Tate as Lay Delegate aforesaid, has qualified as Registrar.

As the resolution constituting this Committee only directs us to find facts in the case for the information of the Convention, we do not feel authorized as a Committee to accompany this report with any resolution.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

EXHIBIT TO REPORT.

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of Maryland, in the year 1798, (by chapter 24 of the Acts of that session, entitled "An Act for the Establishment of Vestries for each Parish in this State,") made provision for the incorporation of Vestries of the Protestant Episcopal Church; and whereas, by the general incorporation law of this State it is expressly provided (Code, article 23, section 217,) that nothing in this article shall prevent the Protestant Episcopal Church from incorporating the Vestries in the several Parishes according to the usages of said Church; and whereas, Easter Monday is the day fixed by law for the election of Vestrymen, and the Parish Church is the place designated by law for said election; and whereas, there is no enrollment of members of the Church in this Parish by a Registrar thereof, as required by said Vestry Act, and it appears that this Parish has never been duly organized as a corporation under the provisions of said act; and whereas, the Act of 1823, chapter 189, being a supplement to said Vestry Act, makes provision for the election of a Vestry by the members of the Church in the Parish under such circumstances, and it is evidently necessary that such incorporation should be at once effected in accordance with the provisions thereof, in order that the affairs of the Parish may be regulated and governed agreeably to the laws in such cases made and provided; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the members of the Protestant Episcopal Church in St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, in the Diocese of Maryland, assembled at our Parish Church on this 3d day of April, 1893, the same day being Easter Monday, that we proceed to elect a Vestry to serve for the ensuing year, until next Easter Monday.

CANADIAN SYSTEM OF MISSIONS.

The Committee of Missions, to which was referred at the last meeting of the Convention the subject of the Canadian System on the administration of Diocesan Missions to ascertain whether and how far it is capable of application in Maryland, beg leave to present the following:

That they have communicated with all the Dioceses of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada, from most of which they have received such documents as throw light upon their Missionary administration. The System called here, Canadian, is there called The Quebec, where it has been in use many years, the Canon, as we would call it, under which they are working, having been passed first in 1862, and amended from time to time till 1889, so that it is not something new and untried, but abundantly tested. It has also been adopted, with modifications, by other Dioceses, as New Brunswick, Toronto, Niagara, Huron, Nova Scotia, and is recommended by the Bishop of Ontario. Possibly in other Dioceses the System is in operation, but the Committee has not been able to get such full information on this point as it desired.

Also there is enough likeness between our System, in respect of relations between Clergy and Vestry, and that of Canada, to enable us to apply the Canadian method in our administration of parochial aid, while in respect of Missions there is almost perfect identity.

The purpose had in view in the System is to make every parish or station asking aid do all that it can for its own support, and to promote entire self-support in the most rapid way. The secondary advantages are, first, that the Board, making its own engagements with the Clergy, it can have a definite scale of salaries, graded upon the length of service in the Diocese, so securing permanency of pastoral connection. The frequent rule under our System is, that the longer a man has been in a parish the less salary he receives.

The second advantage is that the System secures promptness in the payment of salaries and develops business habits in parish work, the absence of which is one of the chief ills of our Maryland System.

The third advantage is that the Clergyman is saved from the irksomeness of commercial relations with his people, and that the System promotes greater independence in judgment.

The outlines of the Quebec or Canada System are as follows:

In the case of any station or parish requiring aid, the Board of Home Missions, whether appointed by the Synod or Church Society, is required to confer with the local authorities or the people of the parish to determine what amount they are able to contribute for the maintenance of their Minister (see Quebec). This sum they are to pay to the Treasurer of the Board, which agrees to supplement it with a sufficient sum to bring the whole up to the graded scale. Then the Board enters into engagements with the Clergyman for the total amount of the salary. In the case of organized parishes the Minister may be called by the people, who are the Vestry, and in the case of Missions he is appointed by the Bishop.

All payments of such assessments, as they are called, are to be made quarterly by the parish, and are due thirty days before the expiration of the quarter. If not then paid the Treasurer of the Board notifies the Treasurer of the Parish, and if the amount is not paid in full by the close of the quarter, the obligation of the Board ceases, and the parish is notified of the fact. In this matter there is diversity of use in the different Dioceses, some giving further grace, while some are very incisive in their methods.

Upon withdrawal of appropriations by the Board, if the Clergyman will resign, he will either be provided for by appointment to some other field or else he may draw upon the Treasurer of the Board for such a sum for one quarter, as the Board in its discretion may think proper. No new agreement will be made with the parish till all arrearages have been paid, and no aid is given to any congregation, parish or mission of which the Board is convinced that it is unwilling to do its part towards the support of a Pastor. (Quebec, 55.) The parish, however, is not condemned unheard for its failures, but the Board, in conjunction with the Bishop, makes inquiries as to the cause of the failure ; in the Dioceses of Nova Scotia and Niagara the rule being to send a deputation into the rural deanery where the parish may be situated to make inquiries as to their ability.

All assessments are reviewed from time to time. In the Diocese of Huron assessments hold for five years ; in other Dioceses three years are the limit. In the Diocese of Quebec, however, as also in others, the assessment is to be reviewed whenever a vacancy occurs, and also it is required to do it at the request of the Church Wardens and at the desire of the Bishop ; in this way an equitable sum being secured whether the parish or station becomes stronger or weaker.

In most cases the System has been found to work so well that parishes that have become self-supporting, having previously received aid, have petitioned to be allowed to continue their former relations with the Board and to pay the Minister's stipend through its Treasurer.

Your Committee are confident that there is nothing in the System as above described that will interfere with its working in Maryland, while also they are convinced that the System, if faithfully carried out, would achieve the ends desired, viz :

First. That it would lift parishes toward self-support by encouraging and constraining their efforts to make their subscriptions general and liberal, for too often now in many of our parishes but few persons contribute, and they not according to their ability.

Second. It would develop business habits in our parishes, compelling universal interest in the matter of keeping open the Church and prompt payment on the part of subscribers.

Third. It would promote independence in judgment in the Clergy in that the payment or withholding of contributions, which is so often a bugbear to parish authorities, would not affect the Minister, but only the parish itself.

Fourth. It would promote a longer tenure of office in the Ministry, in that the system contemplates a sufficient sum as the Minister's stipend to enable him to provide for reasonable wants.

The abuses of the system in the matter of maintaining an unfit man in any place can easily be provided against by the Board reserving to itself the right, after investigation, of notifying any Clergyman that after a given time the Board will discontinue the appropriation to his parish. It can also include such a proviso in any engagement it may make.

The Committee would therefore suggest the following :

Resolved, That the Convention advises and instructs the Committee of Missions to adopt, as soon as practicable, the principles of Canadian method, adapting it to the special circumstance of this Diocese for a period of five years.

THEO. A. GAMBRALL,
ARTHUR CHILTON POWELL,
Committee.

MEMORANDUM.

an agreement between the Diocesan Board and the Church Wardens of _____ Church, _____ in the Mission of _____, the undersigned, Church Wardens, on behalf of the Congregation of _____ Church, aforesaid, do hereby undertake to have the sum _____ dollars per annum collected and paid quarterly to the Treasurer of the Diocesan Board so long as the ministration at present afforded to the said congregation shall be continued.

The Diocesan Board hereby undertakes to maintain the ministration in the Church at present afforded to the said congregation so long as said sum shall be punctually paid and the Church property in the Mission adequately insured against loss by fire. In the event of the death or resignation of the incumbent, or other event beyond the control of the Diocesan Board causing a vacancy in the incumbency of the said mission, the said Church Wardens shall be at liberty, if they shall so fit, to discontinue the payment for the period of such vacancy.

On the occurrence of a vacancy in any parish or mission, or at the request of the Church Wardens of any parish or mission, or at the desire of the Lord Bishop, and at the expiration of every three years it shall be the duty of the Board to confer and arrange with the local authorities as to the amount to be contributed therein toward the maintenance of the resident Clergyman."

THE HANNAH MORE ACADEMY, THE DIOCESAN SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

By God's favor and blessing, the Hannah More Academy has had a year of quiet prosperity.

Sixty-five boarding pupils have been enrolled during the year, a larger number than ever before. In addition to the above, several pupils from the neighborhood have taken special courses in music and art.

Fourteen officers and teachers have been steadily at work, nine of whom are residing in the school.

The health of the pupils has been good. A number came to us with feeble constitutions and quite a number with weak eyes, and in consequence they were frequently interrupted in their studies and hindered in their improvement. We have had slight occasional indispositions, with a few cases of prolonged sickness, but no serious illness.

There has been daily Morning and Evening Prayer, except on Saturday evenings, with two services on Sundays, with Sermon or Catechising in St. Michael's Church, which is within the enclosure. The first school period each day is devoted to lectures or recitations on Christian subjects, and there were two extra lectures each week during Lent. Eight of the pupils were confirmed at the Bishop's visitation in April, and there are forty-eight Communicants in the household.

In the literary department we have aimed to be more and more thorough, and at the same time gradually to advance the standard in each class. Nine of the pupils, having completed the full Academic course, expect to graduate in June, and two of them are candidates for a diploma, having completed besides, a College course in French and Latin.

The Rector, though not able to take an active part in the school work, was not obliged to spend the winter away from home, but has been at hand to be referred to, to be consulted and to direct.

P. D. Trapier, who had been Chaplain here for nine years, and had endeared himself to us all by his gentleness, his humility and his devotion to duty, died at his home, in Georgetown, just before the beginning of the present school year. His classes were divided amongst the other teachers, and his duties as Chaplain have been performed by the Rev. Alex. M. Rich, who has also acted, most earnestly and acceptably, as Vice-Rector.

The personal influence of Mr. Trapier was a blessing to the school, and we have felt deeply its loss.

We have had during the year the services of Mrs. M. B. Waties, of Tallahassee, Florida, as head of the household, and her refined, dignified, gentle Christian character has had a salutary influence.

ARTHUR J. RICH,
Rector.

Annapolis.

WM. SCOTT SOUTHGATE, Rector.

ST. PHILIP'S MISSION, ANNAPOLIS, MD., FROM NOVEMBER 1, 1892, TO APRIL 30, 1893.

For the Church and Sunday School of the above Mission I present the following Report for the six months of my having been in charge: Sunday services 51; Friday services 32; Wednesday services, also School-room Lectures on Church Ritual and Doctrine 12; Number of Communicants 34; Marriage 1; Baptisms 2; Funeral 1.

Disbursements for current expenses, special needs and old debts $193.21.

Receipts.—From St. Philip's Congregation $82.20; From outside friends $279.08; Total receipts $361.28; of which $160 remain in the hands of the Bishop, leaving a balance of $8.07 in my charge.

Sunday School.—Sessions 27; Teachers 2; Scholars 30; Offertories $1.58 in hand; Easter Missionary Boxes $1.80, paid over to the Bishop's Secretary.

I have restored the Vested Choir, and my wife instructed an Adult Bible Class until my illness interrupted this and some other efforts which I hope to resume in the autumn, when my people return in full force from their summer employments, which take many of them from Annapolis during the three hot months.

I am thankful that, "by the good hand of my God upon me," such a measure of success has been granted me in face of many hindrances. I regret that my own infirmities have prevented a larger amount of accomplishment. During my illness much kindness was shown me by Church people in Annapolis, and by a few members of other Christian bodies including a Roman Catholic. The kindly interest in St. Philip's seems decidedly increasing since I have taken charge, but I am often discouraged by the tendencies of the colored people themselves.

I remain, Right Reverend Father,

Your obedient son in the Faith,

DECATUR V. B. MORGAN,

Deacon in Charge.

Note.—The details of the "Gifts from Outside Friends" are as follows: St. Augustine's League, N. Y., $125; From Rhode Island $25; Mrs. Oliver $2.50; A. This report is necessarily imperfect in many respects, because of the change of Rectors. The balance of funds received above expenditures includes money held for the reduction of the ground rent, for a memorial window in memory of the Rev. Thomas Barrow, and for the increase of the Sunday School Library. In addition to his duties at the Church of Our Saviour, the Rector acts as Chaplain of the Church Home. He holds a service there every day, and two services on Sundays. The Communion is administered every Thursday and once a month on

During the Convention Year:

1. The Boarding Home has been incorporated under the title of "St. Andrew's Home for Young Women and Girls of Baltimore City." It has been remembered in the will of one person already.

2. An additional story has been built to the back building of the Home and improvements made to the first floor.

3. A marble reredos and tabernacle have been erected in the Church. The reredos is 11 by 18 feet, of polished white marble, with large provision for adornment with lights and flowers. It is a thank-offering for a spiritual blessing.

4. A rood screen of ash, finished in hard oil, has been erected to God's glory by one person. This, with the new Priest's sacristy, extends across the Church, a distance of sixty feet. The cross upon the centre arch is twenty-two feet above the floor of the nave.

5. An entire rearrangement and new set of gas fixtures has been provided for the Choir, by which the jets are hidden from the nave and bright light is thrown, by means of twelve reflectors, upon the altar, tabernacle and reredos.

6. A room has been prepared in the basement by means of wainscotting, plastering, painting, gas fitting, carpeting and curtaining for the meetings of the Guild of the Iron Cross and small instruction classes.

7. The money is in hand for erection of a new galvanized iron cross, gilded, five feet high, for front of church, and also for painting front of Church.

8. New tin roofs have been put upon the north sacristy and upon the choir room, and the choir room has been newly papered and painted.

9. The debt upon the Church has been reduced from $430 to $395.

10. Meetings for Men Only have been held every Sunday at a lodging house, under the auspices of the Guild of the Iron Cross; laymen conducting the devotions and making the addresses.

11. A Dressmaking Department has been added to the St. Andrew's Home, with hope that it may grow into a "Dressmaker's Home," under the Sisters of Mercy, who conduct also the present "Girl's Home."

This Congregation has of late been tried to the uttermost, first by the decease of its beloved Rector, the Rev. A. P. Stryker, around whom were gathered the attachments of two generations—the growth of a rectorate more than thirty years. Again this year by the decease of one of its useful and honored members, Mr. Charles T. Bœhm, and lastly the entire destruction of the church by fire in the early morning of Wednesday in Holy Week. A sight most lamentable and discouraging is to witness the utter destruction in a few terrible moments of the multiplied gifts and sacrifices of a generation of faithful people, and that was material of the life's work of a devoted priest. It seemed the taste of the fiery trial which is to try every man's work of what it is. But that enduring part, the loyalty and love of the people, remains, and with united purpose they are working together to restore the church and make it worthy of its holy use. Kind words of sympathy and substantial offerings towards rebuilding are flowing in from all quarters to the great encouragement of the people of this disordered congregation.

This congregation has suffered very much the last two or three years by the removal or death of several members who were most able to assist financially in its support. It has also been seriously tried by pecuniary losses. The worshippers are nearly all persons of small means and most of the families keep no servants. It has paid its canonical indebtedness only after repeated offerings from the members and large assistance from the alms account. It has been able to pay only $30 for Diocesan Missions, and that amount with great difficulty; and this year, for the first time, the vestry have been unable to contribute to the Accumulating Episcopal Fund.

About eighteen months ago, when I took charge, the congregation was in debt to employees nearly two hundred dollars, with a monthly current expense of forty dollars, having an income of a little over twelve dollars per month to meet the same. Sixty-three communicants were then reported. The above mentioned debt has, sometime since, been paid. The total receipts of the congregation this year amount to $804.04, which is a most excellent showing for a congregation of very poor people. Against sixty-three communicants, eighteen months ago, we report one hundred and ten. The congregation then could not meet their current expenses. This year, besides so doing, they pay two hun- dred dollars salary to the rector, and thus far they not only promise, but pay.

Services are held on alternate Sunday afternoons at Montrose Chapel. The Sunday School meets every Sunday. A service was held once a week during Lent at St. George's Hall, a school for boys within the bounds of the Parish. At the two Confirmations held during the year seven of the boarding pupils were confirmed.

Harrisonville Mission.—Services were held by the Deacon assisting, nearly every Sunday during the Summer months, on alternate Sundays during the rest of the year, every Wednesday during Lent and on St. Luke's Day and Christmas Day.

The Holy Communion was celebrated five times, seven were baptized, seven confirmed and there was one burial.

Thirty-five families, 121 individuals and fifty-two Communicants are connected with the Mission. All of the above is included in the report of Reisterstown Parish. The contributions are not included, they were as follows, viz:

At the Episcopal visitation $6; for the Superannuated and Disabled Clergy Fund $2; Diocesan Missions $2.01; expenses, including contributions to the Minister in charge $276. During the year the Mission has received from friends a marble font and a silver chalice.

Mr. L. Devries, Ph.D., J. Smith Orich and Charles S. Rich, acting under license as Lay Readers, have helped much in keeping up the services, and their work has been appreciated by the Rector and by the people of the Parish.

The Church has been improved by an entirely new roof, furnished with crestings and snow rods, by being thoroughly spouted, and by two coats of good painting on the outside, including the roof and furnishings.

It has also been beautified by the addition of two memorial windows, a Bishop's chair and a very handsome Eagle Lectern of walnut, and by the removal of the unmeaning inner rail in the chancel.

Through the kindness of a friend in Baltimore and of several of the parishioners, the Rector was enabled to take an enforced trip for rest and recuperation.

The improvements on the Church cost about $675; and with the exception of eight or ten dollars, were paid out of the accumulations from the Bailey legacy, given for the purpose of keeping the same in good repair.

I may also mention that the chancel has just been newly carpeted at a cost of about $25.

Through the generosity of one kind friend over $1,400 have been spent in the interior and exterior improvement of the Church building-Another friend has had the Church Yard cleared, graded, and sown-in grass, while the first donor has embellished this still more with beds-of flowers and ornamental trees.

Over the altar has been placed, as a memorial, a beautiful copy-of Murillo's Holy Family, in stained glass, completely filling the large circular window there.

Too late for mention in the above report: There was added by Com-firmation, May 14, to the Communicant list eleven new names, making-the number on the roll thirty-one.

The amount sent outside the congregation last year was 26 per cent. of the gross offertories; this year it is 34 per cent.

Two memorials (a brass altar cross and a walnut Litany desk) have been presented, the Church has been frescoed, (through the exertions of former residents,) and improved lighting apparatus has been put in place.

The condition of the buildings is such as to call for extensive repairs of roof and heating plant, which repairs must be made at earliest possible date to prevent serious damage.

The Parochial total is approximate, and exceeds the amount given but I cannot say how much; the other items are exact.

There are a number of communicants attendant upon the services of the Mission and contributing towards its support who still remain, however, canonically connected with their respective City Churches. Several members of St. George's Church, Baltimore, give valued help each Lord's Day in Sunday School and choir. The West Arlington Land Company has made an offer of a lot on their grounds free of cost.

A mission room was rented last May. This has been fitted up in a churchly manner and provides suitable and ample accommodations for the mission. It is on the line of the West Arlington Electric Railroad.

The abnormally large receipts given above arise from the fact that the Rectory has been sold for the sum of $30,000. Also a considerable sum ($12,913) has been received, after years of accumulation, for the endowment of one of our charities.

During the past year the Mission Chapel has been completed and all payments upon it paid in full. It accommodates 500 persons, and is commodiously and appropriately furnished. With the adjoining Mission House, built the previous year, it represents the expenditure of about $20,000.

It is gratifying to report that the Vestry have set aside $10,000 as the nucleus of an endowment fund for the Parish.

I would respectfully report that after less than three years' hard work in securing a suitable Rectory for St. Paul's parish, the great Head of the Church has helped our efforts, and the rectory (including $\frac{3}{5}$ of an acre of land, stable, fencing around the lot, artesian well, cistern and necessary outbuildings in connection with the property) has been paid for in full. The buildings are all insured and a legal deed for the whole is duly recorded in the clerk's office at Frederick City, and among the records of the parish. I would also most earnestly appeal to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Maryland and the clergy and laity of said diocese to give at once SUBSTANTIAL AID for a Sunday School and Guild Room at Adamstown, where the Rectory is located. The said building is SADLY NEEDED in my Parish work.

The building used by Mr. Page for school purposes has been vacant for the year, it being too small for a dwelling and not in demand for any other purpose. We are trying to sell it. There is also a tenement house rented to the sexton for twenty-five dollars. I have had a strong feeling of prejudice to overcome in those outside the church; but am glad to say that there is a better feeling towards us now. The congregations are increasing and the people taking more interest. The Bishop's wishes have been complied with in every way possible.

Although we have lost by removal quite a number of valuable workers, yet a larger number of persons have taken part in parish work during the past year than ever before. We have four societies now in the parish.

The Ladies' Aid, which is composed of elderly ladies, and for various purposes raises about one hundred dollars yearly.

The King's Daughters, who are young ladies, and do sewing and fancy work.

The Rectory Guild, for improvements on the Rectory.

The Bishop's Guild, composed of young girls, for the purpose of helping you in your diocesan work.

JAS. E. POINDEXTER.

THE CHURCH HOME AND INFIRMARY.

NORTH BROADWAY, BALTIMORE.

This institution of the Church has been doing its beneficent and charitable work for more than thirty years. Recently it has been enlarged to nearly double its former capacity. It has two distinct characters and lines of work; that of a

CHURCH HOSPITAL,

where those requiring surgical or medical attendance can, at reasonable rates, obtain comfortable rooms, careful nursing, and the services of any physician whom they may engage; and it is also where they may enjoy the comforts and the privileges of the Church. There are daily services in the Chapel, and in the Home there is a Resident Physician. The Church Home is supported in the following way:

1. Partly by Churches in Baltimore, who engage to contribute a certain sum for the year, and who have the right to place a patient in the wards for every $200 annually contributed. In this way some Baltimore Churches keep one, or two, or five, or even ten Beneficiaries in the Home.

2. Partly by endowment, and income from Invested Funds, and

3. Partly by receipts from Pay Patients.

The Bishop is Visitor of the Church Home.

The CHARGES in the Wards are $4 a week, or $200 a year. Single rooms, according to situation, &c., are higher.

Any Church or Congregation may make use of the opportunity thus afforded, to provide for the care of the sick, for a longer or shorter time.

The Church Home opens its doors freely to the Clergy of Maryland who may need its care. Bishop Lay was here nursed in his last illness in 1884. Since then one Priest of the Diocese of Easton, and two of the Diocese of Maryland, have been cared for in their last illness.

Clergymen, churches and individuals may aid in this good work:

1. By making the existence and advantages of the Church Home known, so that those who may have to come to the city for surgical care, &c., may avail themselves of the advantages it offers.

2. By sending the sick and aged, and providing for their support

3. By an occasional offering in church, or private donation.

4. By engaging to support a FREE BED at a cost of $200 a year, with privilege of nominating the patient.

5. By testamentary bequests to "the Church Home and Infirmary of the City of Baltimore."

The Convention of the Diocese of Easton has requested an annual offering for this Institution from every Congregation in the Diocese.

CLERICAL REPORTS.

ARRANGED ALPHABETICALLY.

I am very thankful to report that, with improved health, I was able during the last Convention year, in larger measure than before since residing in the Diocese, to take part in church work. My services in detail were as follows:

Celebrated Holy Communion 2 times. Assisted at Holy Communion 12 times. Conducted morning service 7. Assisted at morning and evening service 62 times. Sermons 8. Lenten addresses 12. Burials 2.

These services were rendered chiefly in Calvary Parish of this city, at the request of the Rector.

Very sincerely and faithfully yours,

Washington, D. C.

JOHN G. AMES.

Not having a parish, and being beyond the age of active service, I officiate as health and opportunity permit. In the absence of the Rector here, I officiated at one funeral during the past year.

Very respectfully, &c.,

Onancock, Va.

JOHN ATKINSON.

I report services rendered during the year ending May 30, 1893, as follows:

At St. Stephen's Church, Washington, D. C.—Assisted in service 5 times. Read service and preached 2 times. Read service, preached and celebrated Holy Communion 2 times. Assisted in service and celebrated Holy Communion 2 times. Catechised Sunday School and delivered an address 1 time. Read burial service 1 time.

St. Andrew's Church, Washington, D. C.—Assisted in service and celebration 1 time.

Church of the Transfiguration, Blue Ridge, Pa.—Opened new church with appropriate service and preached 1 time. Le Droit Park, read morning service and preached 3 times.

Very truly yours,

Washington, D. C.

J. HENRY BLACK.

Being "visited" with severe sickness during the last convention, I have been very slow in recuperating; and though God, in his merciful goodness, did, "in due time," send me "seasonable relief," yet, I have not at this time recovered my former strength. Hence it is that during the year just closed, I have been able to perform but very little active work in the Holy Ministry.

I have celebrated the Holy Communion 3 times. Assisted at the Holy Communion four times. Baptised one child. Solemnized one marriage. Buried one person. Assisted at morning or evening prayer 4 times, and preached 3 times.

In my inability to perform any stated and continuous duty appertaining to my Holy office, I find consolation in the reflection, that if those who patiently bear God's "mild yoke," it may be affirmed as Milton does affirm, "They also serve who only stand and wait."

Very faithfully and respectfully,

J. CHIPCHASE.

I respectfully report that I have baptised 1 infant. Buried one infant and one adult. Administered Holy Communion and preached on several occasions, and by request ministered to some sick persons. This is a short account for one year's labor, but I am thankful that my life is not wholly a blank. "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak." My interest in the whole church is undiminished.

Very respectfully,

Baltimore, Md.

S. W. CRAMPTON.

I respectfully submit the following report for the year ending April 30, 1893:

Since September 25, 1892, (15th Sunday after Trinity) I have been officiating regularly for the Rev. Thos. O. Tongue, taking the morning services at his house in Le Droit Park every Sunday with the exception of the Sundays in February, when I was in Louisiana. I preached once for Archdeacon Duncan at St. James' Church, Alexandria, La. Services in the Diocese 46 (of which conducted alone, 31, assisted at 15). Assisted at the Holy Communion 5 times. Administered the Holy Communion 4 times. Sermons 34 (of which in the Diocese 33).

Takoma Park, D. C.

J. OWEN DORSEY.

I respectfully report that during the last Conventional year I have been almost entirely physically disabled. On Whit-Sunday, June 5th, 1892, I officiated in the morning in St. John's Church, Hagerstown, and celebrated the Holy Communion, and on the 3rd Sunday in June, I read the burial service at the grave of a former parishioner, and after that was prostrated with the nervous affection which still clings to me. I have been able to attend divine service only four times during the year.

Hagerstown, Md.

HENRY EDWARDS.

Since my last report I continued my services in the Mission Church of the Ascension, Clear Water, Fla., till Sunday, May 22nd, when I baptized a child. In Baltimore I have officiated seven times in Holy Trinity and assisted several times. In Church of our Saviour officiated once. In Emmanuel assisted once. For St. Barnabas' Church I delivered a course of seven lectures on the prophet Ezekiel, beginning in Lent and concluding after the destruction of the church. Have assisted frequently.

Baltimore, Md.

EDWARD P. GRAY.

In obedience to the requirements of the Canon, I respectfully report the following as the sum of the clerical acts performed by me during the past Conventional year:

I have officiated at 56 services. Assisted 15 times. Given 46 sermons and addresses. Celebrated the Holy Communion 16 times. Baptized 1 infant. Officiated at 3 funerals, and assisted at 1 marriage.

Easton, Md.

J. B. GRAY.

During the past conventional year I have assisted in the church services 30 times, and by the request of the Rector have held services 3 times, and officiated at 4 funerals. All of which are elsewhere reported.

Very truly and obediently,

Washington.

JOHN A. GRAVES.

Since last Convention, May 18th, 1892, I have officiated as I have had opportunity, as follows:

Thursday, May 26th, 1892, (Ascension Day) I had morning prayer, sermon and Holy Communion at St. Peter's Church. Sunday after Ascension at St. Peter's, 11 A. M., 8 P. M., June 5th, (Whit-Sunday) at St. Peter's, morning prayer and Holy Communion, sermon by Rev. E. P. Fugette. At 8 P. M., evening prayer and sermon. June 12th, (Trinity Sunday). In the morning at St. Peter's the usual service; also at 8 P. M. Sunday, June 19th, St. Peter's, morning and night. June 25th, closed my official engagements with St. Peter's Church, Baltimore, where I had been for five months in temporary charge, there being no rector of the parish during that interim after the resignation of Rev. Dr. Grammer.

Sunday July 3rd, assisting at Church of the Ascension. July 10th, assisting at Christ Church. July 17th, held morning service and preached at Memorial Church, the Rector being absent.

Sunday, July 24th, held three services and preached three times in Silver Spring Parish.

Sunday, July 31st, at Christ Church, Winchester, Va. Sunday, Aug. 7th, at Christ Church, Winchester, Va. Assisting in the service and Holy Communion. August 14th, at Christ Church, Winchester, held services and preached at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.

August 28th at Mt. Lake Park, Garrett county, Md.

Sunday, Sept. 4th. held morning prayer and preached in the Episcopal Church at Hedgesville, Berkeley county, W. Va.

About the last of September returned to Baltimore, since which time to the present date I have officiated at various points in the city and suburbs.

During Advent and Christmas-tide, assisting for the most part at Ascension Church.

Sundays after Epiphany, January, 1893, one Sunday at the Church of St. John the Baptist I had morning prayer, preached and administered the Holy Communion.

One Sunday afternoon at the Maryland Agricultural College, Prince George's county, held a short service, and preached to the students, professors and visitors.

Sunday, January 29th, (Septuagesima) I had morning prayer and preached at Trinity Church, Towson, the rector being absent.

Lent and Easter-tide. By special engagement I was at Ascension Church on all Lenten days and on Easter Day.

4th Sunday in Lent, March 12th, I had evening prayer and preached at Trinity Church, Towson.

5th Sunday in Lent, and Sunday before Easter, March 19th and 26th, I had morning prayer and preached at Trinity Church, Long Green, Baltimore county; also on the 1st Sunday after Easter, April 9, I preached and administered the Holy Communion at Trinity Church, Long Green. April 16th and 23rd had appointments for Long Green, but was sick and could not go.

Sunday, April 30th, at Ascension Church, 11 A. M., 8 P. M.

Sunday, May 7th, assisting by special engagement in morning prayer and Holy Communion at St. Peter's Church. At 8 P. M. preached at the Church of the Ascension and assisted in the evening prayer.

Ascension Day and Sunday after Ascension, assisting at Ascension.

Whit-Sunday, May 21st, assisted in morning prayer and Holy Communion, and at 8 P. M. assisted in evening prayer and preached in Ascension Church.

Tuesday, May 9th, at 3 P. M., held short service and preached at the "Aged Women's Home," Franklin Square, Baltimore.

I have, during the Convention year, officiated at burials, and in private baptism for the sick, and administered the Holy Communion to two sick persons.

Signature.

SAMUEL H. GRIFFITH.

The undersigned, since his annual report of 1892, has been greatly hindered from the performance of ministerial duty by sickness. He has, however, when able to do so, gladly aided the Parochial Clergy, as follows:

1. Within this Diocese: 1) by administering Holy Baptism to one infant, colored, which is included in the report from St. Mary's Chapel, Baltimore. (2) by celebrating Holy Communion 15 times. (3) by saying morning prayer, litany, or evening prayer 20 times. (4) by preaching 10 times.

II. In Diocese of Albany: (1) by assisting in celebration of Holy Communion 11 times. (2) by saying morning prayer, litany or evening prayer, wholly or in part, 12 times. Total number of services performed 69.

Baltimore.

RICHARD C. HALL.

I respectfully present the following report of my official acts for the past Conventional year 1892-93, A. D., viz:

I have said matins and vespers for other churches and parishes 20 times. Preached 14 times. Celebrated Holy Eucharist 4 times. The offices of the morning and evening prayer are said daily.

JAMES A. HARROLD.

I respectfully submit as my report for the past Canonical year ending May 1st, that I have frequently discharged the various duties of the priestly office during temporary engagements, as follows:

13 weeks at Church of Our Saviour and Church Home, Baltimore. St. John's Church, Upper Falls, Baltimore county, 12 weeks. Church at Sparrow's Point 5 weeks. Advent Chapel, Baltimore, 3 weeks. St. John's Church, St. Louis, Mo., 4 weeks. St. Andrew's Chapel, Baltimore county, 1 Sunday. St. Barnabas' Church, Baltimore, 1 Sunday. St. Paul's Church, Washington, D. C., 1 Sunday.

I remain very respectfully yours,

Baltimore.

CUSTIS P. JONES.

I respectfully report that since my last report I have preached at St. Bartholomew's, New York (Dr. Greer's), St. George's, (Dr. Rainsford's). Church of the Holy Apostles, New York (Wednesday Lenten lectures), All Souls, New York, St. James', New York, Christ Church, East Orange, N. J., Christ Church, Jersey City, N. J., St. John's, Jersey City, N. J., and elsewhere, having preached every Sunday except three, on two of which I was obliged to ask release from my engagement, being sick at home of "grip." My engagements now extend to the middle of next October. I have also been engaged in literary work of various kinds.

Yours affectionately,

Jersey City, N. J.

W. KIRKUS.

I respectfully present my report for the Diocesan year, the fiftieth anniversary of my ordination and connection with the diocese.

Hospitals. City, Maryland, General, Marine, Baltimore University, Maryland University, Homœopathic, 46.

Occasional Visits. Blind Asylum, Mississippi Lodging House, St. Paul's Guild House, Anchorage, Home of Incurables, Emmanuel House, St. Bartholomew's Reading Room, Penitentiary 15. Total 139.

Baptisms 3, Marriage 1, Funerals 3, Holy Communion on eight occasions, including Easter celebration at Bay View with 34 Communicants. The congregations average 400 men and 70 women at Jail, Bay View 100, Female House of Refuge 70, Aged Men's Home 20, Aged Woman's Home 35. I also after services visit patients and respond to special calls.

I have received from Rev. Dr. Dunn, of New York, ten recommendations of immigrants, whom I have transferred to the nearest city rectors. I thankfully acknowledge the aid of brethren in these services and also the musical skill of several ladies and choirs of St. Andrew's and Mt. Calvary Churches on Christmas and Easter.

C. MORTON MURRAY, Deacon.

During the past year the undersigned has acted as chaplain of the Hannah More Academy, has assisted the Rector in Reisterstown Parish, has had special charge of the mission at Harrisonville and held services once a week during Lent at St. George's Hall. In this connection he has said 456 services, preached 110 times, lectured 74 times, has baptised 8, married 1, buried 2. These statistics are included in the report of Reisterstown Parish. In addition to the above has held twelve Sunday services in St. John's Church, Western Run Parish, and has made exchanges in order to secure a priest to celebrate the Holy Communion at Harrisonville.

In addition to the above I have had forty-five services in private with the sick.

Reisterstown.

ALEX. M. RICH.

The undersigned respectfully reports that since his last report he has performed or assisted in divine service twenty-seven times and preached six times. During a part of the past winter he conducted a Bible class for young men and women in connection with the parish Sunday School.

Westminster.

JAMES W. REESE.

I respectfully report that during the past convention year I officiated, at the request of Rectors and Vestries, in a number of churches in Baltimore City and County.

Read service 20 times, preached 15 sermons, delivered several lectures, celebrated the Holy Communion 7 times, assisted on 3 other occasions, baptised 2 children and married 1 couple.

*Colored.

Very respectfully submitted,

JAMES L. SMILEY.

I beg to report that during the last canonical year I have held service and preached ten times, administered the Holy Communion two times and baptised one infant in addition to rendering slight service as assistant minister of the Epiphany Church, Washington, D. C. During the current scholastic year I have been engaged in the discharge of my duties as professor of ethics and philosophy in the Columbian University.

Faithfully yours,

Washington.

J. MACBRIDE STERRETT.

I have to report that during the past year in Washington, D. C., I have baptised one child and buried another; have assisted in Holy Communion at the "Incarnation" three times, and at the "Ascension" once; have conducted mission services with sermons at Le Droit Park three times; also held services and preached twice and celebrated Holy Communion once at Grace Church. During the summer I held services and preached five times and celebrated Holy Communion once at St. Bartholomew's, Baltimore, Md.

Very respectfully,

Takoma Park, D. C.

JOHN C. TENNENT.

During the conventional year I have served as the Warden of King Hall, having under my immediate tuition and guidance candidates and postulants for the holy ministry. I have preached and celebrated the Holy Communion and held a Bible class regularly every Sunday; and beside these regular ministers have officiated or preached in the chapel of the Soldiers' Home, St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek, and St. Mary's Chapel, Washington; St. James' Church and St. Mary's Chapel, Baltimore, and St. Philip's Chapel, Annapolis, Md.

I have also baptised several infants at the Freedman's Hospital and the Foundling's Home, Washington, the records of which are with St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek.

King Hall, Washington, D. C.

WILLIAM V. TUNNELL.

The undersigned respectfully reports the following duties performed during the Conventional year:

He has held on Sundays 122 services; on week days 89; Sermons and lectures 126; Bible classes and cottage lectures 25. He has administered the Holy Communion in public 6 times, in private 2; Baptized 2 infants; Buried 2 adults.

Of the above tabulated ministrations, up to July 1st, he rendered them entirely in Frederick and Washington Counties; at Walkersville in Frederick, and Smithsburg in Washington. The latter point he was constrained to hold entirely until relieved by the appointment of a local clergyman. After that he officiated temporarily at Mt. Airy and New Market, and Walkersville and Union Bridge regularly. Some week day services also were rendered in Cecil County, in the neighborhood of his home, in aid of a distant rector, when the intense cold absolutely precluded any possible operation in his own field. The severity of the winter has much hampered his work. While he has not missed a single appointment throughout the year, on account of weather, or for any cause, yet it was found impossible to render the ill-contrived Town Hall that we rent in Union Bridge for our services bearable with the thermometer at 3° below zero, and the few Church people even were not willing to risk sitting in it; it was therefore folly to pay, as we do, a dollar for opening and cleaning a room with no attendance. At New Windsor and Finksburg also, where it was proposed to establish lectures, those best informed and most interested (as some were) advised delay until at least propitious weather should give a reasonable hope of people to attend. The attendance at Union Bridge had largely increased. While the first service was held with only eight present, there are now usually from thirty to fifty, and at a late service (Second Easter Sunday,) there were over an hundred present. At Walkersville the growth had been more evenly and steadily developed, though not to the same degree. The increase has been through the habitual attendance of some elder, settled persons, who previously knew nothing of our branch of the Church, but now manifest a growing interest in her doctrines and worship. The Adult Bible Classes held there have had a good influence to this result, inasmuch as a number of adults belonging to different denominations, who seldom come to our services, have asked the privilege of attending these classes, and are very cordially welcomed. They, of course, find a new element open to them. Several young people, also, indifferent to any other religious teaching and having no denominational connection, have become regular attendants, assisting in the music and quite reverently attentive to worship and preaching. In going to and fro to his home and moving between the different parts of his mission field he has traveled over 3,000 miles; expended in R. R. fares, hotel and other board bills, together, with incidentals, in all $533.

The offerings, on the other hand (as might be expected from so mixed a company), at these services have been almost nothing; except from the five or six Church adherents, a few pennies, or perhaps a good many pennies, would be the extent. At Union Bridge, where there are but three members of the Church, the offerings have not cleared the rent of the room. At Walkersville, however, the rental of the room ($52 per annum), fire and lights have been met, and they have a small sum on hand for further expenses.

At both these points it is evident that a room of our own is a necessity, and that with such a "poor show" it will be perfectly practicable to gain a stronghold upon the loose element of the communities. As Union Bridge is the centre of railroad work of the W. M. R. R., and her shops are there, and some hundreds of hands employed, material is not lacking.

The consent of the Bishop having been obtained, it is fully intended to attempt the construction of a room, simple, but churchly, where we can hold our services reverently, in Union Bridge. The amount required is so extremely small that it would seem an undoubted thing that outside aid to the two hundred dollars could readily be found. It must be by outside aid almost entirely at Union Bridge, for there are no Church people there to aid, and it is a town of singular stagnation and lack of enterprise.

Walkersville also will attempt a similar building, but with the same pluck and perseverance that has so far characterized that little band, she does not make any appeal to outside help. She will win her own.

That there will be there two buildings constructed in the near future is fully believed; the hope of a successful accomplishment is based on the certainty of Divine promises, and the power of faith and prayer.

R. WHITTINGHAM.

REPORT OF THE CONVOCATION OF ANNAPOLIS.

I beg leave to make the following report of the work and condition of the Convocation of Annapolis for the last conventional year:

The impression gained by a review of the whole field is satisfactory and encouraging. The only vacant places at this time are St. Paul's Chapel, in Howard County, and St. Mary's Church, in Anne Arundel County. The second of these for the past year has been supplied by monthly services kindly given by the Clergy residing in the adjacent parishes. The former, it is hoped, will soon be re-opened, provided for by the successor to Dr. Stephenson, by whom it was built and ministered to for several years.

There has been no change in the list of the Clergy laboring within our territory, except in the removal of the Rev. J. C. Gray from Annapolis, where he held the position of assistant in St. Anne's Parish. The Clergy generally are doing their utmost to promote the cause of the Church. There have been no new Churches built, though one, St. John's Chapel, in St. James' Parish, Anne Arundel County, ministered to by the Rector of Christ Church, West River, has been consecrated. Extra Sunday and other services have been started, as in St. James' Parish, Anne Arundel County, during the summer, in Severn Parish, in the territory under the care of the Missionary at Curtis Bay, and doubtless more would have been done had not most of the Clergy had their time already fully occupied. There is more that could be done, other points that might be developed. To do it, however, would require additional force in the field.

During the summer and early fall months of last year I visited nineteen different Churches and Chapels, in which thirty-eight services were held. In every place the effort has been to hold one or more Missionary meetings, or to present the subject of Missions in some other way. I have been cordially assisted by seventeen of the Clergy, most of them of the Convocation of Annapolis, but some of other Convocations. The congregations have generally been good, and the whole tone of the services generous and hearty. Doubtless great good is done by this Convocational Association, by its bringing the Clergy together for mutual conference, for the comparison of notes about parochial experience, for the fostering of sympathy, and also by its teaching the people that they belong to the Church of Christ, that their own congregation or parish is not the limit of their duty or their privilege, but that the whole family of the faithful are theirs and the whole field of the world their care. These are only incidental results. The more direct ones are the instruction and exhortation given about the work of Christ, the need of His field, and the obligation of every one that calls upon His Name to promote His Holy cause.

The places visited were twelve in Anne Arundel County, three in Calvert County and four in Howard County. Two other appointments were not kept, by reason of the very heavy rain, the services being at night. I sought to make other appointments, but was prevented by the peculiar circumstances of the particular places. There is, however, scarcely any place to which the Convocation is not welcomed, both by the Clergy and the people. Other duties incidental to the office of Archdeacon have been performed, as providing for the monthly supply of services of a vacant church, a duty assigned by the Bishop, and attendance at the meetings of the Missions Committee, this last involving special work. The two meetings required by the Canon were duly held.

THEO. C. GAMBRALL,

May 17th, 1893.

Archdeacon.

REPORT OF THE ARCHDEACON OF THE CONVOCATION OF CUMBERLAND.

The following is respectfully submitted as my report for the year ending April 30th, 1893:

Two meetings of the Convocation have been held, one in September, in St. Thomas' Church, Hancock, and the other in April in St. Andrew's Church, Clear Spring. At the former meeting the subject of Mission work as suggested by the Bishop was earnestly discussed, and several appointments were made which the Clergy undertook to fulfill during the year. Reports were made at the April meeting from such of the assignments as had been kept, and satisfactory reasons were given why the fulfillment of the residue had been deferred. It was largely owing to the great inclemency of the weather during the winter and to the want of any means to heat the buildings in which the services would be held. The same appointments were renewed at the Convocation held in Clear Spring, with the understanding that they will be fulfilled prior to the meeting at Frostburg in September next. The large extent of territory which is covered by this Convocation and the small force of Clergy within its limits present difficulties in the way of Mission work which it is not easy to overcome. A committee was appointed in April to revise the rules of the Convocation in such way as to bring them into closer harmony with those which govern the other Convocations, and it is hoped that as one result of this change the way may be opened to a larger amount of Mission work.

It is gratifying to state that all of the parochial vacancies which existed a year ago have been filled. Among them were St. John's, Hagerstown; St. Matthew's, Oakland, and Catoctin and Linganore Parishes. The brethren who have thus been added to our working force in the Convocation of Cumberland have received a most cordial welcome.

The Bishop was present at the opening of the meeting in Clear Spring, and delivered a charge to the Clergy, which was listened to with great satisfaction, not only by the Clergy, but also by a congregation which quite filled the Church.

It dealt mainly with reference to the children of the Church and the duties of the Clergy in regard to them.

It formed the subject for discussion on the following evening, and elicited the gratifying assurance that the importance of giving more personal attention to the religious training of our children is being deeply felt and earnestly undertaken.

May 30th, 1893.

CLARENCE BUEL,
Archdeacon of the Convocation of Cumberland.

REPORT OF THE GENERAL MISSIONARY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30th, 1893.

On the first day of July, 1892, I began work as General Missionary of the Diocese of Maryland, under your appointment. In these ten months up to this date, I have visited nine (9) counties and Baltimore City, and have worked in fifteen congregations.

In St. Mary's, Montgomery County, I spent twelve days, including three Sundays, held one morning service and celebrated Holy Communion each Sunday, visited 26 families and secured subscriptions to the amount of $213.10 on salary. Administered Holy Communion twice in private to a sick person in this county, and at Garrett Park baptized one infant.

Offerings, Committee of Missions. $4 78.

In Harford County, Christ and Holy Cross Churches. I spent eighteen days, including five Sundays, officiated five times in each Church, administered the Lord's Supper once each Sunday. Made 65 visits, baptized one infant and one adult, and secured both new and increased subscriptions to the salary.

Offerings, Committee of Missions..... $15 15

" Convention Fund..... 9 94

In Baltimore County I visited Sulphur Spring Chapel, spent one week, including Sunday, held one morning service, including Holy Communion, paid seventeen visits, and got subscription or assurance of $200 for salary.

Offering, Committee of Missions..... $1 41

In Baltimore County, St. Andrew's and St. Clement's Churches. I spent three weeks, including four Sundays, held six services, celebrated Holy Communion four times, paid 40 visits, and increased subscription to salary.

Offering, Committee of Missions.. $23 30

In St. Mary's County, King and Queen Parish, Chaptico and All Saints' Churches, I spent twenty-seven days, including five Sundays, seven services and four celebrations of the Holy Communion, thoroughly visited the parish, discussed with the people the question of the division of the parish, secured two separate subscription lists for two salaries in view of division into two parishes, counselled the congregation on division in public meeting, baptized five infants, three colored and two white, and received "three colored children into the congregation" in All Saints' Church.

Offerings, Committee of Missions..... $25 00

" Convention Fund..... 40 00

In Frederick and Carroll Counties, I visited Linganore Parish, composed of Grace Church, Newmarket; St. James' Chapel, Mt. Airy, and St. Paul's Church, Poplar Springs, staying twenty-five days, including four Sundays, (one being Christmas). In Mt. Airy I spent two Sundays, holding two services and celebrating Holy Communion each morning, held a four nights' Mission, and superintended the Sunday School Festival on Christmas night; I also twice addressed the Sunday School there. In Newmarket I spent one Sunday, holding two services and celebrating Holy Communion, held a three-nights' Mission, and officiated on Christmas (Sunday) morning, also administering Holy Communion. In St. Paul's Church, Poplar Springs, I held one Evening Service, at 3.30 P. M. I baptized one infant, celebrated Holy Communion once, in private, to a sick person, and read the Burial Service one time over a devoted communicant at Mt. Airy. I visited the whole, large parish, except six families, and those I failed to see, because of bad weather and very bad roads. Secured a gratifying increase of subscriptions to salary.

" Convention Fund..... 21 66

In Howard County, Mt. Calvary and St. Mark's Parishes, the Rev. W. R. B. Turner, Deacon, in charge, I spent nineteen days, including four Sundays, holding one service each Sunday, celebrating Holy Communion every Sunday morning, gave both parishes a thorough visiting, secured a considerable increase in the Minister's income, got ³¹ subscribers to Maryland Churchman at 25 cents each, and celebrated Holy Communion twice, in private, for sick persons.

Offering, Committee of Missions.....$5 60

In the Parish of Rev. Mr. Helfenstein, Frederick and Washington Counties—"Maryland Tract" and "Pleasant Valley," respectively—I spent sixteen days, preaching in St. Mark's and Grace Churches, Frederick, for the Rector, and officiating alone four times, including two celebrations of the Holy Communion, and Ash Wednesday morning, in St. Luke's, Pleasant Valley, Washington County. I visited every family in this congregation, secured $170 towards the salary, 13 subscribers to Maryland Churchman, at 25 cents each, and purchased 25 new Prayer Books for the people, at their request.

Offerings, Committee of Missions "Maryland Tract" $6 82

" " " "Pleasant Valley" 3 82

$10 64

" Convention Fund, "Pleasant Valley"..... 8 29

In Baltimore City I officiated in the Chapel of the Prince of Peace, Highland Park, three Sunday mornings, including Easter. Holy Communion each day.

Offerings, Committee of Missions.....$29 81

By invitation of the Convocation of Baltimore and the request of the Bishop I addressed that Convocation on Diocesan Missions.

Recapitulation.—I visited 9 counties and the City of Baltimore, visited and worked in 15 congregations, preached 62 times and made 5 addresses, celebrated Holy Communion in public 29 times, in private 5 times, baptized one (1) adult and 8 infants, of whom 3 were colored, and "received" 3 colored children into the congregation, read the Burial Service once, and visited several hundred families.

Offerings, Committee of Missions.....$137 30

" Convention Fund..... 79 89

My traveling expenses were also paid.

With assurances of appreciation of your uniform kindness and courtesy to myself, I beg to remain, my dear Bishop, very sincerely yours,

DAVID BARR, General Missionary.

CHURCH WORK AMONGST COLORED PEOPLE.—ARCHDEACON'S ANNUAL REPORT, MAY 1, 1892, MAY 30, 1893.

In presenting my Third Annual Report on Church work amongst colored people in the Diocese of Maryland, I see no reason to make any changes in the views I expressed in my previous reports, which were based on the original instructions received from you on my taking up this work. I have been more than confirmed in the conclusions we have come to, viz.: that the education of the young is for the Church, her duty. In reference to the Afro-American race, the development of industrial training based on sound religious instruction is certainly the only successful method of aiding these people. I am in this report able to present the results of two annual examinations. The first took place in the month of June, 1892. The result of the annual examination of the Parochial Schools is as follows:

Six schools out of the eight being examined with 11 teachers, have 283 children on the books. In the six schools examined, 165 children were presented for examination; the difference in numbers presented and numbers examined is caused by so many of the children being withdrawn from the school for farm work in the spring.

The School of St. Mary the Virgin, Baltimore, and that of West River were not examined for local reasons.

One hundred and twenty-five children passed in reading; 105 in writing; 106 in arithmetic; 126 in Bible; 116 in Church Catechism; 4 in geography; 5 in special subjects.

There were 42 entire failures to pass in the required standards.

Besides the above, the examinations in needle work, dressmaking, cooking, shoemaking, and agriculture were very satisfactory. For the present year, 1893, I have conducted six examinations, a month earlier than last year, so as to endeavor to keep the children in school for that purpose, so as to avoid the conflict with farm work. There are on the books 211 children to be examined; of these 160 were presented for examination.

The standard of marks obtained is as follows:

	Full Marks.	Passed.	Failed.
Bible	9	49	89
Church Catechism	24	65	35
Reading	29	64	39
Writing	22	52	54
Arithmetic	18	33	70
Grammar	1	...
Industry—Needle Work	63
History	3	1
Geography	12	6

Two of the schools, St. Mary's, Charlotte Hall, with over 80 scholars, and St. Mary's, Washington, with some 30, will not be examined until the month of June.

From the above figures it will be seen there is a large increase in attendance in the schools during the past year. The large number marked "failed" in Bible instruction is simply amongst the small children who were unable to answer Bible questions. The average examinations were above those of last year. Special examinations in industry have taken place in St. Mary's Mission, Charlotte Hall, and the following examinations were passed:

Passed—Shoemaking. Needle Work.

Third Grade.....	7	6
Fourth Grade.....	9	5
Fifth Grade.....	6	10
Sixth Grade.....	0	4
Seventh Grade	9	24 (Passed good examinations.)

The dressmaking standard was exceedingly good, women's dress waist patterns being taken, measured, and cut out, and made up from the pattern machine. The cooking was in every way satisfactory; a large supply of cooked food was shown prepared by the children, and several articles of food were cooked in the presence of the Examiner. A considerable trade is growing up in connection with the shoe shop, where the work is most satisfactory. In the Appendix a detailed report of this work is given.

I am sorry to say the West River School has been closed for over a year for want of a teacher. The mission at Howard Chapel, which was producing good fruit, has been closed for lack of funds and the necessity of moving the deacon in charge to St. Philip's, Annapolis. The Sunday School children, more especially those connected with the Hopkins Orphan Asylum, Biddle street, have been transferred to the care of St. Peter's Parish, Lanvale street. I would most earnestly suggest that an effort be made to build a boarding house at St. Mary's, Charlotte Hall, for twelve boys and the same number of girls, that the children in our Parochial Schools may be transferred to this school for training in industry and for school teachers. We have already eight teachers trained in the school doing a good work. I am most anxious to see added to the industries now at work carpentry, upholstery and a smith shop; for the prosperity of the colored race lies in their obtaining sound Church teaching and the acquirement of handicrafts, that they may have more than the day laborer's work open to them. Before the war every plantation had its carpenters, blacksmiths, etc., in which the negroes were all successful, and therefore it is evident that the best help to be given to the race is by this industrial education.

A growing interest in the Church and her services, and the belief on the part of the colored people in the desire on the part of the Episcopal Church to aid them, seems to prevail. The services held in Afro-American Churches, school houses, and public halls have been well attended, earnest services, and in all cases our liturgy has been used in its entirety. The services have been much appreciated by the people in their neighborhoods. Inquiries come, "When will you come again?" They express a desire to have permanent work established among them. The only reply has been, "At present we have neither men nor funds." I trust that the first difficulty will ere long be overcome by the further development of King Hall for the training of young men for the sacred ministry of our Church, and pray that the Great Head of the Church Himself will touch the hearts of those who have the silver and the gold to consecrate some of their means to this part of the mission work of the Church. The best method for carrying on general Church work for the present seems to me, where possible, the placing of colored deacons in charge of the several missions directed by the priests of the parishes in which their missions may be situated, and having lay readers in charge of the parochial schools.

The scholarship system has been much developed during the past year, the sum of fifty dollars enabling the membership to nominate a child to St. Mary's Mission School, Charlotte Hall. In this way one boy has been taken from Baltimore and two from St. Philip's Mission, Port Tobacco, besides local cases. I cannot speak too highly of the work done at St. Mary's Mission, Charlotte Hall, both by the Rev. J. G. Bryant, the missionary, and Miss Keyser, the head teacher, and Miss Vernon, Mrs. Boone and Mr. Brown, the trade instructors. At Port Tobacco the work has been most successful; the services held by the Rector, the unwearied efforts of Mrs. Poindexter, aided by Miss Ola Martin, as the school teacher, have produced good results. The Rev. J. G. Bryant, missionary at Charlotte Hill, carried on a week of special services which were much appreciated, every colored family within a radius of several miles being visited. At St. Philip's Chapel, Woodville, I conducted an eight days' mission with most gratifying results, had large congregations at all the services, and a colored choir rendered the service beautifully—entirely colored on most occasions. Mr. Taylor, the school teacher, has done excellent work at this place. The Rev. A. J. Evans, rector, has regular service every Sunday at St. Philip's Chapel, Woodville. Claggett Chapel Parochial School, in St. James' Parish, in Anne Arundel County, has been well cared for by Mr. Harley Blake, teacher. Interesting services have been held during the year in the Chapel. St. Mary's and St. Luke's, Washington, and St. Mary the Virgin, Baltimore, and St. James, Baltimore, will furnish special reports from their clergy, and therefore require no report from me. I would call special attention to the excellent work done at the St. Katharine Mission, Calhoun street, under Mrs. Sargent, in connection with St. Mary the Virgin, Baltimore. The parochial work at Cumberland, under the Archdeacon Buel, at Westminster in care of the late t Towson by the Rev. W. H. H. Powers, will be spoken of in reports of the clergy. I wish that the clergy in every parish is a colored population would endeavor to establish a Mission School, and in this way prepare the children for the future of the Church.

My report is exceeding the limits of space you can allow me, therefore, in conclusion say that though there has been no improvement in the work, there has been general encouragement hitherto laid down have proved to be correct: That a revision of the work is necessary; that the individual examination of each child by a special officer has produced considerable fruit; the systematic method of instruction in which every school has the record, has done much to solidify and develop the work more in care. Trusting that the blessing of the Great Head of the Church will continue to be poured out on this important branch of our work.

Right Reverend and Dear Sir,

Your faithful servant,

FRANCIS J. CLAY MORAN,
Archdeacon of Maryland.

Bishop and Trustees of the Diocesan Library:

Librarian respectfully reports that an extension of sixteen feet added to the lower floor of the library last summer. This addition is the Diocesan Records and is appropriated to the use of the Secretary. On the second floor the addition of eight feet is on both sides and the books of the Lending Department have been placed here, just filling the shelves. For the sake of the additional space the inner front door has been removed and the entrance is now only one door. Heavy glass has been laid in place of the board under the skylight to give more light below. The laying of the cable front, the work of building in the rear and these changes in the building itself made such a dirt and dust that, although your Librarian cleaned the books with sheets of paper, it was necessary to have shelves and books alike cleaned in the fall. Her own severe illness, together with the vexatious delay of the workmen, prevented the opening of the library till the first of October, after its closing for August. The meeting of the General Convention in this city during October brought so many visitors to the Library that the year's report, taken from the Daily Librarian, shows a large increase. There were 495 visitors in the ten months, ninety-eight letters received and one hundred and thirteen books. The addition of books to the library proper has been small, but these gifts have been designated for the Lending Department. Rev. Dr. Williams' legacy to this department of his theological works was received in October. They number about twelve hundred books. Later another legacy of two hundred and fifty books from the Rev. Dr. Stansbury, of Newark, N. J., (formerly of Maryland, and a Virginian by birth,) was received, making fourteen hundred and fifty books to add to our little nucleus of over five hundred. The arranging and cataloguing of these books occupied your librarian till January, when the Bishop authorized her to seek a printer to print the catalogue for distribution. In February the MS. was given to the Friedenwald Press. Owing to many drawbacks on their side the little pamphlet is not yet ready. It is hoped that it will be ready before the meeting of the Diocesan Convention. There are so many duplicate books among the books in this department that there are only sixteen hundred titles in the catalogue. Counting duplicates there are about twenty-one hundred volumes.

This report came in too late for insertion in its proper place.

There has been received from thirty-three parishes $67.50 in reply the notices sent out according to the resolution of the Convention 1891, and from individual subscriptions $24. This year's notices have also been sent out by direction of the committee, so that the money might be taken out of the Whitsunday offertory as recommended by Convention.

May 1st, 1893.

I certify that the above is a correct list of the Clergy of the Diocese of Maryland.

WILLIAM PARET,
Bishop of Maryland.

Those marked with an asterisk * are not entitled to seats.

Of those entitled to seats, those whose names are marked thus † were not ascertained to be present at the sessions of the Convention.

LIST

OF PARISHES AND CONGREGATIONS IN THE DIOCESE OF MARYLAND, WITH THE CLERGY OF THE SAME;

AND

OF LAY DELEGATES TO THE HUNDRED AND ELEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

(Corrected to June 2, 1894.)

The names of Parishes and separate Congregations entitled to representation are printed in bold-face type. The word Parish in this list indicate a territorial division; the name of the Parish Church is the one immediately following the name of the Parish. The Secretary requests that the names of any Church Buildings omitted from the list, or any other inaccuracies therein, may be made known to him.

Lay Delegates whose names are marked with a † are not known to have been present at the Convention.

A bracket enclosing the names of a Lay Delegate and Alternate indicate that they successively occupied the same seat.

Churches marked with a * are not yet admitted to union with the Convention.

RULES OF ORDER.

1. The daily sessions of the Convention shall be opened by Divine Service beginning at 10 o'clock, A. M.
2. The Convention upon its first assembling, shall be called to order by the Bishop, or, if there be no Bishop present, he be absent, by the President of the Standing Committee, or by some member of that body appointed for the purpose, those of its members who may be present.
3. When the President takes the chair, every member shall take his seat, and remain uncovered until he shall be so directed by the President.
4. The names of the Clergymen entitled to seats shall be called over by the Secretary of the last Convention, or in his absence, by some one appointed by the Convention, or other person who called the Convention to order. The said call shall be made from a roll furnished by the Bishop or other ecclesiastical authority of the Diocese, which roll shall be evidence of the right of such Clergymen to seats until the Convention shall have acted upon that question. The Secretary shall also call from a provisional roll of Lay delegates prepared from the certificates which have been received from the various Dioceses. The Lay delegates whose certificates have not been forwarded to the Secretary shall then lay their certificates upon the table, with the declaration subscribed as required by the Constitution. The Secretary shall then call these additional names, if required by the President, the Chair, or by any member. In calling the roll of Clergy and Lay Delegates, the surname only—without the prefix of "Mr."—shall be called, except where there may be two, or more, of the same name, in which case they shall be designated by the addition of their Christian names. If a quorum of both orders appear, the presiding officer shall announce the fact, and declare that the Convention is organized and ready for business.

In case of the absence of the Bishop, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the person who called the Convention to order shall announce that there is a quorum present. The Convention shall then proceed to elect a President, according to the seventh article of the Constitution; who shall, so soon as his election is completed, take the Chair and declare that the Convention is organized and ready for business.

The first business after that declaration is made, either by the Bishop or the President, shall be the election of a Secretary. The Chair shall then appoint an Assistant Secretary and the Committees mentioned in the Order of Business (No. III). The Chair shall also appoint all other Committees for the appointment of which no other provision is made; unless otherwise ordered by the Convention.

When any member is about to speak or deliver any matter to the Convention, he shall rise, and with due respect, address himself to the President.

If two or more members shall arise at the same time to speak, the President shall decide who shall speak.

No member shall speak more than twice in the same Debate, nor longer than fifteen minutes at one time, without leave of the Convention.

No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded, and, if desired by any member, reduced to writing and read by the Secretary.

When a motion is made and seconded, no other motion shall be received, except to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain time, to postpone indefinitely, to commit or to amend; and motions for any of these purposes shall have precedence in the order herein named. If a motion to lay on the table an amendment be carried, the matter before the Convention shall be proceeded with as if no such amendment had been offered. The motions to lay on the table and to adjourn shall be decided without debate. The motion to adjourn shall always be in order, if the mover have the floor.

12. When a proposed amendment is under consideration, a motion to amend the same may be made. No after amendment shall be in order, but a substitute for both amendments may be received, which, if adopted, shall operate as an amendment to the original proposition. No proposition on a subject different from the one under consideration shall be received under colour of an amendment or substitute.
13. If a question contain several distinct propositions, the same shall be divided at the request of any member, and a vote taken separately, except that a motion to strike out and insert shall be indivisible.
14. All questions of order shall be decided by the President without debate; but any member may appeal from such decision, and on such appeal no member shall speak more than once, without express leave of the Convention.
15. When any member rises to a point of order, the member who has the floor shall take his seat until the point of order is decided by the Chair.
16. A question being once determined, shall stand as the judgment of the Convention, and shall not be again drawn into debate during the session, except with the consent of two-thirds of the Convention, upon a motion to reconsider made by a member who voted with the majority and seconded by a member who also voted with the majority.
17. No question shall be taken on any report, unless upon a motion to print or recommit it; but reports shall, as of course, lie upon the table. If a Committee deem any action of the Convention desirable, it shall be their duty to present in writing such Resolutions, Acts or Canons, as they may think it should adopt; which only shall be subject to the action of the Convention. Every act which divides a Parish, or in any way affects Parish boundaries, shall distinctly set out the new boundaries which it is intended to establish. The Convention will not act upon any proposed Resolution, Act or Canon which is not conformed to the provisions of this rule.

All elections shall be by ballot, unless otherwise ordered; the votes of the Clergy and Laity shall be received and counted separately; but the vote shall be regarded as a joint one, and the election shall be decided by a majority of the whole number of votes taken together, except where a vote by orders shall be required under the provisions of the constitution.

When a joint-ballot is taken, the procedure shall be as follows: The President shall appoint two tellers on the part of the clergy and two on the part of the laity. The Secretary shall then call the Roll and the tellers shall collect the votes. After the clerical and lay votes shall have been counted by the respective tellers, the teller first named by the Chair shall combine them in one joint-ballot which he shall present to the Convention, reading out the names of the persons voted for, the number of clerical and lay votes for each separately, and the sum total of votes received by each person. The Chair shall then state to the Convention the result of the joint-ballot.

The Convention after Evening Prayer, on the first day of each annual Session, shall consider the subject of Diocesan Missions. The Reports of the Committees of Missions and of Religious Instruction shall be read, and the estimated income and expenditures for the coming year shall be discussed, and so far as practicable, determined.

A majority of two-thirds of the members present shall be required to suspend any Rule of Order or make any change in the Order of Business; but 'Orders of the Day' may be intercalated in the Order of Business by a majority vote.

Robert's "Rules of Order" shall be the parliamentary guide in all cases not provided for in the foregoing Rules.

The foregoing Rules of Order, together with the Order of business hereto annexed, shall be deemed the Rules of Order of all future Conventions until altered or rescinded; and the same shall be published in the Journal of each Convention.

JOURNAL OF PROCEEDINGS.

THE ONE HUNDRED AND ELEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION of Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Maryland, assembled in Emmanuel Church, in the City of Baltimore, on Wednesday, the 30th day of May, A. D., 1894.

The service began with the Holy Communion, which was by the Bishop, the Epistle being read by the Rev. J. H. Eston, D. D., and the Gospel by the Rev. T. C. Gambrall, D.

In lieu of a sermon the Bishop delivered an address and a prayer.

The Holy Communion was administered by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Drs. Eccleston and Gambrall, and the Rev. Thos. E. Pattison.

After Divine Service being over, the Bishop called the Convention to order.

The Secretary of the last Convention then called the roll of members entitled to Seats in this Convention from the list published by the Bishop, and one hundred and eight answered their names.

The names of Lay Delegates who had previously presented certificates of election to this Convention, and who had signed a Declaration, being then called, ninety-four answered to their names.

As a quorum of both Orders being present, the Bishop declared the Convention duly organized and ready for business, and that the first business in order was the election of a Secretary.

The Rev. Hall Harrison, D. D., nominated as Secretary the Rev. Peregrine Wroth. There being no other nominations, a motion, Dr. Harrison was authorized to cast the ballot of the Convention for the nominee; which was accordingly done, and the Rev. Mr. Wroth was declared elected.

The Bishop appointed Mr. John T. Mason, R., Assistant Secretary.

The Bishop announced the following Committees:

1. On Rights of Clergymen to Seats.—The Rev. E. H. Ingle, the Rev. Joseph Fletcher, and the Rev. Charles A. Hensel.
2. On Elections.—Messrs. S. W. Tulloch, H. C. Whiting and C. H. Stanley.
3. On Canons and Other Business.—The Rev. W. Scott Southgate, D. D., the Rev. T. G. Addison, D. D., the Rev. Clarence Buel, and Messrs. A. S. Browne and E. N. Rich.
4. On Accounts.—Messrs. D. C. Wharton Smith, P. C. Williams, M. D., and Thomas Anderson.
5. On Parochial Contributions.—Messrs. D. C. Hammett, W. D. Baldwin and J. B. Bunting.
6. On Admission of New Parishes and Congregations.—The Rev. I. L. Townsend, S. T. D., the Rev. Messrs. E. A. Colburn and John H. Logie, and Messrs. C. W. Michael and H. Onderdonk.
7. On the State of the Church.—The Rev. Messrs. W. A. Mitchell, A. S. Johns, and R. H. Murphy, and Messrs. R. B. Chew and Charles Abert.
8. On Ways and Means.—Messrs. Joseph Packard, Jr., E. G. Miller and C. S. Tinges.
9. On Donations.—Messrs. Skipwith Wilmer, Thomas Armstrong, R. L. Poor, Charles Markell and L. J. Davis.

The Bishop of the Diocese presented a petition from Calvary Parish, Washington, D. C., for change of name, and from certain persons in St. Thomas' Parish, Baltimore County, and St. Paul's Parish, Baltimore City and County, asking for leave to organize an independent Congregation within the limits of St. Thomas' Parish, which were referred to the Committee on New Parishes and Congregations.

The Rev. Dr. Southgate presented a protest from certain persons in St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, against the admission of the Lay Delegate from that Parish. Referred to the Committee on Elections.

The Secretary presented a petition from All Saints' Parish, St. Mary's County, for admission into union with the Convention. Also, a petition from Georgetown Parish, District of Columbia, asking for change of bounds. Both of these were referred to the Committee on New Parishes and Congregations.

On motion of the Rev. A. C. Powell, it was resolved, That the Convention take a recess at 1.30 P. M. daily for four hours; also at 5 P. M. until 8 P. M.

On motion this resolution was reconsidered, and after being amended so as to read 7.30 instead of 8 P. M., it was adopted. Mr. Charles Abert offered the following amendment to the Constitution, which was referred to the Committee on Canons and other Business.

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution.

Any proposition for any division of the Diocese shall be introduced in Convention and considered in Convention, and, if approved of by the Convention and consented to by the Bishop, the same shall be transmitted to the several Vestries of the Parishes and separate Congregations which shall have been admitted into and are in union with this Convention, evidence of which transmission shall be presented by the Delegates from said Parishes and Congregations to the next ensuing Convention; and if said division be again approved by said Convention by a majority of the respective Orders, voting thereon separately, then, such division, with the consent of the Bishop duly expressed, shall be submitted to the next ensuing session of the General Convention for its consent; provided, that satisfactory assurance of a suitable provision for the Episcopate in each of the Dioceses as proposed be obtained.

resolved, That this Article be numbered 12, and the present number be changed to 13.

Mr. Rev. Mr. Laird moved that the following Canon to be entitled "Of the Archdeaconries of the Diocese," and numbered Canon VIII, to be adopted in lieu of Canons VIII and IX and be referred to the Committee on Canons and other Business, and it was so ordered.

CANON VIII.

Of the Archdeaconries of the Diocese.

c. 1. All members of the Church in this Diocese shall be considered as constituting the Diocesan Missionary Society.

c. 2. (I.) The Missionary Work of the Diocese shall be conducted by the Diocesan Board of Missions.

(2.) The Convention shall be the Diocesan Board of Missions, sitting annually, during the Annual Session, as often as the business of the Diocese may demand.

c. 3. (I.) The Diocese shall be divided into four Archdeaconries, to be named, respectively :

1. The Archdeaconry of Baltimore, comprising the City of Baltimore and the Counties of Baltimore, Harford and Carroll.

2. The Archdeaconry of Annapolis, comprising the Counties of Howard, Anne Arundel and Calvert.

3. The Archdeaconry of Washington, comprising the Counties of Montgomery, Prince George's, Charles and St. Mary's, and the District of Columbia.

4. The Archdeaconry of Cumberland, comprising the Counties of Frederick, Washington, Alleghany and Garrett.

(II.) The members of each Archdeaconry shall be the Clergy canonically resident within its limits, with three Lay Delegates from each Parish, elected in such manner as the By-laws of the Archdeaconry may direct. It shall be the duty of each Archdeaconry [1] to search out the religious needs of its own district, and to conduct and provide for such Missionary Work as may be undertaken by it, within its own limits, and to apportion among the several Parishes the amount necessary to be raised for the same; [2] to nominate all Missionaries and other agents of the Archdeaconry, and to fix their salaries; [3] to have full management of its funds; [4] to attend to the distribution of Bibles and Prayer Books; [5] to provide that careful statistics as to the population and condition of communities and the results of Missionary Work be collected and preserved.

(III.) The Executive Officer or Archdeacon of each Archdeaconry shall be nominated by ballot by the Archdeaconry at a regular meeting, and confirmed by the Bishop, and shall continue in office until his successor be appointed. It shall be his duty [1] to superintend all Missionary Work conducted by the Archdeaconry; [2] to have direction of all Itinerant Clergy and Associated Missions; [3] to make full and regular reports of the same to the Archdeaconry; and [4] in the absence of the Bishop to preside at all meetings.

(IV.) Each Archdeaconry shall adopt its own by-laws, elect annually its Secretary and Treasurer, and make before the Annual Meeting of the Board of Diocesan Missions a full report of its year's work to the Board of Managers hereinafter described.

SEC. 4. (I.) There shall be a Diocesan Board of Managers, which Board shall also be the Missionary Committee of the Diocese of Maryland, consisting of the Bishop, the four Archdeacons, and also three Clergymen and three Laymen, elected by ballot at the Annual Meeting of the Diocesan Board of Missions.

(II.) It shall be the duty of this Board of Managers [1] to decide, with the approval of the Bishop, what proportion of the whole sum voted by the Diocese for Missionary work [a] shall be raised by, and [b] what proportion shall be expended by each Archdeaconry; [2] to devise general plans for making Mission Work more effective, and developing a greater Missionary interest throughout the Diocese; [3] to send to the Diocesan Board of Missions, at its annual meeting, a report containing the following items:

- a. Statement of Missionary Work done since last report.
- b. The names of the Missionaries and Stations.
- c. An account of Annual Receipts and Expenditures, comprising all amounts received and disbursed by each Archdeaconry.
- d. A list of the Parishes contributing, and of the sums assessed upon and contributed by each Parish to Diocesan Missions.
- e. An estimate of the amount of funds needed for the Missionary Work of the Diocese for the ensuing year, and a schedule of assessments upon the several Archdeacons.

(III.) Six members of the Board of Managers, at a regularly called meeting, two of whom shall be Archdeacons, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. In the absence of the Bishop, one of the Archdeacons present shall be elected by the meeting to preside.

SEC. 5. Nothing in this Canon contained shall be construed, or taken to interfere with, or hinder, the Baltimore City Protestant Episcopal Committee in conducting Missionary, or other work, within the scope of its Charter.

SEC. 6. Canons VIII and IX are hereby repealed.

The Rev. Mr. Laird also offered the following Amendment to the Canon on the admission of New Parishes and Congregations, which was on his motion referred to the Committee on Canons.

(I.) No application for the admission of a Parish into union with the Church in this Diocese shall be considered or acted upon at any meeting of the Convention, unless the same has been transmitted to the Secretary of the Convention at least forty days before the meeting of the Convention.

(II.) It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Convention, at least sixty days before the meeting of the Convention, to deliver to a Committee, to be annually appointed (to be called the Committee on the Incorporation and Admission of Churches), all applications for admission into union which shall have been received by him, to be by such Committee examined, considered, and reported upon to the Convention.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Eccleston, so much of the Bishop's Address as refers to "The House of Mercy" was referred to a Committee of three to report at this Convention.

The Bishop appointed as the Committee, the Rev. J. H. Eccleston, D. D., the Rev. John H. Elliott, S. T. D., and the Rev. Charles E. Buck.

Mr. Skipwith Wilmer presented the Report of the Treasurer of the Convention, which was referred to the Committee on Accounts. (See Appendix.)

The Convention then at 1.30 P. M., took a recess until 2.30 P. M.

On re-assembling at 2.40 P. M. the Rev. George C. Stokes presented the Report of the Standing Committee. (See Appendix).

Mr. Skipwith Wilmer presented the Report of the Committee on Donations, as follows :

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON DONATIONS.

The Committee on Donations have to report that the will of Miss Amelia Riggs Norris, who has died since the last meeting of the Convention, contained the following bequest: "I give and devise to the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Maryland, for the use of the Fund for the Superannuated and Infirm Clergy of the Diocese, the sum of five thousand dollars." And the further bequest: "I give and devise unto the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Maryland the sum of five thousand dollars, to be safely invested, and the income therefrom to be paid to the Vestry of the Mount Calvary Church in the City of Baltimore. It is my wish that the said income shall be expended by said Vestry in aid of religious work among the colored people, but I do not intend hereby to create any trust which may involve the legality of this bequest, and if it should be held that the use hereby designated for said income defeats the said devise, then I direct the said income shall be paid by said Convention to the said Vestry absolutely."

The Committee has accepted these bequests; and there has been paid over to the Treasurer of the Diocese the sum of five thousand dollars for the Fund for Superannuated and Disabled Clergy, and the item of five thousand dollars for the benefit of the Vestry of Mount Calvary Church. There may be a further amount coming to the Convention from the same estate when it is finally closed.

The Committee have further to report that the will of John Tolly Worthington, of Baltimore County, who died since the last meeting of the Convention, contained the following bequest: "I give and bequeath the sum of two thousand dollars to the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Maryland, a body corporate, in trust to invest the same and to apply the income arising therefrom unto and to the support of the Rector or Minister in Charge for the time being of Saint John's Church, in Western Run Parish, in Baltimore County, Maryland. It, during any year or years, there shall be no Rector or Minister in charge of the said Church, I direct that the income of the said sum for each year or years shall be added to and be made a part of the principal or corpus of the legacy bequeathed in this section."

The Committee has accepted this bequest, and the sum of one thousand nine hundred and fifty dollars, being the legacy less the inheritance tax, has been paid over to the Treasurer of the Diocese.

The Committee has had tendered to it a deed from Theodore C. Gambrall, Charles F. Taylor and Edwin Higgins to the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Maryland of all that lot of ground situate, lying and being in South Baltimore, Anne Arundel County, Maryland, described as follows, that is to say: Beginning for the same at the northeast corner of Church Street and Fairview Avenue and running thence east bounding on the north side of Church Street sixty feet, thence north one hundred feet parallel with Fairview Avenue to the south side of an alley twenty feet wide, thence west and bounding on said alley, with the use thereof in common with others, sixty feet, and thence south bounding on the east side of Fairview Avenue one hundred feet to the place of beginning. This is the property upon which the Church at Curtis Bay has been erected.

The Committee has accepted the grant of this property.

R. L. POOR,
THOS. ARMSTRONG,
H. C. TURNBULL, JR.

The Rev. Dr. McKim, from the Committee on the Vestry Act, appointed at the last Convention, presented a report, (see Appendix) and moved that it be made the special order for to-morrow at 11 A. M.

Mr. A. S. Browne, from the same Committee, presented the views of the Minority. (See Appendix.)

Mr. Charles King moved to amend the motion of Dr. McKim by ordering both reports to be printed, and placed in the hands of the members of the Convention before the discussion of the same. Carried.

The Rev. Mr. Powell moved to further amend by ordering the consideration to be postponed until after the report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese. Carried.

The resolution as amended, was then adopted.

Mr. Tulloch presented the report of the Committee on Elections, as follows:

Baltimore, Maryland, May 30th, 1894.

We, the undersigned Committee on Elections, have examined the credentials of Lay Delegates, and report as follows: That all credentials were in proper form; but Mr. Dixon Connelly, of Trinity Church, Long Green, Baltimore County, and Mr. Redford W. Walker, of Rock Creek Parish, D. C., have failed to sign the Declarations of Belief, and are, therefore, not included among those entitled to seats. The certificate of J. Marshall Dent. Delegate from All Saints' Parish, St. Mary's County, is in due form, but the Parish, the Committee is informed, has not as yet been admitted into union with the Convention. His name is, therefore, not included among those entitled to seats.

In the case of St. Margaret's Parish, Anne Arundel County, a protest was presented the Committee with regard to the right of Horatio S. Ridout to a seat as Lay Delegate, but his certificate being in due form and no evidence being offered affecting his right, his name is included among those entitled to seats, and we herewith return the protest.

We recommend the following resolution:

Resolved, That the persons named on the list herewith returned be and the same are hereby declared to be entitled to seats in this Convention as Lay Delegates.

Committee.

The Rev. Mr. Powell was here allowed to present the report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese (see Appendix,) together with the following resolutions:

Resolved: I.—That it is the sense of this Convention that it is advisable to divide the Diocese of Maryland into two Dioceses.

II.—That the District of Columbia, together with the Counties of Prince George's, St. Mary's, Charles, Montgomery, Calvert, Anne Arundel and Howard constitute the territory of the new Diocese, leaving the remaining part of the present Diocese to constitute the Diocese of Maryland.

III.—That two Committees be appointed—each consisting of three Clergymen and four Laymen, selected respectively from the proposed Dioceses—who shall take such measures as they may deem best to secure adequate support for the two Bishops.

IV.—That the present Episcopal Fund be equally, and the Accumulating Episcopal Fund be equitably divided between the two Dioceses.

V.—That the Committee be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

On motion of Dr. P. C. Williams, the reports of the Committee on the Rights of Clergymen to Seats, and Committee on Elections, was made the order of the day for to-morrow after the reading of the Minutes, to be followed immediately by the report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese.

The Convention then at 5 P. M. took a recess until 7.30 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

BALTIMORE, May 30th, 1894.

The Convention re-assembled at 7.30 P. M.

After Evening Prayer, which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Messrs. Arthur S. Johns and P. F. Hall, the Bishop took the chair.

Mr. Samuel J. Hough presented the report of the Treasurer of the Committee of Missions (see Appendix,) and on his motion it was referred to the Committee on Accounts.

The Rev. Dr. Gambrall, from the Committee of Missions, presented its report (see Appendix,) together with the following resolutions :

Resolved: I.—That the Committee be authorized to appropriate the sum of fourteen thousand dollars for the work of Missions and for Pastoral Aid for the ensuing year, and to apportion the same for collection among the Parishes and Congregations of the Diocese.

II.—That, inasmuch as the obligations of the Committee are made for the year and are to be paid quarterly, the Resolutions appointing the Fourth Sunday after Easter for collections for Diocesan Missions and Pastoral Aid be rescinded, and that every Clergyman be urged to make his collections for this purpose—in whole if possible, if not, in part—before or during the Advent season.

III.—That the Fund for the Superannuated and Disabled Clergy be commended to every Parish and Congregation in the Diocese, and that every Clergyman be urged to bring it to the notice of his people.

IV.—That five thousand copies of the report of the Missions Committee, together with that of the Treasurer of the same, be separately printed from the pages of the Convention Journal for distribution in the Diocese.

The first resolution being presented, Mr. Baldwin moved to amend by reducing the appropriation from fourteen to twelve thousand dollars.

The Rev. Mr. Johnston moved to further amend by substituting thirteen thousand for twelve; this was accepted by Mr. Baldwin, and being put, was lost.

The original resolution was then adopted.

On motion the second, third and fourth resolutions were then each separately adopted.

The Treasurer of the Committee of Religious Instruction then presented its report. (See Appendix).

The Convention then at 10 P. M. adjourned.

SECOND DAY.

THURSDAY, May 31st, 1894.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock A. M.

After Morning Prayer, which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Messrs. Alexander Galt and Edward T. Lawrence, the Bishop took the chair.

The minutes of yesterday's sessions were read and approved.

The Secretary then called the names of the Clergy and Lay Delegates, who were absent or not called yesterday, when several of each answered.

The Bishop then announced the special order of the day, being the resolution accompanying the report of the Committee on the Rights of Clergymen to Seats. After some discussion over the seating of the Rev. Mr. Crockett, on motion of the Secretary, it was ordered that the debate should close in ten minutes.

Mr. A. S. Browne moved to amend by inserting "omitting the name of the Rev. Stuart Crockett," which was lost.

The resolution as presented by the Committee was then adopted.

On motion of the Secretary, the order of business was suspended to admit the resolution of the Committee on Elections, pending which the following protest from certain members of St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, was read by the Secretary.

*Glen Burnie,
St. Margaret's Westminster Parish,
Anne Arundel County, Md.*

To the Rt. Rev. WILLIAM PARET, D. D., Bishop of Maryland, and the Convention of Maryland assembled in Emmanuel Church, Baltimore, Maryland.

We the undersigned members of the Protestant Episcopal Church, residing in St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, respectfully ask at your hands consideration for the distress under which we are now resting, in that we have not been permitted to use our right of franchise in the election of the Vestry of St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, we having performed every duty and obligation as baptized members of said Church and Parish, and do contribute to the support of the same.

We, therefore, earnestly enter our protest against the delegate bearing the credential from St. Margaret's Westminster, holding a seat in the Convention now in session. The said Vestry having been illegally elected, and therefore, the delegate appointed by said Vestry is not entitled to a seat in Convention.

Praying at your hands simple justice, in our need,

We will ever pray, &c.,

THOMAS H. BRAYSHAW, M. D.,
JOHN H. TILLIRY,
H. HOWARD MANCHA,
EDWARD WOODFALL,
THOMAS WOODFALL, JR.,
EDWARD FRANKLIN.

The Convention proceeding to discuss the matter, on motion of the Secretary the speeches were limited to five minutes.

The Rev. Mr. Larmour moved to amend the resolution of the committee by striking from the list presented in the report the name of Mr. Ridout.

The Rev. Dr. Addison moved to refer back to the Committee the name of Mr. Ridout for further consideration, which was carried by a vote of 99 ayes to 84 noes, and the resolution as amended was then adopted.

During the progress of the Convention, Messrs. J. W. Bulkley, D. M. Murray, Randolph Barton, Chas. H. Baker, Dixon Connolly, Wm. R. Griffith, C. M. Stewart, Jas. H. Taylor and George Watts, Alternates, appeared and took their seats as qualified Alternate Lay Delegates, when their respective principals retired from the Convention, or were not found to be present.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Gantt, the following resolution adopted.

That the visiting Clergy, Deacons and Candidates for Holy Orders, be invited to a seat on the floor of this Convention.

The order of the day then being the election of the Standing Committee, the Bishop appointed as Tellers on the part of the Clergy, the Rev. Messrs. Thos. A. Johnstone and Alex. C. Hav-ick; and on the part of the Laity, Messrs. J. Clarence Lane
 Conway W. Sams.

Mr. D. M. Thomas nominated the following for Standing Committee, the Rev. J. H. Elliott, S. T. D., the Rev. J. H. Weston, D. D., the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D., the Rev. George C. Stokes, the Rev. Wm. H. Laird, the Rev. R. H. Kim, D. D., and the Rev. Wm. S. Southgate, D. D.

Mr. P. C. Williams moved that the Secretary be instructed to cast the ballot of the Convention for the Clergymen so nominated, but the Rev. Mr. Warner objecting, the Bishop ordered the ballot to be taken. This was accordingly done and Tellers retired.

On motion of Mr. Jos. Packard, Jr., Mr. Edgar G. Miller was nominated as Treasurer of the Convention, and by unanimous consent the Secretary was authorized to cast the ballot of the Convention for the same, and Mr. Miller was declared unanimously re-elected.

On motion of the Secretary, the following Clergymen and Laymen were nominated for the Committee of Missions, and by unanimous consent the Secretary cast the ballot of the Convention for the same, and they were declared elected, viz:—the Rev. C. George Currie, D. D., the Rev. Alex. Mackay-Smith, D. D., the Rev. J. A. Aspinwall, the Rev. A. C. Powell, Messrs. F. Taylor, S. J. Hough, J. M. Glenn, Henry E. Pellew, and the Archdeacons of the four Convocations ex officio.

On motion of the Secretary the following Clergymen and Laymen were nominated for the Committee of Religious Instruction, and by unanimous consent the Secretary was authorized to cast the ballot of the Convention for the same, and they were declared elected, viz:—the Rev. R. H. Paine, the Rev. C. E. Smith, the Rev. Alfred Harding, the Rev. Frederick Gibson, D. D., and Messrs. Wm. Woodward, Robert Atkinson, M. D., Edwin Higgins and E. N. Rich.

On motion, Messrs. Bernard Carter and Chas. Morton Stewart were re-elected Trustees of the Episcopal Fund, the Secretary casting the ballot for the Convention.

On motion of Mr. D. M. Thomas, Messrs. Jno. N. Steele and John M. Glenn were re-elected Trustees of Church Charities, of the third class; the Secretary casting the ballot for the Convention.

The Bishop nominated the following Clergymen and Laymen as Trustees of the Episcopal Library, viz:—the Rev. J. H. Eccleston, D. D., the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D., the Rev. C. George Currie, D. D., and Messrs. Charles F. Taylor, H. F. Thompson, T. E. Pattison, J. Leroy White and D. L. Bartlett.

On motion of Mr. Packard, the Convention gave its consent to the same.

On motion of the Rev. G. C. Stokes, the Rev. J. W. Larmour was elected a Trustee of the Hannah More Academy.

Mr. Daniel M. Thomas presented the Report of the Trustees of Church Charities, (See Appendix,) and on his motion it was ordered to be printed with the Journal.

Mr. Lawrason Riggs presented the report of the Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund. (See Appendix.) On motion it was referred to the Committee on Accounts and ordered to be printed with the Journal.

On motion of Mr. Skipwith Wilmer the following resolution was adopted.

Resolved, A Committee of two be appointed annually who with the Bishop shall have charge of the Church property at Curtis Bay.

The Bishop appointed as said committee, the Rev. Theo. C. Gambrall and Mr. Chas. F. Taylor.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell presented the report of the Committee on the State of the Church, (See Appendix,) and it was ordered to be printed with the Journal.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Powell the report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese was ordered to be printed with the Journal.

The Convention then at 1.30 o'clock P. M. took a recess for luncheon.

The Convention re-assembled at 2.30 P. M.
 The Rev. Dr. Townsend of the Committee on New Parishes Congregations presented a partial report, and the following resolution accompanying the same was adopted.

Resolved by the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the State of Maryland, That All Saints' Parish, in Saint Mary's County, Maryland, be and the same is hereby admitted into union with the Convention, and shall be entitled to all the rights secured to Parishes by the Constitution and Canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this State, or by the laws applicable to Parishes in force in Maryland.

The Bishop then announced the special order for the day, and the resolutions accompanying the report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese.

The Rev. Mr. Powell moved the adoption of the first resolution.

During the discussion of the same, the Tellers of the vote of the Standing Committee returned and the Rev. Mr. Johnson presented the Report which was as follows:

	Clergy.	Laity.	Total.

and a number of scattering votes for 23 other clergymen, none of whom received over 7 votes.

Whereupon the Chair declared that the following named persons were duly elected members of the Standing Committee for the ensuing year, viz:

The Rev. William S. Southgate, D. D., the Rev. J. H.
 Eccleston, D. D., the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, S. T. D., the Rev.
 J. H. Elliott, S. T. D., the Rev. George C. Stokes, the Rev.
 R. H. McKim, D. D., the Rev. William H. Laird.

Mr. Charles Abert moved as an amendment to the pending motion, the following:

1. Resolved, That in the opinion of this Convention it is not advisable to take further steps towards the division of the present Diocese of Maryland, until satisfactory assurance be given through Committees appointed for that purpose, that suitable provision for the support of the Episcopate in each of the proposed Dioceses, can be secured without increasing the present assessment on the Parishes and separate Congregations, and that a majority of the Clergy and Laity are in favor of such division.

2. Resolved, That a Committee of three Clergymen and three Laymen be appointed for each of the proposed Dioceses, to ascertain and report to the next Convention whether suitable provision for the support of the Episcopate in each of said Dioceses can be obtained; and whether the Clergy and Parishes and separate Congregations are in favor of such division, and that all further action concerning the proposed division, be postponed until such reports shall be received.

3. Resolved, That said Committees ascertain and report whether any and if any, what increased assessment will be required to continue our system of Diocesan Missions.

Mr. Charles H. Wyatt moved to amend as follows:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Convention that it is advisable to divide the Diocese of Maryland into two Dioceses; provided, that further enquiry shall show that the additional expenses may be provided.

Dr. P. C. Williams moved the following as a substitute for the whole matter:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Convention that it is advisable to divide the Diocese of Maryland into two Dioceses; provided that, before the division is effected, two Committees be appointed, each consisting of three Clergymen and four Laymen selected respectively from the proposed Dioceses, who shall take such measures as they may deem best to secure adequate support for two Bishops.

The question being then put on the substitute offered by Dr. Williams, it was lost.

The question was then taken on the amendment offered by Mr. Wyatt, which was lost by a vote of 60 ayes to 105 noes.

The amendment offered by Mr. Abert was then put and lost.

The resolution as offered by the Committee was then adopted.

The Convention at 5.15 o'clock P. M. took a recess until 7.30 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

THURSDAY, May 31st, 1894.

The Convention re-assembled at 7.30 o'clock P. M.

After Evening Prayer, which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Messrs. J. C. Jones and Charles A. Jessup, the Bishop took the chair.

The Rev. Mr. Powell offered the second resolution accompanying the report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese.

The Rev. Dr. McKim moved to amend by striking out the three counties of Calvert, Anne Arundel and Howard from the proposed new Diocese.

Mr. Skipwith Wilmer moved to amend by striking out the counties of Howard and Anne Arundel from the proposed new Diocese. The question being on the amendment offered by Mr. Wilmer, it was lost.

The amendment offered by Rev. Dr. McKim was carried, and the original resolution as amended, was then adopted.

The third resolution of the Committee being then offered, Mr. Meloy moved to amend the same by adding the following :

“ who shall severally take such measures as they may deem fit to secure a suitable provision for the support of the Episcopate in their respective divisions of the present Diocese, and make full report at the next Convention, with a view to satisfy the provisions of Article V of the Constitution of this Church in the United States.”

The amendment being accepted, the resolution as so amended was carried.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Powell, the fourth and fifth resolutions were then adopted, the last one having been amended, on motion of Mr. Randall, by adding the words, “with the thanks of the Convention.”

The next order of business was then announced by the Bishop, being the report of the Committee on the Vestry Act. On motion of the Rev. Mr. Larmour, the order was postponed until to-morrow immediately after the reading of the Minutes.

The Rev. Dr. Southgate, of the Committee on Canons and other Business, presented the following report, and the resolution accompanying the same was adopted, viz :

The Committee on Canons and other Business has duly considered the amendment to the Constitution proposed by Mr. Charles Abert. The Committee think the consideration of the proposed amendment at the present Convention inexpedient, for the following reason: That a proposition for the division of the Diocese is already under consideration by the Convention. The proposed amendment to the Constitution could not possibly take effect in time to affect the pending proposition for division; and if the pending proposition for division should be carried, it would be manifestly inappropriate for the Clergy and Laity of those Parishes which are on the eve of separation from the Diocese of Maryland to take part in the amendment of the Constitution of the Diocese of Maryland.

The Committee, therefore, offer the following resolution :

Resolved, That it is inexpedient to consider at this time the amendment of the Constitution by the insertion of an Article prescribing the manner of dividing the Diocese, and that the Committee be discharged from further consideration of the matter.

The Rev. Dr. Southgate for the same Committee, presented a further report, and the resolution accompanying the same was adopted.

The Committee on Canons and other Business, to whom was referred the proposed amendment to Canon VII, Section 2, introduced by the Rev. Mr. Laird, report :

That, in the opinion of the Committee, the questions involved in the consideration of the applications for leave to organize new Parishes or separate Congregations are too important to be properly heard, considered and reported upon during the Session of the Convention at which they are made, and they would, therefore, advise the adoption of the following amendment to Section 2 of Canon VII, the same being in substance the amendment proposed :

Resolved, That Canon VII, Section 2, "Of the Creation of New Parishes and Congregations," be and the same is hereby repealed and re-enacted, so as to read as follows, viz :

SEC. 2. Persons intending to apply for leave to organize a new Parish or a separate Congregation within an established Parish, shall give ce of such intention to the Bishop, or, if there be no Bishop, to the Ecclesiastical authority of the Diocese, at least three months before the meeting of the Convention to which such application is to be made; and it shall be the duty of the Bishop or Ecclesiastical authority to send all such notices, at least sixty days before the meeting of the Convention, to the Committee on the Admission of New Parishes and Congregations which was appointed at the previous Session of the Convention, which Committee shall hear and consider all such applications before the meeting of the Convention, and make report thereon to such Convention.

WM. S. SOUTHGATE,
THOS. G. ADDISON,
EDWARD N. RICH,
ARTHUR S. BROWNE.

The Rev. Dr. Southgate for the same Committee, also presented the following report, and the resolution accompanying the same was adopted.

The Committee on Canons has been unable at this Session of the Convention to thoroughly consider the amendments to the Canons, relating to the Diocesan Missions Committee and the Convocational system, proposed by the Rev. William H. Laird. These amendments involve the adoption by this Convention of an Archdeaconry system similar to that now in operation in the Diocese of New York. In the opinion of the Committee, there are features of merit in the proposed amendments, but the subject is too large and important for the Committee to adequately consider at the present time, or for the Convention to discuss in the closing hours of this Session. The Committee accordingly offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Canons and other Business be authorized to retain the proposed substitutes for Canons VIII and IX for further consideration, and to report at the next meeting of the Convention.

Mr. C. W. Sams presented the report of the Committee on Accumulating Episcopal Fund, (see Appendix,) and it was referred to the Committee on Accounts.

The Rev. Dr. Eccleston presented the report of the Librarian, (see Appendix,) which was ordered to be printed with the Journal.

Mr. Joseph Packard, Jr., presented the report of the Committee on Records, and on motion, it was ordered to be printed in the Journal.

The Committee on Records beg leave to report that no additions to the Records have been made in the past year, and that the number of persons applying for information and copies of extracts from them is steadily increasing. Much of this is done through correspondence with the Librarian.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEO. A. LEAKIN,
JOSEPH PACKARD, JR.,
HENRY F. THOMPSON.

The Rev. Dr. Elliott presented the following report of the Committee on the Increase of the Episcopal Fund.

The Committee appointed at the last Convention on the increase of the Episcopal Fund beg leave respectfully to report: That the question of the division of the Diocese having arisen, and knowing that the decision of that question would depend largely upon financial considerations, and having learned that the Committee on the Division of the Diocese would recommend the appointment of two committees—one from each portion of the Diocese, according to the proposed division—which committees were to be charged with the consideration of the support of the Episcopate, they have felt that the subject would be best left in the hands of such committees, and they, therefore, make no suggestions upon the subject, and ask to be discharged from its further consideration.

J. S. B. HODGES,
JOHN H. ELLIOTT,
LEWIS J. DAVIS.

The Committee was discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

The Rev. Dr. Eccleston presented the following report of the Committee on the House of Mercy; the resolution accompanying the same was adopted, and the report ordered to be printed in the Journal.

To the Convention of the Prot. Epis. Church in the Diocese of Maryland:

The Committee to whom was referred so much of the Bishop's Address as refers to the House of Mercy in the City of Washington respectfully report:

they have had before them information concerning the work and of that charity, which they beg leave to bring to the knowledge of the Convention.

Your Committee understand that churchmen and women in the District either have no knowledge whatever of the House and its work, or have granted that it is exclusively a District of Columbia charity. From it, your Committee find that the House furnishes a refuge for the hopeless ruin to unfortunate women coming from States all the way from Pennsylvania to the Gulf, and it has afforded an asylum to late women from all parts of this State. It is, therefore, unjust to lay upon the Churches in the District of Columbia the entire charge and support of this work. Again, the House has had assistance voted by Congress, but at the present time that aid is so very seriously reduced that it leaves the management in no little difficulty to meet its obligations. An enlargement of the building was secured, but just then this was withdrawn, and, in consequence, nothing like its capacity is used.

Now, your Committee have had laid before them evidence of great permanent good accomplished among those who have been under the influence of the faithful people in this place. Persons for whom no hope remained, whose lives were considered hopelessly committed to a way, from which there could be no side escape, and whose end was only death, and that a very dreadful death, have been wisely and faithfully followed, and are to-day useful, industrious, upright and respected by those among whom they live, and who have been rescued from shame and death here into that living way which gives life of the life which now is and that which is to come. It is too absurd to assert that such persons can not be turned into upright and living. Such assertion is cruel to the poor subjects themselves, not because it is unfaithful to Him who came to seek and save that which was lost. Men and women who have given their lives to such work as this, stand ready to tell of spirit-crushed, despairing victims of brute cruelty worse far than the pitiless grasp and hold of great monsters of the Borneo wood, at whose dreadful hands death would end all, who have been made useful, faithful and Christian men and women will tell you of cases where hope has been brought back because the sufferer was led by Christ's Church and its pity, and where, although the awful past could never be sufficiently far to prevent its hideous shadow from chilling the spot whither loving care had led them, yet still they have lived and served the Lord Jesus Christ, and at last died in a hope pure and clear, blessing in life and death the one gracious Lord for them and those loving, self-denying friends who came in to them with their good news of His forgiving love.

The work of bringing hope to those from whom the world would shut them out, this House and its friends are trying to do, and by God's blessing are doing. They ask our interest and our help.

Your Committee recommends the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Diocesan Convention recognizes as a Diocesan charity and commends to Churches and Churchmen of this Diocese the House of Mercy in Washington, and bespeak for it wherever possible among laity and clergy financial aid by contributions, single or annual, and where the Clergy can so order it, they ask that it may have some portion of their offertory.

J. HOUSTON ECCLESTON,
J. H. ELLIOTT,
CHAS. E. BUCK.

On motion of Mr. Joseph Packard, Jr., of the Committee of Ways and Means, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee of Ways and Means be and it is hereby authorized and directed to make assessments for the Episcopal Salary and Convention Expenses upon new Parishes and Congregations admitted into union with the Convention since the last general assessment.

On motion of Mr. Skipwith Wilmer, from the Committee on Donations, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That all funds coming into the hands of the Treasurer of the Diocese from gifts or bequests to the Convention for the Superannuated and Disabled Clergy Fund shall be paid over by him to the Trustees of Church Charities, to be invested by them as the other funds held by them are invested.

Resolved, That the legacy of one thousand dollars left by the Rev. Dr. Walter W. Williams to the Convention as a nucleus of a fund for a Library building, which was reported to the Convention in 1892 (Journal, p. 7), be paid over by the Treasurer of the Diocese to the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund, to be invested by them, with the accruing income thereon, until further orders of this Convention.

Resolved, That the legacy of five thousand dollars devised by Miss Amelia R. Norris to this Convention, for the benefit of the Vestry of Mt. Calvary Church, be paid over by the Treasurer of the Diocese to the Trustees of Church Charities, to be invested by them as a separate fund, and the income therefrom be paid over to the Vestry of Mt. Calvary Church, Baltimore City.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. McKim, the Treasurer of the Diocese was directed to pay the bill for the printing of the Report of the Committee on the Vestry Act.

On motion of the Rev. A. C. Powell, the Treasurer was directed to pay the bill for the printing of the Report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese.

On motion of Dr. Kloman, the Report of the Rev. Dr. Harrison on Amendment to the Constitution was ordered to be printed with the Journal—by a vote of 59 ayes to 9 noes. Mr. Meloy moved that the next Convention be held at Trinity Church in Washington City.

Mr. L. A. Wilmer moved to amend by substituting the Church of the Epiphany for Trinity Church, and the amendment prevailing, the resolution as amended, was adopted.

The Rev. Alexander M. Rich presented the report of the Trustees of Hannah More Academy, (see Appendix,) and the same was received, and ordered to be printed with the Journal. The Convention then, at 10.25 P. M. adjourned.

THIRD DAY.

FRIDAY, June 1st, 1894.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock A. M.

After Divine Service, which was said by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Gambrall and the Rev. John London, the Bishop took the chair.

The minutes of yesterday's sessions were read and approved. The Bishop then presented the following Communication from the General Convention:

THE GENERAL CONVENTION OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

the Convention of the Diocese of Maryland:

In compliance with the requirements of Title III, Canon 1, Section iii, of the Digest, I would hereby give particular notice that the following resolutions of the Constitution of the Church are proposed: to wit, those comprised in the two resolutions subjoined, said resolutions having been constitutionally adopted by a General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, held in the City of Baltimore, Maryland, in October, D. 1892, to wit:

first.—It was by concurrent action of the two Houses of the Convention (vide Journal, pages 338, 118)

Resolved, That Article 8 of the Constitution be amended by striking out the clause "No alteration, etc.," and in inserting in lieu thereof the following: "No alteration or addition shall be made in the Book of Common Prayer or other Offices of the Church, or the Articles of Religion, unless the same shall be first proposed in one General Convention, by the vote of a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to seats in the House of Bishops, and by the vote of a majority of all the Dioceses entitled to representation in the House of Deputies, and by a resolve of the General Convention made known to the Convention of every Diocese, and adopted at the subsequent General Convention in the same manner in which it was proposed,"

So that the Article as thus amended shall read as follows:

ARTICLE 8.

A Book of Common Prayer, Administration of the Sacraments and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, Articles of Religion, and a Form and Manner of Making, Ordaining and Consecrating Bishops, Priests, and Deacons, when established by this or a future General Convention, shall be used in the Protestant Episcopal Church in those Dioceses which shall have adopted this Constitution. No alteration or addition shall be made in the Book of Common Prayer or other Offices of the Church, or the Articles of Religion, unless the same shall be first proposed in one General Convention, by the vote of a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to seats in the House of Bishops, and by the vote of a majority of all the Dioceses entitled to representation in the House of Deputies, and by a resolve of the General Convention made known to the Convention of every Diocese, and adopted at the subsequent General Convention in the same manner in which it was proposed; Provided, however, that the General Convention shall have power from time to time to amend the Lectionary; but no act for this purpose shall be valid, which is not voted for by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to seats in the House of Bishops, and by a majority of all the Dioceses entitled to representation in the House of Deputies.

Second.—It was by concurrent action of the two Houses of the Convention (vide Journal, pages 394, 395, 152)

Resolved, That the following changes be made in the Constitution and that the proposed changes be made known to the several Diocesan Conventions in order that they may be adopted in the ensuing General Convention, in accordance with provisions of Article 9 of the Constitution:

Strike out the words "Assistant Bishop" wherever they occur, and insert in their place the words "Bishop Coadjutor."

In testimony whereof, I have this day hereunto affixed my name.

CHAS. L. HUTCHINS.

Secretary of the House of Deputies.

Concord, Massachusetts, February 14, A. D. 1894.

motion of the Rev. Dr. McKim, it was referred to the Committee on Canons and other Business.

On the permission of the Convention, the Rev. Mr. Paine presented the report on Warfield College (see Appendix,) and the resolution accompanying the same was adopted, viz :

Resolved, That the Trustees of Church Charities be instructed to transfer to the Trustees of Warfield College, such funds and securities as they may have, whether principal or income, belonging to the Warfield College for said College, or to the Holmes Fund for the same.

The Secretary then called the names of the Clergy and Lay members who were absent or not called yesterday, when the name of each answered.

The Rev. Dr. McKim, of the Committee on the Vestry Act, presented the adoption of the first paragraph.

The motion of Mr. L. A. Wilmer, the consideration of the reports on the Vestry Act was indefinitely postponed.

The Bishop announced the special order of the day, being a resolution accompanying the report of the Committee on Amendment to the Constitution, the adoption of which was moved by the Rev. Dr. Hall Harrison.

The Rev. H. Allan Griffith moved to postpone the matter to the next Convention. Lost.

The debate continuing for some time, on motion of Mr. Browne, it was ordered that it be brought to a close in ten minutes.

The question being on the resolution presented by the Minister, it was put and lost.

The question then being on the resolution accompanying the report of the Committee, a vote by Orders was called for, and the resolution was lost for want of concurrence of the Orders, the vote being as follows :

Of the Clergy—Ayes, 57 ; noes, 43. Of the Laity—Ayes, 26 ; noes, 33, as follows :

Of the Clergy.—Ayes: The Revs. Messrs. Alrich, Aspinwall, Barr, Brayshaw, Buck, Clickner, Dame, Dashiell, Eccleston, Elliott, Gambrell, Gantt, Gardner, Grammar, Griffith, C. E. Harding, Hensel, Osborne Ingle, Jessup, Johnston, Johnstone, Jones, Laird, Lawrence, Logie, London, Marbury, May, McCulloh, McKim, Meares, Moran, Mott, Murphy, Packard, James J. Page, Painter, Pindell, Powell, Powers, Sadtler, Sams, Sharp, Hobart Smith, Sothoron, Stuart, Tongue, Tunnell, Wall, Webb, Williams, Peregrine Wroth, Edw. W. Wroth.

Noes: The Right Rev. William Paret, D. D. LL. D., the Revs. Messrs. Addison, Anderson, Brand, Browne, James A. Buck, Butler, Clark, Crockett, Davenport, Dudley, Dyer, Evans, Fletcher, Frank M. Gibson, Frederick Gibson, Henry Allen Griffith, Hall, Alfred Harding, Haverstick, Higgins, Edward H. Ingle, Johns, Larmour, Leakin, Mitchell, Crupland K. Page, Perry, Peters, Poffenberger, Poindexter, Poole, Alex. M. Rich, Smedes, C. Ernest Smith, Southgate, Stokes, Sontag, Stubbs, Todd, Townsend, Warner, Willes.

Of the Laity.—Ayes: Messrs. Atkinson, W. D. Baldwin, Bunting, Burroughs, Dent, Diffenderffer, Focke, Isaac, Kemp, Kloman, Markell, Mason, Michael, Miller, Murray, Packard, Probest, Riggs, Sams, Schumacher, Shippen, Webb, Williams, L. A. Wilmer, Skipwith Wilmer, Woodward.

Noes: Messrs. Abert, Samuel H. Anderson, Thos. Anderson, Armstrong, W. H. Baldwin, Briscoe, Browne, Bryan, John H. Chew, Rich, R. B. B. Chew, Craddock, Denison, Foard, Griffith, C. C. Hall, Hallam, Hammett, Iglehart, King, Looker, Lynch, Manson, Onderdonk, Price, Randall, Kelly, Skinner, Stanley, Thomas, Tulloch, Whiting, Whyte, Wyatt.

The Convention then at 1.30 P. M. took a recess for luncheon.

The Convention re-assembled at 2.30 o'clock P. M.

The Rev. Mr. Lund offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Convention approve of the following alteration of Article XXXIII of the Constitution and that the same be transmitted to the several Vestries and Churches and separate Congregations.

And it is recommended that a Bishop of this Church shall be made in accordance with the following article:

Article XXXIII.—The Clergy and the Laity, voting concurrently, shall elect a State Board and qualified Clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States for that office; and when elected, the said Clergyman shall be found to have received the suffrages of the majority of the Laity, he shall be declared to be duly elected.

A motion was made by the Rev. Forest Smith to lay the resolution on the table, which was carried.

The Rev. Mr. Anderson moved to refer the resolution to the Committee on Resolutions, which was carried. On Business.

On motion of the Secretary this was laid on the table.

The resolution of the Rev. Mr. Laird was then put to the house and adopted.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Grammar, it was Resolved, That 1000 copies of the Bishop's Address before the Convention be published for the use of the Diocese, and that the Secretary be requested to send them to the Rectors and Vestries of the several churches of the Diocese.

Mr. Tulloch, from the Committee on Elections, presented the following report as to the Lay Delegate from St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, and the resolutions accompanying the report were adopted by a vote of 80 yes to 18 Noes.

BALTIMORE, MD., June 1st, 1894.

The Committee on Elections to whom was referred the further consideration of the seating of Mr. Horace S. Ridout, Lay Delegate from St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, Anne Arundel County, beg leave report as follows:

We have heard and carefully considered the testimony of the Rector of the Parish; Mr. Ridout, the gentleman whose certificate is before the Convention; and seven persons representing the parties protesting, and find:

1st. That the present Vestry and Registrar are recognized as such facto by all parties.

2nd. That the certificate is in due form required by the Convention, and a Parish being entitled to representation, Mr. Horace S. Ridout the only person claiming to act as the Lay representative from said Parish.

3rd. That from the evidence submitted there is no doubt in the minds of the Committee that persons entitled to registration were refused such by the Registrar of the Parish at the dictation of the Vestry, and were unable to vote at the last Parish meeting. But had they voted, there was not sufficient evidence before your Committee, that the result of the next election for Vestrymen would have been different.

We therefore recommend the following resolutions.

Resolved, That this Convention deprecates and condemns the continual factional controversy existing in St. Margaret's Westminster Parish, and especially the effort of those in power in said Parish to deprive others of their legal right to vote.

Resolved, That Horace S. Ridout, Lay Delegate, is entitled to a seat at this Convention.

SEYMOUR W. TULLOCH,
HARRY C. WHITING,
CHAS. H. STANLEY, Committee.

On motion of Mr. Packard, the fourth resolution accompanying the report of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese was reconsidered.

On motion of the same the resolution was then amended and adopted, as follows:

IV. Resolved, That the income producing funds of the present Episcopal Fund be equally, and the Accumulating Episcopal Fund be equitably divided between the two Dioceses, the present Episcopal residence and library to remain the property of the old Diocese without being taken into the account.

The Rev. Dr. Eccleston, at this point in the proceedings, took the Chair, the Bishop retiring from the Convention.

The Rev. A. C. Powell then offered the following preamble, which, with the resolution accompanying the same, was, on motion, unanimously adopted, by a rising vote:

WHEREAS, The tenth anniversary of the Consecration of the Rt. Rev. William Paret, D. D., LL. D., as Bishop of Maryland will occur on the 8th day of January next; and

WHEREAS, The administration of our honored and beloved Diocesan has been marked by the most signal prosperity in all departments of Church life and work; and

WHEREAS, It is meet and right that some official and public recognition should be taken of this approaching anniversary, thus affording the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese an opportunity to testify to God on the one hand, our grateful recognition of His gracious Providence in placing over us a Bishop so wise and just, and so consecrated to his work, a Bishop at once without fear and without reproach; and on the other, our sincere appreciation of the marked gifts and virtues which characterize our Bishop, of his unsullied private life and his honorable public career;

Be it Resolved, That a Committee of four Clergymen and four Laymen be appointed by the Chairman to make such provision for the due celebration of this tenth anniversary, under the name and authority of this Convention, as they shall deem best.

The Rev. Dr. Eccleston, as temporary Chairman, then named the following Clergymen and Laymen as the Committee under the resolution, viz: The Rev. A. C. Powell, the Rev. Clarence Bucl, the Rev. J. H. Elliott, S. T. D., the Rev. W. S. Southgate, D. D., and Messrs. C. Morton Stewart, J. C. B. Davis, W. D. Baldwin, and L. A. Wilmer.

The Bishop here returned to the Chair, and the Rev. Dr. McClestone, in a few well chosen words, informed the Bishop of the action of the Convention.

The Bishop begged to be excused from replying until his closing remarks at the end of the session.

The Rev. Dr. Townsend, from the Committee on New Parishes and Congregations presented its report, together with the following resolutions :

The Committee on the Admission of New Parishes and Congregations beg leave to submit the following report, and recommend the adoption of the resolutions contained therein :

I. WHEREAS, A petition has been received from Calvary Parish, Washington, D. C., asking that its name be changed to that of St. Thomas' Parish, Washington, D. C., for which change good and sufficient reasons have been submitted to your Committee, as contained in an extract from the proceedings of a meeting of the Vestry of said parish, herewith appended, therefore,

Be it Resolved, By the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Maryland that it gives its consent to said change of name as desired by said petitioners.

II. WHEREAS, a petition has been received from certain persons in St. Thomas' Parish, Baltimore County, asking leave to organize a new congregation within the boundaries of said Parish, at a site near Brookridgeville, a majority of the Committee offer the following Resolution, no members of the Committee dissenting therefrom,

Be it Resolved, That the Convention do not consent to grant said petition.

III. WHEREAS, A petition has been received from Georgetown Parish, District of Columbia, asking for a readjustment of their Parish boundaries, therefore,

Be it Enacted by the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Maryland, That the bounds of said Georgetown Parish, in the District of Columbia, shall hereafter be described as follows: beginning for the same at a point on the west line of Fayette Street or North Street, where said line is intersected by the south line of the Roman Catholic "Holy Rood Cemetery" in Georgetown, in the District of Columbia, and running thence in a southwesterly direction to the east line of "Back Street," then in a westerly direction to the centre line of Arizona Avenue now recorded and coincident with the stream or water-course called "Foundry Branch," thence southeasterly along the centre line of said Arizona Avenue to the Canal Road and thence due south to the Potomac River, thence easterly along the north bank of said river to a point due south from the western terminus of Bridge or North Street, according to the old Georgetown corporation limits, thence north to the centre line of said Bridge or M Street to the centre line of High or 32nd Street, thence with the said centre line of High Street or 32nd Street, and in a north or northwesterly direction to a point duly eastward of the point of beginning hereof, and thence in a due westerly course to said point of beginning. All of Georgetown Parish in the District of Columbia which lies north of the first and second lines of the new description herein above given, is surrendered.

I. L. TOWNSEND, Chairman.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Townsend, the first resolution accompanying the report was adopted.

The second resolution being then moved by the same, the Rev. Mr. Logie moved to amend by striking out the word "not."

Mr. L. A. Wilmer moved to refer the matter back to the Committee on New Parishes and Congregations, to report at the next Convention, which was lost by a vote of 39 ayes and 65 noes.

The amendment of Mr. Logie was then put and lost, and the original resolution was then adopted.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Townsend, the third resolution was then adopted.

Dr. P. C. Williams, from the Committee on Accounts, presented the following report:

The Committee on Accounts beg leave to report that they have examined the accounts of Samuel J. Hough, Treasurer of the Committee on Missions, which account appears correct; no vouchers were produced before us.

The account of Edgar G. Miller, the Treasurer of the Convention, with his vouchers, were produced before us, and his account and vouchers appear correct as reported by him.

The account of Edwin Huggins, Treasurer of the Committee of Religious Education, showing the receipts and expenditures of the Committee, appears correct.

The account of John B. Stiles, Secretary of the Accumulating Episcopal Fund, showing the moneys received by him, and that they are deposited in the Merchants Bank of Baltimore, except a small amount which he has in his possession since the meeting of the Convention, which he has accounted for, and his accounts, vouchers and bank books are correct.

With reference to the report of the Trustees of the Episcopal Board of Christian Education, the Treasurer, with his vouchers, appears correct in all particulars.

P. C. WILLIAMS.

W. M. ANDERSON.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Larmour, the thanks of the Convention was extended to the Rector and Vestry of Emmanuel Church for the use of the Church during the sessions of the Convention.

On motion of Mr. Skipwith Wilmer, forty dollars was appropriated to pay the Sexton and other expenses attending the holding of the Convention.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Grammer, the thanks of the Convention were given to the Committee on Hospitality.

The Bishop reserved for further consideration the naming of the two Committees directed by the third resolution of the Committee on the Division of the Diocese. (See for the same, pages xxxi-xxxiii.

On motion it was ordered that after the usual religious services the Convention adjourn.

The minutes of this day's session were then read and approved.

After an address from the Bishop and suitable devotions and the Benediction, the Convention then at 4.00 o'clock P. M. adjourned sine die.

WILLIAM PARET,

Bishop of Maryland.

PEREGRINE WROTH,

Secretary.

ADDRESS OF THE BISHOP.

MY BRETHREN :

It is my duty, and in most respects a pleasing duty, to lay before you a statement of the Church's work in this Diocese of Wisconsin for the year ending April 30th, and to advise and counsel with you for the work of the year on which we have entered. The faithful pastoral and missionary labors of the clergy have been, under God's blessing, very fruitful. The number of Clergymen employed and the number of Parishes and stations occupied, are larger than ever before in the history of the Diocese. There are fewer silent Churches. Some new Churches have been established. New and promising missionary stations have been opened ; and almost all the Parishes and Congregations have been enlarging their work and urging it with greater zeal. It has been a year of very evident growth. I have been permitted to confirm 2284 persons, giving for that season 164 public Confirmation services and 8 in private. With the exception of three weeks taken for Summer rest, my duties to the Diocese and in my sacred office have required my time and energies. Besides these regular official Visitations, there have been many special Visitations called for by special parochial and missionary emergencies, or by request for special assistance or counsel. I have preached 184 times, and given addresses 192 times, including some 40 lectures to students and candidates for Holy Orders. I have administered Holy Communion 85 times ; have baptized 3 infants and 1 ; have officiated or taken part in the burial service, 7 ; have consecrated 4 Churches, Ordained 6 Deacons and Priests, (one of them for the Diocese of Fond du Lac ;) instituted one Rector, and taken part in 6 marriage services. There are on our Clergy List on the first day of this session 19 Clergymen ; 1 Bishop, 173 Priests, 24 Deacons. From the Clergy who were of our number a year ago, four have passed to their rest with God. First, the Rev. Arthur John Rich, M. D., whose whole ministry of forty-one years was passed in this Diocese. After a year of Deacon's duties in one of our hardest and most discouraging posts, he began his Priesthood in a region equally unpromising. He became head of the Hannah More Academy when it had only a name to live; and through difficulties and discouragements unceasing, his patient devotion of forty years built it up into strength, and sent out from it a holy influence which made the Church honored, loved and strong in a region where every influence had been against it. In our Convention, in the Standing Committee, and in other positions of responsibility, he was a wise and honored counsellor. He died on the 5th day of July, 1893.

The next to leave us was the Rev. John Henry Black of Washington. He was not widely known in this Diocese, having come to it only in 1891, and taking no parochial charge. He was a man of thoughtful scholarship, and in his quiet life always ready to aid his brethren in their labors as they needed him. He died on the 17th day of August, 1893.

The Rev. A. Floridus Steele passed away from us in what seemed to be the brightest part of his ministry, and just as he saw the hopes of many patient years coming to fulfilment in the new Church and new life of his Parish, St. Mark's, in Washington, of which he was Rector for almost twenty-five years; loved by his people and by all his brethren in the Ministry.

The Rev. James Chipchase, of England by birth, but Ordained by Bishop Doane of New Jersey, came to this Diocese in 1846. He, too, was most patient and self-denying in his labors; toiling for CHRIST among the poor, not seeking to gain honors, but to do service; lovely and loved in his quiet holiness. In age and weakness he withdrew from definite labors, but he preached by devout example from his bed of sickness. He died January 26th, 1894.

These were all men of full sound faithfulness to the Church; not eager for new things; accepting with hearty good will the Prayer Book and Laws of this National Church as the lawful exponent of practical Catholicity for themselves; trying to live up to its ideal; obeying it in the spirit and in the letter; study-

; to omit nothing that it requires; and not disturbing the church's peace by obtruding upon their people their own whims and fancies under the plea that they found them practiced somewhere in ancient times. Men who promised conformity to the doctrine, discipline and worship of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, and kept that promise; not substituting for it their own idea of what that discipline ought to be. During the Convention year, eight Clergymen have been by Letters Dimissory, transferred to other Dioceses; namely:

Rev. Clarence Watts McCully to the Diocese of Frederickton, May 2, 1893.

“ Charles N. Morris to the Diocese of Pennsylvania, May 11, 1893.

“ F. W. Hilliard to the Diocese of North Carolina, July 6, 1893.

“ John B. Gray to the Diocese of Easton, September 9, 1893.

“ Paul H. Birdsall to the Diocese of Albany, March 14, 1894.

fteen have been received by Letters Dimissory; namely:

Rev. Henry T. Sharp from the Diocese of Virginia, May 3, 1893.

“ Henry Evans Cotton from the Diocese of Massachusetts, June 29, 1893.

“ John London from the Diocese of Pittsburg, August 16, 1893.

I must take occasion here to express my renewed thankfulness for God's blessing upon our efforts for sound Theological training; and my confidence after five years experience, in the methods followed in this Diocese. There are some candidates whom the Bishop advises to take a full Seminary Course; because from their previous training, intellectual habits and character, or other personal qualifications, he thinks they would profit most in that way. But there are many others, whom for various reasons he prefers to keep nearer to himself, and under his own personal influence and training. Well qualified Priests have kindly and at very little cost, given their valuable assistance in regular lectures and instructions; and one of the most eminent Rabbis in Baltimore—the Rev. Rabbi Szold, has with very generous spirit, been instructing in Hebrew. As a result, it has opened the way to Holy Orders to young men, who by the ordinary method would have found it impracticable. It has given to the Diocese a body of Deacons, (24) larger than ever before in its history, ready to go where the Bishop appoints; and with scarcely an exception proving themselves faithful, devoted and most helpful workers. And instead of lowering the standard of Theological education it has advanced it, especially in that most important point, the direct study of Holy Scripture. Without this body of Deacons I would not have been able to care for the weak and waste places. And it is a comfort to the Bishop, and I think a great help to the Candidates that they are thus kept in close and affectionate relation with him. The Maryland Classes in Theology have far overpaid all the anxiety and labor they have cost. I thank the Clergy and Congregations who have given their contributions for this work; and I once again remind you of the repeated resolutions of the Convention which asked that every Congregation should make a yearly offering for the Bishop's work of Theological training.

The Trustees whom you appointed at the last Convention to manage the affairs of Warfield College have secured the services of a competent Head Master. The work of re-arranging and furnishing the buildings is now going on. A number of pupils have already been secured, and it is expected that the first term of school education and work will begin in September.

You will remember that the property, of which over one hundred acres, has been kept for the use of the Institution, with the excellent buildings and a small endowment in money, was the bequest of Miss Susannah Warfield "for educating boys and young men for the Ministry and other professions." It has been our determination to bring down the charges if possible to such a point, that the families of Maryland might find under the Church's care, educational advantages for their sons which would not be beyond their reach. The Convention by adopting it, has made it its Diocesan School, and we commend it to Maryland Churchmen.

I leave consideration of the Missionary work of the Diocese to this evening's session. I do hope that every member will then be present. Some of our Washington members have in other years sought their own convenience by going home for that evening. I beg them to put duty before convenience and give their attendance to-night. It is the great business of the Convention. It ought to find every member in his place; every member earnest to do his best and help to kindle interest.

I omit here also the subject of the division of the Diocese. I have spoken my thoughts already very plainly, and I will wait for the report of your Committee and the expression of your views.

But before I turn to other matters, there is one instance and effort at true Gospel work which we know is dear to our Lord, but which fails as yet to find the sympathy and willing help which it ought to receive from Christian people. I am sure it has His sympathy, because it seeks to help that class of sinners out of whom one poor sinful woman came to him; and while Pharisees despised her and felt insulted by her presence, He permitted her approach to Him, and let her win from Him His words of forgiveness and blessing; words which many profess to admire sentimentally, while in their fears they side with the Pharisees. The House of Mercy in Washington is devoted to the help and reformation of such sinful women. It is, I think, the only Institution of the kind South of New York. I have known something of its work; I have known its patient labors for more than ten years. I have reason to have very strong confidence in its management. I know something of the trials and disappointments of so strange a work; of the patience and gentleness which it requires; of the exceeding greatness of the humiliation and self-denying devotion which it demands. And when to these are added, not the approving interest and confidence and generous gifts of Christ's people, but their indifference, their suspicions, their almost aversion and dislike, I cannot withhold my admiration from those who devote their lives to thus, in Christ-likeness, going after the very lost.

Dear Brethren, I plead for this work. It is not for Washington alone. There are inmates from other points of this Diocese, from Virginia and from Pennsylvania. Its incidents and histories are such as hide from publication. We cannot reveal them. They would tell indeed of failures and returns to sin; but they would tell of lives also that were forced into sin, not of their own choice; and of lives renewed, reformed and blessed. Scanty means, scanty confidence, scanty contributions have prevented the larger efforts and the more effective work which those in charge are well qualified to undertake. I would like to see it recognized as a Diocesan institution; to have every Parish remember and help it; and to have those whose zeal is ready to flow out when some one beyond our own Church lines calls for interest in what they call "Rescue Work," to have them give their prayers and their gifts to this true and blessed -- Rescue Work -- which is carried on under the holy influence of our own Church teaching and prayers.

Besides the regularly appointed forms and methods which had direct authority from Convention, I have been greatly aided in the work of the Diocese by special funds which came into my hands through some special organization, or as voluntarily given by private persons, which funds were by the conditions of the gift placed at the Bishop's discretion and disposal.

As one of my very first acts after my Consecration, I appealed to the children of the Sunday-schools and of the families of the Church in this Diocese, for their sympathy, their prayers and their help. I asked that the second Sunday in each month should be known in the Sunday-school as the "Bishop's Sunday," that on that day a certain short prayer should be said in the Schools for blessing on the Bishop, the Diocese and Christ's work in it, and that each baptized child or Sunday Scholar would give at least one penny a month for the Bishop's Penny Fund. And the money so gathered, I promised to use in the much neglected work for Colored people in Maryland. My proposal was received very warmly; almost all the Rectors approved and helped it, and the Sunday-schools accepted it gladly. For the first year as evidence of this reality, the children so sent me something more than $1,300. And many Rectors assured me that it had quickened the zeal and life of the schools by giving them a Diocesan tie, and so far from decreasing, had increased the other offerings. But old rectors have gone, new ones have come, new teachers, new scholars now make up the Sunday-schools, and the once heartily approved plan, is not now well understood, and therefore has not so enthusiastic an acceptance. And for this last year the result in money was only some $500.

Besides this there was what was called the Children's Lent Offering. Under the urgings of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, almost all the Dioceses in the United States, had devoted the Sunday-school offerings in Lent to the Treasury of that Society, with the result that by that one agency alone $76,000 were added to their funds. Some few Bishops continued to claim these offerings for their own Diocesan work, having in reliance upon them committed themselves to some special Diocesan undertakings. Some few had no such method at all. Among these was Maryland. I felt that we ought not to remain indifferent to the great needs of the general Missionary work of our Church, and yet I realized that there were some things in the condition of the Church in this Diocese, which demanded a good share of our Children's interest here. So I proposed that the Children's Lent Offering should be made and one-half going to the general fund, the other half should sustain the General Missionary of this Diocese. I have been much encouraged by the answers this year, though as returns are far from complete I cannot give the result. Brethren of the Clergy, if these gifts should lessen the other giving of your people, if they will rob your Parishes of what you need, if they will not rather quicken all giving, and train the children to be conscientious, cheerful givers when older; if they do not help and quicken spiritual life, I do not want them. But may I not have your help to keep alive in children's hearts an idea of Diocesan Church life, and a love for it?

Then there is the Silent Church fund. I think you all know its reason as growing out of the fact that at my Consecration, I found 14 silent churches in the Diocese. I named $300 a year as the sum generally necessary with what could be otherwise provided to keep open one of these silent churches for a year. Immediately came three individual gifts of that sum, and these were followed by smaller gifts. The Maryland Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary pledged and regularly pays the same amount. The Bishop's Guild was quietly formed, and has this year contributed $650 to the Silent Church fund, and several Parish guilds or circles have done the same. There are now only two churches silent. We hope they soon may be vocal once more, and that these willing helpers may not weary in their work lest those revived again lapse into silence.

The Bishop's Visitation fund is another matter which deserves mention. It is found now in most of our Dioceses, though not under that name. I find it generally called "The Bishop's Purse." I like our own name better. The offerings at time of the Bishop's visitation are thus placed at his absolute disposal for church work in the Diocese, with his discretion as unrestricted as that of the rector in his use of the Communion alms. The fund this year has amounted to about $1,500, and many are the pressing needs it has enabled me to meet.

There is yet another subject which I must bring before you, and I do it with very great sorrow, but under very strong convictions of duty. Almost ten years have passed since God called me to the Office of Bishop of Maryland. I thank Him that almost all that period has been a time of peace and good order beyond what we had dared to hope. There have been diversities of opinion, and there always will be; and so long as these diverse opinions do not pass the limits set by the Creeds, the Articles, the Prayer Book and the Church's other definitions, and so long as they are not in preaching or in practice forced upon souls as matters of obligation, such opinions are to be tolerated. There are diversities of Ritual, and there always will be; for happily, within the limits of things commanded and permitted, there may be very different expression. But there are limits; there is a law. The Roadway may be very broad, and some may tend to one side and some to the other. But on either side there is a fence to mark the line within which there is liberty, and beyond which there is danger and wrong. And it is a weighty part of the Bishop's office to see that none transgress those limits, and that even within them no man abuses his liberty to the scandal and offence of others. It is not a pleasant part of the Bishop's office. It is a painful one. No Bishop would choose it for himself or would take it if it were not bound upon him. In the hour of my Consecration, I made this vow: "In the Name of God, Amen. I, — chosen Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Maryland, do promise conformity and obedience to the doctrine, discipline and worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America; so help me God, through Jesus Christ." And no man can enter the Ministry even in its lowest grade, without making, though not in the form of an explicit oath, a similar declaration.

These words are very precise and clear. They set forth no indefinite standard. Every Bishop, Priest or Deacon is bound by them. He may not substitute for them his own or any other man's ideas of what was true doctrine, discipline and worship in the early times, even if those ideas be founded on sound historical studies. He may not substitute for them his own or any other men's ideas of what would be better doctrine, discipline or worship for these later times and the needs of the present age. Catholic and Catholicity are grand good words; but unhappily they have become vague words. To one man Catholicity lies in the exact adoption and minute following of what was done in the first two or three centuries, as he understands it. It means going back to an old idea. To another man, Catholicity is a synonym for what he calls breadth, for liberality, for all-inclusiveness and it moves him to disregard, and sometimes to break down, the very walls and boundaries which are absolutely essential to any idea of the Fold and its safety. Men may honestly wish for changes in the Church's laws and practices in either direction, and may, within lawful limits, use their influence to secure such changes, but until the change be made by legitimate authority, the law, as it stands, must be obeyed. Where the law is clear and plain and the transgression of it comes to the Bishop's knowledge, it is his duty to warn and to correct; to see that the law is respected. It is not mine to choose whether I will do this or not. It is not given me as a privilege, it is laid upon me as a duty; as one of the special and very sacred duties of my Office. It is not that I may, but that I must, or be perjured before God as breaking my vow.

I am very thankful to God, and very thankful to you, dear Brethren of the Clergy, that there has been very rarely indeed occasion for strong utterance or enforcement of authority. I have found you, with scarce an exception, honorably fulfilling your Ordination vow, to "obey the Bishop and to follow with a glad mind and will his Godly admonitions and judgments." The simple request, the word of quiet counsel, the suggestion, has been enough. God helping me, I must continue to watch for the peace and good order of the Church in this Diocese. And its peace is to be found in the most loving and careful obedience to law. I wish there were more of a law-loving spirit; greater readiness to see in Church law, not the wish to cramp, to fetter, to annoy, to hinder,—but the wish to guide, to protect, to help. Law is beneficent in intention; it is beneficent in reality to every one who is right-minded. It does not restrain the right. It does restrain the wrong. It watches for good order, for truth, for peace. It marks out the true path and the best. It is the expression of the mind and will and careful wisdom of the Church. It is her guiding voice, and he who loves the Church will, like a child that loves the parent, listen to that voice, not to sneer at it, not to defy it, not to evade it, not to explain it away, but lovingly to accept it and to obey it as the voice of a loving and authoritative guide. I cannot understand the spirit of those who are forever carping at Canons and Rubrics,—as if the very names were disagreeable. I thank God that we have them; that the Bishop has been and is so careful, so lovingly careful, in giving me that I does not leave me to myself; that it has been and tells me and tells me plainly how to use them; that it has been and tells me and tells me in careful directions, the way to the peace and order of the Church. I cannot understand those who are forever carping at Canons and Rubrics,—as if the very names were disagreeable. I thank God that we have them; that the Bishop has been and is so careful, so lovingly careful, in giving me that I does not leave me to myself; that it has been and tells me and tells me plainly how to use them; that it has been and tells me and tells me in careful directions, the way to the peace and order of the Church.

- these protecting walls of the Church's love. The law is a restraint to liberty, but its security; security, however, to those who obey it. One of the strongest words used in Holy Scripture for naming wickedness is "Anomia;" lawlessness; the absence, the disliking, the disobeying, the neglecting, the despising of law. And the modern name for "Anomia" is anarchy." Whether it be in Civil Government or in the Church, the man who "despises dominion," rests under God's justly spoken, heavy censure. It is sad that this "lawlessness" should be so common, and that its sinfulness should not be more fully seen. Some have come to look upon loving and exactfulness in obeying the Church's directions, as a proof of stiffness and narrow-mindedness, and to flatter themselves in their own carelessness and law-breaking, with the idea that it is a proof of large mindedness and liberality. It was most earnestly hoped that when by the careful work of nine years, in the chosen wisdom of the Church the Book of Common Prayer had been restudied, and every rubric and every line, and word, and period, and comma had been most exactly determined, the whole Church would loyally accept such action as authoritative and that we should enter upon a period of peace through law-keeping, instead of the irregularities and disturbances which had given trouble. But I fear that in that hope must be, in measure, disappointed. I entreat you, Brethren of the Clergy, let your obedience be most lovingly careful. Humble self. Beat down self-will. Do not what you would, but just what the Church bids you do. Let her Wisdom govern you.

Perhaps some special instances will be helpful. One of the reasons by which the demand for the revision of the Prayer Book was urged, was the need for shorter Services. It was felt that under the old Rubrics one whenever he had Service, was obliged to go through with the Sentences, the "Dearly beloved" and the Confession every time, and every word of a complete service of the Morning and Evening Prayer. Permission to shorten was called for, and it was given; but it was given very carefully; and after fullest comparison of the various usages, in which Bishops, Priests and Laymen all had free part, precise limits of such liberty were defined. The conditions under which the Exhortation, Confession and Absolution might be omitted were most precisely stated ; and the conditions under which certain final prayers might be left out. If these were followed, I am sure the Services would be found quite as short as is consistent with reverence and reality, and quite as short as the people wish. But the hunger for abbreviation is not satisfied, and Clergymen have been inventing for themselves ten minute Services as substitutes for the Morning or Evening Prayer. But the Laymen and women do not want these very short Services. By letter and by personal statement they have protested against habitual and unnecessary clipping. The grand full round of Scripture reading, which used to be counted one of the Prayer Book's greatest glories is thrown away. Some not only cut down into fragments the New Testament Lessons, but they omit the Old Testament Lesson entirely : when in these days of assault upon its inspiration, the Church ought to proclaim her love for those Old Testament Scriptures which our Dear Lord Himself so loved, and which He so held up for the reverence of all. Brethren, when you shorten the Morning or Evening Prayer by reading only one Lesson, or in any way without great reason, it is something more than breaking a rubric. It is debasing the ideal and Standard of true Worship. It is departing from one of our most sacred and beautiful traditions. It is dishonoring the Word of God, and undermining men's reverence for it. It is robbing the people, robbing their souls of that to which they have a right : it is substituting the stimulus of sentiment for the continuous pure nourishment of Holy Scripture.

Again, there was a call for new Services : for liberty to have something besides Morning Prayer, Evening Prayer, Litany and Holy Communion : forms for special occasions or liberty to provide such forms, or freedom in using the Prayer Book. The call was answered. New forms were provided, and directions given by which a guarded liberty was granted for special occasions. I say a guarded liberty : and the words remind me that a liberty needs to be guarded, and that the truest liberty is that which is protected by definition. It is that which makes all the difference between liberty and lawlessness. Besides certain new forms, the Church now says you may have other services for special needs, but only under certain conditions clearly given. "On any day when Morning and Evening Prayer shall have been said, or are to be said in Church, the Minister may, at any other Service, use such devotions as he shall at his discretion select from this Book, subject to the direction of the Ordinary.

"For days of Fasting and Thanksgiving, appointed by the Civil or by the Ecclesiastical Authority, and for other special occasions for which no Service or Prayer hath been provided in this Book, the Bishop may set forth such Form or Forms as he shall think fit, in which case none other shall be used."

How it emphasizes the grand ideal of the Church's continual solemn Services as not a chance matter of impulse and sentiment and convenience, but a grand high law of the worship due to God! How it brings back the thought of those early days when the first Christians, having no Churches of their own, "Continued daily with one accord in the Temple," and "went up to the Temple at the hours of prayer."

The Prayer Book is the pattern of a Praying Church. It enforces the command to "Pray without ceasing." It holds up a high standard of worship, not fitful, but constant. And that a protest that standard is against the spirit of worldliness. The daily Morning and Evening Prayer, the Litany to mark the days of our Lord's betrayal and Crucifixion; and every Holy Day and Sunday having its Holy Communion.

"The way before us lies

Distinct with signs thro' which in set career,

As thro' a Zodiac moves the Ritual Year."

She does not say to every Priest that he must under all circumstances and conditions, but she holds up the ideal. And when the temptation comes to multiply special Services,—when every Guild and Brotherhood is asking for its own special prayers and forms, and Clergymen and Editors usurp the Bishop's prerogative in setting them forth, it is well that the Church's voice calls to caution; that she says, "First duty, then liberty;" first have the solemn Services which the Church describes; then, if there be need, the others. No prayer-meeting whether with written or extemporaneous prayers, to be a substitute for what the Prayer Book calls for. So if Morning and Evening Prayer have been said or are to be said, then, not otherwise, comes permission for special Service. But still under conditions; it must be made up from the Prayer Book. And she adds one condition more. She is not willing that the making and using and multiplying of such irregular or special Services should be left to each Clergyman's individual discretion or indiscretion. She recognizes the Church as Episcopal in something more than name, and defends the Bishop's authority, and emphasizes his duty to guard the reverence and dignity of worship by declaring all this subject to the Bishop's direction.

Brethren, if after following the Church's own holy order, and using all her rich provision you really need more, and your spiritual wants are not satisfied; if your Guilds and Brotherhoods cannot tell their praises and speak their wants by attendance in a body at one of the regular Services, which would be far the better way; be sure, I beg of you, that the need is a real one before you act; and if you do act, let it be exactly as the Prayer Book bids. But try honestly first the Church's full order. Let your Churches, especially in the City, stand open every day and all day long. Do not let the often needless machinery of multiplied organization so fill your hours that you have no time to say Morning and Evening Prayer, if but two or three come, O, believe the Lord's own words, that He Himself is there also, and call it not wasted time with such a Presence.

But if there can be any part of the Prayer Book more sacred than the rest, and to be more scrupulously studied and obeyed, it is the Office for the Administration of the Holy Communion. Every sentence, every word, every mark of punctuation is full of meaning, and it is the fruit of centuries of the Church's loving carefulness in trying rightly to obey that great appointment of our Lord. The full ideal of right and reverent administration is the Service in its completeness; and any abbreviation, however needful it may seem, will be at the cost of something of reverent solemnity. Yet there may be necessity for abbreviation, and in those carefully framed rubrics the Church tells you under what conditions or circumstances it may be done. But permission to shorten would not have been so asked for and so definitely given, if you had been free to do it without permission. And the permission to do it under certain conditions and in certain ways is a clear assertion that save under those conditions and in those methods, abbreviation is forbidden. And yet it is known that under the plea of haste, of weariness, of want of time, of frequent repetitions, of crowded services, some of the Clergy are shamefully and irreverently mutilating and corrupting that Holy Service; cutting it down to what they chose to consider the barest necessities; gabbling it over with irreverent haste; omitting parts which are absolutely commanded and sometimes that they may add what is not commanded, save by their own fancies. Brethren, when you stand at the Altar to minister, it is not to gratify your own wishes or to express your own opinions. It is to do that holy act which the Lord has commanded, and to do it with obedient exactness of love, in the very way and in the very words which His Church has appointed. And this exceeding minuteness of direction is maintained to the very end of the Service and after it. After the Blessing has been pronounced it tells you most clearly what must be done, and what must not be done. If any of the Consecrated Elements remain, they must not be carried out of the Church, they must not be kept in the Church. They must be consumed reverently, immediately, and there. It may be allowable to hold, as an opinion, with Hooker and other holy men, that the presence of the Lord in that Sacrament is only in the act of reception and in the soul of the devout receiver. The Church neither asserts nor condemns that opinion. Nor will she permit you, though you may hold it, to assert it by your action in or after the Service. You may not treat what remains irreverently; you may not reserve it in carelessness; you may not put it away to be used again like ordinary bread and wine. Immediately, and reverently, and there, it must be consumed.

It may be allowable to hold as an opinion, with Ken and Andrewes and Keble and Liddon, that in some way the Body and Blood of Christ are so closely identified with the Bread and the Wine, that the relation becomes permanent. The Church does not positively express nor condemn that opinion. And she has so given direction that if you are honestly obedient, you cannot express it in your actions. If anything remain, you may not reserve it for worship, or for prolonged reverence, nor even for after sacred use. The command is positive. It shall not be carried out of Church. It must be consumed there, and immediately. The way of simple obedience here might save us from some sore troubles. In two or three instances where Clergymen in carelessness were treating irreverently what remained after the Communion, reserving it to be put back and used like common bread and wine, it became my duty to correct, and to require obedience to the Church's clear directions. I am glad to say that in every case they received it kindly and promised obedience. In two or three cases brought to my knowledge, what remained after the Communion was reserved, either for use at a later Service, or to be kept in a receptacle over or near the Altar, or with the plea that it might be needed for the sick; or it was carried out of the Church for such administration. And in these instances it was just as clearly my duty to correct, and to call for exact obedience to the Church's command. I am grieved that in these cases the Bishop's counsel was not received so kindly, and in some cases was openly rejected. The law of this National Church, of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, to which, by that exact title every Clergyman has promised his conformity, that law is absolutely clear. It absolutely forbids reservation: it simply and clearly forbids the carrying out of the Church. It makes no exception whatever. To ensure this, it commands the reverent consumption there in the Church. To ensure it more absolutely, it requires that consumption immediately, and at a certain precisely named point of time. Turning to the Order for the "Communion of the Sick," we find the directions and restrictions made even more exact and minute. They leave very little indeed to the Minister's discretion. They speak in most mandatory form. It makes no provision and gives no permission for administering with elements reserved from some previous Consecration. It commands that it shall not only be administered, but shall be celebrated ex parte in the sick man's house. It requires as a necessity that two at least, besides the Minister, shall receive with the sick person: and it emphasizes that necessity by allowing, as the one single exception, that at times of contagious sickness when others fear to go, the Minister may, not of his own motion, but "at the sick man's earnest request," Communicate with him alone. And it still further emphasizes this restriction by naming lack of company to receive with him as a reason which justifies the Priest in refusing to administer at all. It appoints the exact form of Service to be used, and again it is peremptory; it says the Minister shall use it. It tells him with most minute exactness just how he may shorten the Service still more in case of extreme weakness, or of contagious sickness. It anticipates and provides for the case of want of warning in due time to the Minister, meaning evidently time for preparing and celebrating, for it supposes the Minister to come to the sick man's presence, and have time for specific instruction. It provides and it commands for every possibility, and it does it in such words as exclude resort to reservation. It does not say, as it might say so easily, that in these cases the present celebration may be omitted and the administration be with what had been elsewhere Consecrated. It commands the very contrary, and it does it in manner most marked and positive. The Priest is directed under certain circumstances to let the sick man die without reception of the Consecrated Elements, and to tell him how, without that, he may in penitence and faith and holy longing still receive all the spiritual benefits of Christ's Body and Blood. Instructions more absolutely and more jealously guarded can hardly be imagined. Oh, how much misunderstanding, how much offence, how much bitterness over that most holy act of worship might be spared us, if all would simply and without evasion follow the Church's clear guiding voice.

But it is urged that the Bishop, in so requiring, is enforcing, not the Church's law, but his own interpretation of it. Brethren, I put no interpretation whatever upon it. I take it and apply it in its own simple and direct words as meaning exactly what it says. When one, warned of irreverent use, pleads, as it has been pleaded, that the intention of the Rubric was only to prevent superstitious reservation, that is his private interpretation which he tries to read into the law. If on the other side one argues that the Rubric was intended, not to forbid Reservation for the sick, but only irreverent abuses of which there were instances, again it is his private interpretation by which he would qualify words which simply forbid all Reservation, and require immediate consumption, without suggesting any reason or making exception on either side. I repeat, I put no interpretation upon the words. I simply apply them just as they stand in their simple power. It is argued that the Church could not have meant to depart from early Catholic usage, and that Justin Martyr, only 120 years after our Lord's death, testifies to Reservation for the sick. And I answer there were many things in early Catholic usage which were not of Catholic obligation or necessity. The Love Feast was of early Catholic usage; but even in the first Apostles' days, it grew into abuse, which compelled its abandonment. The Confirmation of infants was of early Catholic usage; but for sufficient reason the Church "hath thought fit to order that none shall be Confirmed until they can say the Lord's Prayer, the Creed and the Ten Commandments." And by the principles asserted in the Book of Common Prayer, this National Church, following the Mother Church of England, has full power to "Alter, abridge, enlarge or amend" the laws governing the administration to the sick. In the first Prayer Book of 1549, it was directed that if a sick person were to receive on the same day when the Holy Communion was administered in the Church, it should, immediately after Service be taken out of the Church, and carried to him. But in the Prayer Book, as soon after amended and as it now stands, that entirely disappears; permission to administer with the Elements pre-consecrated is withdrawn; instead of directing that "it shall be carried out of the Church to the sick man," the new rule comes "It shall not be carried out of the Church;" and it makes no exception. And when the Church speaks thus absolutely no man has a right to construe an exception by his own private opinion.

And there are other abuses which are growing or being forced into observance which are most absolutely forbidden by the laws of the Church. There are some who claim and teach that the mid-day Celebration which they dignify by the unprimitive, un-Catholic, un-Anglican and un-American name of "High Mass," is for the Priest alone; and act of offering and not of Communicating. And the people are so instructed, and in some cases, if not literally, yet virtually, forbidden to receive at that Celebration. Now not only does the whole tone, the whole language of the Service imply and invite the people's reception: not only is the Priest commanded after himself receiving, "to deliver the same in like manner to the Bishops, Priests and Deacons, if any be present, and after that to the people also in order," of whose presence no doubt is intimated, but in the Revision of 1892, to meet and forbid that very practice of the Priest's solitary reception, this sentence was here inserted: "And sufficient opportunity shall be given to those present to Communicate." What is called the "High Mass" for the Priests alone is a Roman perversion in defiance of the clearly expressed order and discipline of this Reformed Branch of the Catholic Church.

And besides this there are those who if they do not literally forbid, do practically and virtually teach their people that they may not receive Holy Communion, until they have first made private Confession to the Priest. But the Prayer Book on the contrary says plainly that the way and means for preparing is first that each "should examine his own life and conversation by the rule of God's Commandments." And it is only when after so doing he finds himself still unable to "satisfy his conscience, and requireth further comfort and counsel," that he is advised to go, not by the Priest's compulsion, but by his own desire and need, to open his grief to his Pastoral adviser. I have no hesitation in declaring that this forcing as a necessary condition or as a permanent habit of what the Church advises only in certain defined circumstances and to meet special needs, is a corrupt following of the Church of Rome.

To meet and correct these perversions of the Church's order and violations of her laws, and to guard in some other points the decency and good order of worship and the peace of the Church, I have found it necessary in some instances to appeal in loving remonstrance to those so offending, begging them for the sake of peace and love to accept and follow their Bishop's advice. In most cases the answer was all that I could ask. But not so with all. In one or two instances where my kindly request was refused, it became my duty to speak in more official manner and to make known especially to those of the Clergy immediately concerned, and to all in the Diocese, my formal and authoritative admonition and judgment that they should strictly obey the law which commands that if any of what had been Consecrated remain, it was not to be carried out of the Church, but shall there be immediately and reverently consumed; and the other commandment, that if the Holy Communion is to be administered to the sick, it shall be celebrated in the house where the sick man is. But those warned read into the clear plain words of the law their own private interpretation of its supposed intention and of possible exceptions. The Bishop's authority was despised. Obedience was refused. The promise to follow with a glad mind and will was forgotten.

But even more painful and full of sadness than positive refusal, is concealment and evasion. To the Bishop's injunction in the very words of the Prayer Book—"If any of the Consecrated Bread and Wine remain after the Communion, it shall not be carried out of the Church," it was answered, first, that the Bishop had no right to issue such an admonition; and second that even if he did, they were not breaking the law, for they did not carry out after the Communion, but before the Communion was ended. I would not thus publicly call attention to this, if this were but a single instance; but I have reason to think and fear that this mode of explanation is adopted by others.

There is a method of interpreting, applying, or evading law, which has rightly brought unpleasant meaning into the words Jesuit and Jesuitical. May the Lord in His mercy preserve this National Church from such casuistry, and keep it true to manly Christian honor.

Brethren, it is this open and positive defiance, and this evasion of the appointed authority of the Church which has made it my most painful duty to speak of these things thus openly and plainly. I know and I sorrow for the pain and scandal which must come. And gladly, if my conscience would permit me, would I have kept silence. But I do not hold this Sacred Office to please myself, nor to please you, dear Brethren. It was laid upon me by God's own appointment and Providence,

I might fulfil its duties and be His servant. And one of duties is to maintain the lawful authority of His Church ; see that His voice by it is obeyed ; to take care that all gs. be done decently and in order. Brethren, those laws rubrics which some count trifling, are sacred and powerful ruments for protecting the Church itself from the weakness changefulness of individualism ; for protecting within law-limits freedom of opinion among the Clergy ; and for proving and assuring the Lay members of the Church, for whose s' sake the Clergy exist, against the whims and fancies and of individual Clergymen, and securing for them the sound careful reverence and purity of Holy Worship, as under l's Hand and Blessing it was reformed from the corruptions e Middle Ages. It is for the sake of the flock, rather than s shepherds, that I am thus earnest. They have a right to Prayer Book as it is ; to the Services just as there ordained.

their sakes, the rubrics are not trifles to be slightly ted ; but the earnest voice of the Church's love and wisdom, ng you, Brèthren of the Clergy, within what limits and r what rules you are to minister to Christ's people.

nd now, moved by these considerations, in solemn remem-ice of the great duties which God himself has laid upon me, of my deep responsibility for the sound teaching, the right hip, good order and peace of His Flock ; appealing to the nn promise of obedience which every Clergyman made at Ordination, I do, with love, and with all the authority nely given to the Bishop's Office, once more publish and are to all the Clergy and all the Church in this Diocese of yland, my Godly admonitions and judgment :

nat the Rubrics and Rules directing and governing the hip of the Church, are to be obeyed, carefully, honestly honorably ; that the appointed Services may not be abbre-d, save under the conditions and in the manner set forth ie Book of Common Prayer ; and that other or special ices may not be substituted for them ; and may not be used p't under the same rubrical conditions ; "that if any of Consecrated Bread and Wine remain after the Communion, all not be carried out of the Church, but shall immediately the Benediction, be reverently consumed." That if the Holy Communion be administered to the sick, it shall be, not with elements reserved from Consecration elsewhere, but as the Prayer Book distinctly bids, it shall be with the Celebration at the sick man's house.

And I do also make known that my official judgment having been asked by two Priests of this Diocese concerning the use of incense, I did pronounce, and do now renew my decision, that it is not permitted in this Diocese of Maryland to use incense in or in connection with the Services of the Church.

Dear Brethren, you may not know how painful it is, how great the sorrow, that I have been compelled to speak with voice of authority. For these nine years I have studied to use persuasion and entreaty and the pleading of love for love's sake and for peace. But when persuasion was rejected and loving entreaties were refused, I could not be true to God and keep silent. None but those who have bowed under the weight of the Bishop's burdens, can understand the love and the prayerful longing which the Bishop has for all the Flock which has been committed to him. I thought I knew something of pastoral tenderness for souls during my thirty years of Priestly life; but I did not know its meaning as I know it now. I did not know how with a closeness greater than that of any ordinary Pastorship, the Bishop feels the tie between his Clergy and his people and himself. I did not know until in this Holy Office the Lord taught it to me, what meaning there is in these words with which the Clergy speak of their Bishop and to him as a "Father in God;" nor can you, dear Brethren, understand his pain and heavy grief, when those who though they may be his equals or elders in age, his superiors in learning and wisdom, and far, far beyond him in all Godliness and holy living, are still, by his Sacred Office, his children, when they turn from kindly persuasion and the appeals and entreaties of love, and require from him the utterance of sterner authority.

May our Dear Lord forgive me, if I have needlessly given pain to any of you. I entreat your prayers for me, dear Brethren, for most sorely do I need them, that He may give me wisdom and bid patience go hand in hand with it; that He may keep me faithful, but faithful always in gentleness and love. And as we kneel soon in Holy Communion, let us think of Him to whom no lowliness or self-humbling was too great for the love He bare to His people; and no carefulness of obedience too minute to tell His love for His Father in Heaven.

April 15th.—11 A. M. visited St. Mark's Church, Washington County, the Rev. H. C. E. Costello, Rector. Confirmed one, preached and administered Holy Communion. 7.30 P. M., visited St. John's Church, Hagerstown, the Rev. H. E. Cotton, Rector. Confirmed nineteen, gave an address and preached.

April 16th.—In Washington presided at meeting of the Cathedral Corporation.

April 17th.—In the Free Church of St. Barnabas, Baltimore, instituted the Rev. Thomas Atkinson as Rector. 4 P. M., Confirmed privately one person. 8 P. M., visited St. Barnabas' Church, Baltimore, the Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Rector, Confirmed thirty-four, gave an address and preached.

April 18th.—Visited Epiphany Church, Forestville, Prince George's County, the Rev. H. P. Chapman, Priest-in-charge. Confirmed eleven, gave an address, preached and administered the Holy Communion. 3.30 P. M., visited St. Matthew's Church in the same Parish. Confirmed five, gave an address and preached.

April 19th.—Visited Queen Ann Parish, Prince George's County, the Rev. F. B. Randall, Deacon. Confirmed sixteen, gave an address, preached and administered Holy Communion. 3.30 P. M., at Halls' Station in the same Parish I preached in the new Chapel school-house. 7.30 P. M., visited Trinity Church Upper Marlborough, the Rev. C. F. Sontag, Rector. Confirmed twenty-six, gave an address and preached.

April 20th.—11 A. M., visited Atonement Chapel of St. Thomas' Parish, Prince George's County, the Rev. F. P. Willes, Rector. Confirmed ten, gave an address, preached and administered Holy Communion. 7.30 P. M., visited St. Thomas' Church in the same Parish. Confirmed seventeen and preached. Appointed the Rev. J. T. Crowe to the Whittingham scholarship and the Rev. C. M. Murray to the Stephenson scholarship in the General Theological Seminary.

April 22nd.—11 A. M., visited St. Mary's Church, Franklin, Baltimore County, the Rev. W. R. Webb, Rector. Confirmed six, preached and administered Holy Communion. 8 P. M., at St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, repeated the lecture on "St. Peter, the Primacy and the See of Rome."

April 24th.—Visited Zion Church, Urbana, Frederick County. It is without a Rector and the General Missionary has been working there. Confirmed three, gave an address, preached and administered Holy Communion. 4 P. M., visited St. Luke's Church, Adamstown, of St. Paul's Parish, Frederick County, the Rev. C. R. Page, Rector. Confirmed twelve, of whom three were from Brunswick, gave an address and preached. 7.30 P. M., visited the Chapel at Point of Rocks in the same Parish. Confirmed three and preached.

April 25th.—11 A. M., visited St. Peter's Church, Poolesville, Montgomery County, the Rev. W. P. Griggs, Rector. Confirmed four, gave an address, preached and administered Holy Communion. 3.30 P. M., visited Christ Church, Barnesville, in the same Parish. Confirmed two and preached.

April 26th.—11 A. M., visited St. Bartholomew's Church, Montgomery County, the Rev. W. H. Laird, Rector. Confirmed three, gave an address, preached and administered Holy Communion. 3.30 P. M., visited St. Luke's Church, Brighton, same Rector. Confirmed four and preached. 7.30 P. M., visited St. John's Church, Olney, the same Rector. Confirmed ten and preached.

April 28th.—Gave decision in the case of certain divorced parties, that the marriage asked for was not lawful under the Canons of the Church. There being no Rector at St. Mark's Parish, Washington, I signed as Bishop a deed or trust made to secure funds for enlarging the Church. Recorded Canonical certificate of the election of the Rev. J. A. E. McKee to be Assistant Minister of Washington Parish, D. C.

April 29th.—11 A. M., visited St. Timothy's Church, Catonsville, the Rev. Percy F. Hall, Rector. Confirmed fourteen, gave an address, preached and administered Holy Communion. 4 P. M., visited St. Mary's Church, Hampden, the Rev. W. C. Butler, Rector. Confirmed four and preached.

April 30th.—In the Church of the Redeemer, Brooklyn, New York, I united in marriage Robert Louis Paret and Bertha Louise Hurlbut.

CONVENTION REPORTS.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

The Standing Committee report that after their election at the last Convention they organized by electing the Rev. John H. Elliott, S. T. D., President, and the Rev. George C. Stokes, Secretary.

During the year the Committee has held five regular and two special meetings. They have recommended for ordination to the Sacred Order of Priests: The Rev. Solon A. Whitcomb, the Rev. John G. Sadtler, and the Rev. George Harbaugh Johnston, D. D.; for ordination to the Sacred Order of Deacons: George K. Kelso, William A. Henderson, George W. Davenport, William Brice MacPherson, Geo. W. Thomas, William Dallam Morgan, Charles Grinnell Cogley, Horace W. Vokes, and William L. Devries, Ph. D.; and for admission to candidateship for Holy Orders: Charles Grinnell Cogley, William Dallam Morgan, John W. Heal, Charles H. Kues, Gilbert Marshall Foxwell, and James Nelson Deaver.

Consent was given to the consecration of the Rev. William Lawrence, D. D., Bishop elect of the Diocese of Massachusetts; of the Rev. Thomas Frank Gailor, S. T. D., Assistant Bishop elect of the Diocese of Tennessee; of the Rev. Joseph Blount Cheshire, Jr., D. D., Assistant Bishop elect of the Diocese of North Carolina; of the Rev. Allison Capers, D. D., Assistant Bishop elect of the Diocese of South Carolina, and of the Rev. John Brockenborough Newton, D. D., Assistant Bishop elect of the Diocese of Virginia.

The Standing Committee has met the Bishop once, at his request, as a council of advice.

The Rev. William S. Southgate, D. D., was elected on December 27th, 1893, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the Rev. Arthur John Rich, M. D.

At a meeting of the Committee, held on July 19th, 1893, the following minute was adopted and ordered to be spread upon its record:

MINUTE.

Since it has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from this scene of service and labor our beloved friend and brother, the Rev. Arthur John Rich, M. D., we, his associates on the Standing Committee, recognize it to be our duty and feel it to be our privilege to place this minute on our record in memory of his Christian graces, his usefulness, his worth and works.

Born in Maryland, educated in Baltimore, graduated Doctor of Medicine from the University of Maryland, and canonically resident in this Diocese during the whole period of his ministry, he loved his State and Diocese, their histories, their traditions, their good old ways, the modest, the tolerant and conservative characteristics of the people.

Of Church parentage and moulded by the Liturgy and ways of the Church, his youth presented a well-rounded combination of attractive qualities; while his modesty, his purity of thought and blamelessness of manners were the presages of the respect and love which crowned his later days.

A graduate of the General Theological Seminary, ordained Deacon and advanced to the Sacred Order of Priests by Bishop Whittingham, his convictions were imbued with the tone and directness, the firmness and yet charity of his Bishop's Churchmanship. Seeing with clearness the foundations on which the Church has rested—"the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief cornerstone"—and always firm enough to avow his convictions, without qualification or disguise, explaining them in his teaching and preaching, enforcing them in his conversation, and illustrating them by the unalterable consistency of his practice, he never impugned the motives or the sincerity and zeal of those who differed with him or forgot that the principles of Apostolic order were to be held with the fundamentals of evangelical truth and the bonds of Christian love kept continually in view.

As Chaplain and head of the Diocesan School for Girls, for whose training to be "Polished Corners of the Temple" he recognized his responsibility to the Diocese, he re-established and builded up, on the best and surest foundations, amid difficulties and discouragements and self-denials, a school for which the Diocese may well be grateful, and from which year by year, continuously for forty-one years, the daughters of the Clergy were graduated, with generous allowances on his part, well prepared and fully equipped in mind and heart and Christian character to do well and happily their duty in that station of life into which it shall please God to call them.

As Rector of Reisterstown Parish, Baltimore County, he founded a Parish and left behind, for the Diocese, a Church which is a model of proportion and beauty, and a Congregation of well-instructed and devout Church people, and for his family and friends a hold on the memories, the affections and veneration of all classes of people rarely bestowed on any man.

As Dean of the Convocation of Baltimore for upwards of twenty-one years and chairman of the Committee of Missions, his zeal and efforts for the maintenance and extension of the Church in the Diocese were untiring; wise in counsel, judicious in devising methods of progress, abounding in labors.

As our associate on the Standing Committee, we shall miss the example and advantages of his unfailing punctuality, his learning in the Canons of the Church, his careful and discriminating watchfulness at the gates of the ministry.

Having, "by pureness, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand or on the left," commended himself to every man's conscience in the sight of God, he was gathered in peace to that rest, which remaineth for the people of God, on the evening of July 5th, 1893. And we, his associates on the Standing Committee, place this minute on our record in testimony of the grief with which we mourn his loss to the Diocese and to ourselves.

GEORGE C. STOKES,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE DIVISION OF THE DIOCESE.

By resolution of the last Convention of the Diocese of Maryland, there was referred to your Committee "so much of the Bishop's address as refers to the Division of the Diocese." Turning to that address, your Committee find that the Bishop is "by no means an advocate of small dioceses;" that when the division of the Diocese was suggested to him soon after his consecration, he "was not willing to entertain the thought;" but that he now believes "that the time has come when it is our sacred duty to take thought and action for this grand forward step," and that, "upon proper conditions, he would give his consent—such consent "by the laws of the Church being necessary for a division."

We also find in the Bishop's address that he would require two things:

I.—Such fair division of the territory and work as should equalize the two burdens; and

II.—Such honorable provision for the support of the two Bishops as should forbid their becoming by annual taxation a burden on the Parishes and on the people.

In conclusion, the Bishop suggests: "That the subject be referred to a special Committee, who shall report both upon the advisability of the division, and upon the lines and conditions which should be observed, if division be approved."

Your Committee, therefore, have three distinct points submitted to them:

I.—The Advisability of Division :

II.—The lines of such Division, if thought advisable :

III.—The conditions to be observed.

I.—In regard to the Advisability of Division, your Committee are fully persuaded that no Bishop ought to be called upon to endure and perform the work which is now laid upon the Head of this Diocese. It is already far more than any one man can satisfactorily discharge. And if the Church is to grow, as we fondly hope and pray, there must be a natural increase of duty and responsibility year by year laid upon him who is the Chief Shepherd of souls, as well as the Chief Administrator of affairs. Indeed our Bishop frankly states that his work has almost doubled within the brief time of his own Episcopate, "until it is probably next to the great Diocese of New York in that respect." And while he expresses his willingness resolutely to bear his burdens and faithfully to discharge his duties, we, his Clergy and People; ought not to expect, ought not to demand it of him. We ought, gladly and lovingly, to exalt his high office far above that estimate which views a Bishop as merely a "Confirming Agent," and to regard him as a successor of those noble Apostles, who not only confirmed and preached, but also laid wise plans and devised strong policies for the Church at large and the Church at home.

It requires no unusual foresight to discern that the Bishop speaks most truly and most wisely when he says: "The wonderful and rapid growth of our two cities will make division absolutely necessary before very long," because the work will then be "too great for one man to bear." And we agree most heartily with him when he states: "If there be a city in our land, which, more than others, requires (according to the rule of the Church in the best and earliest days) its own Bishop it is the City of Washington." Most forcibly does he set forth very weighty reasons for this conviction in his address.

In this opinion as to the Advisability of Division, your Committee rejoice to find themselves in thorough agreement, not only with the judgment of our present honored Bishop, but also with the judgment of the Church in Maryland as expressed in Convention twenty-five years ago; and with that of the revered Bishop Whittingham, whose strong words spoken to the Convention of 1867 (before the Diocese of Easton was set apart,) your Committee beg leave to quote :

"Since the first year of my experience in office, I have been thoroughly satisfied that the Diocese of Maryland would never thrive as it might or ought to do, until divided into three or more Dioceses." "A Diocese like this can never thrive until reduced into three Dioceses of manageable size, of harmonious constitution, of natural affinity, and each having its individual idiosyncrasy." "The Eastern Shore, Washington and the Potomac Counties, and Baltimore and the remainder of the present Diocese, constitute such Dioceses. Each of the three divisions fulfills the requisition of the Article of the Constitution of the Church which sets limits to the action of the Diocese in sub-dividing. Each contains its own peculiar elements of strength; in all, ample, in my judgment, for vigorous independence and rapid growth, once thrown on their own resources and left to their own device, under the great Head of all." "Give her three Bishops at the least—it were better four—and see if ten years do not double her in strength, in energy, in vital force and intrinsic vigor." "Nothing would more gratify me than such action of the Convention as should divide the present jurisdiction and income of the Diocese into three, and set off, each with its equal share of the Diocesan Fund and its proper proportional allotment of territorial jurisdiction, two new sees of Washington and Easton." Thus spoke Bishop Whittingham twenty-seven years ago. This led to a two-fold action on the part of the Convention:—1st, Consent was immediately given to the division of the Diocese by the erection of the Diocese of Easton; and 2nd, A Committee was appointed to consider (not the expediency or advisability, for this was conceded) "the best way of dividing the Western Shore of Maryland into two Dioceses, and to report at the next Convention." This Special Committee reported at the next Convention in 1868, and several lines of division was suggested. The subject was again passed over to the following Convention, in 1869; but the failing health of Bishop Whittingham made it evident to the Convention that an Assistant Bishop was necessary for his immediate relief, and the requisite steps were taken for this purpose. By force of circumstances, therefore, the project of the Division of the Diocese was for the time abandoned. There is little room for doubt, but that for the decline of Bishop Whittingham's health, the Diocese would have been divided twenty-five years ago.

It will be interesting to compare the strength of the Diocese of Maryland before any division whatsoever was made, with the strength of the Diocese at the present time. In 1868 the whole number of persons confirmed in the entire State including the Eastern Shore, was 1,685. In 1893 the number confirmed in our present Diocese was 2,520. In 1868 the Communicants in the State were reported as 12,269; in 1893, in our Diocese, 28,416. In 1868 the whole amount of contributions reported in the Journal was $145,348; in 1893 it was $625,814. But inasmuch as in the latter sum all salaries of the Clergy were included, and it is not known how far they were in the former, an exact comparison of Contributions cannot be computed, but by a liberal estimate they are at least twice as large now as they were in 1868. That is to say, that in each of these three particulars the Diocese of Maryland in 1868 had not one-half the strength of the present Diocese, and yet was prepared to divide into three parts. We have to-day more than double the number of Communicants and the amount of Contributions in 1893 was at least double the amount of 1868.

Should we hesitate to make that division to-day which such men as Mahan and Lewin and Hugh Davy Evans, under the counsel of Bishop Whittingham, were prepared to make twenty-five years ago when the strength of the Diocese was not one-half what it is now? If the testimony of such men is worth anything; if the rapid growth of the Diocese during this quarter of a century imposes anything; if the condition of the Diocese of to-day demands anything, it is certainly this: That the Division of the Diocese of Maryland is not only advisable but necessary; and that to delay it longer is to imperil the best interests and progress of the Church of our love.

II.—The Lines of such Division.

This subject ought to be viewed and settled upon the principles of the best ecclesiastical statesmanship. Not only what is expedient and wise for to-day, but what is expedient and wise for all time ought to be determined upon. Not a few Dioceses of our land are hampered in their work and growth because of hasty legislation which originally set them apart. We have a notable example of this in the great State of New York. Where an effort is now being made to re-district the State so as to provide new lines for the old Dioceses and to create special ones for the new. Your Committee is therefore strongly impressed with the great importance of the question at this time, inasmuch as the whole future of the Church in the present Diocese is largely involved in its solution.

To not a few it may seem very desirable that the District of Columbia ought to be erected into a Diocese because of its peculiar national importance. There are some weighty reasons which render this desirable; but your Committee are of the opinion that it is not expedient at this time to set apart the District as a separate Diocese: First, Because such action would create a Diocese wholly urban with no missionary districts whatever. Secondly, It would throw the heavy burden of a large territorial jurisdiction, with double missionary needs, upon the old Diocese. Thirdly, It would imperil a wise sub-division in the future. Fourthly, It would not meet the explicit conditions laid down by the Bishop in his Address.

And yet your Committee are of the opinion that no division should now be made which will not readily admit, whenever the need may arise, of the erection of a Diocese out of the District of Columbia alone or with the addition of the few contiguous counties on the Potomac River. It is no longer a matter of doubt that our National Capitol is to become a great metropolis and that it is destined to exert an ever increasing influence upon the life of the Republic, not only politically, but also socially, morally, and intellectually. Our own branch of the Church Catholic, already so well established and so zealously engaged, must not only maintain her present prestige but advance it with all her wisdom and all her power. Your Committee fully agree with our Diocesan that the presence of a Bishop at Washington is already a pressing and a vital need, and ought not longer to be denied. But your Committee are not persuaded that the District of Columbia alone ought to be erected into a Diocese at this time.

As we look at the present Diocese of Maryland, there seems to be four natural sub-divisions which might be erected into Dioceses; and however populous the State may become it does not appear that more than these four would ever be required. These four sub-divisions are:—1st. Baltimore, with the Northeastern Counties. 2nd. Frederick or Hagerstown, with the Northwestern Counties. 3rd. Washington, with the lower Potomac Counties. 4th. Annapolis, with the Chesapeake Counties. Keeping these possible sub-divisions in view, any action which may be taken now ought to conform to these, and there are two possible lines which will so do, and at the same time divide the present Diocese equally, both as to extent of territory and as to numerical strength. For convenience sake, these lines may be called the East-and-West-Line, and the North-and-South-Line. The East-and-West-Line, beginning at the Patapsco River, runs from the Chesapeake to the Potomac, and follows the southern boundaries of Baltimore, Carroll and Frederick Counties, so that the division would be as follows:

I.—See city, Baltimore. Counties included: Baltimore, Harford, Carroll, Frederick, Washington, Alleghany, Garrett—seven counties in all.

II.—See city, Washington. Counties included: Montgomery, Howard, Anne Arundel, Prince George, Charles, Calvert, St. Mary's—seven counties in all and the District of Columbia.

The North-and-South-Line begins at the State Line and Rock Creek, and follows the boundary line between Frederick and Carroll Counties, and then follows the Patuxent River until it enters the Chesapeake Bay. It divides the Diocese as follows:

I.—See city, Baltimore. Counties included: Carroll, Baltimore, Harford, Howard, Anne Arundel, Calvert—six counties in all.

II.—See city, Washington. Counties included: Garrett, Alleghany, Washington, Frederick, Montgomery, District of Columbia, Prince George, Charles, St. Mary's—eight counties in all and the District of Columbia.

By careful comparison of statistics, it may be seen that there is very little difference in numerical, financial or territorial strength between the jurisdictions erected by either of these two lines; but your Committee are strongly of the opinion that the East-and-West-Line affords the wisest and truest division of the Diocese, simply because the Western Counties are altogether, both socially and commercially, intimately allied with Baltimore, while the Southern Counties are for the most part directly related to Washington. Such a line also creates two Dioceses as compact and accessible as it is possible to create. The Southern Diocese would be exceedingly compact, with its See City in its very centre, while the Northern Diocese would be as compact as could possibly be arranged, with direct communication with its See City. On the other hand, the North-and-South-Line would create two widely scattered and irregular Dioceses, with few natural affinities.

Your Committee therefore deem the East-and-West-Line the more advantageous, both for the present and for the future.

In this judgment they find themselves again in accord with the proposed action of the Diocesan Convention of 1868, and they are inclined to believe that such sub-division best meets the conditions laid down by the present Bishop.

The Journal of the last Convention affords the following statistics regarding the relative strength of these two sections of the present Diocese.

I.—The Counties North of the East-and-West-Line, including Baltimore City, present the following figures:

Number of Congregations, 109. Number of Clergy, 75. Number Confirmed, 1,347. Number of Communicants, 14,650. Amount of contributions, $376,860.

II.—The Counties South of the East-and-West-Line, including the District of Columbia, present the following figures:

Number of Congregations, 97. Number of Clergy, 84. Number Confirmed, 1,173. Number of Communicants, 13,766. Amount of contributions, $248,954.

III.—Conditions to be Observed.

The Bishop of the Diocese has limited the scope of the Committee, by stating in his Address, that his consent to Division would depend upon two things:

1st.—Such a fair division of territory and work as would equalize the two burdens.

2nd.—The Provision of such Support for the two Bishops as should forbid their becoming, by serious annual taxation, a burden upon the Parishes and the People.

In the propriety of these conditions your Committee cordially concur, and they are of the opinion that, these being complied with, no other conditions should be required. The first condition, The Equal Apportionment of Territory and Work, your Committee believe would be satisfied by the adoption of such a Division of the Diocese as is suggested in this Report. The second condition, Ample Support, can best be complied with by the appointment of two Committees to whom shall be referred the question of the best method of securing the requisite support of the Bishops, either by the creation of Permanent Episcopal Funds, or otherwise. Inasmuch as the consent of the Bishop to Division cannot be obtained unless this is done, your Committee are of the opinion that steps should be taken at once to secure the Episcopal Support, so that at the Convention of 1895, the necessary measures may be adopted to obtain the consent of the General Convention to the proposed Division of the Diocese.

The Committee therefore recommend to the Convention the adoption of the following Resolutions:

Resolved: I.—That it is the sense of this Convention that it is advisable to divide the Diocese of Maryland into two Dioceses.

II.—That the District of Columbia, together with the Counties of Prince George's, St. Mary's, Charles, Montgomery, Calvert, Anne Arundel and Howard constitute the territory of the new Diocese, leaving the remaining part of the present Diocese to constitute the Diocese of Maryland.

III.—That two Committees be appointed—each consisting of three Clergymen and four Laymen, selected respectively from the proposed Dioceses—who shall take such measures as they may deem best to secure adequate support for the two Bishops.

IV.—That the present Episcopal Fund be equally, and the Accumulating Episcopal Fund be equitably divided between the two Dioceses.

V.—That the Committee be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

I concur in so much of the above report as proposes a division of the Diocese on the lines therein laid down. But I think there should be no other legislation on the subject until it has been ascertained through Committees appointed for that purpose, whether an endowment fund for each Diocese can be secured sufficient to render unnecessary any increase in the present assessment on the Parishes and Congregations.

AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE V OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE DIOCESE OF MARYLAND.

(Journal, p. 9.)

The Committee to which was referred a resolution offered by the Rev. Dr. Hall Harrison in 1893, proposing to alter Article V of the Constitution, concerning the mode of electing a Bishop, begs leave to make the following report:

ART. V, as it now stands, provides as follows:

Whenever a Bishop is to be elected, 1. a fit and qualified clergyman shall be nominated and appointed by the Order of Clergy.

2. To receive this nomination, he must obtain the votes of two-thirds of the clergy.

3. This nomination or appointment is then presented to the "Order of the Lay-Delegates," and the votes of two-thirds of that Order are requisite for approval and to constitute a choice by the Convention.

the Laity are not allowed to vote concurrently with the clergy; they not (constitutionally) cast any ballot until the Clergy have first by a two-thirds vote nominated and appointed a fit and qualified clergyman. The new Article which has been referred to us proposes and provides Maryland should elect her Bishops as almost all the Dioceses of the vast country do—all, in fact, except Delaware—that is to say, that a majority of the Clergy and of the Laity be sufficient to constitute a vote, and further it provides that the Laity vote concurrently with the Clergy in every ballot—the Clergy first and the Laity immediately afterwards, instead of being compelled, as they now are, to sit idle until the Clergy have first come to an agreement and made a nomination.

The present Article V looks and sounds very fair, but upon closer inspection, the practical effect of it is found to be this. Under the pretence of protecting the minority from a hasty or injudicious choice, the two-thirds rule really gives to a small minority, who may sometimes be better than a clique of obstructionists, the power to dictate who shall be Bishop. To break the dead-lock the majority are obliged to yield and take the Bishop whom the minority impose upon them. It is, indeed, perfectly true that a dead-lock may occasionally occur even under the majority rule. It cannot always be avoided. Such a dead-lock occurred in the famous contest between the Rev. Wm. Meade and the Rev. Dr. Bird Wilson in Pennsylvania, in 1826. The condition of things was very peculiar. There were 54 Clergy on the roll, and 27 were for Mr. Meade, and 27 for Dr. Wilson. There was no election that day, but the contest was ended by the choice of Bishop H. U. Onderdonk in 1827. There was another dead-lock in New York in 1850, when the Clergy elected Dr. Creighton, and the Laity Dr. John Williams, our present Presiding Bishop. This difference between the two Orders was finally ended in 1852 by the choice of Bishop Wainwright. But mark the difference. Under a majority rule, such dead-locks happen but seldom and are more speedily ended. They occur because a majority is not at once be had, and for this there is no help. But under the two-thirds rule, after a good majority has been obtained over and over again, a small minority can create a dead-lock and prevent the majority from ruling.

This is the almost universal rule, wherever Anglo-Saxon parliamentary government has spread to allow the majority to end controversy and decide all elections. A two-thirds vote of the Congress is required to override the President's Veto of a Bill, or to set aside an established mode of order, or to amend the Constitution of the United States, and a unanimous consent is sometimes requisite to allow motions or resolutions to be introduced out of the regular course of business. But we who understand the theory and practice of parliamentary procedure see the difference between those exceptional cases and the ordinary motions of officers. The Speaker of the House of Commons, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the President of this Convention, (when there is no Bishop), our Standing Committee, Secretary and Treasurer, and 77 of our 79 Bishops, are elected by a majority, and the minority, be it large or be it small, always acquiesces in that good-humored, common-sense way, which long experience has shown to be most conducive in the long run to the prosperity both of Churches and of States.

But it is said that this is all very true about all elections, except the election of a Bishop. It is a good plan (it is said) to surround the election of a bishop with many difficulties and obstructions and this the two-thirds rule happily accomplishes. But if this be true, it is strange that none of the 50 Dioceses of our country have found this out, except Maryland and Delaware. As soon as the Eastern Shore of Maryland formed into a new and independent Diocese, the Diocese of Easton abolished the two-thirds rule, and put herself in line with her Sister Dioceses in this matter.

But we all admit that the old rule ought not to be altered, if it has worked well in the past and seems likely to work well in the future. The question then is, how has it actually operated? Has it been productive of good? Has it tended, and does it tend, to promote harmony among brethren,—“to make men be of one mind in an house?” Has it led to a speedy and satisfactory settlement of issues? Or, has it not prolonged dispute and discussion? Has it not tended to increase and emphasize and accentuate partizanship? Has it not often delayed and hindered the election of a Bishop in Maryland, when by the usual majority rule excellent men could readily have been chosen?

Experience is the best possible teacher in these practical matters. Theorizing is out of place—experience is, and ought to be, the only lamp by which our feet are guided. “We have no way of judging the future but by the past.”

To history then let us turn, for one ounce of experience is worth a hundred pounds of theory and speculation. It will be necessary to narrate the facts with some detail, in order to give to us of the present generation some faint conception of the serious embarrassments of our forefathers in choosing Bishops in four out of the six Episcopal elections which have been held in the Diocese of Maryland.

The two-thirds rule was placed in the Constitution in the year 1790, at a Convention held in the town of Easton, in Talbot County. It was then Article XIV. It must be freely admitted that at that time, and under those circumstances, the two-thirds rule was a wise and necessary measure. The whole State then formed one Diocese, and Maryland is a peculiar State geographically. No other State has a great Chesapeake Bay dividing it into two large sections which in earlier times were nearly equal in social, ecclesiastical and political importance. In 1790, travel was difficult and expensive. There were no railroads in the world. There were no steamboats plying across the bay and connecting the two shores, nor were there any for many years after. The whole number of Clergy in the State was only fourteen. And what is very important, there was at that date no Canon of the General Convention which required the consent of the Standing Committees and House of Bishops, so as to make sure that a Diocese would choose a man fit and qualified for the high office of Bishop. When it was so difficult for the Clergy and Laity to get together in Convention, it was eminently wise to provide that no man should be chosen Bishop, unless he could command the votes of at least two-thirds of the small number of Clergy scattered over the whole State. Otherwise a convention of only little more than half the Clergy and Laity might have met and chosen a Bishop. In the present day of easy and rapid travel such a thing is impossible, and therefore this reason for the two-thirds rule does not any longer exist. Originally it was a wise provision for delay, so as to secure a fair majority of the whole Diocese; to-day it is a simple piece of obstruction, perverted from its original purpose, and used always in the interest of a small minority, who sometimes deserve no better title than that of ecclesiastical filibusters.

In 1792 Maryland elected her first Bishop. The Convention was held in Annapolis, in St. Anne's Church.

There was 21 Clergy on the list. The Rev. Dr. Claggett was unanimously chosen by the Clergy on the first ballot, and unanimously approved by the Laity on their first ballot. There was no one else to be thought of. It was like the unanimous choice of Gen. Washington for President by the Electoral College in 1789. Clearly, in this case, the two-thirds rule had no effect whatever. It neither facilitated nor hindered the choice of the Convention. Under any rule Dr. Claggett would have been elected.

But in 1812, when Bishop Claggett, then in his 70th year and very infirm asked for an assistant or Suffragan Bishop, trouble began, owing to the two-thirds rule. There were 18 Clergy present and the Rev. Dr. James Kemp, Rector of St. Paul's, Baltimore, was nominated by the Clergy, receiving 12 votes, exactly two-thirds. The Laity refused to approve, the vote being 13 to 11. Dr. Kemp had a majority of the Laity, but not the required two-thirds. The election was postponed, and the Diocese remained for two years without an assistant Bishop, while Bishop Claggett continued in very feeble health and unequal to his episcopal duties. In 1814, Dr. Kemp was elected by two-thirds of each order, the Laity having come to a better mind. Bishop Kemp died from the upsetting of a coach in October, 1827, as he was returning from the Consecration of Bishop H. U. Onderdonk, and the Convention of 1828 in St. Anne's Church, Annapolis, was called upon to elect a Bishop.

The Diocese had grown and now contained 45 Clergy and 46 Lay Delegates. Among the Clergy were two, eminent and very able men, both fit and qualified clergymen for the office of Bishop, the Rev. Dr. Wyatt and the Rev. Dr. John Johns. Dr. Wyatt was chosen President on joint ballot, receiving 47 votes, while Dr. Johns received 40. There was a strong desire on the part of the friends of Dr. Johns to elect him Bishop of Maryland, and the friends of Dr. Wyatt were equally eager to elect Dr. Wyatt. There can be no doubt that both of these divines were eminently fit for the office. Either one would have made a good Bishop. Dr. Johns was rector of Christ Church, Baltimore, and in 1828 was 32 years old; Dr. Wyatt was Rector of Old St. Paul's, and was in his 39th year. Dr. Johns was afterwards assistant Bishop and Bishop of Virginia from 1842 to 1876—34 years—and we all know what a noble record he left—how he was loved and honored all over the great State and Diocese of Virginia. He was a man of noble presence and courtly manners, amiable and affectionate in his disposition. His theology was of the so-called evangelical type of that day. Dr. Wyatt was equally eminent. He was of the High Church party and was President of the Lower House of the General Convention from 1829 to 1833, when he declined a re-election. He was thus for 8, General Conventions, covering a period of 24 years, by the repeated suffrages of the House of Deputies, the most distinguished Presbyter in the Church, and probably the only reason why he was not, like Dr. Johns, chosen Bishop of some other Diocese, was that no High Church Diocese happened to fall vacant until after Dr. Wyatt had reached an age which unfitted him for the onerous duties of the Episcopate. And yet, with two such notable Clergy within her borders, Maryland could not elect either one of them Bishop, because of the two-thirds rule!

To mark the separation between the Orders, the House divided, the Clergy sitting on the right hand of the chair and the Laity on the left.

At the first ballot of the Clergy, 42 voting, Dr. Johns received 24 votes and Dr. Wyatt 18, Dr. Johns having a good majority of 6 and lacking only four of the required two-thirds. But those four High Churchmen would not give way. In any other Diocese, Dr. Johns would have been elected, and a long, tedious, and at last disgraceful contest would have been prevented. The majority would have ruled and the minority would have acquiesced. The Convention adjourned and the Diocese had no Bishop. Party-spirit was vigorously at work and the partizans of Dr. Johns not unnaturally thought, as they had a clear majority and had nominated an undeniably good and able man, that the Wyatt party ought to yield. It required a change of only four votes, and these four practically dictated to the Convention and prevented any election from taking place. The Johns party determined to keep together and at all events to prevent the election of Dr. Wyatt, and the two-thirds rule enabled and encouraged both parties to keep up this unholy strife. In 1829 the Convention met again in St. Paul's Church, Baltimore. The balloting was a repetition of that of last year. The 5th and last ballot stood, 24 for Dr. Johns; 18 for Dr. Wyatt, and the Convention adjourned in despair, having again accomplished nothing.

In 1830 the Convention again assembled in St. Paul's Church. Churchmen had begun to be ashamed. Maryland dissensions had become a proverb of reproach. There was an anxious desire to bring this contest to a close. All this time, under the rule, at every Conventhe Laity had sat on the left hand of the Chair, silent spectators of contentions and wrangles of the Clergy and their unwillingness to make any compromise for the good of the Diocese. As soon as the Convention met, a Layman, Mr. Francis Scott Key, of Star Spangled Banner Fame—a devoted Christian man and a leader of the evangelical party—conceived the idea of a Committee of Conference, and moved for a Committee of eight, four of the Clergy and four of the Laity to confer together in a spirit of Christian conciliation,” and see if they could not agree upon some Clergyman whom they could recommend for Bishop of Maryland. At the head of this Committee was the Rev. Wm. Gray Stone, then Rector of Chestertown, great-grandson of the Colonial Governor Stone. In a short time the Committee of 8 requested Stone to retire, and the other seven agreed unanimously to recommend him for Bishop. This action, requiring both parties to give up, satisfying neither Dr. Johns nor Dr. Wyatt, and bringing in a new candidate, had the desired effect, and the Clergy voted 47 for Dr. Stone and 2 blanks. The Laity cast 58 votes, all for Dr. Stone.

Thus ended a long, tedious, exasperating contest of nearly three years, from October, 1827 to May, 1830—a contest which could never have happened but for the two-thirds rule. If history can prove and teach anything, it seems to teach this.

Bishop Stone died in February, 1838, and the Convention of that year met in May in Centreville, Queen Anne County. The friends of Dr. Johns and of Dr. Wyatt, untaught by past experience, determined to renew the struggle of ten years previous. But these two good men were of a different mind from their adherents, and they had resolved to do all in their power to put an end to this unseemly strife. Dr. Johns was chosen President on joint-ballot by a majority of one—52 for Dr. Johns, 51 for Dr. Wyatt—showing that the sentiment of the Diocese was nearly equally divided, and that it was hard to choose between two so worthy. Dr. Wyatt then read to the Convention a beautiful address prepared by Dr. Johns and himself, full of Christian love and ability. They entreated their friends to drop their names and think no more of them, and they both united in recommending the Rev. Dr. Enzo Potter to be Bishop of Maryland. Had this recommendation been heeded, the contest would have been ended at once and most happily, and Maryland would have had a glorious Bishop. Bishop Enzo Potter was a great man,—one of the most eloquent and wisest as well as many wise and eloquent who have adorned the House of Bishops. Truly a king of men and shepherd of his people. Unfortunately one of Dr. Johns’ friends persisted in refusing to follow the advice Dr. Johns himself, and being determined, if possible, to elect some pronounced Low Churchman, he nominated Dr. Henshaw, Rector of St. Peter’s, Baltimore, afterwards Bishop of Rhode Island. The Rev. McIlhiney, of St. Ann’s, Annapolis, then announced that if any other name than that of Dr. Potter was put in nomination, the agreement proposed by Drs. Wyatt and Johns was at an end. He therefore withdrew Dr. Potter's name and substituted that of Dr. Wyatt. Dr. Henshaw then withdrew his name and nominated Dr. Johns. It was the old story of ten years ago over again. The first ballot stood 26 for Dr. Johns, 22 for Dr. Wyatt; Dr. Johns having a majority of 4, but lacking six of the required two-thirds. The second ballot was 27 for Dr. Johns and 21 for Dr. Wyatt—a change of one vote. This gave Dr. Johns a majority of six, but he still lacked five of two-thirds. And so it went on, until the 8th ballot, the tables were turned and Dr. Wyatt received 25 votes, and Dr. Johns 23; Dr. Wyatt for the first time having a majority of 2 of the Clergy, but lacking 7 of two-thirds. This transference of votes from Dr. Johns to Dr. Wyatt would seem to show how nearly equal in merit and acceptability the two Clergymen were, and that the friends of Dr. Johns were a little less obstinate than their High Church brethren.

Then came the inevitable motion for a Committee of Conference "in a spirit of Christian conciliation,"—this time moved by Judge Chambers. The Committee recommended two names, the Rev. Dr. Eastburn, a well known Low Church Clergyman of New York, and the Rev. Francis L. Hawks, a celebrated High Churchman and most eloquent preacher. They further recommended that an informal ballot be first taken by the Clergy to decide between these two names, and that the person having the smallest number of votes be dropped. This advice was followed, and Dr. Eastburn received 27 votes (viz. all of Dr. John's party) and Dr. Hawks, 23, (viz. all of Dr. Wyatt's.) On the next regular constitutional ballot Dr. Eastburn was elected, receiving 42 votes, nine more than two-thirds. The High Church party honorably voted for him in compliance with the recommendation of their Committee of Conference. This election was immediately approved by the Laity. Throughout this contest (except in the one case of Dr. Kemp) the Laity were always the most reasonable, ready to agree to any "fit and suitable Clergyman," if only the Clergy could agree among themselves. The Laity cannot be held responsible for the ecclesiastical dissensions of Maryland from 1828 to 1840.

We have here a curious illustration of what the blindness of party-spirit will lead men to do. The High Church party professed to be unable to vote for Dr. Johns, not because they objected to him, but because they could not conscientiously vote for any man who held Low Church doctrines to which they were unalterably opposed. Dr. Johns had a majority of six and ~~was~~ elected by a majority of the Clergy over and over again, but the other party could not give him the 5 or 6 votes he needed to make the requisite two-thirds. And yet these same gentlemen, in obedience to the Committee of Conference, were able without any serious violation of their conscience, to cast all their 23 votes for Dr. Maston Eastburn who was as decided an evangelical Churchman as Dr. Johns, and moreover, as we know from his record as Bishop of Massachusetts, was a stiff Calvinist and Puritan, and, with all his estimable qualities, did not possess that genial, affable temper and those en-aging manners which made Dr. John Johns to be beloved by all, even by those who disagreed with his theological opinions. Now if 23 High Churchmen could yield to the Committee of Conference and vote for a Low Churchman and Calvinist like Dr. Eastburn (in order to break the dead-lock and give Maryland a Bishop,) why could they not as well have yielded to the often repeated voice of the majority, and have cast their votes for the amiable Dr. Johns who was one of themselves, well known, respected and beloved? The two-thirds rule is answerable for this.

But Dr. Eastburn declined the election, and there was a special Convention called, which assembled in St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, in August, 1838. Dr. Johns was chosen President. Again were Dr. Johns and Dr. Wyatt nominated, and again the same balloting was repeated, the more and one less for Dr. Johns and Dr. Wyatt. Dr. Johns 26, Dr. Wyatt 21. The next ballot would be Dr. Johns 27, Dr. Wyatt 20; Dr. Johns always having a majority. And so it went on till every one was not only tired and distressed but disgusted. At length the Committee of Conference "in a spirit of Christian conciliation" made the following remarkable report:

"That they have had the subject under their most serious consideration, and after a full, free, and friendly interchange of views and feelings, lament to say that they find it utterly impossible to unite in recommending the name of any individual (!) either in or out of the Diocese to fill the high and important office of Bishop of Maryland." What a humiliating confession! It was the two-thirds rule that stood in the way. It would have been easy enough to have nominated several distinguished presbyters (or individuals) who could have gained the majority vote. Nowhere, except in Maryland at that time, could such a sad condition of things occurred.

All this time the Laity had been silent, had cast no ballot. When this hopeless report was presented, one of the Laity tried to mediate—Judge Dorsey, a wise and able man, delegate from St. John's Church, Howard District, (Howard County not having been yet created) moved:

"That the Rev. Clergy of this Convention be respectfully entreated in the name of the vital interests of the Protestant Episcopal Faith, to unite with the Laity in a joint-ballot for the nominee to fill the present vacancy, and that they entertain and consider the nomination accordingly."

This motion was carried, but 16 Clergymen and 7 Laymen—principally of Dr. Johns' party protested against it as inconsistent with Art. 7 of the Constitution and conflicting with rights of the separate orders, and refused to vote. It was not unconstitutional, but it was certainly extra-constitutional, and it showed how irksome the Laity found the present rule, which allows them to take no part in the election until the Clergy have first come to an agreement.

On the joint-ballot Dr. Wyatt received a majority. Regular constitutional balloting then began. Dr. Johns receiving as before the majority, but there was no election.

Judge Dorsey then moved that according to the Scriptural use in the first recorded Episcopal election, lots be cast between Dr. Johns and Dr. Wyatt, but this proposition did not meet with acceptance and it was laid on the table.

To shorten a long and tedious story. The balloting went on and on between Dr. Johns and Dr. Wyatt. Then Bishop Kemper was chosen, but he declined. Then the Rev. Dr. Dorr, of Philadelphia was chosen, but he also declined.

At last in May, 1840, the Committee of Conference proposed for the second time the name of the Rev. Dr. Whittingham, and on the 50th ballot (counting from May, 1828) Dr. Whittingham was elected by a very large majority of both orders. Both parties, and indeed the whole Church, had become literally tired out, by this three years contest twice repeated, and unparalleled in modern ecclesiastical history.

The next election was of Bishop Pinkney in 1870. Dr. Pinkney received on the very first ballot of the Clergy 60 votes, lacking only one of two-thirds. He was elected on the second ballot receiving 72 votes, and the Laity immediately approved the choice of the Clergy. On motion the election was declared unanimous. The two-thirds rule in this election, as in that of Bishop Claggett, had no influence whatever, owing to the wonderful popularity of the Candidate.

The last election of 1884, is fresh in our minds, although—so frequent are the changes now-a-days in Maryland—there are only 62 Clergy on our list who took part in that election, and there are 122 new Clergy in this Convention who do not know by experience the difficulties we encountered ten years ago. The balloting began with 140 votes, (94 being the required majority of two-thirds,) falling off to 121 votes on the 36th and last ballot, 81 being the required two-thirds.

Suffice it to say that the much-beloved Dr. Leeds received the votes of the majority of the Clergy ten times, and the Rev. Dr. Eccleston once. Of the other Clergy who received large votes, but never a majority, it is not necessary to speak.

The Convention of May, 1884, adjourned without electing a Bishop, and a special Convention assembled in October of that year. A Committee of Conference—six of each order—recommended our present Diocesan, the Rev. Dr. Paret, and on the 36th ballot he received the requisite two-thirds of the Clergy and was immediately approved by the Laity. The result required 36 ballots and two Conventions.

From this historical recital the following facts stand out clear:

In two of the six Episcopal elections, that of Bishop Claggett and that of Bishop Pinkney, the two-thirds rule had no influence one way or another, owing to the remarkable unanimity that prevailed both among the Clergy and the Laity. In the other four elections, and notably in two of them—that of Dr. Stone and that of Dr. Whittingham—great difficulty, long delay, and bitter contention resulted which would have been speedily ended in every case had Maryland had the majority rule which prevails everywhere else—little Delaware excepted. In 1812, Dr. Kemp would have been at once elected Bishop; in 1828, Dr. Johns would have been elected at the very first Convention; in 1838, Dr. Johns again would have been elected on the first ballot of the Clergy with the probable speedy, if not immediate approval of the Laity; in 1884, Dr. Leeds would have been chosen on the 11th ballot with the certainty of immediate confirmation by the Laity. The two-thirds rule always stood in the way and gave the obstructionists their chance.

But what arguments are brought forward for adhering at the present day to the old two-thirds rule originally adopted under totally different circumstances?

Several arguments have been given.

I. It is said that it is a dear old Maryland rule, and therefore ought to be retained. It is hardly worth while to argue seriously with those who are mentally so constituted as to wish to retain on the statute book an old Maryland law which has outgrown its usefulness, simply because it was liked by their grandfathers and grandmothers. The same argument might have been used for retaining the old law of imprisonment for debt, which has been abolished in Maryland within our life-time, and many other old mistakes and abuses.

II. It is said (and this is the favorite argument) that the two-thirds rule carries out the will of the great majority, and enables a Bishop when elected to say and feel that the whole Diocese has united upon him (except an inconsiderable minority of one-third) and that he is the choice of all, etc. There would be force in this argument if it were well founded, but history (the best of teachers) shows us that the very reverse is the fact. Exclude the two exceptional cases of the unanimous elections of Bishop Claggett and Bishop Pinkney and look at the others.

1. Was the will of the majority enforced by the two-thirds rule in 1812, when Bishop Kemp was chosen by a majority of both Orders, and a minority of three Laity prevented his constitutional election?

2. Was the will of the majority carried out from 1827 to 1830 when a small minority prevented the election of Dr. Johns, though he was chosen by a majority of the Clergy over and over again?

3. Was the will of the majority carried out from 1838 to 1840, when the minority prevented the election first of Dr. Johns, and then of Dr. Wyatt, then of Dr. Henshaw, then of Dr. Whittingham, (who received a majority vote in 1839)? When it required four conventions to accomplish a constitutional election? When four different Clergymen were elected, Dr. Eastburn, Bishop Kemper, Dr. Dorr, and Dr. Whittingham, before one could be found willing to be the Bishop and Shepherd of a flock so notorious for dissension?

4. And then in 1884, when it is confessed we had much less trouble than usual, was it carrying out the will of the majority, that a minority should by means of the two-thirds rule prevent the election of two such Clergymen as Dr. Leeds, and Dr. Eccleston, both of whom were chosen by a majority of the Clergy? The truth is that the two-thirds rule, was adopted as a piece of obstruction and it does what it was intended to do. If a child will not do what he is bid, you can chastise him until he consents and does it. He can then say, and you can say, that he acts of his own free will and does the things because he chose to do it, but it would be more honest and more sensible to say he was forced to do the will of another rather than his own. In the same way, the two-thirds rule enables the minority to hold a rod over the majority, and say, 'If you won't take the Bishop we give you, you shan't have any Bishop at all.'

III. The advocates of the two-thirds rule then turn completely round and take the opposite ground. They say, the two-thirds rule is a good rule because it is a safe-guard in times of excitement and prevents the majority from having their way. The two-thirds rule says: Do not be in a hurry. Take your time. No matter if the Diocese is one, two or three years, without an Episcopal head. It is better for both sides to give way, and take for Bishop some Clergyman they had not thought of, but imposed upon them by the minority. Those who deliberately hold this opinion will probable remain immovable, but they cannot in reason maintain that the two-thirds rule carries out the will of the majority and at the same time prevents the majority from having its will.

IV Finally, it is said we have always had excellent Bishops in Maryland under the two-thirds rule. This is not denied. By the dispensation of a kind Providence, Maryland has always good Bishops,—distinguished Bishops. But we say that this is not because of the two-thirds rule, but in spite of it. And the results, though good, has been brought about with great difficulty, with long delay, and with much burning contention, and that what has occurred four times out of six may be reasonably expected to occur again. And further, Maryland has had no better Bishops than many of her sister dioceses which elect under the usual majority rule.

Would it not then be better for Maryland to fall into line with her sister dioceses and abolish the two-thirds rule, as the Diocese of the Eastern Shore has already done? Is there anything peculiar in the air or atmosphere of the Western Shore of the Chesapeake which renders it unsafe to trust a majority of the Clergy and Laity to elect a Bishop?

Since the time when our present two-thirds rule was adopted in 1790, the General Convention has surrounded the election of a Bishop with many safe-guards which had not then been thought of. No man can take his seat in the House of Bishops unless the choice of the Diocese is confirmed by a majority of all the Standing Committees, and by a majority of all the Bishops.

Would it not show more faith in the Divine guidance to trust to these safe-guards (as our sister Dioceses do) and elect a Bishop by the usual majority rule, instead of interposing a peculiar obstruction of our own devising, which really takes the decision from the majority and hands it over to a small minority?

Your Committee hopes that this very important question will once more receive fair and dispassionate discussion, and as the result of its deliberations and study your Committee begs leave to submit the following resolution to the Convention:

Resolved, That the following change in Article V of the Constitution be approved by this Convention, and that the same be transmitted to the several Vestries of the Parishes and separate Congregations, in accordance with Article XII of the Constitution:

Substitute for the present Article V the following, so that it shall read as follows:

ARTICLE V.

The election of a Bishop of this Church shall be made in Convention by a concurrent vote of the Clergy and of the Laity, the two Orders voting by ballot, separately, in open Convention, the Clergy first and then the Laity; and when all the votes of both Orders shall have been deposited, the tellers of the Clerical and of the Lay vote, respectively, shall proceed to count the votes, and if among those voted for, one shall be found to have received a majority of the votes of the Clergy and a majority of the votes of the Laity, he shall be declared duly elected.

Provided, That two-thirds of all the Clergy entitled to seats, and two-thirds of all the Laymen entitled to seats be present in the Convention; otherwise, a majority of two-thirds of each Order shall be required.

And provided also, That whenever it shall be proposed to elect an Assistant Bishop of this Diocese, notice thereof shall be given at an Annual Convention, and the election shall take place at the succeeding Annual Convention.

HALL HARRISON, Chairman.

JAMES H. WATMOUGH.

AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE V OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE DIOCESE OF MARYLAND.—MINORITY REPORT.

(Journal, p. 10.)

The undersigned, members of the special Committee to whom were referred the proposed changes in Article V of the Constitution, respectfully report their inability to agree with the majority of said Committee for the following reasons, viz:

To do so would change the method of electing a Bishop which has always been the practice of this Convention, and under which we have had a succession of Bishops of whom the Diocese may well feel proud.

Before we depart from our ancient custom, we should be well assured something better is offered us.

The proposed change has been several times before this Convention, but always defeated. In 1884, when the Convention was endeavoring to elect a Bishop, substantially the same change was proposed, and referred to a Committee. But when, in 1885, after a Bishop had been elected and men's minds had become calm, it was put to a vote and rejected by an overwhelming majority of both Orders.

The proposed method is not an improvement upon the old one.

We do not think the method that will most speedily elect a Bishop is necessarily the best one.

The office of Bishop being of so peculiar a character, one elected thereto by a bare majority of votes, could not, we think, produce so good results as one who had a more extended suffrage.

As was said in a prior report on this subject, the present method is an "important check and safeguard" in times of extreme agitation and excitement.

The undersigned therefore deem it unwise to make said changes at present, and offer the following:

Resolved, That the Committee be discharged from further consideration of the matter.

R. ANDREWES POOLE,
H. MARCUS DENISON.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON THE INTER-PRETATION OF THE VESTRY ACT.

(Journal, p. 7.)

The Committee appointed at the last Convention "to prepare an abstract of the chief provisions of the Vestry Act," beg leave respectfully to report that they have carefully considered the said Act, together with certain subsequent legislation interpreting and modifying it in some particulars, and have prepared, as instructed, an abstract of its most important provisions, which will be found appended to this Report.

In the performance of the duty assigned them they have sought to adhere strictly to the purposes declared in the Resolution under which they were appointed, namely, "to clear up doubtfulness of interpretation, and bring about a better understanding and a more faithful observance" of the provisions of the law. The first of these objects they have endeavored to attain by a careful collation of the different clauses or sections bearing upon the points at issue, and by having constant regard to the spirit as well as the letter of the law. As to the other objects declared, the bringing about a better understanding and a more faithful observance of the law, they have believed this could best be attained by a classification of the chief topics treated therein arranged in such form as to be more easily consulted and more quickly apprehended.

By means of a difference of type they have discriminated between the exact statements of the law, and the inferences or interpretations which it is proposed to set forth as expressions of the judgment of this Convention; and by means of marginal references to the law and to the canons, the sources of the text are indicated.

It is believed that all the specific questions referred to the Committee are answered by the Abstract, and also that "the chief provisions" of the Act are included therein, but no attempt has been made to present in this Resumé every minute provision of the law. We understood our Commission to be to present a summary which would be practically helpful to vestries and congregations.

To this end we recommend that the accompanying Abstract, if it meet our approval, be printed annually hereafter as an Appendix to the Journal, and that this year copies of said Abstract be sent to all the clergy of the Diocese, and to the wardens and vestrymen of every parish. We concur in the opinion expressed by a Committee of the last Convention that such a summary, if adopted by this body, though not legally binding, would nevertheless tend greatly to remove doubt and diversity in the observance of the law.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

RANDOLPH H. MCKIM,
R. H. PAINE,
ALEX. B. HAGNER,
SKIPWITH WILMER.

PROPOSED ABSTRACT AND EXPLANATION OF THE MAIN PROVISIONS OF THE VESTRY ACT.

Vestry Act of 1798.

(See Compilation of Canons, &c., pp. 65-124.)

I.

Chapter 24.

Qualification of Electors of Vestrymen.

Persons intending to vote must possess the following qualifications, to wit :

Sec. II.

1. They must be male citizens of the State or of the District of Columbia, and above 21 years of age.

2. They must have been residents of the parish where they offer to vote six months next preceeding the day of election.

N. B.—(1) If there be no parish metes and bounds, then they must be identified with the congregation whose Vestry is to be chosen, for six months next preceeding the election.

Act of Congress, 1874, Statute XVIII, p. 25.

(2) In the District of Columbia residence within the Parish is not requisite, but voters must have been for six months next preceeding the election identified with the Parish or Congregation.

Act of 1798, Chap. 24, Sec. II.

3. They must have been entered on the books of the Parish, one month at least preceeding the day of the election, as members of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

N. B.—(a) This 3d requirement is met if the name of the intending voter shall have been officially entered on any one of the Books of the Parish one month before the election.

(See Title I, Canon 18, § V, [11].)

Act of 1798, Secs. III and XIX.

Canon XXVII, of Md.

(b) By "the Books of the Parish," are to be understood, (1) The Register of Baptisms, (2) The Register of Confirmations, (3) The Register of Communicants, (4) The book kept by the Register for the enrolment of such persons as may apply to him, either in person or by letter, to be enrolled as members of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

(See Title I, Canon 18, § V [2].)

(XXVIIIth Article of Religion.)

(The Church Catechism.)

(c) By a "Member of the Protestant Episcopal Church," is meant one who has been made such either by Baptism, or by Confirmation, or by admission to the Holy Communion, and who continues to maintain his membership, or one who having received Baptism with due regard to its essentials in another Communion, shall have declared to the Register his attachment to the Protestant Episcopal Church and his desire to be enrolled as a member thereof.

Act of 1798, Chap. 24, Sec. II.

4. They must have been contributors to the charges of the Parish of such sum as the vestry shall require.

N. B.—(1) In parishes other than those of the District of Columbia, the Vestry may not lawfully require a contribution of more than $2.00 annually of each voter.

Act of 1874, Stat. XVIII.

(2) In the District of Columbia, if the pews are let, the voter must own or lease a pew or part of a pew; but if the pews are free, it is sufficient that he be "a stated worshipper in the Church"

—no fixed contribution is required. In the former case it is sufficient if the pew, or part thereof, be owned or leased one month before the election.

§ In the District of Columbia any Parish may prescribe other additional conditions to qualify persons to vote for Vestrymen. Id., Sec. 2.

• § In case of separate congregations or of Parishes to which special Acts apply, these qualifications are subject to such modifications as are specially prescribed in the charters thereof.

II.

Judges of the Qualifications of Voters, &c.

“The Vestrymen of each Parish, or a majority of those who shall attend, shall judge of the election of Vestrymen, and of the qualification of voters and of the qualification of the parishioners proposed to be elected as vestrymen.” Act of 1796

IV.

Annual Election of Vestrymen.

The election shall be held on Easter Monday in the Parish Church, or elsewhere, due notice having been given by the Rector. Chap. 24, §
IV.

At the organization of a Parish, eight persons shall be chosen by ballot from among the qualified voters to serve as Vestrymen. At each succeeding annual election, four of these shall, by majority of votes, be put out, and four persons shall then be chosen by ballot to fill the vacancies.

§ Vestries have power to fill vacancies in their body arising after the annual Parish Election. Act of 1821

V.

Oath of Office, &c.

Act of 1798,
Chap. 24, Sec.
VI.

Each person chosen a Vestryman shall subscribe the following: 1st. The oath of support and fidelity required by the Constitution and form of Government.* 2d. A declaration of his belief in the Christian religion. 3d. The oath of office, to wit: "I, A. B., do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of a Vestryman, of——Parish, in——County, without, prejudice, favor, or affection, according to the best of my skill and knowledge."

VI.

Quorum of Vestry.

Id., Sec. VII.

Any four Vestrymen with the Rector, if he shall attend, if not, any four without him, shall be a sufficient quorum for the transaction of any business whatsoever.

VII.

Wardens.

Id., Chap. 24,
Sec. XI.

Two Wardens shall be chosen each Easter Monday by the Vestrymen after the election of the same. They are charged with the preservation of order and decency in the church.

Id., Sec. XII.

Act of 1874,
XVIII, 2.

N. B.—The Wardens are not members of the Vestry. In the District of Columbia, however, "any parish may provide that the Wardens shall be members of the Vestry, and shall be elected in the same manner as Vestrymen."

VIII.

The Rector.

Act of 1798,
Chap. 24, Sec.
II.

"The Rector of the Parish shall always be one of the Vestry." and shall preside over its deliberations. He shall call special meetings except in certain cases. His consent is necessary to sale or transfer of property.

Sec. VIII.
Sec. XXIV.
Sec. XXIX.

IX.

Sale of Church Property.

Id., Sec. XXIX.

No vestry shall sell, alien, or transfer, any of their estates or property without the consent of five of their number (of whom the Rector shall always be one) together with both of the church wardens. In case there is no Rector, the consent of the Bishop is necessary.

*This refers to the oath required of all civil officers to support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution and Laws of the State.

X

Powers of the Vestry.

The Vestry are a corporation and body politic, with appropriate powers. By that name they are capable in law to sue and be sued. They are the Trustees of the Parish and have an estate in fee simple in the property of the Parish. It is theirs to appoint the Register of the Parish; theirs also to choose the minister or ministers of the Parish, "on such terms or conditions as they may think reasonable and proper;" "for such time as they may think proper."

MINORITY REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE INTER-PRETATION AND APPLICATION OF THE VESTRY ACT.

(Journal, p. 7.)

While concurring with the majority of the Committee in all other respects, the minority cannot concur in their definition of what constitutes "a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church" within the meaning of the Vestry Act.

In the opinion of the majority, a person is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church who has received baptism with due regard to its essentials in another Communion, and who has declared to the Register of a Protestant Episcopal Church which he attends his attachment to the Protestant Episcopal Church, and his desire to be enrolled as a member of this Church.

The position of the minority is that a person can become a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church only in one of the three ways, by baptism in the Protestant Episcopal Church, by confirmation in the Protestant Episcopal Church, or by admission to the Holy Communion in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Assuming for the purposes of this report that this Church recognizes as valid any baptism with water and the invocation of the Trinity, while such baptism may make its recipient a member of the holy Catholic Church, its recipient is not thereby made a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church" which is a particular branch of the Catholic Church, but on the contrary is thereby made a member of the particular dissenting body whose minister performs the rite. And in the opinion of the minority a person so baptized in a dissenting body cannot merely by attendance in a Protestant Episcopal Church and by an indication of his desire to vote and hold office, become a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church. On the contrary, in the opinion of the minority, a person so baptized can become a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church by confirmation only, or, if elsewhere validly confirmed, by a formal admission to the Holy Communion.

It is true that the office of this Committee is solely to interpret the meaning of a civil law, and that its province is hence legal and not ecclesiastical. It is, however, to be noted, that the Vestry Act of 1798, nowhere attempts to define what is meant by "a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church," and in the opinion of the minority no civil legislature has the authority or the right to make such a definition. The Vestry Act requires as a condition precedent to enrollment, voting, or holding office, that a person shall be a member of the Protestant Episcopal (and no other) Church. Under the Act a person must be a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church before he can ask to be enrolled as a voter and before he can vote or hold office. And it hence follows that no one can, by the act of holding office, voting, enrollment, or an expressed desire for being enrolled, thereby become a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The Vestry Act recognizes, as a class of persons already in existence, members of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and it confers its powers and privileges upon them, and them alone. Who those persons are; the Act does not attempt to define, and hence the definition of what makes a person a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church must be found outside of the Act itself.

Now where is to be found this definition? Valuable Church property interests in this Diocese may become the subject of civil litigation and such litigation may turn in the civil courts entirely upon the proper definition of "a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church." In such an emergency, where is the civil court which is to adjudicate the Church property rights to find the requisite definition? Such litigation is, unfortunately, by no means infrequent, and the decisions of the civil tribunals in such cases establish the rule, that, in all cases where the Religious Society involved has itself authoritatively spoken, its decision as to its membership is adopted as conclusive by the civil courts.

In the case of Bouldin v. Alexander, 15 Wallace, 139, Mr. Justice Strong, in delivering the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States, said:

"This is not a question of membership of the Church, nor of the rights of members as such. It may be conceded that we have no power to revise or question ordinary acts of Church discipline, or of excision from membership. As was said in Shannon v. Frost, we cannot decide who ought to be members of the Church, nor whether the excommunicated have been regularly or irregularly cut off. We must take the fact of excommunication as conclusive proof that the persons excised are not members."

In the case of McGuire v. Trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral, 3 N. Y. Suppl., 781, the Supreme Court of the State of New York, said:

"To place the matter in the strongest possible light, assume proofs to have been given that the intestate regularly attended Church services, held detailed articles of religious faith, still there is no legal principle or authority for a civil tribunal to adjudge him to have been a member of the Roman Catholic Church Plainly the question is without the limit of judicial investigation. . . . In my opinion its nature is purely religious, appropriate for decision by the empowered authorities of the Church. Among its tribunals will be found the decision."

So also in the case of First Baptist Church v. Witherel, 3 Paige, 296, New York, Chancellor Walworth said:

"Over the church as such the legal or temporal tribunals of this State do not profess to have any jurisdiction whatever except so far as is necessary to protect the civil rights of others and to preserve the public peace. All questions relating to the faith and practice of the church and its members belong to the church judicatories to which they have voluntarily subjected themselves. . . . I confess that I have always entertained serious doubts whether any civil tribunal in this State could interfere to prevent the majority of the corporators in a religious society from introducing such changes in the doctrine or modes of worship in their churches as they might deem expedient and which they could introduce through their trustees elected in the manner prescribed by law."

Numerous other decisions to the same effect can be cited. Among recent cases, all of which have been decided within the last five years, the following:

Christ Church v. Phillips, 5 Del. Ch., 429; Stewart v. Lee, 5 Del. Ch., 573; E. Norway Church v. Halvorson, 42 Minn., 503; Nance Busby, 18 S. W. Rep., 874, (a Tennessee Case); Jones v. State, 44 N. W. Rep., 658, (a Nebraska Case.)

In rare instances, however, in the absence of an authoritative decision of the religious body, it has been necessary for civil judges to express an opinion as to church membership. Den v. Bolton, 12 N. J. 246, before the Supreme Court of New Jersey was such a case. In that case the Court said:

"Simply holding the same faith, without submitting to the government and discipline of a church, cannot make or keep a man a member of that church. If a person without religious faith, or having the faith of one sect, becomes a convert to the spiritual views of another denomination, he does not thereby become, ipso facto, a member of the latter. The members of the Reformed Dutch Church in the United States, are not members of the Presbyterian Church, nor the Presbyterian members of the Reformed Dutch Church, although their faith is the same, the difference between them consisting in the form and mode of church government. To constitute a member of any church, two points at least are essential, without meaning to say that others are not so, a profession of its faith, and a submission to its government. The native of Canada, however pure may be his republican doctrines, however sincerely he may believe our constitutional and legal principles to be sound, and our political faith the only true faith, does not thereby become a citizen of the United States."

In view of this last decision, no civil court would ever hold that a member of the Presbyterian Church, made so by baptism therein, could by mere attendance at a Protestant Episcopal Church, and by an expressed desire to vote, cease to be a Presbyterian and become a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church. In accordance with Dev. Bolton, such a person must renounce the Presbyterian Church and confess the faith and submit to the government of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He cannot do this by a mere civil act, and can only do so by means of a religious rite such as is prescribed by the Protestant Episcopal Church. The Court drew a happy analogy, and might have added that the Canadian citizen residing in the United States could not by holding property, paying taxes, fighting in our armies, and desiring to vote, become a citizen of the United States. To become a citizen of the United States he must renounce allegiance to Great Britain and attach himself to the United States by the particular political ceremony prescribed by law. And a person can become a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church only by the religious ceremony prescribed by the Church.

It hence follows that among the declarations of the Protestant Episcopal Church must be found the essentials of membership therein. The minority submits that the mode of her membership can be sought only in her Prayer-Book, her Canons, and the declarations of the General Convention. The Prayer-Book and the Canons prescribe the necessary rites. The only question, hence, which remains open for discussion is whether or not those rites are exclusive. If they are exclusive the majority is wrong and can only be right on the assumption that other modes of acquiring membership are permissible simply because they have not been denied and excluded.

Now it is certain that neither the Prayer-Book nor the Canons of the General Convention sanction the proposition advanced by the majority. The limited time which has been at the disposal of the minority since the proposition under discussion was advanced by the majority has prevented an examination of all the Journals of the General Convention, but as far as the examination has extended the minority fails to find that the General Convention has ever passed upon a similar proposition. And the minority submits that the General Convention is alone competent to render an authoritative decision. The proposition of the majority is, however, in direct conflict with the resolution adopted by this Diocesan Convention at its last session. (Journal of Convention, 1893, page 32.)

Nor is the proposition of the majority sanctioned by Catholic usage. At the time of the separation of the American from the Anglican Church, it was still an open question in Great Britain whether or not dissenting baptism was valid for any purpose whatsoever, and in the opinion of the minority it is by no means a settled question in the Protestant Episcopal Church at the present time.

In England, it has since been definitely decided that a person baptized by a dissenting minister is not an "unbaptized person" within the meaning of the rubric preceding the Office for the burial of the dead.

which in the Anglican Prayer-Book reads,—“Here is to be noted that the office ensuing is not to be used for any that die unbaptized, or excommunicate, or have laid violent hands upon themselves.” (The Convention will note the significant change in the corresponding rubric in our own Prayer-Book.) But this is the extent to which the decisions go. The cases here referred to are three which arose in the Arches Court of Canterbury, to wit:—

Kemp vs. Wickes, 3 Phillimore Rep., 276; Mastin vs. Escott, 2 Curties, Eccl. Rep., 700; Titchmarsh vs. Chapman, 3 Curt. E. R., 847.

The case of Mastin vs. Escott was appealed to the Judicial Committee of the Lords of the Privy Council, and the decision of the Arches Court was sustained. (See 4 Moore's Privy Council Reports, 104.)

The opinions in these cases are voluminous, exhaustive, instructive and interesting. Each case arose from the refusal of a Rector of an Anglican Church to bury an infant which had been baptized in a Dissenting Church on the ground that the infant was an unbaptized person. While recognizing the validity of such baptism to the extent that such infants were not “unbaptized persons,” so that Christian burial could not be lawfully refused, the Arches Court was careful to express the opinion that such baptism was irregular, and that while such baptism may have made the infant a member of the Church of Christ it did not make it a member of the Church of England.

The first of these cases, Kemp vs. Wickes, created a great deal of discussion, and Hoffman's Ritual Law of the Church is the minority's authority for the statement that it was brought before the General Convention in 1811 for action, and that the General Convention decided that it was not expedient to take any action on the subject, so that in the Protestant Episcopal Church, at least, the matter is still an open question.

The minority submits that in thus exercising a wise caution the General Convention has set an example which this Convention can wisely and safely follow. The proposition of the majority, as a positive declaration, is novel, and until the General Convention has sanctioned or condemned it it would appear improper for this Convention to make such a declaration.

In view of the difficulty of securing eight Vestrymen, baptized or confirmed members of this Church, in some of our smaller parishes, it might be desirable and expedient to enlarge the electorate, but no motives of expediency or convenience should lead us into the enunciation of a false or erroneous doctrine. If it is desirable to enlarge the electorate in this Diocese, it should be done by an amendment to the Vestry Act, and not by a disregard of the sacred rites of this Church which alone admit to her membership.

If the Vestry Act had intended to extend the right of suffrage to all baptized attendants, otherwise qualified, its language could and would have plainly stated so. As aiding in the interpretation of the Act, it is to be borne in mind that under the prior laws all free white males over 21 years of age who paid poll taxes were qualified to vote at Parish meetings and to hold office, irrespective of their religious belief. This was one of the grievances which led to the passage of the Vestry Act, and it was for the very purpose of placing the affairs of the Protestant Episcopal Church exclusively in the hands of her members that the Act was passed.

The purpose and plain language of the Act are violated by the proposed declaration of the majority.

The minority hence offers the following resolution :

Resolved, that the abstract and explanation of the main provisions of the Vestry Act, proposed by the majority of the Committee on the interpretation and application of the Vestry Act, be amended by cancelling from note (c) section 3, article 1, the following words: "or, one who having received Baptism with due regard to its essentials in another Communion, shall have declared to the Register his attachment to the Protestant Episcopal Church and his desire to be enrolled as a member thereof."

LIBRARY REPORT FOR 1893-4.

To the Bishop and Trustees of the Maryland Episcopal Library:

Your Librarian has to report that the past year has been one of quiet, busy character. The Library has been in daily use, by the two classes of Theological Students, by the Examining Chaplains, by different Committees, and by general readers. These last are somewhat changed in character from what they were when the Library was first opened; then, there were more students for special purposes and reference books; now, there are visitors drawn by interest in books generally, or by curiosity, subscribers to the Lending Department, those consulting the old Parochial Records for Parish or family history, and a few Students;—in all 626,—not counting the Theological Students, Lecturers, Chaplains or Committees. Your Librarian has received 133 letters, and written 141, all on Library or Records business. Ninety-four [94] books have been added; 54 by gift, 40 by purchase, by direction of the Bishop. Three boxes of books were received from the widow of the Rev. T. Reed, of which 20 vols. were placed in the Library, and the others, being duplicates, reserved for the use of the Theological Students. The Catalogue of the Lending Department was mailed to all the Clergymen of the Diocese and to Subscribers, in June.—The accessions since have been reported in "The Maryland Churchman,"—and there is a list accompanying this Report.

A copy of the magnificent, illustrated Edition of the Standard Prayer-Book, bound in vellum, issued by the De Vinne Press, has been received from the "Committee of the General Convention on the Standard," through the Rev. Dr. W. R. Huntington. It has taken its place as the latest addition to our collection of American Prayer Books.

The certified copy of the same, (without the illustrations) sent to all the Dioceses, has also been received and placed with the Records.

The books of the Lending Department have been much more generally distributed through the Diocese than ever before, and none have been lost or injured materially in the mails. There have been 470 taken out, of which 78 are not yet back. Seventeen Clergymen outside of Baltimore have received and returned books.

The accessions have been by gift 54, by purchase 40, as follows:

The Church Eclectic, 18 vols., bound; Maryland Law Reports, 1 vol., from Mr. J. S. Stockett.

Sermons, Rev. Dr. Douglas, through the Bishop.

CHURCH.

(Journal, p. 16.)

The Committee on the State of the Church, having carefully examined the various reports made to the Convention at its last meeting, and compared them with the Reports of the previous year, would respectfully submit the following statement on the present state and progress of the Church in the Diocese.

There were reported to the Convention 1893:

Number of Clergy 185; net increase 2.

Parishes and separate Congregations, 128; net increase 2.

Missions under Diocesan control, 11.

Chapels of Institutions, 2.

Places of Worship, 205; net increase 2.

Clergy received by letter, 13; increase 1.

Clergy transferred to other Dioceses, 12; increase 4.

Ordinations, 5 Priests, 5 Deacons, in all 10; same as last year.

Postulants for Holy Orders, 20; decrease 1.

Candidates for Holy Orders, 11; decrease 4.

Deacons, preparing for Priest's Orders, 15; in all 46 persons under instructions; net increase 15.

Churches Consecrated, 4; net increase 1.

Baptisms—Adults, 262; Infants, 2,356; Not Specified, 124. Total 2,742; decrease 59.

Confirmations, 2,520; increase 730.

Marriages, 819; same as last year.

Burials, 1,555; decrease 39.

Contributions :—Parochial, $532,427.63; net increase $38,875.34.

Diocesan, $49,382.89; decrease $3,321.77.

Total $611,225.54; net increase $38,500.26.

Diocesan Contributions, $10,913.73 were contributed for Diocesan missions, an increase of $975.42; $2,995.14 were contributed to the Annuated and Disabled Clergy Fund. The Bishop's Penny Fund amounted to $652.89. Fund for Work Among Colored People, to $138; and the Fund for Religious Instruction, to $467.28.

We gather from these figures that there has been, on the whole, a steady and healthy progress in the work of the year; and the reports indicate a very gratifying state of material and spiritual prosperity. They give evidence, too, of great faithfulness and devotion on the part of the Clergy, and rich fruits have been reached by their earnest efforts. The increase in some departments of work has been most marked; while the decrease, in particulars when it occurs, is generally as may be expected, where conditions which affect them differ from year to year.

Our Committee would note especially the great increase in the number of Confirmations. The Bishop's earnest words, on this important subject, have been heeded by the Clergy, and borne fruit.

The net increase in the amount of contributions is also worthy of notice; especially in view of the fact that the pressure of the times had lately begun to be felt. Only in one particular does there seem to be cause for disappointment. While Parochial contributions show an increase of $38,875; and contributions for General Purposes, an increase of $2,947, there is a falling off in Diocesan contributions of $3,321. We believe that there is a deepening consciousness of the Church's Missionary character, and that the Clergy and Laity are more alive than they were, to the duty which they owe to Diocesan work, other than that which pertains to their own Parishes. We believe that congregationalism, or narrow parochialism is dying out; but these figures would seem to show that it is not quite dead. Church improvements, Rectory buildings, and Parish Houses, we are glad to see, are on the increase; and all as many other appliances now becoming necessary for the successful working of strong Parishes. But we submit that these things, however desirable, should not be allowed to cut down the contributions necessary for the general work of the Diocese. The move should be steady and sustained all along the line to insure real progress and success.

One particular your Committee does not feel sure of their report. The number of Communicants has been given; but we are not convinced it is correct. Only a slight examination of the Parochial reports is sufficient to show that there is inaccuracy; and therefore that we only approximate to the actual number. One Rector of a city Parish reports his "Church has for some years carried an inflated Communicant list." We have reasons to think that there are other inflated lists.

Another Rector, who has a Communicant list of nearly 1200, can only report one removal in the course of the year;—a remarkable showing for these days of change and unrest. There is, of course, some difficulty in keeping an accurate account of such numbers; but it is a difficulty which should be met. The Shepherd should, at least, be able to call his own sheep by name.

To insure a nearer approach to accuracy we would reiterate what has already been said on the importance of a stricter observance of the Canon which prescribes that Communicants removing from one Parish to another shall be furnished with letters of transfer. And we would venture further to suggest that when doubts exist as to the correctness of his list, the Rector should, through circulars sent to doubtful names, ascertain whether they are correctly recorded.

There is one other subject seeming to come within the scope of this report, which, because it involves a question of absorbing interest your Committee would venture briefly to notice.

We have reached that point in the history of our Diocese, where great possibilities open up before us. Prospects never seemed brighter; opportunities for pushing on the work of the Master were never greater. These facts call upon each and all for more earnest devotion, quicker zeal, and more entire consecration. To meet them, we need, besides, the wisdom which God gives; otherwise we may not rightly use the opportunities which His Loving Providence has put within our reach. If the division of the Diocese, so wisely discussed by the Bishop at the Convention of 1893, should commend itself to the judgment of this Convention, and the division be made, as he suggests, so as to divide equally, or as nearly equally as possible, the responsibilities and the burdens between the two parts, on lines fairly and equitably adjusted, with the great cities of Baltimore and Washington as the centres of work, we believe that the Church in Maryland will enter upon a career of prosperity and growth which she has never known in all her past history.

May the Holy Spirit of God preside in the deliberations of this body and grant to its members the grace and the wisdom to meet and to decide this all important and vital question to the glory of God, and for the best interests of His Church.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF MISSIONS FOR THE YEAR ENDING APRIL 30, 1894.(Journal p. 12.)

The Committee of Missions beg leave to present the following report for the year ending April 30, 1894. The membership of the Committee has continued as it was constituted at the last Convention with two exceptions. Mr. Charles M. Matthews having declined to serve, Mr. Henry E. Pellew was elected in his place, and the Rev. Mr. Stokes, Archdeacon of the Convocation of Baltimore, having been prevented by ill-health from accepting renomination, his place has been filled by the Rev. W. H. H. Powers appointed Archdeacon.

Four meetings have been held by the Committee during the year, at the first of which, in June, the fourteen thousand dollars ordered by the Convention to be apportioned among the Parishes and Congregations, was so distributed by adding seven per cent. in each and every case. It is satisfactory to know, judging from the very few appeals that have been made for abatement, that the sense of the Diocese is that the present apportionment is as nearly equitable as the Committee can make it. Many elements necessarily enter into the matter of distribution, of which the Committee from its composition, has a better knowledge than any one individual can have. This is the reason why the same apportionment is made year after year to Congregations or Parishes that never come up to the standard, never pay in the whole amount assigned to them. The Committee is convinced of the justice of the allotment, and knows that it could not with justice ease the one to the increase of the burden of the rest. The Parishes and Congregations of the Diocese form an association, having essential unity, because they are only the component parts of the Diocese presided over, as his jurisdiction, by the Bishop; for it is always to be borne in mind that we are an Episcopal Church. This association has also as the expression of its unity, the Convention, made up, as it is, of the pastors of the various sections of the Church in the Diocese, together with the representatives of these sections. And it is by their action, by their direction and approval, that the Committee works.

It is for this reason that in apportioning the amount appointed by the Convention the ability of each Parish and Congregation is considered, and why if one Parish or Congregation fails to comply with the requisition upon it, the burden so evaded or refused cannot be laid upon others. Every one must bear his own burden.

For what is the work of the Committee, as having received its appointment from the Convention and acting for the Convention? It is the making known the Gospel of salvation to those within our Diocese, who but for our efforts, our gifts and offerings, would be denied that knowledge. That is the work of the Committee, as the Convention has appointed it,—to extend the blessing of the Gospel of the Kingdom—a work in which it should be the pride and joy of every individual of every Congregation of the Diocese to take part.

Recognizing this, it will readily be seen that while small pecuniary ability, fewness of number, existing debt on account of necessary expenses upon or in a Church, must enter in determining apportionments, such other expenses as only satisfy luxurious tastes, ought not to enter in. These may be considered where there is abundant financial ability, but the preaching of the Gospel is a great necessity.

The Committee would also remind the members of the Convention that it is the agent of the Convention, and that being sent out with directions to pursue a certain work, it feels it has a right to demand of the members that they do, to their utmost, to provide means for the Committee. The work of Diocesan Missions belongs to every member of the Episcopal Church within the Diocese, and pastors are failing in their duty when they fail to give their people the opportunity or fail to remind them of their obligation, to promote the great cause. It ought to be our ambition to see that not a single locality in our Diocese is neglected, and that no man's soul is lost through our indifference. Let the Clergy do their duty as pastors and force the matter upon the attention of their people, and the cry of inability will soon cease.

In order to obtain the $14,000 dollars authorized by the Convention, 646 dollars were asked for from the Churches in the Convocation of Cumberland, $1,020 for those in the Convocation of Annapolis, $7,034 from those in the Convocation of Baltimore, and $4,950 from those in the Convocation of Washington.

It will also be found that 36 Parishes and Congregations in the Convocation of Baltimore honored these apportionments in full, and 16 Parishes and Congregations in part; while at the time of the last meeting of the Committee there were 12 Parishes and Congregations that had contributed nothing at all. In the Convocation of Washington 38 Parishes and Congregations have paid in full, 21 have paid in part, and 7 have paid nothing at all. In the Convocation of Annapolis 15 have paid in full, 8 have paid in part, and 4 have paid nothing at all. In the Convocation of Cumberland 12 have paid in full, 5 have paid in part, and 3 have paid nothing at all.

The summary of which is:

Parishes and Congregations paid in full	10
Parishes and Congregations paid in part	0
Parishes and Congregations that have paid nothing	6
Giving a total amount received by Treasurer	$10,853
Amount still due	3,175

All apportionments are due on or before the thirtieth day of April, the close of the fiscal year. The account, however, is brought up to May 8, the last meeting of the Committee to give the most favorable showing possible. It would be a great relief to the Committee if all Parishes and Congregations would pay in their quotas in full or in part early in the Conventional year.

Honorable mention is to be made of several of the Churches of the Diocese for contributing in excess of the sum asked of them. In two cases, one in the Convocation of Washington, the other in the Convocation of Baltimore, this excess has been large and of very material help to the Committee. It is to be regretted that the slowness with which the contributions have come in has delayed the payment to the Missionaries and other recipients, of their salaries for the fourth quarter of the current year.

The appropriations of the Committee for the year have been as follows:

Within the Convocation of Baltimore, to 15 places	$ 4,600
Within the Convocation of Washington, to 20 places	4,150
Within the Convocation of Annapolis, to 5 places	1,798
Within the Convocation of Cumberland, to 9 places	2,225

Giving total of appropriations..... $ 12,773

Of this sum 8,123 dollars were contributed for pastoral aid, and 4,650 dollars for the opening up and maintaining of new work.

In addition to this 1,500 dollars was appropriated to the salary of the General Missionary.

The demands for pastoral aid are about equally distributed over the whole Diocese, in the large cities as well as in the rural districts, and is just as important and necessary a part of the work of the Committee as the development of new fields. In some instances the aid extended by the Committee is showing its good results in the growing strength of the Congregations, and their ability to relieve the Committee in some measure. In other instances, as notably in the rural districts, from which there is a constant removal of people, and where the industrial interests are depressed, the demands continue the same. In one or two cases it has been found necessary to even increase the appropriation somewhat. The rule of a five per cent. reduction is applied in all cases where it has been thought to be advisable and right.

THE MISSION FIELD.

The condition of the Mission field proper is as follows: that is, as to Mission stations provided for in whole or in part by the Missions Committee. We acknowledge the difficulty of drawing the line; for all over the Diocese there are Mission Chapels, properly so called, for which appropriations are made by the Committee, and yet they are kept open by the services of Clergymen residing within reach. Were it not for the help so rendered by the Parish Clergy the Committee could not keep the Chapels open at all.

ALLEGHANY COUNTY.

In this county the only Missionary point maintained by the Committee, and that only in a limited degree, is St. James' Church, Westernport. Here a vigorous work is being carried on. A new Church has been consecrated since the last Convention.

ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY.

The work at Curtis' Bay has prospered. The new Church, now entirely finished and waiting for consecration, has been occupied since October. In the hour of great anxiety as to how the bills should be met, God mercifully in response to faith sent aid by the generous gift of Mrs. K. Blanche Woodyear, so that all obligations could be immediately met, and the Church completed in a most churchly way. The Chancel furniture was the gift of St. Peter's Church, Baltimore, other gifts also have been most generously bestowed. The congregations are constantly improving, as well as the Sunday School. The Parish School also has been a decided success, and is one of the most helpful agencies in a community like that at Curtis Bay, where home training of children in religious matters is so generally neglected.

BALTIMORE CITY.

The Chapel of the Holy Cross still continues under the devoted care of the Rev. Dr. Griswold, who has been for many years in charge. Measures have been taken by the Committee to increase the efficiency of the work, the importance of the field demanding care in addition to that which Dr. Griswold is able to bestow.

The Chapel of the Holy Evangelists, Canton, still continues under the care of the Rev. Mr. Meares, a difficult field, and slowly responsive to even the most devoted service, but where much has been and is still continuing to be achieved.

St. Andrew's Chapel and St. Clement's Chapel are still ministered to by one minister, the Rev. Mr. McPherson. It was feared at one time that this work would have to be abandoned. A canvass of the field, however, showed that to abandon would be a crime, and the work is now prospering favorably.

BALTIMORE COUNTY.

The work at St. Matthew's Church, Sparrow's Point, has lost ground, but only through the suspension of a very large part of the industries formerly carried on there. Hundreds of men were discharged with no reason to expect an early resumption of operations by the Steelton Company, so that upon their discharge they were compelled to leave the town. This state of things still continues. With the return of better days in the manufacturing world, our hope is to see this work resume its former effectiveness. The Missions at Sulphur Spring and at West Arlington continue to encourage the ministers in charge of them.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

A new work is projected at Brookland, but is not so far advanced that anything definite can be said of it.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

The Mission at Mechanicstown, now called Thurmont, is under the charge of the Rev. Mr. Whittingham, together with the Mission at Walkersville. Mr. Whittingham found it advisable to contract the territory under his charge to these two points along with Catocin, and is now to live in the midst of the people. A Chapel has been built at each of these places within the past year, the progress of the work encouraging the outlay. Most of the money necessary was contributed by the people themselves. That part of the territory which Mr. Whittingham felt it necessary to relinquish, is now under the oversight of the Rector of Ascension Church, Westminster.

The work at Brunswick has so far advanced that the Mission Church has been consecrated, and the work has grown to such a degree that it has been found necessary to provide additional help, the demands from this point and the rest of the Parish, being too great for one man to supply.

HARFORD COUNTY.

The one point in this county for which the Committee provides, is the Mission at The Rocks, of which the Rev. L. J. Sothoron has charge. This is a work begun only a few years since, which has, however, in spite of difficulties prospered. Like most places started in the midst of rural districts, the growth is slow. Mr. Sothoron has it in connection with Christ Church, Rock Spring. •

HOWARD COUNTY.

A new work has been projected in this county with Alberton on the Main Stem of the B. & O. R. R., as a centre. The Minister here, who has been appointed and will take charge in June, will have charge of several out-lying points, among them the Chapel of the Good Shepherd at Jonestown.

ST. MARY'S COUNTY.

The one independent Mission in this county is the Chapel for Colored People, St. Mary's, at Charlotte Hall. Here the Missionary, the Rev. Mr. Bryant, has been laboring for years with good results. The amount contributed by the Committee only supplements in a small degree that given by the Commission for work among the Colored People of Maryland.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.

In this county is to be noted St. Anne's Chapel, Smithsburg, cared for by the Rev. Mr. Costelle along with several other points. This work is small, the number of persons whom the Church has been able to reach up to this time being but few. As an appendage to other work, however, it is the bringing of Church opportunities to the people, with present blessing and the hope of far greater results.

It must be borne in mind that the above enumeration is only of independent Missionary stations, those to which the Bishop appoints the Minister, and for which the Committee in whole or in part, provides. Mission Chapels maintained by Parishes are found all over the Diocese, in the rural districts as well as in the cities.

THE GENERAL MISSIONARIES.

The Committee must express strongly its sense of the excellent work done by the Rev. Mr. Barr, the General Missionary of the Diocese. His duty is to go where he is sent by the Bishop, and to remain as long as the Bishop thinks he is needed. By his instrumentality many Parishes have been stirred up to new life, he being able, as being sent by the Bishop for the purpose, to act with far more directness in his approach to individuals, than a resident Minister would be. He is provided for almost entirely by the Children's Lent offerings through the Committee.

The Rev. Dr. Leakin, the Missionary to Public Institutions, has continued his blessed work of ministering to the sick in the Hospitals, to the unfortunate and outcasts in the prisons, and to the poor who have sought refuge in the Alms House.

FUND FOR THE SUPERANNUATED AND DISABLED CLERGY.

As will be borne in mind this fund is also in charge of the Missions Committee, and a very grateful duty is imposed upon the Committee in its administration. The Clergy are generally able to make some provision for their families, so that after their death they shall not be destitute, and many of them do it, either through our own Corporation for the Relief of the Widows and Children of the Clergy of Maryland, or some of the other Life Insurance Companies. To make provision for themselves and for their families in their old age, or when disease has broken down their vigor is but rarely possible. So that this fund either as a retiring fund when worn out in the service, or may be, only as a temporary relief when either overwork or disease may for a time render a brother incapable of labor, and demand that he take rest to recover strength, is exceedingly valuable. The Committee has reason to believe that no object for which they are called on to contribute commands more completely the regard of the Laity than this does. This follows of necessity from the very idea of a Church. As Ministers of Christ, working under His commission, compelled by the necessities of their calling to abstain from all the pursuits by which men may lay up in store against the approach of old age, receiving generally from their people only so much as is required by daily subsistence, their case appeals strongly to the better sense in every worthy Christian man. And the Laity of Maryland recognize this whenever it is brought to their notice, so that contributions come from a very large part of the Parishes and Congregations of the Diocese.

The statement of the account for the year is as follows:

Received from Parishes and Congregations.....	$ 2,631 90
Received from Trustees of Church Charities.....	773 66
Received from interest	76 90
Total	$ 3,482 46

Amount contributed to Clergy..... $ 3,087 50

There are at present receiving aid from the fund ten Clergymen. Of these one has been added during the past year. Two of those who were receiving aid at the time of the last Convention have passed away. The amounts contributed range from 100 to 500 dollars. The Permanent Fund has received no contributions during the year.

THE NEEDS OF THE COMMITTEE.

The needs of the Committee will be in no degree less during the coming year than they have been in the past. There is no place whatever from which the Committee can consent to withdraw a Missionary, and there is no place receiving Pastoral Aid that it thinks is receiving more than is necessary. Inability to appropriate from want of funds is the only thing that can compel such action. The Committee is applying as rigorously as the circumstances will justify the five per cent. rule of reduction, that is, that where any place has been receiving two hundred dollars or more for several years it deducts five per cent. year by year; in this way endeavoring to stimulate increased effort on the part of the people. In some cases this cannot be done, for the reason that instead of the Parishes growing stronger they are losing in strength.

The Committee, therefore, needs fully as much for the coming year as was ordered by the Convention last year. New fields are constantly opening, new demands are constantly made on the Bishop for the starting of new work, and the Diocese of Maryland ought always to be ready and glad to respond to these. We are the Church of Christ for the whole body of people, the Custodian of His interests in the building up of the Kingdom, and we are in default in the matter of our trusteeship, if we do not strive always to be ready.

The Committee believes that if its reports from year to year were brought to the attention of the people by the minister from the chancel, so that the people might be aware of the work done and the demands upon the Committee, far more interest would be felt by them. As it is, far too often the people are only notified that the collection for Diocesan Missions is to be made, with no information as to what "Diocesan Missions" means; or else it is not brought before the people at all; but in some other way either out of the Communion alms, or from Sunday School collections, a fractional part of what was assigned is contributed.

It is a great need of the Committee and of the Church of God that the people be informed.

The Committee beg leave to offer the following Resolutions :

Resolved: I.—That the Committee be authorized to appropriate the sum of fourteen thousand dollars for the work of Missions and for Pastoral Aid for the ensuing year, and to apportion the same for collection among the Parishes and Congregations of the Diocese.

II.—That, inasmuch as the obligations of the Committee are made for the year and are to be paid quarterly, the Resolutions appointing the Fourth Sunday after Easter for collections for Diocesan Missions and Pastoral Aid be rescinded, and that every Clergyman be urged to make his collections for this purpose—in whole if possible, if not, in part—before or during the Advent season.

III.—That the Fund for the Superannuated and Disabled Clergy be commended to every Parish and Congregation in the Diocese, and that every Clergyman be urged to bring it to the notice of his people.

IV.—That five thousand copies of the report of the Missions Committee, together with that of the Treasurer of the same, be separately printed from the pages of the Convention Journal for distribution in the Diocese.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

(Journal, p. 13.)

The work of your Committee for the year can be given in a few words.

We have met with the Bishop several times and have endeavored to use to the best advantage the money we have received.

We have distributed 492 Prayer Books and 200 Hymnals. We have paid towards the support of St. Mary's Parish School, Hampden, Baltimore, $300, and St. John's Parish School, Waverly, Baltimore, $50. We asked last year for one thousand dollars. The receipts and disbursements have, however, been only $419.20, all of which will fully appear by reference to the report of the treasurer. The contributions have come from 40 Parishes and Congregations. Under the circumstances your Committee have decided not to submit with this report, resolutions for the consideration of the Convention, but to make a few recommendations.

We believe it is desirable that for the coming year your Committee should be able to give St. Mary's Parish School, Hampden, $300; St. Barnabas' Parish School, Curtis Bay, $300; Charlotte Hall Industrial School $150, and St. John's Parish School, Waverly, $100. This will enable them to do that which otherwise will remain undone. These schools, with the exception of St. John's, are among an industrial population. The school at Charlotte Hall, St. Mary's County, is for young colored people learning trades and preparing themselves for useful avocations, and it gives Church instruction and influence where it is very helpful and greatly appreciated.

All of this proposed work will help to lay the foundations for self-support.

Your Committee further recommends the distribution of two thousand (2,000) copies of the Book of Common Prayer, one thousand of them at reduced rates among the Missions and weak Congregations; the other, gratuitously, among the people, other than of our own Communion. We cannot estimate the good to be accomplished by this course. Let the Prayer Book, the silent, yet potent missionary, go forth into the field!

To carry out these recommendations your Committee will need for the schools $850; and for the distribution of Prayer Books $300; in all $1,150.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWIN HIGGINS,
for the Committee.

May 30th, A. D., 1894.

TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF CHURCH CHARITIES.

(Journal, p. 16.)

The Trustees of Church Charities beg respectfully to submit to the Convention this their Twenty-fourth Annual Report.

Since the adjournment of the last Convention there has been but one meeting of the Board, held on the twenty-sixth day of May, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, the day of the date of this report.

The report of the Treasurer of the Board, which accompanies this, contains a detailed account of the receipts and disbursements from May 1st, 1893, to May 1st, 1894, and shows the amount on the last named day of the various funds under the supervision of the Board.

The investments held for the Maryland Church Building Fund, have been increased by the purchase of $2,000 of Baltimore City Three-and-a-half per cent. Stock.

the real estate in the City of Annapolis, constituting part of the Thomas S. Beall Fund, has been sold for the sum of $3,000, of which one-half was paid in cash, which has been invested in $1,500 Baltimore City Three-and-a-half per cent. Stock, and the remainder is secured by mortgage on the property sold.

The Board has received from the Treasurer of the Convention amount of the bequest of Mrs. Mary G. Worthington, deceased, the sum of $1,967.44, which has been invested in part in $1,900 of Baltimore City Three-and-a-half per cent. Stock, and the balance has been deposited in the Savings Bank of Baltimore.

The Board has also received from the Treasurer of the Convention a bequest of the Rev. Walter Williams, deceased, amounting to the sum of $511.52, which has been invested in part in $500 of Baltimore City Three-and-a-half per cent. Stock, and the balance has been deposited in the Savings Bank of Baltimore.

There have been no changes in the investments of the funds as appearing in the last report, other than those mentioned, and those arising from deposits and interest on deposits in savings banks, all of which appear in his present report.

The Board consists at present of the Bishop, and the following lay members, to wit: Messrs. R. Brent Keyser and Daniel M. Thomas, of the First Class; Charles F. Taylor and William Graham Bowdoin, of the Second Class, and John N. Steele and John M. Glenn, of the Third Class.

The term of office of the members of the Third Class expires with the adjournment of the present Convention, and it will be necessary for them to elect their successors.

WILLIAM PARET,

W. G. BOWDOIN,

Treasurer of Church Charities.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF WARFIELD COLLEGE.

(Journal, p. 27.)

The Trustees of Warfield College, as appointed by the Convention of the Diocese of Maryland in May, 1893, respectfully report: That they have organized with the election of the Bishop as Chairman, Mr. Joseph Packard, Jr., as Secretary, and Mr. H. Irvine Keyser as Treasurer; and that they have taken measures to open the School for the work of instruction in the coming September. For that purpose, from such of the Funds as were by action of the Convention placed under the control of the Bishop, they have been able to appropriate and use about $3,000 in putting in order and furnishing the buildings which they found upon the property. With this sum, though not accomplishing all that they could wish, they have reason to believe that everything will be in excellent order for the accommodation of twenty pupils. After this expenditure there remains a permanent investment producing income of about $15,000, part of the Bequest of Miss Susannah Warfield.

They have also appointed Mr. C. W. Stryker as Head-Master; and they feel that they have every reason to commend the Institution as it will be under his care, to the confidence and patronage of Churchmen, especially of the Churchmen of Maryland; and having the interests of the people of Maryland especially in view, they have arranged that the charges shall be most moderate, not to exceed $300.

Your Committee find themselves unable to render an exact statement of their operations and especially of the financial part, because they are not yet in possession of the Funds. By the action of Convention heretofore, the real estate was put under the management of these Trustees; the part remaining of the Holmes Bequest was placed at the disposal of the Bishop; but the Warfield Bequest, the money amounting as before-said to $15,000, is held by the Trustees of Church Charities until otherwise directed by the Convention.

It seems desirable, and indeed necessary, that all the property should be under one management; and the Trustees therefore ask that the money invested, as well as the real estate, should be placed in their keeping and management.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF HANNAH MORE

(Journal, p. 25.)

The Trustees of the Hannah More Academy beg leave to report that the Diocesan School for Girls has met with a loss during the Conventional year, in the death of its late Rector, the Rev. Dr. Rich, which has required of them the most careful and anxious consideration of the steps to be taken for its future management, and that while the school has been well and prosperously conducted during the past year, they have realized its future would depend upon their ability to fill the vacancy occasioned by his loss, especially because it was under his wise and judicious management for forty-one years, that the school had been brought to its condition of efficiency and usefulness to the Diocese, as its Diocesan School for Girls.

They have the satisfaction to report that they hope and believe the steps taken in this behalf will result in the maintenance of the school up to its past well-earned standard.

They submit the accompanying report of the Chaplain, the Rev. Alex. M. Rich, as part of their report.

Respectfully submitted in behalf of the Trustees.

GEO. C. STOKES,
Secretary.

THE HANNAH MORE ACADEMY, THE DIOCESAN SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

It having pleased Almighty God to take from his earthly labor of love, our devoted and most efficient Rector, whose life was spent in the work, it has been the desire and aim of each member of the Faculty to keep up to his standard the methods so successfully carried into operation by him for forty odd years.

Under the superintendence of Mrs. Rich, aided by her son—the Chaplain—through the favor and blessing of God, the school has been very prosperous, in spite of the financial stringency of the times.

Forty-seven boarding pupils have been enrolled during the year, ten day scholars have been in constant attendance, and four others have taken a special course in Music, Type-writing and Stenography.

The Faculty is composed of fourteen officers and teachers; eight of whom reside in the school.

The health of the pupils has been unusually good.

Morning and Evening Prayer has been said regularly except on Saturday evenings; with two Services on Sunday, with a Sermon, Lecture or Catechising—and in addition several early celebrations, in St. Michael's Church, which is within the grounds.

The first school period each day is devoted to lectures or recitations on Christian subjects—with an exposition of the Prayer Book on Mondays and Fridays, and in addition a lecture each Wednesday and Friday night during Lent on the Church Catechism.

On Sunday nights, alternating with the meetings of the T. T. Missionary Society, a Bible class has been conducted by the Chaplain, for the study of one of the Gospels.

Seven of the pupils were confirmed at the Visitation of the Bishop on February 5th, and there are forty-four communicants in the school circle.

The work of the T. T. Society has been satisfactory, the full amount being raised for the Scholarship in Liberia—the object of the society has been carefully carried out in training the girls for thorough Church work, and to make systematic offerings. A branch has been organized to work for Home Missions—the Bishop's Guild, which has done much to develop the skill of the pupils in needle-work and fancy articles, besides sending their quota to the general fund.

In the literary department we have aimed especially at thoroughness; the diligence and interest of the pupils have been carefully sustained, and several of the classes have progressed beyond the former standard.

Five of the pupils having completed the full Academic course, expect to graduate in June, and two of them are candidates for a Diploma in Type-writing and Stenography.

Believing that for, Mens sana in corpore, exercise is necessary, a Calisthenic class has been drilled daily in dumb-bell and wand exercises, which has conduced greatly to the strength and health of the pupils.

We have retained during the year Mrs. M. B. Waties, of Tallahassee, Florida, as head of the household; her refined, dignified and gentle Christian character has had a most salutary influence.

ALEX. M. RICH.

From ladies in Oconlo, Wis., I received a very useful box of clothing for my school-children.

The expense of my Christmas Festival, $16.31, was given by friends in Baltimore; 50 oranges from a lady in Annapolis; candy and dolls from a lady in Baltimore; a box and barrellfull of toys and useful articles given through St. Monica's League in Washington.

I have never marked the four boys last confirmed, as "Communicants ready," because they never have been communicants: one, the steadiest, is careless, No. 2 had to be expelled from school and choir for gross behaviour, and, on account of conduct outside, is under surveillance of police. No. 3, belonging to a grossly immoral family, is quite self-detached from us. No. 4 stole money and attempted to obtain more by fraudulent pretences. The last is now my sexton, as he confessed, when found out, and begged mercy, which was given for the sake of his widowed mother, who is a respectable communicant.

In the 100 communicants which I have marked as "the present number of the church," who have presented themselves only during the year; none of these has a term of irregularity of the "removals," one was removed for absence from attending for Philadelphia; the others have no irregularities, save one instance, and I can only say that the Church is stronger in the presence, though I mourn for themselves. The condition of things is more decidedly better than it was at the last year's conference.

Of the 100 communicants, 100 have received the penitence for past sins, of which 100 have been absolved about to be confirmed, as a result of the penitence.

Many of the communicants are married families, and are anxious to have their children confirmed by parental influence.

Since last May my Sunday School has doubled its numbers.

The general feeling manifested in Annapolis, both by white and colored, has been kindly; there have, however, been peculiar difficulties which have lamentably crippled my work, and in view of which it seems little less than miraculous that I have been blessed with any success at all. The colored people themselves tell me that "things are coming round," and I can perceive some degree of truth in this assertion.

THOMAS J. WYATT, Assistant Minister.

St. Luke's Chapel—Harrisonville Mission.

Services were held every alternate Sunday during the year, (27 services) twice on St. Luke's Day, once each, Christmas Day and Good Friday, 31 services in all. The Holy Communion was twice celebrated, the Deacon assisting.

There have been two baptisms, three burials, and one wedding.

There are thirty-four families, 115 individuals, and 50 Communicants connected with the Mission; having lost 3 Communicants by removal, and one by death since last report, and having gained 2 by removal to the Mission.

The contributions to the Mission and the offertories have been $211.25, expended as follows:

Theological Education $2.50; Superannuated and Disabled Clergy Fund $3; Colored Work in Maryland $1; General Missionary of the Diocese $1; Diocesan Missions $6; Expenses of the Mission, including contributions to the Deacon in charge $197.75; Total amount $210.25.

The Chapel is entirely free from debt, and is insured for three years.

In connection with this work the Deacon has held services 4 times at Granite, about 3 miles distant from the Chapel, and has assisted in celebrating the Holy Communion twice in private to the sick, and has had prayers with the sick 16 times.

Middlehand Chapel has been vastly improved at a cost of some $600, of which about $275 was contributed from outside sources.

On the Sunday School room in Chitron Neck, which seems about to aspire to the title of Chapel, has been expended some $75 in a neat addition and new roof.

The new work at Broome's Island is encouraging.

Twenty-seven of the communicants reported are colored persons. Owing to vacancies in the Rectorship there has been no full report made since 1891. The present Rectorship dates from August 15th, 1893. The Rev. R. Whittingham, Diocesan Missionary, has continued to work at points in this Parish. The Rector of Reisterstown Parish has, with my approval, begun mission work at Finksburg. The Priests of the Order of the Holy Cross have, at the Rector's request, ministered in the Jail and Alms House. 1894 completes the fiftieth year of our Parochial Organization.

The Parish Register has been carefully revised, and after long and laborious effort to secure an accurate result we have stricken from the roll of our Communicants the names of 266 persons. These may be regarded as the accumulated losses of the last eight or ten years, chiefly of persons who removed from the city, or the Parish, without notifying the Rectors, and leaving no trace whereby their whereabouts could be discovered. The majority of these names are of persons never known to the present Rector, and of whose address there was no trace when he took charge of the Parish.

In reporting Catoctin Parish as once more consolidated, it must be remembered that the old and only Church building of the past, and "Harriott Chapel" had been for years nearly defunct as a Church center;—without Rector or Vestry, or Delegates to Convention.—For several years it had only occasional ministrations. The entire failure of the Furnace works and the decadence of all iron manufacture had utterly destroyed its financial ability. There is but one Church Family on the spot, by which everything that had been done in Church Work is done at Harriott Chapel. In the last two years by efforts made at the two extreme ends of the Parish (twelve miles apart) the scattered members of the Church have been gathered together and two Church buildings have been procured. One a frame building, seating 200, finished and just ready for Consecration. A second, also frame, and seating 100, in process of erection at Walkersville. At both these points, good promise of gain in souls, and ability for self support is evidenced and most encouraging result attends the little that has been done, and it seems as though there may be a growth generally that will carry on the weakened and nearly destroyed centre of Catoclin Furnace.

J. C. KOON, Rector.

REPORT OF GENERAL MISSIONARY.

During the Convention year, I have visited twenty-nine Churches and Chapels, in eight Counties and the Cities of Baltimore and Washington.

In Charles County, I twice visited Trinity Parish, containing Church and Chapel ten miles apart, and spent eighteen days, including three Sundays and Ascension Day. Held one Service each Sunday in both Church and Chapel, and in Church on Ascension Day, and celebrated Holy Communion at each Morning Service. Visited 105 families, celebrated Holy Communion four times in private for the sick, read the "Committal" of the Burial Service one time, baptized 4 infants, and got up arrears to Convention Fund and Committee of Missions.

In Charles County, I visited William and Mary Parish, Christ Church, five times, including three Sundays in December, one Sunday in April, Christmas Day, Good Friday, Easter, and Easter Monday, and administered the Holy Communion on each Sunday Morning save one, and also on Christmas and Easter Mornings. Made fifty-nine visits to families, gave two private instructions on Confirmation, induced the Vestry to pay arrears to Convention Fund and Committee of Missions, secured $234 supplementary to their Endowment for the Salary, and assisted them as far as I could to elect a Vestry on Easter Monday.

In Charles County, I made one visit to St. John's Chapel, Bumpy Oak, Rev. Theo. Smoot, Deacon in charge, conducted Monday Service and celebrated Holy Communion, assisted by Mr. Smoot, and preached. Made three visits.

In St. Mary's County, I, for the third time visited King and Queen Parish, holding Whit-Sunday Service and celebrating Holy Communion at Chaptico Church. Made fifteen visits, twice administered Holy Communion to sick persons in private, secured additional subscriptions to the Salary, and met and counselled the Vestry of the Parish on the important question of the division of the Parish.

In St. Mary's County, I visited St. Andrew's Parish, St. Andrew's Church, and St. Peter's and St. James' Chapels, and spent two weeks, including three Sundays. I made thirty visits, and prepared five persons for Confirmation. I held three Sunday Morning Services, celebrating Holy Communion each time, two at St. Andrew's and one at St. Peter's, and two Evening Services in St. Peter's and one in St. James' Chapel.

In Anne Arundel County, Westminster Parish, St. Margaret's Church and Glen Burnie Chapel, I spent seventeen days, including three Sundays. Held two Morning services in St. Margaret's and one at Glen Burnie, administered the Lord's Supper each time, and had two Evening Services at Glen Burnie and one in St. Margaret's, celebrated Holy Communion for two sick persons, once for each, and made 30 visits to families.

In Baltimore County, I visited Western Run Parish, St. John's Church, Worthington Valley, three times and spent eighteen days, including four Sundays. Each Sunday Morning, I had Service and celebrated Holy Communion. Made twenty-three visits, and secured $451 on Salary.

In Baltimore County, I twice visited Trinity Church, Long Green and Dulaney's Valleys, spent twenty days, including four Sundays and Thanksgiving Day, on all which I held Morning Service and celebrated Holy Communion, made forty-two visits, and secured $500 for Salary and $736 additional on the Rectory Fund.

In Howard County, I made five visits to Alberton and Jonestown, nearly three miles apart, Alberton being on the Patapsco River and B. & O. R. R. "Main Stem," while Jonestown is an inland hamlet. At Jonestown, I officiated on Sunday afternoons in the Chapel of the Good Shepherd, for years the property of the Convention. At Alberton, which, to further describe it, is the cotton manufacturing town of James A. Gary & Co., I first held Service at night, Monday, Aug. 21st. 1893, in the "Union Evangelical" Church, kindly lent me by its officials, and had a congregation of about one hundred and twenty-five; next, on two nights of the following week and on the Sunday morning succeeding in the Public Library Hall in the village, courteously prepared for my services by the Manager, celebrating Holy Communion on the Sunday morning; and at all subsequent visits, save one, in the Chapel provided for us almost magically through the zeal of our few people and by the order of the proprietors. At the Bishop's visitation, April 10th, 1894, the Chapel being too small, Confirmation Service was held at night, in Library Hall, which was beautifully prepared for the occasion, and in which, notwithstanding the great snow storm prevailing, nearly four hundred people assembled to witness, for the first time in nearly all cases, "The laying on of Hands" by the Bishop of Maryland. In August, 1893, I found twelve Communicants; now there are eighteen. Then, there was no Church organization; now, there is a comfortable Chapel of 120 adult sittings, in which there are frequent Services and celebrations of the Holy Communion, and where a flourishing Sunday School of one hundred and forty officers and scholars meets every Sunday morning under efficient management, and led in Church hymns by an educated musician playing on their own new organ. At Alberton, I baptized seven "of riper years" and eight infants and children, made sixty-five visits, secured $131 on Salary, and $15 at Jonestown.

In Frederick County, I made three visits to Zion Parish, Urbana, the field of labor of so many good men in days gone by, once so flourishing, but now so reduced in numbers, and spent eleven days, including three Sundays. I held two Sunday morning Services, celebrating Holy Communion in both, and one Sunday night and five week-night services, all of which were well and encouragingly attended, and lasting interest aroused. Made twenty-one visits to families, prepared and presented to the Bishop three candidates for Confirmation, (of whom one was a faithful Vestryman aged seventy-seven years and another his youngest daughter,) got $123 in subscriptions for the Salary and $65 for repairs on the Rectory.

In Frederick City, preached in All Saints' Church; and assisted at Services both Confirmation and the Consecration of the new Church in the thriving town of Brunswick. .

In Washington County, in St. Luke's Church, Pleasant Valley, I was with the Bishop at Confirmation Service.

In Prince George's County, I visited Queen Anne Parish, Rev. F. B. Randall, Deacon in charge, spent twelve days, including two Sundays and All Saints' Day, celebrating Holy Communion at all three Services, made an address to the Sunday School of the Mission at Hall's Station, Pope's Creek, R. Road, a live and auspicious work, begun and continued by Mr. Randall, personally, celebrated Holy Communion for one aged sick person, made twenty-two visits, and started the people of the Parish in the good work of putting stoves in the Rectory and re-painting the venerable St. Barnabas' Church inside, for the latter of which, the ladies had, several months before provided the money.

In Prince George's County, I visited and examined St. Philip's Colored school, at Woodville, and found evidence of discipline and good work generally by the English lay-instructor, Mr. Taylor.

In Prince George's County, I visited Christ Church, Accokeek, Rev. Theo. Smoot, Deacon in charge, saw three families, conducted morning Service and celebrated Holy Communion, assisted by Mr. Smoot, and preached. Administered Holy Communion to one sick and aged woman, at house, where all others were Romanists.

In Baltimore City, I attended for two days, the Diocesan Convention, in Emmanuel Church. Several times conferred with the Bishop about my work. Made an address on Diocesan Missions at the November meeting of Convocation. Spent Sunday 20th, of January, at Church of the Prince of Peace, Highland Park, Rev. H. T. Sharp in charge, making Missionary addresses, one to the Sunday School, and two to the Congregation and made three visits. Sunday, January 27th, made two Missionary addresses in St. Bartholomew's Church, Rev. E. H. Ingle, Rector. Made one visit also. Baptized, in another part of the City, the little child of a former parishioner without a pastor.

Spent Sunday, 3rd of February, at work in St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Rev. C. Ernest Smith, Rector, making an address to the Sunday School, one to the morning Congregation, and preaching at night. Sunday, February 17th, I passed in Ascension Church, Rev. C. C. Griffith, Rector, making addresses to two Sunday Schools, and morning Congregations and preaching at night Service. On Wednesday night, March 7th, I delivered an address on Diocesan Missions to the Congregation of Advent Chapel, South Baltimore, Rev. Chas. A. Hensel in charge. The Chapel was full of working people, and all seemed interested to the end.

In Montgomery County, Silver Spring Parish, by permission of the Rector, I twice celebrated the Holy Communion for a very aged friend.

In Washington City, D. C. I attended the December meeting of Convocation, and made an address on Diocesan Missions. In the Church of the Epiphany, Rev. Dr. McKim, Rector, on December 17th, made a Diocesan Missionary address on "Silent Churches," before the Bishop's Guild of Women. On Sunday, February 11th, I made an address on Diocesan Missions in St. Paul's Church, Rev. A. Harding, Rector, to a full Congregation of more than seven hundred people who gave unflagging attention. In the same Church, a few days later, by request, I met and gave a brief address to a Missionary society of the Parish. In April, on Sunday, made an address in Epiphany Mission Chapel, Rev. Mr. Hilliker in charge. Baptized a child of a widowed friend without a pastor. Made twelve visits to sick friends. Celebrated Holy Communion twice at home, for a sick woman from the West, and not attached to any Parish. Read the "Committal" at the burial of one of my female connections.

Recapitulation: Sunday Services, 54; Week-days 18; Sermons and addresses, 95. Offerings: Committee of Missions, $141.12; Convention Fund, $50. Holy Communions, Public, 33; Private, 13. Baptisms, 24. Candidates instructed and presented for Confirmation, 13. Burials, 2. Visits, about 450. My visits include always, the discussion of the affairs of the Parish in which I may be at work, Scripture reading and prayer, and frequently instruction about Confirmation, the Church, or some other Article of the Faith. They also suggest the many hundreds of miles travelled to make them by water and land, in many kinds of vehicles and on foot.

With cordial thanks for your unceasing kindness and courtesy during the past year of our intercourse, I am

Very sincerely Yours, dear Bishop,

DAVID BARR,

Washington, D. C.

General Missionary.

I respectfully present my 51st Annual Diocesan Report:

Regular Services.—Female House of Refuge, Aged Men's Home, Aged Woman's Home, Bayview Asylum, Jail (Men and Women)—76.

Hospitals.—City, Maryland General, Baltimore University, Maryland University—45.

Occasional Visits.—Blind Asylum, Anchorage, Home of Incurables, Emmanuel House, Sheppard Asylum, McDonogh School, Chattolane, Penitentiary—13.—Total 134.

Baptisms, Infants 3, Adults 2—5. Marriage 1. Confirmed 3. Funerals 5. Holy Communion on 13 occasions, including a public celebration at Bayview to 25, at Aged Woman's Home to 12, and at City Hospital to 8 Communicants.

During a brief sickness the Services were kindly rendered by the Rev. Edward H. Ingle, the Rev. Samuel H. Griffith, and the Rev. A. De Rosset Meares.

Several eminent Physicians, at my request, have given valuable Lectures on the human body and the laws essential to physical and moral health.

I have corresponded with the Church Emigration Society of England in reference to such emigrants settling in Maryland, and look forward to some system beneficial to the State, to the emigrants, and to the surrounding community.

GEO. A. LEAKIN,

Chaplain of Public Institutions and Seamen.

TO THE RT. REV. WM. PARET, D. D.:

The undersigned as Missionary in Carroll and part of Frederick County, has officiated at the points previously reported, viz., New Windsor, Union Bridge, and Walkersville, during the months from June last to December, at regular intervals. From December to April, at the Bishop's request, he took up the additional points of Harriott Chapel and St. Stephen's Chapel, endeavoring to keep up regular services at the several stations delegated. By holding three services each Sunday he was able to do so, though as the extreme points were twelve and twenty miles apart, it was only as the railroad afforded facilities that the latter case was accomplished. A severe attack of grippe the last part of December compelled a cessation of three Sundays, which were, however, the only failures in any one of his appointments throughout the year.

He has held 225 services, preaching 160 times; delivering on week days and other periods 20 addresses and lectures. During Lent he held services twice a week at both points, Thurmont and Walkersville, twelve miles apart, and one service each Sunday at these two places,—besides the intervening Catoctin Furnace, or alternate New Windsor.

The Holy Communion has been celebrated in public 14 times, in private 3 times. Five infants have been baptized, no Confirmation held, no Communicants received, but one removed. One Burial service performed. A Church building, designed to accommodate 100 persons, is now in progress of erection, sufficient funds having been contributed and collected at Walkersville to pay for the work when completed. A half acre of ground in a very desirable situation in the town of Walkersville has been secured for their purpose. Let us hope that ere long funds will be accumulated to pay for it.

In March, with the approbation of the Bishop, the Missionary resigned his care of Carroll County and took up the charge of Catoctin Parish with the stations in Frederick alone. The three points so held by him are Thurmont, Catoctin Furnace and Walkersville. It should be understood by all interested in this part of Maryland work, that Mechanicstown no longer exists. The name has been for some time legally and entirely altered to Thurmont. Railroad, mail service and express officer recognize only Thurmont as its proper title.

R. WHITTINGHAM.

THE CHURCH HOME AND INFIRMARY.

NORTH BROADWAY, BALTIMORE.

This institution of the Church has been doing its beneficent and charitable work for more than thirty years. Recently it has been enlarged to nearly double its former capacity. It has two distinct characters and lines of work; that of a

CHURCH HOSPITAL,

where those requiring surgical or medical attendance can, at reasonable rates, obtain comfortable rooms, careful nursing, and the services of any physician whom they may engage; and it is also

A HOME FOR THE AGED AND THE INVALID,

where they may enjoy the comforts and the privileges of the Church. There are daily services in the Chapel, and in the Home there is a Resident Physician. The Church Home is supported in the following way:

1. Partly by Churches in Baltimore, who engage to contribute a certain sum for the year, and who have the right to place a patient in the wards for every $200 annually contributed. In this way some Baltimore Churches keep one, or two, or five, or even ten Beneficiaries in the Home.

2. Partly by endowment, and Income from Invested Funds, and

3. Partly by receipts from Pay Patients.

The Bishop is Visitor of the Church Home.

The CHARGES in the Wards are $4 a week, or $200 a year. Single rooms, according to situation, &c., are higher.

Any Church or Congregation may make use of the opportunity thus afforded, to provide for the care of the sick, for a longer or shorter time.

The Church Home opens its doors freely to the Clergy of Maryland who may need its care. Bishop Lay was here nursed in his last illness in 1885. Since then one Priest of the Diocese of Easton, and two of the Diocese of Maryland, have been cared for in their last illness.

Clergymen, Churches and individuals may aid in this good work:

1. By making the existence and advantages of the Church Home known, so that those who may have to come to the city for surgical care, &c., may avail themselves of the advantages it offers.

2. By sending the sick and aged, and providing for their support.

3. By an occasional offering in church, or private donation.

4. By engaging to support a FREE BED at a cost of $200 a year, with privilege of nominating the patient.

5. By testamentary bequests to "the Church Home and Infirmary of the City of Baltimore."

The Convention of the Diocese of Easton has requested an annual offering for this Institution from every Congregation in the Diocese.

Will not some of the Congregations in Maryland do this without request of the Convention?

R. W. LOWRIE.

I have the honor to report that for the past year I have regularly performed the duties of my office on board of the receiving ship "Franklin" at this Yard.

In addition to my Naval duty, I have preached 70 times in town and county, and have frequently assisted at Communion and other Services.

Very respectfully yours,

Norfolk, Va.

W. F. MORRISON,
Chaplain U. S. Navy.

During the past year I have to report 36 services, 18 Sermons, 20 Holy Communions, 2 Baptisms, (colored) in private. These services were performed in 10 parishes in the Diocese of Maryland, and in 1 parish in the Diocese of Easton.

Baltimore.

WILLIAM MURPHY.

I beg leave to report that since the last Convention I have been engaged in the following work:

From June 11, 1893, until September 17, 1893, I officiated at the Chapel of St. John Baptist, Baltimore, my official acts being recorded in the Parish Register. Since September 24, 1893, I have been assisting the Rev. William O. Embury, at Holyrood Chapel, with the consent of the Bishop of New York.

Yours faithfully,

New York.

C. MORTON MURRAY.

I respectfully report that during the Convention year of A. D. 1893 to 1894, I have performed in the Diocese of Maryland, partly in Washington, D. C. until June 18th, 1893, and on several occasions in Emmanuel Church, Bel Air, the following services:

260 Diocesan Convention of Maryland. [1894

Bel Air.

JOHANNES A. OERTEL.

During the past year the undersigned has acted as Chaplain of the Hannah More Academy, (assisting his mother in the management of the school,) assisted his father, the Rector of Reisterstown Parish, until his death, July 5th, and then took temporary charge of the parish until November 1st, and has had special charge of St. Luke's Chapel, Harrisonville.

In or for Reisterstown Parish the Deacon would report 9 infant baptisms, 1 funeral, assisting in 3 other burials, assisted in celebrating the Holy Communion 7 times, assisted in 9 Sunday services, and 4 other services, read 8 week-day services, and 30 Sunday services, preaching 30 times.

The work of the Deacon at Harrisonville has been given under the head of Harrisonville Mission.

My report of St. Michael's Church, Hannah More Academy, as chaplain is:

Assisting in 12 celebrations of the Holy Communion, in 7 Sunday services, in 14 week-day services.

Services read by the Deacon were 76 on Sundays and 425 on week-days, preaching 100 times, lecturing 80 times, catechising 20 times.

ALEX. M. RICH.

The undersigned respectfully reports that during the past year he has performed, or assisted in Divine Service forty-eight times, and preached sixteen times.

Westminster.

JAMES M. REESE.

I have the honor to report that during the past year I read service 10 times, preached 10 sermons, and celebrated the Holy Communion 5 times.

Baltimore.

JOHN ROSE.

During the past Convention year I have been incapable of much active exertion, seldom getting out of the house, and consequently have no report to make of clerical work. My time, however, has been fully occupied in certain literary work, without compensation, which I trust may be of future value to the Church.
